Mr. O'Brien has been in failing health for several months. During his absence his place of business will be closed.

The funeral of Michael McDonnell, late assessor of the Second ward, who died suddenly last Wednesday, was held from his late home on Merion avenue, yesterday morning and was largely attended. Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated in St. Gertrude's church. The interment was in St. Matthew's new cemetery.

Ellis C. Cripps, who has conducted the store on upper Ford street for a number of years, disposed of his stock at public sale on Saturday afternoon and retired from business. Mr. Cripps has been engaged in business in this borough and Conshohocken for about forty years. Mrs. Martin Brown, of lower Ford street, who underwent a serious operation in Montgomery hospital, Norristown, several weeks ago, was discharged from the institution yesterday and removed to her home. Her condition is much improved.

Mrs. Harry Dehority, of lower Ford street, is confined to the home of her uncle, William Kelly, on upper Ford street, suffering with an attack of scarlet fever. The child was visiting at the home of her uncle and was taken ill. A physician was summoned and diagnosed the case as scarlet fever. The house has been placed under quarantine.

GULF MILLS

Raymond McIntyre has gone to Chicago, Ill., where he has secured employment.

Mrs. Matilda McKeon is able to be down stairs following a siege of illness. She suffered an attack of pleurisy.

The extensive rabbitry conducted by Hugh Eastlack on the Gypsy road near Gulf Mills, attracts many prospective purchasers.

The quarantine has been removed from the residence of Winfield Koons—Grace, a daughter, having recovered from an attack of mumps.

Elmer Fox, of Nobiltown, has secured a position with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. He is in charge of the air brake testing work.

The gross receipts of the sauer kraut supper held in the basement of the Gulf Christian Church last Thursday evening, by the Ladies Aid Society, amounted to about $83.

Mr. and Mrs. James Francis Sullivan, Miss Frances Sullivan, Miss Elaine Sullivan and Livingston Sullivan, of "The Woods," Radnor, will move to apartments at the Ritz, Carlton, Philadelphia, the middle of November.

John Zimmerman, of Mechanicsville, a well known resident of the locality, is recovering from illness of a complicated nature. Mr. Zimmerman, who is employed on the country place of Williamson Roberts near the Gulf church, was formerly superintendent on the "Bluff Farm" of Percy R. Varian.

Leander Markland, of Swedeland, who was married last week, was formerly a member of the Gulf base ball team of the Main Line League. He has also been a member of other teams and his mark on the diamond has attracted much attention. Among his baseball friends he is familiarly known as Lee and they all join in extending congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Markland.

Charles Hamel, of Gulf Mills, has gathered 35 bushels of walnuts this season and sold them to a good advantage. He probably holds the record for gathering more walnuts than any person within a radius of many miles. These kind of nuts are more plentiful this year than for a number of years past, and quantities of them have been gathered by other residents of the Gulf besides Hamel.

Joseph Holloway, residing near the former Bird-in-Hand Inn, probably had the most attractive display of flowers in his yard this year of anyone in the locality. There were a variety of colors among the blooms and the scarlet sage shown out conspicuously in the ensemble. Mr. Holloway takes much interest in the culture of flowers. Some of the plants have been nipped by the frost while others are as beautiful as ever.

Leon McKeon, 3-year-old son of Mrs. Matilda McKeon, was playing with a string of beads at his home when some of them became loose and he had the misfortune to get one of the small globular ornaments up his nose. Members of the household tried in vain to extricate the bead from the nasal organ, but it required the services of a physician to accomplish the act. The child suffered no ill results from the misfortune, in fact physicians declare that there is no cause for alarm when inanimate substances similar to beads enter the nose, but in different instances much pain is caused from these accidents. A few years ago a boy residing here got a grain of corn up his nose. It became enlarged by sprouting, and a physician had considerable difficulty in extracting it.

Wedding Bells Ring at Gulf Mills. Rev. Albert Loucks, pastor of the Gulf Christian church, performed two wedding ceremonies at the parsonage of the church last week.

Two sisters figured in the nuptial events, Miss Eliza D. Moore and Miss Olive M. Moore, both of Gulf Mills. Mr. Leander R. Markland, of Swedeland, claimed Miss Eliza D. Moore for his bride and Mr. Lewis Pennock, of Norristown, chose Miss Olive M. Moore for his companion in wedded bliss. Both marriages were quiet affairs. The marriage of Leander R. Markland and Miss Eliza D. Moore was solemnized on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the presence of a few intimate friends of the contracting parties. The couple were unattended. The bride wore a corsage bouquet of choice flowers. Following the marriage rites a reception was held at the home of the bride on the Baligomingo road, Gulf Mills, where the newly-wedded couple received felicitations from many relatives and friends and where a wedding supper was served. Upon their return from a honeymoon trip they will reside in their newly furnished residence on the Crooked Lane road in Upper Merion near Bridgeport after December 1.

Rev. Mr. Loucks performed his second wedding ceremony of the week on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock when he joined in wedlock Lewis Pennock, of Stanbridge street, Norristown and Miss Olive Moore, of Gulf Mills.

The couple were attended by the bride and bridegroom of Wednesday, Mrs. Leander R. Markland and Mr. Leander Markland as matron of honor and best man respectively. The bride wore blue silk with hat to match and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. A reception followed at the bride's home. After a wedding trip the couple will reside at the Moore homestead at Gulf Mills.

MERION MOTORISTS CAUGHT IN OWN TRAP

A trap in Merion, to catch speeding transient motorists, has embarrassed some Merion citizens instrumental in having the contrivance set, according to records in a magistrate's court.

Following numerous complaints and quite a few serious mishaps, the Merion Civic Association arranged with the Lower Merion police to post patrolmen at given points to catch autoists who travel at excessive speed through the Main Line town and endanger life.

Chief Donaghy's men, stationed along Lancaster pike, have been getting results. Nearly 200 motorists have been summoned to appear before Magistrate Stillwagon in Ardmore to explain why they were in such a hurry.

Among the alleged speeders, according to the police, are members of the Merion Civic Association. Names will not be made public until the hearings take place. It is said the police will ask that heavy fines be imposed on those proved to have been driving at more than twenty-five miles an hour.

HOTEL MEN ARE ACCUSED

On charges of involuntary manslaughter and selling liquor illegally, John E. Martin, proprietor of the Perkiomen Bridge Hotel, at Collegeville, has been held for court by Magistrate Clark. The charges, together with those of illegal sale of liquor, preferred against Eugene Latta, proprietor of the Collegeville Inn, and John Snovel, bartender for Martin, grew out of an automobile accident near Eaglesville early on Sunday morning, October 24, which resulted in the death of William Bath.

Louis Hogan and Robert E. Paist of Berwyn, companions of Bath, testified that they had bought whiskey at both Collegeville hotels before resuming their trip down the Ridge pike. At the Collegeville Inn they said they bought several rounds of drinks at 50 cents each and at the Bridge Hotel they procured a quart of whiskey for $10 and were provided with a room in which to drink it. Martin was released under $1500 bail and Latta and Snovel under $500 bail.

CROWTHER SENTENCED

W. Lindley Crowther appeared in court, when Judge Swartz sentenced him to pay to his wife, Mary Beaver Crowther, $110 a month for the support of his wife and two children. This is a reduction from $290, made because he claimed his business has fallen off and he can no longer afford to pay the greater amount. His wife insisted that he be required to enter into bond, with surety. The court fixed the amount of bond at $300.

BOY IS CHARGED WITH DAMAGING AUTO

The case in which Antony Balski, of West Conshohocken, is charged with causing considerable damage to the auto truck of Chas. Crockett, of Bridgeport, while the machine was standing along River road, West Conshohocken a few days ago, was continued by Magistrate John McLaughlin when an opportunity will be given John Balski, father of the boy, to reach a settlement with Crockett.

The boy did not deny the allegations that he had mounted the car and released the brake then started the machinery, and backed the auto to a point at a stone wall, narrowly taking a drop of fifteen feet into a yard where several women were busily engaged at wash tubs. The auto was damaged to the amount, it is said, of nearly $200. Crockett was buckstering potatoes at the time of the accident and was but a short distance away from the car.

A Home Talent Team.

The victory of the Coaldale foot ball team here last Saturday was a victory for their town as the members of the team were all local men, playing the game for the love of the sport and the honor of their town. It brought regrets to many followers of the game that the Conshohocken team is not fully representative of the town.

Coaldale gives the best of evidence of what can be accomplished here and an all home team would bring greater support and a greater town loyalty.

The foot ball teams playing in this section are not representative of their towns. Managers have entered into competition for star players with the result that the players are playing all the managers for higher salaries and jumping to the team offering the highest prices. The players are not representative of the towns and are rapidly putting the sport on a purely commercial basis. This will quickly kill small town sports.

This season has shown more of commercialism and professionalism than heretofore and now is the time to prepare to stop its advance.

Conshohocken can prepare to save the sport through the new Conshohocken Athletic Association. The announced purpose of the Association is to foster sports for and by local people. Should the Association employ early a good coach by the year and then open sports for all who desire to participate, there will be scores of young men who will respond anxious to make the teams and play for sport's sake. The coach would select the players for all teams and coach all candidates and the teams. The management of the various teams would be in the hands of a manager and all sports directed by the association.

There is plenty of good material here and with proper direction Conshohocken will produce champion teams that will be a pleasure to the fans and a credit to the town.

Coaldale has proven a fine team can be developed from home talent. The Conshohocken Athletic Association can prove fine teams in many sports can be developed here. We hope, for the sake of good, clean sport the effort will be made.

The Business Outlook.

Business conditions throughout the country are in bad shape and during October business failures were more numerous and involved a greater amount of money than any month during the year. The era of inflated values is rapidly passing and most failures have been due to the carrying of large stocks, which were bought at the high prices, and which could not be disposed of in an advantageous market.

A serious depression is now being experienced in the cotton, leather, rubber and automobile trades. These industries have reduced production by about 50 per cent, and thousands of men have been forced into idleness. Reports from every large industrial center shows the army of unemployed in daily becoming greater. Prices are gradually falling and will continue to fall until a readjustment of business is made. War needs are done and business from now on will be subjected to the regular laws of economics, yet there are men who believe that economics can be disregarded and high prices may be obtained through conspiracies and lawless acts.

The Southern cotton farmers are determined to hold their cotton for higher prices and have organized Night Riders to prevent the ginning of cotton. This is done by threats of violence and by burning the gins of those who disobey their orders. By this method they hope to keep cotton out of the market making the commodity scarce and when the mills come into the market for cotton, the Southern farmers will supply it at their own price.

An attempt is now being made in the West to have farmers hold their wheat and only supply enough to the market to maintain the price at $3 per bushel. The success of these measures would mean the continued high cost of living and wearing apparel while other commodities are constantly declining, and as such measures are diametrically opposed to the well known laws of economics, they are doomed to failure. The attempt is not new and all previous artificial means to boost prices have had only a temporary effect.

Businessmen feel that the outlook for the future is bright but the immediate future holds the problem of business readjustment. How serious the readjustment period will affect the country lays with the people themselves. More work must be done, production may be increased and a true value set for the production of materials. A curtailment of production means the cost of loafing hours must be added to the selling price of the finished article, making inflated prices. Wise businessmen will spur up production in order to fill orders on hand and to prevent cancellations which are now prevalent throughout the entire business world.

After the readjustment period, which it is hoped will be of short duration, the future looks brightly. The markets are bare of manufactured goods. The railroads have only recently begun purchases to rehabilitate the properties; extremely high prices have almost stopped building for several years. The needs of the country offer a very promising future in the building trades and with the development of foreign trade, the future prospects for American business is far brighter than those of any other country.

The problem before the entire people is to meet and solve quickly the problems of readjustment. The principal problem is getting business back to a sane and fair level. Reducing wages will not solve the problem as quickly as will production, that business will not have to bear the overhead of non-productive labor and machinery.

The solution of the problem is a matter not only for the businessman but for the worker. Both must cooperate that industry may continue. The easy times have passed; value must be given for value received. With the worker recognizing the responsibilities of present day business and giving full production and exercising care to prevent waste, they will prevent many cancellations of orders, prevent shut-downs and a return to low scale wages.

THE FOURTH RED CROSS ROLL CALL

The local branch of the Red Cross, with headquarters in the Park house, will begin its fourth roll call for members on November 11th, Armistice Day. The President of the United States and the Governor of Pennsylvania have issued proclamations to the people asking them to generously support the peace time program.

Conshohocken has received very generous aid from the South Eastern Chapter in the past year. The Home Service work is today larger than at any time during the war. The Civilian Relief, also financed by the Chapter since April first, has helped many families.

Because we are able to have a real social worker in our town, not only material in want, but good advice has made rough places smoother, and tided over more than one serious situation. A chairman with several aids, has been appointed in each church to receive subscriptions.

The Park house will be open every morning from the 11th to 25th, where people can go to pay their dollar and receive their button for 1921.

Pay your membership dues now. Don't wait to be asked.

Mrs. Garret, who has been soliciting memberships, has been called to Pittsburgh. Those who intended to subscribe through Mrs. Garret should seek another member of the Red Cross.

The fourth roll call of the American Red Cross, called the Red Cross of Peace, will be conducted all over the United States from November 11 (Armistice Day) to Nov. 25.

The past year has shown the activities of the Red Cross to have touched fifteen thousand communities. The members of the classes in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick have brought comfort to thousands of families who were ill in their own homes. Communities which experienced disasters will always remember the Red Cross for the relief which it gave to all the sufferers.

Grateful mothers, by the thousand all over the country, owe the healthful conditions of their children to the baby clinics and baby welfare work established by the Red Cross, while in public health centers, the health of the present generation is taken care of.

These are just a few of the activities of the American Red Cross. A successful roll call will lead to their extension and to a broader field of work.

Squelched.

The handsome young woman, having reached the street corner, seemed not quite sure which direction to take. A passer who had been following her, seized his opportunity, approached her and said, "Er—be— pardon, but you seem in doubt where you want to go."
She gave him a crushing glance. "Indeed!" she said. "Well, I'm not in doubt where I want you to go."
He left suddenly.—Boston Transcript

Asking Too Much.

Among the enthusiastic fair sex in China the Western style of marriage wins great popularity. A young couple was being married in the regular Occidental fashion. The minister asked, "Do you take this man to be your husband and you will always love him?" She nodded her head.
Then he continued, "Will you go with him wherever he goes?"
"No!" was the answer. "How absurd! He is a postman and walks nine miles a day."—Far Eastern Republic.

No Occasion for a Fight.
Titmouse was infuriated, but the editor of the Western Wind shut him up in two seconds. "Is this the newspaper office?" inquired Mr. Titmouse. "It is," responded the man at the desk. "Didn't this paper say I was a liar?" "It did not." "Didn't it say I was a scoundrel?" "It did not." "Well, some paper said it." "Possibly it was our contemporary down the street," suggested the editor, as he picked up a paperweight. "This paper never prints stale news."—San Francisco Argonaut.

ONE-SIDED TRIUMPH FOR CONSHOHOCKEN

A muffed punt by Hughes, a blocked kick, and a fumble, enabled Conshohocken, to give Vincome, of West Philadelphia, its worst defeat in many years, 21 to 0.

Both teams were in a badly crippled condition for the battle, which was the biggest staged this season on the Vincome gridiron. Vincome's defeat can be traced directly to its own miscues, which happened frequently, but only on three occasions were converted into touchdowns.

Powell, Garrett and Jones were the hostile players to cross the home team's goal, but Vincome was in such a badly demoralized condition that its resistance, at best, was very weak.

Eight thousand spectators paid a huge tribute to both teams and to the popularity of Sunday sport.
