Injuries When Run Down
by Car Tuesday Night

CAME HERE 5 WEEKS AGO

Three persons were more or less seriously injured in an automobile accident which occurred on New Elm street, Conshohocken, Plymouth township, just outside the borough limits about 10 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Those injured were Stanley Olesky, 642 New Elm street; Regina Macorsky, 516 New Elm street, and Mary Kane, of Norristown.

James Given, 309 Buttonwood street, Norristown, accompanied by Mary Kane, employed at the Aged Woman's Home, Markley street, Norristown, was riding along the street in the direction of Norristown in a light Ford truck. When a short distance beyond the borough limits, Given, according to his testimony before Magistrate Light, saw a number of persons in the roadway immediately in front of him and before he could bring his car to a stop he ran into them. However he swerved his car to the side of the road in an effort to prevent the accident and the machine, overturned, throwing both occupants out.

Olesky, who is fifteen years of age, is the worst injured of the trio. He suffered a fractured skull and rib and was removed to Bryn Mawr hospital. The Kane woman was cut across the forehead and left arm by flying glass from the windshield which was broken when the car upset and the incisions had to be sewed. The injuries to the Macorsky girl consisted of bruises across the back. A local physician dressed the injuries of those injured and ordered the boy's removal to the hospital.

Given and the Kane woman were placed under arrest by Officers Heald and Ruth and were brought to this borough and placed in jail for a hearing.

When arraigned before Magistrate Light on Wednesday morning Given was charged with operating a car while under the influence of liquor in addition to that of being responsible for the accident.

Given claimed that he had not had a drink of intoxicating liquor for six or seven months, but did claim that after the accident, he was given something to drink at the house to which he was taken to steady his nerves. He said that he operates an ice cream route through the country along the Perkiomen and that he left Norristown about 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening and drove down the Germantown pike to below Hickorytown, down the Conshohocken pike to Spring Mill avenue and around Barren Hill and over to West Conshohocken via Hector street and was returning to his home when the accident happened. He said that the lights on his car were poor and that he did not see the people in the street until he was too close to prevent the accident, and in attempting to prevent the accident he turned his car to one side with the result that it went into the gutter and overturned.

Given gave his age as 31 years and said that he is married. The woman said that she is single and has been employed at the home for about two months. She left her place of employment about eight o'clock on Tuesday evening and happened to meet Given, who asked her to go with him. He claimed he has known the woman for several years.

The woman was discharged upon her own recognizance to appear when wanted.

Given furnished $1500 bail for a further hearing on Tuesday morning, August 22, at 10 o'clock.

Olesky, the injured boy, came here from the coal regions about five weeks ago to live with his sister at the New Elm street address with the hope of obtaining employment.

The boy suffered serious internal injuries and was operated upon at the hospital on Wednesday afternoon. Last evening his condition was reported as being much improved.

ON AN AUTOMOBILE TRIP

Miss Viola Dager and James Mitchell, of Barren Hill, accompanied by a party of Delaware county friends are enjoying an extended automobile trip, including Pittsburgh, Ohio, and through New York State. They expect to be gone for two weeks.

Junior Women's Club Entertained at "Woodmont"

Guests Enjoyed a Swimming Party and Supper on Lawn.

Miss M. Louise Wood, vice president of the Community Center, entertained the members of the Junior Women's Club of the Center, on Tuesday evening, at her home, "Woodmont," Lower Merion.

The members of the club were chaperoned by Mrs. William White and Miss Elizabeth Stewart, of the Woman's Club, and motored to the estate arriving at six o'clock. Immediately upon their arrival, the party donned bathing suits and enjoyed swimming and water sports in the outdoor pool, fed by clear spring water, and situated in a beautiful grove. The pool has a beautiful setting on the hill side, and is enclosed with a high bark fence and entirely surrounded by trees.

After the sports, the guests were entertained at supper which was served on the lawn.

The guests viewed the beautiful gardens and the extensive greenhouses on the estate, which is one of the most beautiful in a section famous for its magnificent estates.

The guests were Mrs. Francis McDermott, Mrs. Edwin Hyde, Mrs. Seth K. Mitchell, Miss Cecelia Brochereux, Miss Helen McLernon, the Misses Theresa and Elizabeth Collins, the Misses Kathryn and Nancy Thomas, Miss Aline Jones, Miss Nan Harrold, Miss Frances Jones, the Misses Elizabeth and Jane Forrest, Mrs. William White and Miss Elizabeth Stewart.

The club has planned for several other summer outings and an interesting program for the fall.

SAVED BOY FROM DROWNING

Thomas Nevins and Walter Johnson proved themselves heroes on Wednesday afternoon when they prevented a West Conshohocken youth from drowning at Gallagher's Beach.

The boy, who is about ten years of age and of Polish descent, appeared at the beach and a few minutes after entering the water attempted to swim across the river and back again. He made the trip across successfully and had gotten to the middle of the stream on the return trip when his strength gave out.

Nevins and Johnson, who were standing on the east bank, noticed the boy go out of sight. He arose and they saw that he was entirely exhausted and without a moment's hesitation both young men dove into the river without stopping to remove any of their clothing and reached the boy just as he was about to go down for the last time.

With difficulty they brought him to shore. He was unconscious and as both young men have spent much time along the river they knew just what to do to resuscitate him. After working on him for several minutes he was restored to consciousness and was finally able to be removed to his home.

Had the older persons not been present and noticed that the boy was exhausted he would have drowned.

A NEW FUNERAL DIRECTOR

Charles N. Fuller, who recently purchased the Dr. Hall property, at the corner of Third avenue and Fayette street, took possession of the property yesterday and has opened an undertaking establishment to be known as the "Fuller Funeral Home."

Mr. Fuller came here from Pittsburgh. He has been engaged in the business for the past five years and for two years has managed the city office of one of the leading undertakers in Pittsburgh. Mr. Fuller is a graduate of the Eckels College of Embalming.

At his new quarters Mr. Fuller has fitted up two large rooms to be used as funeral parlors.

WITNESSED BIG FIGHT

A number of local fight fans witnessed the Leonard-Tendler fight in Jersey City last evening, going to the scene of the encounter from this borough on the special train. Following the fight several of the localites went to New York, where they will remain over the week-end.

FATAL ACCIDENT DUE TO FAULTY BRAKES

Miss Elizabeth Wheeler, Philadelphia, Aged 70 Years,
Dies of Injuries in Motor
Accident

CAR RAN AWAY ON HILL

Failure of the brakes on the automobile of Mrs. J. Henry Scattergood, of City Line avenue, Villanova, was the cause of an accident between Ardmore and Gladwyn, early last evening resulting in injuries to Miss Elizabeth C. Wheeler, of 5019 Cedar avenue, Philadelphia, which resulted in her death at Bryn Mawr hospital at 11:35 p. m.

Mrs. Scattergood was driving toward Ardmore when the brakes failed to work as the car passed over Mill Creek Bridge at the foot of a hill. The road turns at that point and Mrs. Scattergood said her machine was going so fast she could not make the turn. The car plunged against an embankment. Mrs. Scattergood clung to the wheel but Miss Wheeler, sitting beside her on the front seat, was thrown out.

Both women were taken to Bryn Mawr hospital where it was found that Miss Wheeler, who was seventy years of age, was seriously injured about the head when she was thrown from the car. Mrs. Scattergood, who remained at the wheel, was cut on the hands and was discharged from the institution immediately after her injuries were dressed. Miss Wheeler died from a hemorrhage of the brain.

Coroner Neville made an investigation this morning and issued a certificate of accidental death.

HUNTING HOME FOR BOY

Mike Maslanka, of Swedesburg, was sent to the house of detention by direction of Judge Miller in Juvenile court this morning until a boarding home can be secured for him. The boy had been beaten by his father, according to neighbors, because he played instead of running errands.

Chester Vodenski, also of Swedesburg, stole $35 from the trunk of a boarder in the home. He gave $7 to Benjamin Chivenski. The father of Vodenski will pay back the loss of all but the $7, and the father of Chivenski will make good for what his son received. They will be returned to the care of their parents.

LAWYER'S STOLEN AUTO FOUND IN WEST PHILA.

Returning from Atlantic City Monday evening Attorney Frank J. Bradley and Attorney William F. Dannehower, Jr., stopped on Market street near Thirteenth, Philadelphia, and when they came out of a restaurant Mr. Bradley's automobile was gone. The theft was reported and the two attorneys came home by train. The Philadelphia police found the car abandoned in West Philadelphia early Tuesday morning. Attorney Bradley was borough solicitor of West Conshohocken for a number of years.

JOAN OF ARC TO ENTERTAIN

The members of Conshohocken Council, Knights of Columbus, will be the hosts at an all-day picnic to be held by the ladies of the Joan of Arc at Valley Park on Sunday, August 6. The ladies and their hosts will leave K. of C. hall, Third avenue and Forest street at 9:30 a. m. and go to the park by automobile trucks. An interesting program of events is being arranged to occupy every minute of time at the park.

The members of the Joan of Arc are making arrangements to conduct a coaching party to Willow Grove on Saturday evening, August 19th.

TO CAMP AT PORT PROVIDENCE

A number of the members of The Sigma Delta Sorority will leave tomorrow for a week's camping trip along the Schuylkill river at Port Providence. The members of the Sorority who will make the trip are the Misses Margaret Dunlop, Elizabeth Ferrier, Florence Grauel, Sara Keys, Elizabeth Link and Clara Righter. The party will be chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Tyson.

KELLY IMPROVING

The condition of Patrick Kelly, who was slashed across the neck and throat and seriously injured while attempting to prevent a fight in Frog Hollow early last Sunday morning, is rapidly recovering in Bryn Mawr hospital and was discharged from the hospital and brought to his home this afternoon.

WEST SIDE COUPLE HAVE PRETTY WEDDING

Miss Marie M. Hushen Became the Bride of James A. McTamney on Wednesday.

A romance which had its inception when the two were pupils in St. Gertrude's school in West Conshohocken, had a happy culmination in the wedding of Miss Marie M., only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hushen, 204 Ford street, West Conshohocken, and James A. McTamney, Merion avenue and Williams street, West Conshohocken, which occurred in St. Gertrude's church on Wednesday afternoon.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of an assemblage of relatives and friends that filled the edifice at 4:30 o'clock, with Rev. Thomas L. Gaffney, rector of St. Gertrude's church officiating.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Rose E. Custer, of West Conshohocken, as bridesmaid.

Daniel McTamney, a brother of the groom, acted as groomsmen. The bride was attired in white Canton crepe. Her tulle veil was held in place with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of Bridal roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid wore a gown of pink messaline made with an overskirt of silk lace. Her hat was of white tulle and she carried a bouquet of pink Killarney roses.

Following the ceremony a wedding and reception, attended by only the immediate families of the contracting parties, was held at the home of the bride.

The happy couple left early in the evening for Atlantic City, where they will spend their honeymoon and upon their return will take up their residence at 204 Ford street, West Conshohocken.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents of silverware, cut glass and linen.

The bride has been a resident of West Conshohocken all her life and is decidedly popular in the younger social life of this vicinity. The groom likewise has spent his entire lifetime in the West borough. He is a widely known baseball player, having played in the Blue Ridge League and is now a member of the teams representing the John Wood Manufacturing Company and the James Lees and Sons, in the industrial leagues in this borough and Norristown.

FIREMEN'S VISITATION

A special meeting of the Washington Fire Company will be held this evening for the purpose of making final arrangements for the entertainment of the officers of the Rescue Fire Company, No. 4, of York, Pa., who will visit the local fire laddies over the week end. The visitors will leave York by automobile at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and will be met at Wayne by a committee of the Washington Company. The party will be taken to Philadelphia where dinner will be served after which they will be taken to the Philadelphia ball park to witness the game between the Phillies and Cincinnati. Following the game the party will return to this borough where an elaborate supper will be served.

On Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, the visitors will be taken by automobile through Fairmount Park, Zoological Garden and from there to Willow Grove Park. The party will return here in time to allow the visitors to have supper before departing for their homes at 5 o'clock.

CHILD WANDERED AWAY

A two-and-one-half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Englehart, residing at 149 West Ninth avenue, wandered away from his home Wednesday morning and was located at the home of Ira Bickhart, Eighth avenue and Wells street, shortly after noon. The child was noticed near the Bickhart residence crying and bewildered and was taken into the house and the police notified. Shortly afterward word was received that the child had disappeared. The mother was informed as to the whereabouts of the infant and immediately went to the home of Mr. Bickhart and took him home, none the worse of his experience.

RECORD CROWD AT OPEN AIR DANCE

The second of the fortnightly dances, given under the auspices of the Community Center, was held last evening at the open air dance floor in East Fifth avenue. The crowd was a record one and the large dance floor was filled at each dance. The music was by the orchestra of the Conshohocken Band. The order was perfect and the dances are proving to be very popular.

PRIZE WINNING WALTZERS TO BE AT SODALITY DANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Copestick, of Philadelphia, both of whom are in their '60s, and who were awarded first honors at a public open air dancing contest in Philadelphia on Thursday of last week, when they competed with the best dancers in the city, both amateur and professional, will attend the Old Time Dance to be given this evening, in K. of C. hall, under the auspices of the B. V. M. Sodality, for the benefit of St. Matthew's church.

Mr. and Mrs. Copestick will give an exhibition of waltzing and the graceful dances before the advent of jazz.

NEW PLAN ORDERED FOR MAPLE ST. GRADE

Proposed Grade Unsatisfactory to All Concerned.—Council
Orders Plan For Straight Grade

ELIMINATE HUMP

All the members of town council, with the exception of Messrs. Carroll and Williams, the borough engineer and the owners of property in Maple street, between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues, attended an adjourned meeting of town council held last evening in Maple street to gain information as to the effect of a proposed grade for the street would have upon the properties fronting on the street.

The plan which was submitted to town council and to which several property owners objected was explained by the engineer and council and those interested were shown how the grade would affect the street. The plan was found to be unsatisfactory to all the property owners and to council.

The proposed fill on the east side of the street would cause the properties on that side to be on the street level, and would cause a hump in the street about 100 feet north from Eleventh avenue.

Mr. Noblit stated that the borough should discontinue building streets with humps as $4500 was recently spent to take out the hump in Third avenue and no more streets should be built in such a manner.

It was the general opinion that the street should have a straight grade and this would be more suitable to the properties.

M. J. Harvey, who is building three houses at Eleventh avenue and Maple street with the houses facing on Eleventh avenue, opposed the grade on the ground that it would leave the cellar of the corner house above ground. He desired a fill. The owners on the west side of the street opposed the fill as it would leave their properties too low.

Engineer Cresson stated that the proposed fill would not so seriously affect the Harvey property as Mr. Harvey claimed. This led to an animated discussion between Harvey and the engineer in which strong language was used and the discussion ended without any blows being struck.

On motion of Mr. Noblit, the street committee was instructed to have a new grade plan prepared showing a straight grade. A majority of the property owners agreed with this believing it will give a good grade and a good street. The plan will be submitted to the property owners interested and to council before its adoption.

DROWNS SAVING CHUM

A breaking rope caused the death of Miss Ethelwyn Heckling, twenty-one, of Swarthmore, after she had saved Miss Ethel Burke, of Philadelphia, from drowning, at Asbury Park on Wednesday.

The two were swimming a quarter of a mile off shore, when Miss Burke was seized with a cramp. Miss Heckling held her and tried to swim to the beach, meanwhile screaming for help. It was several minutes before crowds heard the alarm; then a life boat manned by Guards Billington and Remson was launched. Miss Heckling was half way to shore when the boat reached her.

The guards threw her a rope, which she caught, but when the guards were pulling the two to the boat the rope broke and Miss Heckling sank. Miss Burke was pulled aboard.

Miss Heckling was dead when guards found her body. Miss Burke was revived.

Hootch and Onions Got Tony in Bad

Weighted down with a big bundle of onions on the outside and a load of hootch on the inside, proved the undoing of Tony DiLorenzo, who occupies a room above the Sanitary Damp Wash in "Frog Hollow" early on Wednesday evening. When Tony is sober he is one of the most docile fellows in the world, but when he becomes charged with white mule he is just the reverse. He happened to be fully charged on Wednesday evening and came to the vicinity of Hector and Fayette streets carrying his onion and hootch and making an unusual amount of unnecessary noise. He seemed to get worse as time went on and people became frightened at his actions and complained to the police. Officer Ruth accosted him and warned to behave himself and go to his home, but Tony only became worse and the officer placed him under arrest and took him to the local police station.

Tony was arraigned before Burgess DeHaven yesterday morning and it developed at the hearing that Tony is on parole from the State hospital. The Burgess made inquiry as to whether Tony was mentally weak and it was stated that he had been committed to the State hospital on account of drink and that as long as he was sober he was as well behaved as any other man. The Burgess then said that if he drank and became disorderly he would have to be punished the same as any other man and he set the fine at $7.50, which was paid and the prisoner dismissed, and his onions, which were taken from him when he was committed to jail, were returned to him.

When arrested Tony's clothes were soaking wet. He explained to friends yesterday morning that he fell into Plymouth Creek while crossing the stream on a plank on Wednesday.

Frightened Animals Give Children Narrow Escape

An exhibition of unusual presence of mind and courage in a small child was shown the other day by "Billy," six-year-old son of Howard P. Corsa, living about a mile east of Perkasie. Three-year-old "Dick," a younger brother, had run into the public highway in front of their home and fell.

Billy went to help him up and as they stood there saw "the blacks," his father's team of big percherons, come running from a nearby field, where they had been let temporarily unhitched. He called "Come on Dick" and started to run toward the house, but Dick stood stock still petrified with fright. When Billy saw over his shoulder that Dick was not following, without an instant's hesitation or outcry he ran back, placed himself in front of his little brother facing the oncoming horses, one hand behind held Dick protectingly and gesticulating forcefully with the other clenched fist he shouted with all his might "Go back Dan, go back Cap, go back, go back." The horses did not go back, neither did they stop running until they reached the farm, but swerving far out to one side left the children untouched in the middle of the road.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS

The recently-elected officers of the local lodge, Shepherds of Bethlehem, will be installed at their regular meeting in their lodge room in the Moose Home, First avenue and Harry street, this evening. District Grand Deputy Mrs. Clara Chantry, of Norristown, will act as installing officer. A number of State Officers from Philadelphia as well as delegations from a number of subordinate lodges from Norristown and Philadelphia will be present. Following the business session, a social period will be enjoyed and supper served.

BOILERS FOR SCHOOL ARRIVES

Rapid progress is being made by the contractors in the alterations of and the erection of the addition to the high school.

The excavation for the cellar of the addition will be completed early next week, and while this work is being finished, the concrete foundations are being laid in the completed section.

The new boilers for the heating plant arrived today and were moved to the school. The installation will be done immediately so that the heating plant may be connected with the new rooms in the present building.

CONTRACT FOR HAULING

Charles Slavin, of Jeffersonville, and a former well-known resident of this borough, has been awarded the contract to do all of the hauling on the operation of building the new addition to the present high school at Seventh avenue and Fayette street.

KENNA ESTATE MAKES CLAIM AGAINST STATE

Claim Death of Former Localite Was Due to Injuries Received by Fall

STORM CASE AGAIN HEARD

Referee Bosler heard a rather novel claim for compensation at a hearing held yesterday afternoon at the court house, Norristown. Thomas Kenna, while employed at the State Hospital, fell from a ladder while engaged in doing some work in the engine room. In his fall a growth on his face was opened. It was claimed that this injury caused the development of cancer, which resulted in death. It was the contention of the State, from whom compensation was sought, that the fall had nothing to do with the development of cancer, since he had the affection before the fall. He was represented by Attorney Henry L. Fox.

The case of John Storm, of this borough, against John Wood Manufacturing Company, was again up for consideration. At the last hearing there was a question as to the young man's age. It was testified that when he was employed by the company he was not of proper age. After he was hurt in the plant he agreed to a settlement. Now, it is contended, that this was an improper action because of his youth. The family Bible was produced to corroborate his claim as to age. Attorney Fox and Attorney Klaunder represented Storm.

Testimony was heard before the state compensation board at Norristown, with Referee Bosler in charge, in the case of Nelson Wood, of Collegeville, who sought compensation for his condition following the fracture of his leg while employed at the Shallicross plant. Wood was a patient at Montgomery Hospital for a long time.

In this case as in the cases of the widow of Thomas Kenna against the State Hospital and John Storm vs. the John Wood Manufacturing Company, of this borough, Referee Bosler reserved his decision.

DIED ON RACE TRACK

The Hatfield race track was the scene on Monday afternoon of a fatal accident, when David Haring, of Philadelphia, a trainer, suffered a stroke, followed by a fall from the sulky in which he was riding. In falling his neck was broken. He was 65 years old and went to the Hatfield track for the benefit of his health and to get in the open. He was daily engaged in training the horses at the track. Monday afternoon he had one of the racers out jogging around the track when he was attacked with a stroke followed by a fall with sufficient force to break his neck. He was dead when picked up. A physician stated that the man was dead before he fell, he stroke having killed him. He is survived by two sons and two daughters, his wife having died about a year ago. He was buried in Fernwood cemetery.

AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE

The automobile trucks of I. Berman, meat dealer, whose place of business is located on lower Fayette street, and Tony Balsama, of the corner of Elm and Oak streets, collided at the corner of Elm and Fayette streets about eight o'clock this morning.

Berman was driving South on Fayette street and Balsama was coming West on Elm street. The two trucks arrived at the crossing attempting to turn into West Elm street struck the rear of the Balsama truck. The left front fender of the Berman car and the right rear fender of Balsama truck were both badly bent. Neither driver was injured. The Balsama truck was loaded with ice.

ATTENDED PRIEST'S FIRST MASS

WEST SIDE

Mrs. Thomas Browne, manager of Tolc's grocery store, is enjoying a week's vacation.

James Dillon will remove tomorrow from 21 Wilson street to West Chester.

Mrs. William Smith, of Ford street near Cedar avenue, is confined to her home by illness.

Mrs. Julia Clinton is seriously ill at her home at the corner of Bullock and Josephine avenues.

James Mellon, a young son of Thomas Mellon, of Front street, is confined to his home suffering from an illness bordering on typhoid fever.

The fourteenth annual excursion of the Pastime Club to Augustine Beach will be run tomorrow. Several hundred tickets have been sold for the excursion and the affair promises to be the most successful ever given by the club.

Wilmer Buler, who has been confined to his home on lower Ford street for several weeks suffering with an attack of the heart, is slowly recovering and is now able to greet his friends from the front porch.

The regular meeting of the George Clay Fire Company will be held next Tuesday evening. William Megaw, who was recently appointed driver by the trustees, will assume his duties on Tuesday morning.

Stewart Dean, who has conducted a contracting and hauling business in this borough for several years, has disposed of his equipment to Harry Barnshaw and will leave this week for Miami, Florida, where he will reside permanently.

While playing with a number of boys in the vicinity of his home on Merion avenue yesterday afternoon, James Hasson, a young son of Matthew Hasson, was cut on the arm with a knife, inflicting an ugly wound. The injury was treated by a physician.

Miss Florence Hannum, who was operated upon for the removal of tonsils in Montgomery hospital, Norristown, last Monday, was brought to her home, 628 Ford street, on Wednesday. While still confined to her bed her condition is slowly improving.

Mrs. John R. Ellis, who has been spending several weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Noblit, of Ford and Simon streets, left on Wednesday for her home in Bowling Green, Kentucky. Mrs. Ellis was summoned home on account of the serious illness of her father. His condition is unimproved.

The annual picnic of the Pyle Memorial Wesleyan Methodist Sunday School will be held at Elmwood Park, Norristown, tomorrow. The members of the school will be conveyed to and from the park in automobile trucks, leaving the church at 9 o'clock in the morning. A program of athletic events has been arranged and there promises to be something doing the entire day.

Interesting Games Played at Swartley's Pool Parlors

Ralph Levana Scores Easy Victory

On Wednesday night in Swartley's pool rooms, two very exciting games were held, the first game brought together Ralph Levana and James Graham and after an exciting game Levana finished on the long end of a 50 to 37 count. Graham pushed Levana all the way in the contest.

Score by frames:

Levan.....5 7 8 10 7 7 6—60
Graham.....7 6 4 3 7 6 4—37

Scratches—Levan, 4; Graham, 6.

High run—Levan, 9; Graham, 8.

Allan Arentz A Winner

In the second game Leon Swartley and Allan Arentz crossed cues and after a clever exhibition of pool shooting Arentz finished on the long end of a 50 to 38 score. Swartley fought an uphill battle from the beginning and was gaining steadily, but too late to do good.

Score by frames:

Swartley...0 3 4 7 8 5 7 4—38
Arentz...13 7 6 7 4 6 6 1—50

Scratches—Swartley 10; Arentz, 5.

High run—Arentz, 12; Swartley, 8.

Rupp Bests Williams

On Thursday night another very exciting game was held in the elimination tournament at Swartley's pool rooms in which William Rupp and "Bunny" Williams clashed together. This battle drew a large crowd as these two shooters were the most likely contenders for the crown. After a very exciting game Rupp finished on the long end of a 50 to 41 score. In the last frame when Rupp needed but 1 ball he pulled the most spectacular shot of the tournaments ending one of the best games played to date.

Score by frames:

Rupp...8 8 1 9 7 6 8 3 5—51
Williams...5 6 9 0 5 7 4 5—41

Scratches—Williams, 9; Rupp, 7.

GULF MILLS

William Mosman, Sr., of Mechanicsville, was visiting friends in Bryn Mawr on Wednesday.

Charles "Duncan," of Mechanicsville, has accepted a position with the Gulf Woolen Company.

Alexander H. Crockett, of King-of-Prussia, tax collector in Upper Merion township, was visiting in Bryn Mawr on Tuesday.

The residence and a 1-2 acre tract of Thomas May Pierce, Jr., on Conestoga road at Radnor has been sold to Benjamin T. Ratner. The property was held for sale at $40,000.

The annual picnic of the Gulf Christian Sunday school will be held at Valley Park on Saturday, August 5. Preparations are being made to take a large crowd to the pleasure resort.

No date has as yet been set for the opening of the fall session of the Men's Bible Class of the Gulf Christian church. The meetings are expected to be resumed early in September.

Young people residing in the Gulf Mills district are among those who attended the weekly band concerts and dances at the Community Centre in Bryn Mawr.

The first bridge over the Gulf Creek at Gulf Mills was built in 1789. The date stone is still preserved in the west parapet of the structure. The bridge was rebuilt in the early eighties and widened in 1912.

There will be a large yield of blackberries of the wild variety in the Gulf Mills district this year, and many persons will avail themselves of the opportunity to gather them. The juice of the blackberry is valuable for different uses, and particularly for medicinal purposes. Cordial made from the juice of this wild fruit, which includes spears and other ingredients, has medicinal properties hard to surpass for various ailments. Again blackberries prepared for table use, jelly, jam, preserve or other ways, form a very good addition to the other staples for the gratification of appetites. Again blackberries might be used for another purpose, but with apologetic remarks to one, Mr. Volstead. Many housewives who prepare blackberries for winter use, prefer those of the wild variety to the cultivated kind, believing that the former have the best flavor. Another instance where wild fruit is preferable to the domesticated product is shown in the fox grape. Jelly made from this fruit is par excellence.

The rural free delivery route, known as Bridgeport R. F. D. No. 1, which includes a portion of Gulf Mills, has been changed to Norristown R. F. D. No. 6, as a result of Bridgeport having been made a substation of the Norristown post office.

William Cummins, of King-of-Prussia, who has been mail carrier on this route for some time, will retain his position. Parts of Gulf Mills included in this route are the Swedeland road to its junction with the Gulf-road at Bird-in-Hand and the Gulf road north towards Henderson station. Some of this territory at one time was covered by the mail carrier of Conshohocken R. F. D. No. 1, but when the rural delivery was started from the Bridgeport post office, the route was divided.

A gain of $1,152,400.49 in deposits over the first six months of last year is shown in the statements of Ardmore's two financial institutions covering the period from January 1 to July of this year. Deposits in the Merion Title and Trust Company, the largest banking institution on the Main Line, shows an increase of $998,852.90 over the same period last year. The Ardmore National Bank, one of the youngest banks on the Main Line, has an increase in deposits of $153,547.59 for the first six months of this year.

Mrs. John McFarland, of Gulf Mills, entertained a number of friends at Five Hundred on Tuesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Samuel Platt, of St. Louis, Missouri. Mrs. Platt was formerly Miss Emma McFarland. Favors at cards were received by Mrs. James Long, Mrs. Alfred Jamison, of Lower Merion, Mrs. Athalie Kendell and Mrs. Clayland Walker, of New Centerville, Mrs. Samuel Platt and Miss Isabel Walker, of Norristown.

Residents of the Main Line are interested in a coming event to begin at the Community Centre in Bryn Mawr. It will be in the nature of a Shakespearean pageant, and will be presented on the grounds of the Centre, Lancaster pike and Bryn Mawr avenue. Plans are under way for this outdoor presentation, but no date has as yet been set for the dramatic portrayal. All members of the centre with dramatic talent are being enrolled for the pageant.

A midnight prowler who entered the bedroom of two daughters of John Bosco, at Swedeland, badly frightened the young women. The intruder was discovered under the bed, and made his escape when the father of the family made his appearance on the scene.

"What is the matter with base ball at Rebel Hill this year?" asked the Recorder representative of an enthusiast of the game who resides there. "I don't know," said the fan. "There has been very few games played in the village during the season, and interest in the sport, as far as having a club here is concerned is lost. 'Billy' Mosman, a well known twirling artist of Rebel Hill, and who was a leader in all of the base ball circles, is still affected with an ailment of the leg which developed while he was in camp during the World War. At times Mosman is impelled to use crutches, being unable to use one of his legs with the proper degree of satisfaction. It appears that ministrations by physicians only bring temporary relief to the young man.

Judging from the improvements being made at the Gulf public school, that place of learning is to receive a number of new pupils at the opening of the new term, about a month hence. It is stated that not only will there be many beginners for the first semester to increase the enrollment of pupils, but that pupils there who have reached certain high grades will continue their education at the Gulf school instead of entering the West Conshohocken school, which practice was started a few years ago, and led to the abolishment of the grammar department at the Gulf school, thereby doing away with the services of a teacher. It is stated that about a dozen pupils from the Mechanicsville district were enrolled at West Conshohocken school last term. One of them graduated. In cases where scholars graduate in Upper Merion, the School Board of said district will pay for their further tuition at a borough high school, but in cases where they enter a rural school diploma, it is understood that the parents bear the expense of tuition. The West Conshohocken public school building is said to be greatly overcrowded, and it will be necessary to provide additional facilities to accommodate the school children. This may be the reason for the action of the Upper Merion School Board in restoring the grammar department at the Gulf school, thus assisting the West Conshohocken School Board to overcome the crowded condition of its schools. Children from the Mechanicsville district who enrolled at West Conshohocken last term will no doubt continue there, but it is stated that no new ones from Mechanicsville will enter, and that the Upper Merion School Board will make suitable provision for them at the district school. It is also pointed out that it has been necessary for the West Conshohocken school district to increase the price of tuition to outside pupils, in order to assist in strengthening its financial status. Whether this advance has had any bearing on children from Mechanicsville continuing their studies at the Gulf school is problematical, but it is surmised that it has not, and that the overcrowded condition of the West Conshohocken place of learning may be accepted as the reason for restoration of the grammar grade at the Gulf school. It will be necessary, therefore, to elect another teacher for the Gulf school for the coming term. One of the teachers there is Mrs. Raymond Cole, who is now taking a summer course at the West Chester Normal school. As the scholars in some of the higher grades at the Bird-in-Hand school are to be transferred to the new consolidated school at Swedeland when the new term opens, this will leave available room at Bird-in-Hand for beginners, of which there will be quite a number to enter. Although it was the original intention of the School Board that the Swedeland school should accommodate all of the pupils in the lower district of the township, the question has arisen whether it is of sufficient capacity.

The nappers deny that they have no mission in life, as they give the older generation plenty to talk about.

Something for Merchants to Think About!

NAME ten merchant princes who never advertised. No?

Name nine, then.

Six? Two? One. Why, what is the meaning of this? Your knowledge of history and current affairs is comprehensive; your memory is excellent. Why, then, can't you name the greatest leaders of commerce who built up their enterprises WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

It's never been done, has it?

On the other hand, great commercial successes, since the dawn of history, have been erected largely by advertising, of one sort or another. And as the means of advertising improved, the number and extent of business enterprises increased correspondingly. Cause and Effect.

But this has to do with big city successes, you say? Wrong again.

Read below.

Newspapers come first on the advertising budget of Fred P. Mann, Devils Lake, N. D., country merchant whose store does nearly a million dollar business a year. This much he told retail dealers who gathered at Boulder, Mont., last week for their annual convention.

He sends out grocery specials and personal letters.

Mr. Mann is known the country over for his achievements in building up a million dollar store business in a small community started in business with a $75 capital. Through a wholesale house he was given "time" on $1,600 stock.

A newspaper friend urged him to tell the public about what he had to sell through newspaper columns. He did this when other merchants were satisfied to carry only a card in the paper.

The first year Mr. Mann did a business of $23,000. He continued to use newspaper space judiciously and has kept at it ever since. Now the fixtures in his store alone are valued at $10,000.

Mr. Mann said that after taking the presidency of the North Dakota association, he sent out questionnaires from which he learned that seventy-five per cent of the merchants of that state did not advertise and that ten per cent advertised only because they wanted to help out their local papers.

At the same time, he said, the mail order houses were sending seventy-two carloads of catalogues into the state and it was reported by wholesale houses that seventy-two per cent of the merchants were insolvent. He said he took up a campaign to induce the country merchants to go on a cash basis and to advertise, and he has since succeeded in bringing 200 of them around to his system.

Mr. Merchant, you don't have to do business in Dakota nor belong to Mr. Mann's association to do business under his system.

Start now. Right here in Conshohocken. TODAY. The Recorder is trying to help you when it lays down money to furnish you with a big advertising service such as will be given anyone who wants it.

Storm Country Polly

the squatter girl's arm, "Pollyop, something struck Oscar and he's dead in the road."

Frankly she drew the dazed Polly over the threshold. The darkness was dense, and the torrents of rain pelted their faces. Another zigzag streak of fire ran across the sky, making a vivid picture as it blazed Cornell university into plain view. In the white light of it, Polly saw a man lying face down in the path leading to the shanty. He made no effort to get up as the two girls bent over him. "Mebbe he ain't dead," muttered Polly, shuddering. "Let's lug him in the hut."

Between them they dragged the heavy, inert body into the shanty and shut the door. Oscar looked dead when they turned him over. His face was livid, and his eyes tightly shut. "The thunder hit him, huh?" questioned Polly, awestruck.

Shudder after shudder ran over Evelyn. "I don't know," she moaned. "Yes, I suppose so. Oh, it was dreadful!" She began to cry, wringing her hands desperately.

"Don't do that," begged Pollyop, with a shiver. "Come on an' help me get 'im up on my bunk."

Weak from the shock, Evelyn was of little service in lifting Oscar. But the bed was low, and finally after much tugging, he was rolled lifelessly over on his back, stretched to his full length on the rickety cot.

Standing side by side, the girls looked anxiously down upon him.

"I guess mebbe he's dead, ain't he?" queried Polly woefully.

Shaking off her superstitious terror, Evelyn touched the prostrate man. Perhaps he was dead; and out of somewhere a thought shot into her mind that if he were, her troubles were over. "I don't know," she whispered. "But he looks so!"

Pollyop shoved Evelyn aside and slipped her arm under Bennett's head. She seemed to have lost all aversion to him. She realized then only that a human being was suffering, perhaps dead. At her tender touch the man's eyes flew open; and, panic-stricken, Pollyop withdrew her arm and was back beside the other girl before she spoke.

"He's got life in him, Miss Eve," she chattered between her teeth. "Look at his eyes! God, ain't it awful!"

Quietly Oscar lay gazing at the girls as they stared at him. Polly was the first to go to him.

"Feel awful sick, eh, Oscar?" she asked in a low tone.

The man did not answer even by a movement of his lids.

"He can't talk," she went on, looking around at Evelyn. "He ought to have a doctor. Can't you go up to the boulevard an' get Doc Bacon?"

A fresh burst of tears so choked Evelyn Robertson that for a space she could not answer.

"No, I can't go out in this awful storm again," she finally replied. "Of course, I can't," she repeated, sorrowfully. "I'm afraid. I won't go. I won't take a step. If any one goes—"

"Then stay by him," interjected Polly, dully, "an' I'll go!"

Asheamed to declare that she was afraid to be left alone with Oscar, Evelyn watched Pollyop as she went out and softly closed the door behind her.

Polly Hopkins lingered several moments to accustom her eyes to the night's blackness. Beyond to the east Lake Cayuga rushed on toward Ithaca as if its intentions were to swallow the little town in one huge mouthful. Pollyop crooned over mechanically words which fell hourly from Grammy Hope.

"Ask an' it shall be given thee," she whispered. "Then, if that's so, let me get some one to help Oscar!"

Through the clatter of the elements she heard the sound of footsteps off the dark road. An answer to her prayer was about to step out of the night gloom. She hoped it was Larry Bishop or Lye Braeger. Opening her lips, she gave the word, crying, squatter-call of the Storm country; and a voice that clutched at her heart answered her.

Then, by the next flash of jagged lightning, she saw Robert Percival coming toward her.

"Is that you, Polly?" he called. "What's the matter?"

"Yep," she faltered timidly. "I got some one sick in the shanty."

Of all the people she had expected to see, he was the last. As she waited for him to approach, Pollyop's active mind grasped the fact that now Robert would know what his cousin had done. She saw no way to keep him in ignorance of Evelyn's relation to Oscar, and she was too excited to think of an excuse to keep him outside.

"Pollyop," commenced Robert, "I had to see you if only for a few minutes. Wait a second before you go in."

Confused and agitated, the girl did not stir a step until he was bending over her. One arm went around her shoulders, one tender hand pressed her head against his breast.

"Daddy's gone!" she choked almost inaudibly. "They've took him to Auburn, huh?"

"Yes, dear child," answered Robert, his own throat full with emotion. "But what I came to tell you is this, dear. I've already set things moving to bring him back. I couldn't sleep to-night until I saw you."

A long shudder ran the length of Polly's body; her legs grew so weak she would have fallen but for the strong arms holding her up.

"I want him awful bad," came up in a breath to the pale young man.

"And I say, Polly dear, that he's coming home," repeated Robert, "and every day I want you to expect him. Will you trust me, darling?"

He had asked her that question once, but that was before Old Marc had railroaded Daddy Hopkins to Auburn.

"Will you, Pollyop?" urged Robert passionately, lifting her face and laying his warm lips on hers.

With swift-moving breaths she flung both arms around his neck.

"I'll trust you every day an' all day!" She hesitated and turned her head. A sound in the hut had frightened her. She knew Robert had heard it, too, for he reached out his hand to open the door.

"We'll go in," said he, taking her arm and gathering both of her hands into his.

By a sudden movement, Polly pushed him backward.

"I'd rather you'd make off," she told him, unsteadily. "Mebbe I can find a squatter."

"No, my dear," returned Robert. "When you need help, and I'm here, you can't call any one else."

While he was speaking, he had disengaged his hands and had lifted the latch.

Trembling from head to foot, Pollyop followed him into the hut.

When Robert caught sight of his pale cousin, he stopped short.

"You're not ill, Eve, dear?" he cried, going to her quickly. "Polly said some one was sick here."

He glanced around the shanty. A throb of happiness made his pulses beat faster. "The Greatest Mother in the World" still held her place on the wall. While he was contemplating the wonder of the picture, his thoughts went back to the day he had given it to his Littlest Mother in the World.

Billy-goat Hopkins mousing in the wood-box brought his thoughts back, but not soon enough to catch the meaning glance that Evelyn shot at the squatter girl, who was gazing steadily at her. With a fling of contempt Miss Robertson walked to him and laid her hand on his arm.

"No, I'm not the least sick, Bob, but—just now—" she hesitated, then continued hurriedly: "There's a little boy here; and I often bring him food and candy. When I got here," she whirled around and flung her hand toward the cot, "this man was so terribly sick that I told Polly Hopkins she ought to get a doctor. Naturally, I consented to stay until some one else came, but I never expected—"

The explanation brought a groan from Pollyop.

Slowly Robert drew his gaze from Oscar's pallid countenance and turned to her. He looked so shocked and hurt that she impulsively moved toward him.

PLYMOUTH

Miss Hazel Rex spent Sunday at Atlantic City, N. J. George Ewing, of Conshohocken, is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Walter Campbell, for a week.

Mrs. William B. Richards is again on the sick list at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Shuman. Mr. and Mrs. Christian Wisler and family, of Lansdale, visited Mr. and Mrs. David Rhoads.

Raymond Maxwell with a party of friends fished on Sunday at Fortiesque, N. J., returning with a goodly number of fish.

Quite a large number of Mission members and friends journeyed to Forrest Park, Chalfont, on Saturday, and had a delightful time on their annual picnic.

Mr. Charles Higgs and wife, who have been spending several weeks with their son John, left this week for Centralia, Pa., where Mr. Higgs is employed by a coal company.

Mrs. David White who underwent an operation in a Philadelphia hospital last week is improving quite rapidly and expects to return to her Plymouth home in another week.

The Misses Alberta and Blanche Frick, of Frankford, have returned to their home after a 10-day visit with Mr. and Mrs. Addison Schumacher.

The Men's Bible class will hold a monthly meeting in the Sabbath School room next Monday evening for the purpose of electing officers for the next six months and having a social time together.

Miss Olive Walton and Miss Carolyn Powick have moved into the garage on their newly purchased property and will reside there until the house is built. Mr. and Mrs. Bogt, of Philadelphia, have purchased the residence of Miss Walton and have moved into it.

The Knights of the Golden Eagle will picnic at Sanatoga Park tomorrow, and because of so many members belonging to the order who also are associated with the U. E. Sabbath School, the Sabbath School picnic has been postponed until a later date.

Miss Helen K. Webster, of Ridge Pike, a graduate of Norristown high school has enrolled as a student at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, in the Margaret Morrison college, and will take up a course in costume economics.

Charles Rhoads has his bungalow in Plymouth Center well under way and is busy every evening, after his day's work is done at the Magnesia plant, completing the interior. Electric lights has been installed and this enables Charles to push ahead with the work.

Mrs. Lemuel Rodebaugh, and Mrs. William White are spending part of the week at the Perkies Park Camp Meeting. This Camp Meeting is conducted by the United Evangelical denomination and is one of great spiritual uplift to those who attend.

Many attractive cottages adorn the Park grounds and are owned by members of the denomination in the City and other places who spend the summer months in them.

A Country Fair will be held on the grounds of the Cold Point Grange, at Plymouth Center, on Friday and Saturday, August 4th and 5th. A cafeteria supper will be served on Friday evening and a hot dinner will be served on Saturday evening from 5 to 8 o'clock. Cake and candy, booths, shooting gallery, art gallery, and all amusements that are usual to side shows will be in evidence. Dancing will be enjoyed on Saturday evening.

PLYMOUTH WOMAN RELEASED FROM JAIL

Mrs. Salvatore Volpe Paroled and Will Remove From Township

Salvatore Volpe was so anxious to have his wife out of jail and in his home to care for himself and five children that he informed the court in a petition for parole, he would enter into $300 bond that she would never go back to Plymouth township.

Judge Miller, in view of the claims on Wednesday morning favorably considered the petition presented by Attorney H. I. Fox, and paroled the woman (Philomena Volpe), naming Frank Moles as parole officer.

Mrs. Volpe was sent to jail for three months on June 17, having been convicted of assault and battery on one or more other women of the vicinity of Black Horse, where she resides.

The Volpes have sold their house at Black Horse and bought another in Bridgeport, to which the woman went at noon Wednesday when she was released. Her children range in age from 4 1/2 years to 20.

GETTING USED TO IT

"The house I have moved into is by the railway."

"Doesn't that disturb your sleep?"

"No. They say that I can get used to it in a few nights and so for the first week or so I am sleeping in a hotel."

TWO FINE SCHOOLS FOR MONTGOMERY

Building with an eye to the future, Abington township and the borough of Jenkintown will soon have the most modern and completely equipped school buildings in Montgomery county, buildings which will compare favorably with the schools of any other locality in the state.

Contracts have been awarded by the Abington township board of education for the erection of an elementary school on Edge Hill road, at the intersection of what will be Keith road, when that thoroughfare is completed. The Abington school will be built at a cost of $98,000, and will be of a style of architecture which is unique.

The structure will be of one-story construction, containing ten classrooms, an auditorium which will accommodate 600 persons, a cafeteria and domestic science and manual training rooms. The plans are so prepared that as many as six rooms may be added to the structure as the needs of the community grow. It will have the distinction of being the largest building of its kind in the state.

The building will accommodate approximately 300 pupils from Roslyn, Cresmont, Abington and Rochester Park.

The contracts for the Jenkintown high school have not as yet been awarded. At a meeting of the board of education, which was held July 21, the bids were opened in the presence of the bidders or their representatives. At this meeting it was decided to hold the bids under advisement until Monday night, due to the vast amount of detail work involved in comparing the various proposals.

The Jenkintown high school will cost about $175,000. It is to be a 2 1/2 story stone structure, 188 feet long and 60 feet wide at the ends. The central part, which will contain the large auditorium and gymnasium, will be more than 80 feet in width.

STEEPLECHASE CLASSIC AT JEFFERSONVILLE

On August 12, lovers of horse racing in this vicinity will be treated to something new. Child Evans, owner of the Montgomery Riding Academy, has planned to bring some of the best known horses that can be secured to compete in steeplechase races over the Jeffersonville track.

Owners of horses that have won prestige at Phoenixville and other tracks, with jockeys of repute, have sent in their entry blanks signifying a desire to compete over the Jeffersonville track.

Purses of $125 will be offered to induce horsemen to send their mounts to the local stables. Vague, owned by the Huntingdon Valley Stock Farms, winner of three races at Phoenixville and well known to devotees of horse racing, will in all probability be sent to the local track.

Entries from Canada Mounts from Erie, Canada and other distant parts that have been at Phoenixville to compete and for some reason did not materialize will be held at the Phoenixville stables until August 12, and then sent to the local track for competition.

Jim Curry, owner of the Phoenixville stables will send his three best—James, holder of the one mile track record at Havana, Cuba, Director James and Mayne Turn have been entered in the races. Other horses that have shown form at Phoenixville have been entered in the meet, such as George Washington, winner at Phoenixville and at Erie.

Running Trotters on List The trotter, Wm. Penn, owned by W. D. Althouse, and one of the best trotters to compete over the Phoenixville track has been entered with J. L. Murphy stables. Jim Healy, manager of the Murphy stables will send other horses of his charge to the local track.

Evans expects to have fully thirty or more horses in the various races to be held, including two steeplechase races; four flat running races of various distances; one will be six furlongs; one mile and the others will be four and half furlongs.

Steeplechase for Farmers One steeplechase race will be held for farmers, but thoroughbreds will not be barred. The farmers' event will be a free for all affair, and should prove interesting to local fans.

In order to avoid the various turns that are usually in the steeplechase, the races will be run inside the track and in full view of the spectators.

The RECORDER presents with its compliments, two tickets for the matinee or evening performance next Tuesday at the Riant Theatre to Mrs. Martha Hiltner, 137 East Seventh avenue.

Abandoned Baby Girl Finds Foster Father

Request was made on Tuesday by T. L. Rice, of 112 North Eighth street, Philadelphia, to Dr. G. L. Carrington, chief resident physician at Bryn Mawr hospital, that he be permitted to adopt the baby girl found two weeks ago along the drive of the Jamison home, corner of Spring Mill and Conshohocken State roads in Lower Merion township, and who since that time has been under the care of physicians at the hospital.

When the police of Bryn Mawr ordered that the infant, which is about four weeks old, be sent to the Montgomery county almshouse, Dr. Carrington requested permission to retain the child at the hospital, on the ground that transfer during the warm months might prove harmful to its health.

BOY'S BACK BROKEN BY FALL OF 15 FEET

Ranson Twining, ten years old, son of Walter Twining, of Hathoro, was injured probably fatally by a fall from a haymow on his father's farm on Wednesday. He is in the Abington Memorial hospital, and surgeons believe his back is broken.

According to the police report, the boy was playing with another lad when he slipped and fell to the floor, about fifteen feet. His companion gave the alarm and the ambulance from the Abington hospital made a twelve-mile trip—six miles each way—to get the boy to the operating room.

FRIDAY, JULY 28, 1922.

Open air dancing and band concerts have made a great popular appeal and each week the crowds in attendance have increased. An open air swimming pool would meet with great favor and serve a public need, and the open air diversions could be continued during the winter with an ice skating pond. We hope the swimming pool project will receive strong support.

Philadelphia is confirming its reputation for slowness by the manner in which it is handling the Sesqui-Centennial problem. As the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence occurs in 1926, the city had better postpone the celebration and have the committee begin plans for the celebration of the 200th anniversary. This would give ample time for the present jealousies to die out and the next generation might augment the plans and carry them to completion.

Great Britain does not take kindly to the suggestion of this Government to extend the jurisdiction of the United States beyond the coast from the established three miles to eighteen miles, that the United States may search vessels for contraband liquors, that the prohibition laws might be more rigidly enforced.

No one expected Great Britain would give support to such a radical change, for, if she did, it would be opening a way to bring about international complications of all kinds. Every country with a coast line would be extending its jurisdiction for every conceivable cause. Imaginary boundaries would have to be established in the oceans; there will be no such thing as freedom of the seas and the grasping nations will be as greedy to extend their jurisdiction over the water as they have been to extend it over the land.

The drastic prohibition laws are causing plenty of turmoil at home and it will be a fatal mistake to try and force them upon other nations.

Council Takes A Big Step Forward

In creating a sinking fund committee, town council has performed a great service that will bring about real and lasting benefits and will be a great saving to the taxpayers.

The committee will be comprised of the burgess, president of town council and the chairmen of the ways and means and the finance committees. These men, by reason of their positions, are most familiar with the needs of the borough and the state of the finances.

The step is a great forward step and gives the means for a more businesslike control of the public funds.

The committee is to deposit the funds where the highest rate of interest may be secured together with security and safety. The funds not needed for payment of maturing bonds may be invested in the purchase of outstanding borough bonds or U. S. Government or State of Pennsylvania bonds. The fund, for the first time since its establishment, can now be made earn sufficient money that the public debt will not cost the taxpayers more than one per cent. as the committee will be bound to see that the regular yearly payments as specified by the schedule for payments against principal, interest and State tax are made. Had this plan been carried out at the beginning of the fund, the finances would be in a more easy state and more money would have been provided for streets and other public necessities.

Two years ago, council in its need for money reduced the appropriation for the sinking fund $2800 less than the schedule called for. This would not have been serious as the accumulated interest more than over balanced the reduction, but it was bad financial policy as the accumulated interest was earning money and was making the fund less burdensome. Last year, council followed bad advice and made no appropriation to the fund to be applied against principal indebtedness and has created a deficiency in the fund which comes at a time when the borough can least afford it.

The committee will have no power to permit the reduction or omission of payments into the fund but will be duty bound to have council make regular payments, as provided by the schedule. No situation as the present will again occur.

Now that council has taken a most important step in safeguarding the finances, there is another important step to be taken to build the town and save for the taxpayers: that is a definite policy of street improvement.

When town council decides that part of the street appropriation each year shall be spent for permanent work and a definite program shall be followed for extensive repairs, another great service will have been performed for the benefit of every one.

Street work has been and is being done without a plan or policy. It would be a great saving to the borough were the street committee to plan and recommend street work, both repair and permanent, with the advice of a competent road engineer who would provide specifications, plans and estimates for the various pieces of work.

The borough has had costly experiences in the past owing to improper advice for repair and new road work, and during the past few years enough money has been wasted in inefficient work to have provided much permanent work.

The borough is unable to employ a road engineer full time but it is probable that an experienced road man could be secured for part time to prepare specifications, view the streets and recommend the best kind of repairs and advise with the street committee in the conduct of the work.

Council recognizes the loss suffered and that no progress is being made in getting better streets.

Council has made a fine start for better borough government in creating the sinking fund committee and that full benefits may be derived from this action, a definite street policy should be adopted.

BULE LAWS TRIUMPHANT
IN DELAWARE

From Collegeville Independent.

A Delaware man recently harrowed his developing crop of corn. Weather indications favored rain and the farmer desired to harrow before it rained and harrowed on Sunday. He did. And soon thereafter he was sentenced to 24 hours in jail as punishment for harrowing his patch of corn on Sunday! If, instead of harrowing corn he had passed a Sunday in chasing about in an automobile, or in wagging his tongue in speaking ill of his neighbors, or in wearing a long face while pondering upon sins of omission and commission, preparatory to a resumption, next day, of one or all of the same sins, he would have escaped confinement in jail for twenty-four hours. The extraordinary (?) high state of civilization in Delaware will have to be ascribed to the enforcement of Delaware blue laws. The Delaware blue law saints should invoke an editorial friend of ours to join them in petitioning for an additional blue law—a law to prevent sunshine, and the growth of grass and grain and trees, and plants and flowers, and the music of the birds on—Sundays. Delaware must keep on running true to form; true to bigoted tolerance; true to Puritanism. It hasn't sufficient intellectual and real moral enlightenment to do aught else. It is as benighted as it is blue, and almost blue enough to be black.

SHOOTS TWO WOMEN AND KILLS HIMSELF

Aged Inmate of Bala Home Was About to Be Brought to State Hospital

A few hours before he was to have been taken to the Norristown hospital, William Smith, a seventy-four-year-old resident of the Presbyterian Home for Aged Couples and Single Men at Bala, shot two women officials of the home Wednesday afternoon and a few minutes later ended his own life.

The condition, of Mrs. Lillian Pierce, the superintendent, and Mrs. Elizabeth Wise, her assistant, who were shot by Smith, is not serious. Smith shot himself in the breast and cut his throat.

The man had been acting strangely lately and physicians said he was insane. Commitment papers for the State hospital arrived Wednesday morning, and, although the home executives say Smith was not informed of the proposed transfer, the police learned there had been talk of it among the residents, and that it probably reached Smith's ears and infuriated him.

Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. Wise were about to say grace before 130 men and women residents in the home dining room when Smith drew a revolver and fired. The first bullet struck Mrs. Pierce in the right jaw, the next buried itself in Mrs. Wise's shoulder and the third shot hit her arm.

As residents screamed Smith fired at a deaf-mute, but his aim was poor. He then ran upstairs, the revolver still in his hand, past Mrs. Esther Matlack, a nurse, who on hearing the shooting had started to descend. She sent for an ambulance and telephone for the police. Nurses and others then went to Smith's room on the third floor and found him lying on the floor. He died at the Presbyterian hospital shortly after arrival there. Mrs. Pierce and Mrs. Wise also were taken to the hospital.

Smith, who came from Cincinnati and had been at the home two years, is said to have a son who is a boxer. Mrs. Adaline Graham, who has taken charge of the home temporarily, said the man threatened her recently and that he had been acting queerly for a week. He was operated on a year ago and silver tubes were inserted in his head. It is believed the condition affected his mind.

The man quarreled with Uriah Emery, another resident, recently, and Emery, charging assault and battery, obtained a warrant. A constable went to the home to serve the warrant, but decided not to do so when he learned Smith was to be taken to Norristown.

No. 7. BAKING POWDERS

When baking soda is mixed with any acid, it bubbles and sizzles. A gas, carbon dioxide is given off. This gas is what blows up the dough in bread and cakes and makes the "dough bubbles" which was discussed in Tuesday's Recorder. Baking powder is merely a mixture of baking soda, some dry acid and starch. The dry acid used may be one of three kinds: cream of tartar, phosphates or alum. So long as the acid is dry it does not react with the soda, but as soon as enough water is present, a reaction begins. Our bread and cake gas or carbon dioxide is given off. The acid in our baking powders is kept dry by means of the starch. Alum is only used in the cheap baking powders and considerable discussion has arisen as to the healthfulness of powders containing alum. Alum itself interferences with digestion and alum baking powders are questionable as to their healthfulness. Between the other two types there is not much to choose. When a cream of tartar baking powder is used, Rochelle salts are formed and of course left mixed with the cake. Phosphate baking powders also form mineral salts in the cake. Cheap baking powders are usually alum powders. A good rule is to avoid using any brand of alum baking powder.

MUCH PUBLICITY BARS
BABY GIRL'S ADOPTION

When told that the adoption of the baby girl found two weeks ago in Lower Merion would entail a certain amount of publicity because of the interest taken in the child's future, T. L. Rice, 112 North Eighth street, Philadelphia, decided to look elsewhere for a child.

Mr. and Mrs. Rice, who have no children of their own, have considered for some time adopting one or two children. Their interest was aroused in the four-week-old infant, who if not claimed or adopted, will be sent to the Alma House, at Norristown. It is at present under the care of physicians in the Bryn Mawr hospital.

Several days ago Mr. Rice telephoned the chief of police at Bryn Mawr and asked if it had been claimed. When he realized the widespread attention the child's case has attracted, he decided not to adopt it.

"When we adopt a child, as we expect to do very soon," Mrs. Rice said yesterday, "we shall do it so quietly that not even our most intimate friends will know about it. It is difficult enough for a child to be ignorant of its parentage without making it harder by having everyone remembering the circumstances of the child's adoption."

Seventh Day Adventists
Open Tent Meetings

Evangelistic meetings, probably more interesting and helpful to the residents of this community than any held in recent years, will open in The Bible Temple, a large khaki tent pitched on the corner of Boulevard and Markley street, Norristown, next Sunday night. Evangelist F. Dewitt Gauterau, of the Seventh Day Adventist church, who is in charge of the meetings and one of the leading speakers, has arranged a program for the coming week which cannot fail to attract very large audiences.

He invites infidels, sceptics and higher critics as well as all others, to his first lecture next Sunday night at eight o'clock on "Signs of Christ's Coming." "This Generation Marked," "Can We Know?"

Monday night, subject will be equally interesting, "Changing the World's Map" or "America Involved." Tuesday night's topic: "Searchlighting the Future or Scepticism Baffled."

Wednesday evening, Evangelist Gauterau will speak on "An Hour in Abraham's Bosom." "This Earth to be Our Abode," "Will We Know Each Other There?"

Thursday evening, "What Happened in 1844," "The Key to the Seventy Weeks."

Friday evening, "Court Week in Heaven, Have You Secured Your Counsel?"

Saturday, no meeting.
Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 Dr. Louise V. Wurts, a returned Missionary from Brazil will begin her series of health lectures, "The Cause of Disease."

Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 will be children's day with Dr. Wurts in charge. All are invited to these lectures.

The "Bible Temple" is equipped with wireless and a radio phone will receive portions of sermons and music from Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Newark and Cuba and will be given to the audience.

"—And, my dear, our new cook is simply amazing! So wonderfully democratic, you know!"—Life.

In Passing By

One of the main highways between Montgomery county and Philadelphia is Stenton avenue. At different times it is now almost crowded to its limit. What will happen when Philadelphia gives its big centennial in 1926? Before that year the City should certainly widen, straighten and take the hills and hollows out of this upper end.

X X X

The traffic on the Ridge pike on Saturdays and Sundays is so heavy that State policemen should control it from the City Line to Collegeville. Accidents happen regularly every Sunday. If the drivers were controlled by State policemen there would certainly be less accidents, and many of those who are compelled to use the pike would feel safer than they do under the present conditions. Why do not the County Commissioners ask to have the police patrol the pike on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays?

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Mr. Charles N. Fullmer begs to announce to the citizens of Conshohocken and vicinity that he has purchased the business of George W. Wills, and is located in the Doctor Hall property, corner Fayette street and Third avenue, and has fitted the same as a Funeral Home. His years of experience and up-to-date equipment should bespeak for him a liberal share of patronage, as he comes well recommended.

"MASQUE OF A JUNE MORNING"

The following is a synopsis of the festival called "A Masque of a June Morning" which is to be given by the Center children in the Mary H. Wood Park on Wednesday evening:

Would you forget the world of weary mortals and peep through the Enchanted Gate into the Other Land of fairies, flowers and elfin piping?

Then hie to the Mary H. Wood Park on August 2, as twilight settles through the great leafy trees. There, on a green sward encircled by the dim tangles of the wood, the children of the Community Center will present "The Masque of a June Morning."

Among the trees the soft voices of the Snowflake chorus sing as winter, her long white hair falling over trailing robes, moves slowly forward. As she croons a gentle lullaby, voices cry aloud from the silver silence and the Snowdrops enter, voicing their impatience to feel the sun and try their wings. Winter bids them pe off to bed warning them of the Sun's burning kiss, but they spring forward. The voices of other flowers are heard and the Snowdrops urge them to wake and come to the light.

As the first drowsy-eyed flower enters, the Snowflakes leave, reappearing later as fairies. The Snowdrops greet the flowers. Buttercup sings of her royal blood, Primrose of her yellow day and Violet of her longing for the Land of Forgotten Things.

Winter comes forward angrily shaking her white mantle and chides them for their untimely rising. They huddle together weeping. Then bearing a horn without, they cry joyfully, "It is the Wind, our play-fellow, the Wind!"

Fragile Crocus, the Wind's white child, runs in panting; tells of her father's coming with all his minstrelsy, of her dancing in copses thick and shady and urges the flowers to dance with her. Joining hands, they call upon the Wind to pipe sweet music, then breaking their ring, they scatter, and Violet listening hears a sound of weeping. From the distant woods a voice sings the Song of April Tears and misty April enters warbling of sunshine and blue skies and of her sister May who lies a prisoner in Fairyland.

Thin elfin pipes sound and all the train of Fairydom moves forward with sweet May. Obeying April's command, the flowers hide their eyes as three tiny figures clothed in green appear leading with them a tall, pale maiden bearing a crystal bowl filled with a clear water which

Kind words and good deeds make thee not poor, They return full laden to thy door; Streams of kindness flow back from whence they begin And springs of outward help are deep within.

A pat on the shoulder, a kind word or two, Makes someone happy, the world less blue; Go give while they're living, the things they hold dear Wait not to bring flowers, it is kindness they want here.

LOCALS TOO STRONG FOR NORRISTOWN

McCarthy's All Stars Defeated By Local Montgomery County Leaguers in a Loosely Played Game, 11 to 7.—Perkasie Here To-Morrow—Industrial League Games.

Manager Brady's Conshohocken Montgomery County League team proved too strong for the Norristown All Stars in their game at the local athletic field last evening and went down to defeat by the score of 11 to 7 in a loosely played game, in the presence of several hundred fans.

Manager McCarthy, of the All Stars, depended on Lefty Lawless to turn back the locals and while he pitched a fair game of ball his fielding support was off color which was mainly responsible for the big difference in the score.

Graham, a second string pitcher, was on the mound for the locals and while there is no doubt he should have won his game, his support at times was wobbly and was responsible for at least four of the runs scored against him.

Cotter, who is supposed to be one of the best pitchers in the independent ranks and a member of the Bell club, representing the borough in the league, who played left field for eight innings, went on the mound and pitched the final frame, and did not allow a hit.

The hitting of Dannehower, for the visitors, was a feature of the game. He hit a single and a home run on his first two trips to the plate and on his third attempt he drove the ball to left field and reached home when it rolled through Cotter's legs to the fence.

Tomorrow afternoon Perkasie, who finished in the lead for the first half of the season in the Montgomery County Base Ball League and who is now deadlocked with Doylestown for the coveted position for the season half, will be the opponents of Manager Brady's Conshohocken team in this borough, and according to the local manager himself the team piloted by Manager Smith will be compelled to play even better than they know how in order to win the game. Conshohocken will have the team on the field which defeated Ambler two weeks ago and will have his old reliable catcher, Kephart, to handle the curves of Carson. The moundman is as good as any pitcher in the league and backed up as he should be will compel any team to exert itself in order to defeat him. Brady is anxious to keep out of last place and begin to climb into the first division and there is no team in the league that he would like to beat more than Perkasie. All of the players are imbued with the same idea of winning as their manager and there is sure to be a battle royal at the local ball park tomorrow afternoon.

Conshohocken has but three games to play at home. Perkasie will be here tomorrow, Souderton on August 19 and Lansdale will close the home season on the morning of Labor Day, Monday, September 4th. August 5th and September 2 are open dates on the schedule. Three games yet remain to be played away from home. On August 12 the team will go to Doylestown and on August 26th, they will make their final appearance at Ambler. Their last game of the season will be played at Perkasie on the afternoon of Labor Day, Monday, September 4th.

LEAGUE TIE TO BE BROKEN TONIGHT

A great crowd of fans is expected at the athletic field, tonight when Lee Tire and John Wood will meet to decide the leadership in the Industrial League.

Both teams have a record of winning six and losing two games, and both teams will be strengthened for tonight's game in an effort to secure undisputed leadership.

Steel Workers Shatter The Glass Men

Two home run hits were not sufficient for the Ruth ball players to win from the husky steel workers of the Alan Wood team. Grauel and Fetter each clouted a homer but these tallies were not enough to overcome the big lead the steel workers piled up in the sixth and seventh sessions.

In the fifth, the glass makers tied the score 4 to 4 but in the sixth the steel workers started a rally that brought in three runs and continued the rally in the seventh and piled up six more which ended their scoring for the game.

The hitting of Grauel and Grain and the fielding of O'Connor were the features.

YARNERS SWAMPED

In an Industrial League game on the athletic field on Tuesday evening, Merion Worsted was completely swamped by Alan Wood Iron & Steel. The Iron Workers collected seventeen hits for a total of sixteen runs while the Yarners scored only six runs off their nine hits. In the first two innings the winners towed up the game by scoring thirteen runs after which Manager Ewing took his star pitcher Vinchinski out of the box and replaced him with Kuras, a new recruit from the South. In the sixth inning Custer took up the hurling duties and finished the game. Both Bosley and O'Neil worked for the Yarners. The feature of the game was the batting of Robinson for Merlon, who hit a home run and a two-bagger and was given a base on balls in three time at bat. Robinson also fielded perfectly accepting eight chances without an error. The hitting of Grain, Kuras and Dewees and the fielding of Vinchinski for the Iron Workers were also clever.

Santa Maria To Meet Strong De La Salle

Philadelphia Stars to be seen in Sunday Game.

The base ball team of the Santa Maria Country Club will meet stiff resistance next Sunday in the Knights of Columbus League game with the strong De La Salle Council team of Lansdale. The De La Salle team is tied for the lead in the K. of C. League with four wins and one lost.

In expectation of a hard game, the Lansdowne team has arranged for Louis F. McCabe, of the Jewish World infield, to play short-stop. Jimmy Burdall, of Clifton Heights, likely will play second base. Burdall has been considered for many years the best player in Delaware county. The Lansdowne team expects to put against the Germantown team the best team possible to obtain.

Manager Haggerty, of the Santa Maria Country Club nine, looks for a hard game but fully expects his lads to win. He expects to see his regular lineup. Other teams in the K. of C. League are fearful of the country club boys since they held the Athletics to two runs.

C. F. C. Has Strong Opponents for Sunday

The Conshohocken F. C. with its long string of victories will try to add another one to its list by taking on the strong Forty-third ward of Philadelphia.

The Forty-third ward is one of the strongest teams in the city and have a fine record, so far they have won eleven games and lost six.

Graham will start the game in the box for Conshohocken F. C. with Dempsey on the bench for Monday's game with the Y. M. A. A. Dempsey turned back the Y hitters last Monday and will try to do the same this coming Monday.

The Conshohocken F. C. players are all to report at the Plymouth

Fire Company grounds at 2 p. m. sharp in uniform as the team's photograph will be taken.

The club is making a big hit in this town, and is composed of all young players, the pick of the town. The following is the list of players: catchers, Shvick, Rosetsky; pitchers, Lare, Dempsey, Graham; 1st base, Gavin; 2nd base, Bailey, ss, Robinson; 3rd base, Murphy, lf, Coven; cf, Hanlon, rf, Donovan; rf, Maguire; cf, Gray.

A large crowd is expected as this team is a first class team and a good game is expected.

The Conshohocken F. C. would like to arrange a series of games with the Midway A. C. and the Holly Hawk.

CHESTER BLOOMER GIRLS TO PLAY AT SWEDELAND

The Chester Bloomer Girls will be the attraction at Swedeland on Sunday when they will line-up against the Swedeland Bloomer Girls.

The Chester team is managed by Fred Hoey, who is well known in this section as a player a few years ago. He claims to have a fast outfit that will make the local girls hustle to win.

The good showing made by the "Matsunk Girls" against the Fisher Girls recently, has sent their stock soaring sky high and they are confident of coming out a winner.

"Kate" Davis will, as usual, serve them up for Swedeland. Game starts 3 o'clock.
