

LEVER CONTINUES AS POLICE CHIEF

Secures Temporary Injunction Restraining Hallowell From Assuming Office

COURTS TO HEAR PETITION

The first round in the fight of "Who's Chief of Police in Cheltenham Township?" was won Wednesday by Chief of Police Gideon S. Lever, the official who wouldn't resign. He secured a temporary injunction restraining Theodore Hallowell, "acting chief of police" from assuming the duties of the office. The latter returned to Ogontz and retired gracefully in favor of Chief Lever about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Hallowell's tenure of office covered about sixteen hours, for, according to John J. Campbell, chairman of the Police Committee, Hallowell's appointment was effective at midnight Tuesday.

Courts of Montgomery county on reception of Chief Lever's bill in equity, offered by T. Townley Larzelere, made the rule returnable on Saturday next, and fixed April 1 as the date for the hearing of the petition. Chief Lever will now continue in undisputed control of the office until the appeal for an injunction or adverse action is taken. Just what will happen at the April meeting of the Board of Commissioners to be held at Ogontz on Tuesday, April 4, is at this time problematical, three in favor of Chief Lever and three opposed, with both trios of commissioners asserting their stand will not be altered.

Following the incidents of early Tuesday night, Chief Lever left the Ogontz station about 10 o'clock and held a conference with members of the board who favor his retention and with his attorneys. Before court convened in Norristown Wednesday morning the citations to be made in the bill of equity had been carefully outlined and approved.

Alleges Illegal Appointment.

Appearing before Judge John Faber Miller, Attorney Larzelere requested a temporary injunction restraining Theodore Hallowell from exercising the functions of the office of Chief of Police of Cheltenham Township, "to declare the appointment of Hallowell an illegal appointment" and "alleging that Hallowell had been appointed without authority of the Board of Commissioners, the appointment having been by one of the commissioners, said John J. Campbell."

The bill in equity is directed jointly against the Board of Commissioners and "Acting Chief" Hallowell. The defendants named are John A. Stahr, of Elkins Park, president of the board; John J. Campbell, chairman of the Police Committee; Charles W. Beck Jr., a member of the Police Committee, and Howard Krewson, Carroll Brooke and Charles Bosler, Chief Lever, in his citation, declares the book of rules of the Cheltenham Police Department show seventeen causes for suspension or discharge; denies that he in any way ever violated any of these rules, and that he has always "performed the duties of his office with fidelity."

Asserting further that he was not discharged, but that his resignation was asked, and that he has refused to give his resignation, Chief Lever declares he is the legally constituted chief of the Cheltenham department. Because Chairman Campbell on his own initiative, appointed Theodore Hallowell as acting chief of police Lever, avers that any action of Hallowell's conflicts with the performance of the duties for which Lever was elected. Finally, Chief Lever proposes to continue to exercise these duties until he is legally and regularly discharged by the Board of Commissioners.

Under the ruling of Judge Miller the defendant commissioners are expected to file a response today and on next Saturday the matter will go to a hearing.

The newly appointed chief, Sergeant Hallowell, was in conference late Tuesday night with Lieutenant Morris, and both looked worried. Chairman John Campbell, of the Police Committee of the township, was about the headquarters, with John Stahr, president of the Board of Commissioners.

The residents of the district, who have been eagerly waiting to learn why Lever was asked to resign were puzzled Tuesday to read a recommendation of Chief Lever, signed by Mr. Campbell. He said Lever was "too brainy a man to waste his time in a small suburb like Cheltenham township."

The tangle has aroused more than 2000 voters, coming as the climax of a political deadlock which has existed since January and which has precluded the appointment of a Township Solicitor. Chief Lever, according to a recent resolution, was to have retired, Tuesday. He didn't retire.

Following his refusal to "get out" Tuesday, Chief Lever made public the recommendation from Mr. Campbell. It follows:

"I, as chairman of the Police Committee of the Board of Commissioners of Cheltenham township, at the last meeting recommended that we ask for Chief Lever's resignation, effective March 21. Mr. Lever has stated that my so doing has cast reflection upon his character, ability, efficiency and has, in fact, prevented him from continuing his career as an executive police officer. Our action should not in any detrimental way his obtaining any position. "I can recommend him most highly as being sober, efficient, progressive energetic and one who has always had the best interests of his entire department and the township always at heart.

"He has made a study of fingerprints, and is the first qualified finger-print expert in the State of Pennsylvania.

"As a matter of fact, the only feeling I have in this manner is that 'he is too brainy a man to be wasting his time in a small suburb like Cheltenham township.'

This communication also carries the signature of Charles W. Beck Jr., a member of the Police Committee. Mr. Stahr is opposed to Lever, as are Mr. Campbell and Carroll Brooke, of Glenside. Those who favor Lever are Charles Bosler, of Ogontz; Mr. Beck and Edward Krewson, of Cheltenham.

This line-up is one which caused a deadlock at every meeting since January.

Chief Lever came into prominence recently through his victory in the "fingerprint case," in which he secured the conviction of Benjamin F. Decker, a Philadelphia in the Montgomery County courts on a burglary charge.

MYSTERIOUS JEWEL ROBBERY EXCITES RIVAL POLICE CHIEFS

Cheltenham township has a jewel mystery of its own at last. It's a "thriller." There's "a woman in the case"; there are deep and dark political factors involved in it, and the reputation of a chief of police who has been called "the first qualified fingerprint expert in the State of Pennsylvania" is at stake.

The electrifying plot reached its climax between 6:30 and 7:30 Wednesday night. At that hour it was discovered that jewelry valued at $350, together with $47 in cash, had mysteriously vanished from the home of John J. Campbell, township commissioner and chairman of the commission's police committee. That was exciting enough in itself. But you get shock No. 2 when you learn that the jewels were reported as missing just four hours after Mr. Campbell had been handed a political jolt by Chief of Police G. S. Lever.

At 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon Mr. Campbell's nominee for the post of chief of police, House Sergeant Theodore Hallowell, had been legally notified that he couldn't have the job. A temporary injunction restraining him from taking the office had been served on him by Sheriff Louis A. Nagle. The injunction had been issued by Judge John Faber Miller, of the Montgomery County Courts, at Chief Lever's application.

This done, Sheriff "Lou" went on his rounds to serve the injunction on the six township commissioners as well. At supper time he reached Commissioner Campbell's house at Valley Road and Mountain avenue. The family was at dinner. Dinner ended, one member of the family went upstairs only to return on the jump with the news that some bold, bad robber had gone systematically through the second story rooms and had "cleaned them out from A to Z."

Chief of Police Lever was notified. He was still gloating inwardly over his victory over his rival for office when at 8 o'clock he reached the C'mish's home and was told about the jewel mystery which had exploded under his very nose.

Now comes the finger-print factor in the sensational plot. When C'mish Campbell asked for the resignation of Chief Lever he denied that he did so with any political rancor. On the contrary, he said, he had at heart only the most altruistic wishes for Mr. Lever's success. "Mr. Lever has made a study of finger-prints," said he. "He is the best qualified fingerprint expert in the State of Pennsylvania. As a matter of fact, the only feeling I have in this matter is that he is too brainy a man to be wasting his time in a small suburb like Cheltenham township."

The recollection of C'mish Campbell's remarks about fingerprint experts stirred Mr. Lever Wednesday night. "I'll show him what I know about finger-prints," he is said to have remarked grimly, when told about the jewel mystery.

No arrests in the jewel mystery had been made last night. Chief of Police Lever isn't ready yet to say who took them.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

THE FIRST FORMAL EXHIBITION OF STYLES IN MEN'S AND WOMEN'S

Apparel for Spring and Easter

Spring according to the calendar of styles began yesterday and this store has made elaborate preparations in honor of the occasion. It is the annual Spring Review of Fashions, but planned on a broader scale than in the past. New clothes for all members of the family will be shown to the best advantage.

Probably never before in our history has the country made so complete a turn towards prettiness. The nation's prosperity very likely is a conspicuous reason and there are doubtless others. But the fact remains and 1916 will surely be referred to as the period when style was in its glory. The new garments are remarkable.

And this is the occasion when fashionable attire rules supreme. The new millinery, suits, coats and costumes are really beautiful to behold. Clothing for men and boys are also worthy of admiration.

WE EXTEND A FORMAL INVITATION TO YOU AND YOUR FRIEND. ALL ALTERATIONS FREE.

THE ARISTOCRACY OF SPRING SUITS

FINEST WE COULD FIND IN NEW YORK.

Garments that belong to the "upper class," for we selected them at the most dependable houses of fashion. Suits as you will note in the drawing, are very different and incidentally more beautiful, than suits have been for years. At a glance, the short coat and the full short skirt are very evident. These two features combined with a more shapely form which is brought out by the clear fitting waistline delineate the new silhouette. It is also very important to note that silk suits or suits of combined silks and fabrics, are great favorites.

POLITICAL ITEMS

A Committee of One Hundred has been formed by citizens of Montgomery county to aid Hon. Charles A. Ambler in his candidacy for the office of Auditor General. Theodore Lane Bean Esq., who is chairman has issued the following statement:

"The committee will take an active part in the primary campaign. After that Mr. Ambler's candidacy for election will be conducted by the Republican State Committee. The Montgomery County Ambler Committee will wage an open and honest campaign, and will take the public into its full confidence in every detail. It promises not to use any kind of political back, discarded by other parties, but will resort only to clean methods to win. I also wish to predict that Mr. Ambler will have a walkover at both the primaries and the election."

An Executive Committee has been appointed, as follows: Charles Johnson, Insurance Commissioner, Norristown; Frank E. Croft, State Senator, Upper Merion; William D. Heebner, County Controller, Lansdale; Edward Bok, editor Ladies' Home Journal, Merion; Nicholas H. Larzelere, attorney, Norristown; Amos H. Schultz, Worcester; Frank Beecher, Pottstown; J. Horace Zigler, Lederach; Ferdinand A. Altender, Glenside; Arthur M. Jenkins Ambler, Irving Lukens, North Wales; Dr. Andrew Godfrey, Ambler; John W. S. Torr, Pottstown; George Sullivan, County Commissioner, Bala, secretary.

Harmon M. Kephart, of Fayette County, chief clerk of the State Senate, Tuesday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for State Treasurer. He will have the support of both the Penrose and Brumbaugh wings of the party; and, unlike, Charles A. Ambler, candidate for Auditor General, he will be a harmony choice. In his statement, Mr. Kephart said:

"Having definitely concluded to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of State Treasurer, I now make the fact known by this public announcement. If nominated and elected I pledge the people of the State an administration characterized by efficiency and strict integrity. My candidacy, too, is submitted in the belief that Fayette County, loyally and without State recognition, having supported the Republican party for upward of 30 years, is entitled to consideration at this time. I therefore solicit the support of all Republicans, pledging them in return my appreciation."

The county commissioners have issued a proclamation for the primary election to be conducted in the county Tuesday, May 16, as required by an act of assembly approved July 12, 1913. The preliminary notices relative to the primaries have been filed with the officials by the chairman of the Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, Washington, and Socialist county committees. The election will be held from 7 A. M. to 7 P. M. all liquor establishments will be closed during that day, the law providing that they cannot be reopened until 8 o'clock, or one hour after the polls close.

There will be two district and two alternate delegates and 12 delegates and 12 alternate delegates at large to each of the Republican and Democratic national conventions voted upon by the electors of those political parties. The Prohibitionists will elect three district and three alternate delegates, and three delegates at large to their national convention, while the Washington party will name one district and one alternate and three regular and three alternate delegates at large to its national gatherings.

The several parties will also elect members of their respective state committees, in addition to members of the county committees in the various election districts. As usual there are expected to be spirited contests for county committeemen in some of the districts.

Nominations to be made by the several parties are for president of the United States, United States Senator, state treasurer, auditor general, judge of the state supreme court, four congressmen-at-large, congressman for the district, and members of the state legislature from each of the four legislative districts.

The registry assessors of the boroughs and townships of the county returned the amended registry lists of their respective districts to the office of the county commissioners Saturday last and were paid for their sittings Tuesday and Wednesday. There were few changes or additions to the lists, it is stated, as little interest was manifested by the electors to see that they were properly qualified to cast ballots for their preferences at the approaching primaries. Last year a larger number of voters were unable to participate in the primaries because of having changed their residences and not having resided in the districts in which they moved at least 60 days before the election was held.

The primary election proclamation was signed by the county commissioners, and attested by Commissioners' Clerk Stout. It will be advertised one week, for three weeks.

HER CASH IN ESCHEAT

Norristown Patient's Savings Given to City and State.

In part payment of a claim for support at the Norristown Hospital for the Insane since 1880, the city of Philadelphia has been awarded $500 and the State of Pennsylvania $1913.31 out of the estate of Laura Armand, a Frenchwoman, better known at the hospital as "Little Laura," a hunchback.

When she died it was found that she had $2825.62 in a Norristown bank, which she carried by doing shopping for the other inmates. Out of these savings the auditor allowed $150 for her tombstone. The balance was divided between the city and the State.

PAPER NOT COMMON CARRIER

Post Office Department Rules That Publishers May Refuse Any Advertisements They Desire.

A newspaper is not a common carrier according to a recent ruling of the post office department. The department holds that, as far as the postal system is concerned, a publication admitted to the second class of mail matter is under no obligation to accept advertisements.

This decision of the post office department was made at the request of the Washington correspondent of the Editor and Publisher, who submitted to the department the question whether a newspaper could refuse the advertisements of a trading stamp company. The decision holds in the main that a publisher of a newspaper can refuse advertisements. The Supreme court has never ruled on this subject as no test case has ever been brought to its attention.

The statement of the department which can be regarded as a decision is outlined in the following letter to the Washington correspondent of the Editor and Publisher from A. M. Dockery, third assistant postmaster general:

"In reply to your letter of recent date, you are informed that a publisher of a publication admitted to the second class mail matter is under no obligation to accept advertisements so far as this department is concerned. However, if the refusal to accept advertisements, taken in connection with the other facts and circumstances in the case, indicates that the publication is used so to promote the interests of a particular firm or firms as against another firm or firms as to be designed primarily for advertising purposes and to fall within the prohibition of the statute which reads as follows: "Provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall be so construed as to admit to the second class rate regular publications designed primarily for advertising purposes, or for free circulation, or for circulation at nominal rates," the second class status of the publication would be in jeopardy.

"But even the arbitrary decision of a publisher not to accept certain advertisements is not of itself conclusive evidence that the publication is designed primarily for advertising purposes within the meaning of the law. The question of whether a publication comes within the above prohibition of the statute is one to be decided on the facts and the practices of the publisher."

Speaker's Brother Spends Month on Coc With Head in One Position

The first announcement as to the condition of George Ambler, of Abington, who is under treatment in the Orthopedic Hospital for a broken neck was made Tuesday. Complete recovery is expected, as the knitting of the crushed bone has been "slow but sure." The patient is a brother of Charles A. Ambler, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Five weeks ago Mr. Ambler was admitted to the hospital and placed under the personal care of Dr. G. G. Davis of the Widener Memorial Home. Heroic treatment was necessary and for the last 35 days Mr. Ambler has lain in one position, with heavy weights over his head holding his head in position.

The accident in which Ambler's neck was broken happened at Clayton, Del. in January. As superintendent for the Ambler-Davis Company he was directing sewer excavations. He noticed the weakening of shoring in a trench, jumped into warm workmen and was buried.

Suit was instituted Tuesday in the Municipal Court against Mrs. Edward P. Townsend, of Ardmore, by Hugh Kennedy to recover $1000 damages for personal injuries sustained on December 8, when the defendant's automobile collided with a machine owned by J. W. Lee Jr., near Merion station.

Kennedy was the chauffeur of Mr. Lee's car. He charges that Mrs. Townsend's motor was being operated at a high rate of speed and she was negligent in not having the wheels equipped with skid chains, as the road was slippery from ice and snow. Mr. Lee also brought an action against Mrs. Townsend to recover $275 as remuneration for expenses incurred in having his car repaired.

Theresa Wood is on the sick list. Mrs. J. Corlie, of Fern Rock, visited relatives here Wednesday. Miss Ruth Pfeiffer spent a pleasant day yesterday, in Philadelphia.

EVIL CONDITIONS DUE TO SHIFTLESSNESS

Bad housing and insanitary conditions, which are found in various parts of the State by the Bureau of Housing, recently organized by Commissioner of Health Samuel G. Dixon, are in many instances not the result of poverty and want, but of shiftlessness, bad management and a lack of knowledge of what constitutes sanitation and decency.

Congressman Watson Tells His Reasons in Congress

NATION THE GREATEST

Congressman Henry W. Watson, of the Bucks-Montgomery District, delivered a speech in the House of Representatives, Washington, Friday, when the House went into a Committee on the consideration of House Bill 12766 to increase the efficiency of the military establishment of the United States.

been invested with divine power have defended our Nation's honor.

Again the country calls for men who are clear thinkers upon public questions, keen observers of human nature, to deal with the issues which now confront us, and the inevitable ones which will be daily manifested as the foreign war continues.

Every American citizen should stand by the President and assist him to preserve peace, and if peace can not be honorably maintained, then fight with him to perpetuate the dignity of our country.

In the early days men formed themselves into tribes for protection, and later nations were organized to protect tribes; thus the various Governments were established.

A Story of Mystery and Crime

STRASSBURGER FOR CONGRESS

Naval Officer and Diplomat Will be Candidate.

Ralph Beaver Strassburger, of Normandy Farm, Gwynedd, is an avowed candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress from the Eighth Pennsylvania District.

A committee is being formed to look after his interests, and the necessary petitions will soon be circulated.

Two years ago Mr. Strassburger made a great campaign, and with better organization might have landed the prize. It is reported that this deficiency has been recognized and will not exist this year.

Mr. Strassburger claims education, experience and aggressiveness as his qualifications for Congressman. A graduate of Annapolis, he served in the navy and then went into the diplomatic service.

He is outspoken, never hesitates to tell just where he stands on public matters, and is strongly in favor of adequate national preparedness.

All these traits are counted on to help his candidacy at this particular time.

Dry Forces File Charges Against Rum Applicant

In remonstrances filed Wednesday by attorneys for the Montgomery county 'dry' forces it is alleged that Samuel Sowers, applicant for a wholesale liquor license in Greenlane, sold intoxicating liquor to at least six persons of known intemperate habits; that Sowers has not shown an intention to follow the instruction of the court in that he has not paid the costs of the petitioners to revoke his license last year as directed by the court.

It is also charged that he is not a fit person to have a license in that he at times becomes intoxicated, and that he has furnished liquor to be drunk on his premises.

GULF MILLS

Miss Sara R. Jones has so far recovered from the grip and tonsillitis that she is able to be about the house.

A man from the State of New Jersey is now in charge of the poultry department at "Yorkston," the William Roberts place.

It is expected that the rehearsals for the Easter entertainment of the Gulf Christian Sunday school will begin next week.

Miss Freda Hartman, of Port Kennedy, entertained sixteen at cards on Saturday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Clarence Thomas, recently married.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac H. Clothier, Jr., and their daughter of "Sunnybrook Farm," Radnor near Gulf Mills have been enjoying the golf at Augusta, Ga.

The office at the Diamond State Fibre Works in West Conshohocken, which has not been used since the Fibre Company purchased the buildings, some few years ago, is now being renovated preparatory to it being occupied by members of the firm and a clerical force.

Rev. Henry Stuart Paynter, rector of St. Stephen's Church, Bridesburg, officiated at the Lenten service of Trinity Mission of this place, last evening.

A large number of members of the Ladies Aid Society of the Gulf Christian Church participated in an old-fashioned quilting party held in the annex of the church building on Wednesday from 9 until 4 o'clock.

While a driver for the Cope Baking Company, of Roxborough was making deliveries in the gulf district this week one of the horses attached to the wagon, fell on the ice which still lingers on some of the hills hereabouts.

Miss Elizabeth Etchingham, of this place was in Glenside yesterday attending the funeral of Joseph T. Flaherty, son of Alice and the late Thomas Flaherty and grandson of the late John and Catharine Moloney, who died at the residence of his mother, on Sunday, after a prolonged illness.

Wednesday was the 17th birthday of Charles Zimmerman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Zimmerman, of Mechanicsville and the anniversary occasion was most fittingly celebrated at the Zimmerman residence in the evening when about forty of the friends of the young host gathered to offer congratulations and to assist in making the event a pleasurable one.

James Fowler, who resides in the Hur homestead, sold a horse that he had owned for several years, to a party in the Main Line.

Many of the roads in the rural districts are in a deplorable condition, with mud and water.

Mrs. Anna McGough wife of Patrick McGough, who died at her residence in West Conshohocken on Sunday, was a former resident of Gulf Mills.

Mr. William R. Forsyth, bass soloist at St. Paul's English Lutheran Church, 22nd and Columbia avenue, Philadelphia, and Miss Emma Orr, contralto soloist at the Second Baptist church, of Germantown, will render special music at the meeting of the Gulf Mills Men's Bible Class next Sunday afternoon.

BASKET BALL

The Girls first team will play the Ambler girls first team in the High School gym this afternoon.

The boys second team will play a game before the first team game.

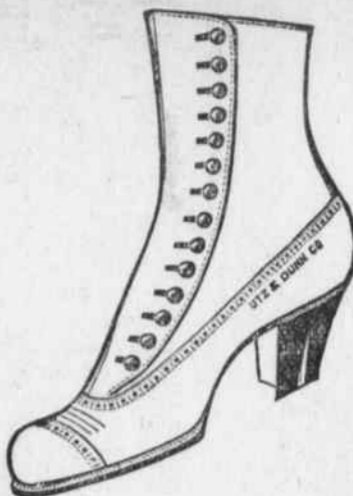

On Thursday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock the Junior Girls of Conshohocken high school defeated the senior girls by an overwhelming score of 28 to 3.

As seen by the score it was one-sided from start to finish. The seniors did well, considering the fact that they had not played together before, while the Juniors practically composed the whole of the second team and had been playing together all season. Miss Albright was the star for the Juniors.

On Wednesday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock the Senior Boys of C. H. S. defeated the Junior boys by a score of 54 to 19. The Seniors outplayed the Juniors from start to finish. The Juniors should have made a better showing as three of the first team men played with them. Miller, Davies and Wentling. In the first half the Juniors held the seniors fairly well but in the second half the Seniors simply ran away with them. Davies starred for the Juniors and Hamilton was the star for the Seniors.

Table with columns: Name & Pos., Field, Foul, Pts. SENIORS: Craig, forward 2 0 4; Moser, forward 8 4 20; Hamilton, centre 12 2 26; Beaver, guard 1 0 2; Crawford, guard 0 2 2. JUNIORS: Davies, forward 4 2 10; Miller, forward 1 2 7; Nagels, centre 0 0 0; Wentling, guard 1 0 2; Abrams, guard 0 0 0; Hiltner, guard 0 0 0.
