That will do. Now put the book on the table. Thank you. I have a book I picked up at a stall yesterday—'De Jure inter Gentes'—published in

A VERY OLD AND WRINKLED WOMAN HOBBLING INTO THE APARTMENT.

Latin at Liege, in the Lowlands, in 1642. Charles' head was still firm on his shoulders when this little brown-backed volume was struck off.

"Who is the printer?" "Philippe de Croy, whoever he may have been. On the fly-leaf, in very faded ink, is written, 'Exlibris Gulielmi Whyte.' I wondered who William Whyte was. Some practical seventeenth century lawyer, I suppose. His writing has a legal twist about it. Here comes our man, I think."

As he spoke there was a sharp ring at the bell. Sherlock Holmes rose softly, and moved his chair in the direction of the door. We heard the servant pass along the hall, and the sharp click of the latch as she opened it. "Does Dr. Watson live here?" asked a clear but rather harsh voice. We could not hear the servant's reply, but the door closed, and someone began to ascend the stairs. The footfall was an uncertain and shuffling one. A look of surprise passed over the face of my companion as he listened to it. I came slowly along the passage, and there was a feeble tap at the door.

"Come in!" I cried. At my summons, instead of the man of violence whom we expected, a very old and wrinkled woman hobbled into the apartment. She appeared to be dazzled by the sudden blaze of light, and, after dropping a courtesy, she stood blinking at us with her bleared eyes and fumbling in her pocket with nervous, shaky fingers. I glanced at my companion, and his face had assumed such a disconsolate expression that it was all I could do to keep my countenance.

The old crone drew out an evening paper, and pointed at our advertisement. "It's this as has brought me, good gentlemen," she said, dropping another courtesy; "a gold wedding-ring in the Brixton road. It belongs to my girl Sally, as was married only this time twelvemonth, which her husband is steward aboard a union boat, and what he'd say if he come home and found her without her ring is more than I can think, he being short enough at the best o' times, but more especially when we have the drink. If it please you, she went to the circus last night along with—"

"Is that her ring?" I asked. "The Lord be thanked!" cried the old woman. "Sally will be a glad woman this night. That's the ring." "And what may your address be?" I inquired, taking up a pencil. "13 Duncan street, Houndsditch. A weary way from here."

"The Brixton road does not lie between any circus and Houndsditch," said Sherlock Holmes, sharply. The old woman faced round and looked keenly at him from her little red-rimmed eyes. "The gentleman asked me for my address," she said. "Sally lives in lodgings at 3 Mayfield Place, Peckham."

"And your name is—"

"My name is Sawyer—hers is Dennis, which Tom Dennis married her—and a smart, clean lad, too, as long as he's at sea, and no steward in the company."

HER PURSUER DOGGED HER SOME LITTLE DISTANCE BEHIND.

more thought of; but when on shore, what with the women and what with liquor shops—

"Here is your ring, Mrs. Sawyer," I interrupted, in obedience to a sign from my companion; "it clearly belongs to your daughter, and I am glad to restore it to the rightful owner."

With many mumbled blessings and protestations of gratitude the old crone packed it away in her pocket, and shuffled off down the stairs. Sherlock Holmes sprang to his feet the moment she was gone and rushed into his room. He returned in a few seconds enveloped in an ulster and a cravat.

"I'll follow her," he said, hurriedly; "she must be an accomplice, and will lead me to him. Wait up for me." The hall door had hurriedly slammed behind our visitor before Holmes had descended the stair. Looking through the window I could see her walking feebly along the other side, while her pursuer dogged her some little distance behind. "Either his whole theory is incorrect," I thought to myself, "or else he will be led now to the heart of the mystery." There was no need for him to ask me to wait up for him, for I felt that sleep was impossible until I heard the result of his adventure.

It was close upon nine when he set out. I had no idea how long he might be, but I sat stolidly puffing at my pipe and skipping over the pages of Henri Murger's "Vie de Boheme." Ten o'clock passed, and I heard the footsteps of the maids as they pattered off to bed. Eleven and the more stately tread of the landlady passed my door, bound for the same destination. It was close upon twelve before I heard the sharp sound of his latch-key. The instant he entered I saw by his face that he had not been successful. Amusement and elation seemed to be struggling for the mastery, until the former suddenly carried the day, and he burst into a hearty laugh.

"I wouldn't have the Scotland Yarders know it for the world," he cried, dropping into his chair; "I have chaffed them so much that they would never have let me hear the end of it. I can afford to laugh, because I know that I will be even with them in the long run."

In Doubt.

"Lizzie, you're a woman o' the world, and what I'm a-askin you is in strict confidence, o' course. Jim, there, has offered me his hand. (In a hoarse whisper) Do you think a woman could be happy with a man with legs like his'n?"—Life.

After Typhoid Fever

A Running Abscess Discharges Pieces of Bone.

All Hope Given Up—But Hood's Sarsaparilla Gives Perfect Health.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:" "Dear Sirs:—I had been a sufferer for nearly three years and had doctored during that time, but without avail. I had given up all hope of ever recovering my health. At times I would rather have died than lived, but now I am thankful that I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla for I am now as sound as a dollar. I was Afflicted With Typhoid Fever, and an abscess formed on my right side above the fourth rib. The strange part about this was the fact that it did not open for six months after it appeared, although it pained me continually. After it broke it became a running sore and I was compelled to wear a bandage all the time. The doctors told me that the only way it could be cured was to have an operation performed and have the rib taken out, claiming that I had bone disease, inasmuch as four pieces of bone had been discharged from the sore. Before giving myself up to the doctors I decided to give Hood's Sarsaparilla a trial, although I had but little faith that it would do me any good. I used it strictly according to directions, and before I had used three bottles I Began to Feel a Change, and by the time I had used the fourth bottle the sore on my side had healed. It is now nearly three months since the eruption closed and I have not the least fear of it ever bothering me again. Hood's Sarsaparilla is certainly a gem among medicines. It has cured me and it will cure others." W. H. HEFFNER, Alvira, Pa.

Hood's Pills cure liver ills, constipation, biliousness, jaundice, sick headache, indigestion.

—Mr. Cyrus Q. Guldin, of Pottstown who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for State Senator, is opposed to the return of J. Donald Cameron to the United States Senate. If Mr. Guldin is nominated and elected he will vote against Mr. Cameron.

The small boy is now busily engaged in collecting nickels with which to purchase powder to mutilate himself on the ever glorious fourth.

He sat gazing at her photograph. It is an artistic creation and a perfect likeness of my charmer. Why did I commit myself to-night? Why have I bound myself with chains that may prove galling in the future? Why did I permit her to cast a glamour over me and enmesh me in the charm of her presence. I, who considered myself invulnerable to cupid's art. Methinks I see the hand of destiny in this. Farewell to my bachelor companions, and the allurements of the Penn Club. Never more shall its members hear me rail and scoff at matrimonial bliss. I am a man of honor and must keep my troth with her. I am doomed to become a Benedict, and these are my sentiments:

"Man is a gudgeon,
Woman is the live
That dangles o'er his head
And hooks him overtimed.

She baits the hook,
—And holds the pole,
But the minister is the man
Who flings him from eternal peace
Into the frying pan."

MR. McSWAT.

The Century for July has several articles appropriate to this patriotic season. In "The Star-Spangled Banner," John C. Carpenter retells the history of the national hymn, and there is a portrait of Francis Scott Key and a facsimile of the poem, now published, it is believed, for the first time. George Wharton Edwards, in the "Artists' Adventures Series," contributes a humorous narrative of the difficulties encountered by him while "Celebrating the Fourth in Antwerp." A timely paper on the new cruisers, with particular reference to the Indiana, of which there is a picture, is contributed by Albert Franklin Matthews under the title of "The Evolution of a Battle-Ship." Mr. Matthews, by vivid facts and figures, gives definiteness to the vague imagination of the uninstructed reader in regard to the great fighting machines which are now being added to the American navy.

In the July Forum Mr. Frederick Couderc, a distinguished New York lawyer, writes upon "The American Protective Association." Prof. J. B. McMaster, the historian, in an article which he calls "The Riotous Career of the Know-Nothings," traces the causes which led to the formation of this organization, of its ultimate inglorious end, and compares it to the American Protective Association. Theodore Roosevelt writes on "The Manly Virtues and Political Politics." Next comes a remarkable group of articles under the general heading of "Efforts Toward Clear Aims in Education," by President G. Stanley Hall, of Clark University; Thomas Davidson, the eminent essayist and philologist, on "The Ideal Training of the American Boy," and Prof. Martha F. Crown, of the Chicago University, on "Will the Co-Educated Co-Educate Their Children?" "The Stage as a Career: An Actor's Experience," by Mr. Rudolph de Cordova, himself an actor, describes some of the many hardships all actors and actresses who are not "stars" have to undergo in the pursuit of their profession.

TO THE RECORDER.

Will you kindly grant space in your paper for a few words about an entertainment to be given by the members of the W. C. T. U. in their hall on the evening of the 30th. There will be music and recitations by young people of the town, and a sale of cakes and bread both before and after the entertainment. This will be an opportunity for lovers of home made cake and bread to buy the best. Then too, the cause for which these women are working, namely, the uplifting and helping humanity, is one that should appeal to all who pray "Thy Kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven."

The women working in this cause, represent all the denominations in Conshohocken, therefore, it should be upheld by all. Let us have a full attendance and help from all our good citizens on this occasion.

TO HELP WOMEN.

That Is Why This Woman Writes.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Few people have any idea of the suffering that oppresses some women.

Pains run rampant through their entire bodies. They suffer secretly as long as they can, and then go all to pieces and don't care what happens.

Yet this misery is easily relieved; thousands of American women proclaim the fact.

The portrait presented here is that of Mrs. J. M. Bender, who lives on the old York Road at Nictown, Pa. She has been for many years in very poor health.

She had falling of the womb and other forms of female weakness, with headache, severe backache, pains all over her body, and serious kidney trouble.

Her blood was in such a bad state that physicians said she had dropsy. Nearly discouraged she tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and to her great surprise it made her a well woman.

She now wishes to tell women all over the world to take the Vegetable Compound and be well. Any druggist has it.

Nothing in all the world has cured so many cases of female weaknesses as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why don't you try it?

The Trolley War.

Judges Swartz and Weand, on Wednesday sat as masters in equity in the case between the Conshohocken Railway Co. and Pennsylvania R. R. Co. in which the complainant seek to restrain the defendant, its employees, and workmen from interfering with the agents, employees and workmen of complainant in the construction of their road in, through, and upon all and every part of the Ridge road from Norristown to the Whitmarsh and Plymouth Turnpike road.

The Trenton Cut-off branch of defendant company passed below grade beneath the Ridge road at a point about a mile below Norristown. A spur of the Pennsylvania R. R. crosses the Ridge road at grade about two hundred feet below the Trenton Cut-off branch.

The defendants are seeking to compel the complainants to construct an over arch bridge over their spur, upon which bridge the trolley is to run, thus avoiding the danger of a grade crossing.

The complainants called John H. Dager, who testified that it would be impracticable to cross the spur in any other manner than at grade.

It was estimated the probable cost of raising the turnpike and constructing a proper bridge for the trolley and traveling public $16,000 and $6000 for a bridge to accommodate a trolley alone.

Too Late.

Perhaps Tennyson has written nothing which appeals to the hearts of all who read his poems more than the lyric of "Too Late." The burden of the sad refrain comes home with telling force to the hearts of those who have lost friends by that dread disease—Consumption. They realize, "too late," the result of neglect. They feel that the dear one might have been saved if they had heeded the warning of the hacking cough, the pallid cheek, and weakening system. They feel this all the more keenly because they see others being rescued from the grasp of the destroyer, and they think what is saving others might have saved their loved one. When the first signal of danger is seen, take steps to avert the catastrophe. Be wise in time. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will drive away consumption. Do not wait until too late before putting its wonderful efficacy to the test. It succeeds where other remedies fail.

We guarantee our main springs in watches for two years, and clean the watch besides. Bloomhall, the Watchmaker.

How it Happened.

The following remarkable event in a lady's life will interest the reader: "For a long time I had a terrible pain at my heart, which fluttered almost incessantly. I had no appetite and could not sleep. I would be compelled to sit up in bed and belch gas from my stomach until I thought every minute would be my last. There was a feeling of oppression about my heart, and I was afraid to draw a full breath. I couldn't sweep a room without sitting down and resting; but, thank God, by the help of New Heart Cure all that a past and I feel like another woman. I have used the New Heart Cure I had many different so-called remedies and been treated by doctors without any benefit until I was with discouraged and disgusted. My husband bought me a bottle of Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and am happy to say I never regretted it. I now have a splendid appetite and sleep well. I weighed 125 pounds when I began taking the remedy, and now I weigh 105. I am a subject in my case has been truly marvellous. It far surpasses any other medicine I have ever taken or any benefit I ever received from physicians."—Mrs. Harry S. Forst, Conshohocken, Pa., October 12, 1902.

Struck by the Trolley.

Samuel Wright, a Philadelphia fruit vender, with Daniel Daly, his 6 year old nephew, was driving up Main street, Norristown, about 10 o'clock Friday night, with a load of fruit, when a wheel of his wagon became enmeshed in a frog of the trolley railway. A car crashed into the wagon and the boy Daly was knocked from his seat and fell in front of the car, which when it was brought to a stop, stood over his prostrate body. The boy was pulled from beneath the car and taken to Charity Hospital, where it was found that his injuries, while painful, are not serious.

He is still active and is claimed to be the oldest cherry-picker in Pennsylvania. Mr. Wells has been married fifty-four years and his wife is still living.

Suicide at Hatfield.

The citizens of the little village of Hatfield, on the North Penn R. R., were startled on Friday morning to learn that Mrs. John Schantz, the wife of a well-known resident of that place, had committed suicide.

The unfortunate woman ended her life by cutting her throat with a butcher knife. The deed was done in her own room, and it is believed that she was temporarily deranged when she committed the act. Mrs. Schantz was well advanced in years. She lived with her husband and several grown up children. Mr. Schantz is a well-known builder and carpenter of Hatfield, and has the sympathy of the community in this sad affair.

Tired Out With the Heat.

"Every spring we use Hood's Sarsaparilla and don't think there is any other medicine like it. It has always done us much good in the spring. I take it some times in the summer and it helps me when I feel tired out with the heat. There are many of our neighbors who use it and some think they could not live if it were not for Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. John Lightkeap, Dreshertown, Pa.

A Fire Company's Long Run.

The general merchandise store of H. W. Reiff, at Lederachville, was badly damaged on Friday night by flames that had their origin in spontaneous combustion among a quantity of rags. The stock of merchandise is a total loss. Tee Schwenksville Fire Company, in response to a call for assistance, dragged their apparatus over the roads, a distance of five miles, to the scene of conflagration, and several members succumbed to the heat.

The old mills were wooden structures; the new ones will be iron, and are to be completed by the first of September. Philadelphia Amusement.

On Saturday evening, July 7, the engagement of "The Princess Bonnie," at the Chestnut street theatre, Philadelphia, which has continued for 105 performances, (the longest run ever known in the Quaker City) will come to a close. To the clever composer, Willard Spenser, is due the credit of having produced two operas that scored instantaneous success, and were withdrawn at the height of popularity to permit the artists engaged therein needed time for rest and recuperation. On Tuesday evening, July 3, the one hundredth consecutive performance at the Chestnut street theatre takes place. The auspicious occasion is to be fittingly marked.

Planquette's charming opera "The Chimes of Normandy" has been selected to follow the gorgeous production of Pinafore now running at the Park Theatre. The "Chimes" will have its first representation on Monday, and a special holiday matinee will be given on Wednesday, the 4th of July. "The Chimes" has always been the most popular of all comic operas, and undoubtedly great interest will attach to the fact that Miss Hail will make her first appearance in the opera on this occasion. The living pictures will be continued, and the innovation which has met with such favor recently, that of serving the ladies in the audience with free ice cream will also be carried out.

What will it do?

Medical writers claim that the successful remedy for nasal catarrh must be non-irritating, easy of application, and one that will reach the remote sores and ulcerated surfaces. The history of the efforts to treat catarrh is proof positive that only one remedy has completely met these conditions, and that is Ely's Cream Balm. This safe and pleasant remedy has mastered catarrh as nothing else has ever done, and both physicians and patients freely concede this fact. Our druggists keep it.

Good-Bye to the School

THE COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES OF THE HIGH SCHOOL. THE PROGRAM AND A LIST OF THE GRADUATES.

The twenty-third annual commencement of the Conshohocken High School was held on Tuesday afternoon in Washita Hall. When the graduates took their seats on the stage the hall was uncomfortably crowded.

The class consisted of the following, and is one of the largest in numbers that ever graduated from the school:

The program opened with music by Prof. Knecht's orchestra. The opening prayer was made by Rev. G. S. Broadbent of the Methodist Church.

Miss O'Neill, in welcoming the friends of the schools to the exercises, said that this afternoon marked another milestone in the history of the school, also in the history of the class of '94. She recited in an admirable manner "An Order for a Picture."

Alan W. Jones, in his oration "Our First Century of National Growth" contrasted the poverty and weakness of our country one hundred years ago with what the Centennial and World's Fair showed it to be now. In conclusion he said that the real work of the men who are best serving their country is the education of our people. If the people are educated other blessings will be added.

"The Legend of the Organ Builder" an interesting reading was well rendered by Clara L. Griffith.

W. Irving Heywood gave his oration "Coxey and Coxeyism."

Lena N. Robinson's essay was entitled "Study." It was scholarly and thoughtful. Ignorance, she said, was the result of not studying. All success and excellence in this life comes from study.

Margaret J. Steen's recitation "McLaine's Child" showed much careful preparation and training, and was very well received by the audience.

William B. Dunlap in "American Ingenuity" gave a short history of the great inventions made by our countrymen, and said that these great inventions had nearly always increased the demand for labor and benefited the laboring men. Judging from the past the future of this country will be glorious.

James S. Page read "The Last Charge of Key."

Lolla C. Ferrier read a history of the class from the time of its entrance into the school until graduation day. Three members left the class before graduation; one has since graduated at the Williamson Trade School; another at the Spring Garden Institute and one is a telegrapher.

The recitation, "The Sioux Chief's Daughter" by Millie O. Freas, was rendered with much dramatic effect and was liberally applauded.

Oscar H. Cassel read "Touissant L'Ouverture."

John P. Armitage orated on "Abraham Lincoln," whom he considered one of the greatest of Americans.

Ruth P. Nixon read an original poem entitled "Class," dealing in an original and interesting manner with the members of the class.

Mary Keys had the "Class Prophecy." She predicted the future of her classmates as follows:

Elizabeth J. Moore will become as famous as her namesake, Sir Thomas Moore, and will captivate many persons by her singing.

John J. Eckfeldt will have a great work to perform in this world—cracking jokes. Millie O. Freas will become a great artist. Her most famous picture will be called "Forsaken."

William B. Dunlap, who is ever modest, will be a conductor on a trolley car.

Ruth P. Nixon will become a great poet. Her great work will be entitled, "Should Woman Propose."

John P. Armitage, who is the smallest boy who ever graduated, will study law and be admitted to the bar.

Lolla C. Ferrier, the sweet songster, whose bright smile will attract one to her who will care for her future.

Oscar H. Cassel will assume the duties of a druggist.

Lena N. Robinson will change her name soon and realize the grayer side of a new life.

W. Irving Heywood after joining Coxey's Army would become one of the great editors of the country.

Margaret C. O'Neill will soon get married and reside in a big house on South Broad Street, Philadelphia.

James S. Page after serving a clerkship at Spring Mill will apply for and get another and better position.

Clara L. Griffith will graduate from a business college and will live at ease on a large governmental salary.

Alan W. Jones will start in life as a teacher but will become famous as a politician.

Margaret J. Steen will become a great student of the heavenly bodies.

The orator of the day was Mr. William McDermott. He compared the splendidly equipped schools of to-day with the miserable ones that he attended when a boy. He urged that the motto of the directors and the teachers should be "excellence;" that every effort possible should be made to improve our schools. One way to do this would be to elect women school directors. Women are especially qualified to attend to the wants and necessities of the school room.

The very best talent, experience and qualifications, with salaries to correspond, should be employed in the primary departments. When the child is just beginning its education the very best of teachers are necessary.

Politics should be eliminated from the school system. Directors should be chosen who will have an interest in the welfare of the pupils. If the present board were reduced to six in number, it would render it more effective.

School Directors should meet the demands of the times by introducing type-writing, stenography, free-hand drawing and other studies of practical use, that the pupil may go out to the actual duties of life better equipped than he is at present to earn his living. The struggle of life is hard and we should give every advantage possible to the beginner.

Education must be complete. We are physical, mental, moral beings, body, mind and spirit—and our education should be directed to cultivate these. The highest, the moral, should have the greatest attention. Some of the greatest criminals of the day have been college graduates. The morals of the pupils should be carefully trained and guarded.

No tax paid is so important as the school tax; none gives so prompt returns.

The influence of the teachers is impressed day by day upon the children. What a grand work they have to perform—the moulding of the child's mind.

You have now closed your school duties, he said to the scholars, but in the long time of the future years you must make your own pathway. Try to do what is right at all times and under all circumstances, looking to Divine guidance, and you may look joyfully to the coming years. James B. Holland, Esq., presented the diplomas to the graduates with a few words of congratulation.

The oration "Advantages of To-Day," and the valedictory, were delivered by John J. Eckfeldt.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. J. F. Sheppard.

The orations and readings were interspersed with music by Prof. Knecht's orchestra and singing by the pupils of the schools. The latter were under the direction of Miss Fanny Jones, and showed the result of her careful and thorough training.

Destroyed by Fire.

The three-story stone dwelling house of David Landis, at Niantic, Douglass township, was totally destroyed by fire on Thursday of last week. Mrs. Landis built a fire to dry one of the rooms, which was very damp, and it is believed sparks from the chimney started the fire.

When the flames were discovered they had gained such headway that it was with difficulty a few of the contents of the house were saved, all the furniture in the upper stories being consumed. As there was no water or means of using it near the place, nothing could be done but let the flames devour everything that came within their reach.

A number of persons who assisted in saving the contents narrowly escaped injury from falling debris.

The loss on the building and contents amounts to over $4000 while the insurance is only $3400.

U sinus College Commencement.

In connection with the commencement of Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa., held June 17th to 21st, the Degree of Bachelor of Arts was conferred upon ten graduates; the degree of A. M. upon two men, and B. D. upon two.

The honorary degree of D. D. was conferred upon the Rev. E. J. Fogel, Fogelsville; the Rev. Charles B. Shultz, president of Linden Hall Seminary, Lititz; the Rev. F. W. Berleman, Philadelphia. The honorary degree of A. M. upon H. Augustus Wilson, M. D., Philadelphia; William H. Zeller, of the editorial staff of the Philadelphia Times; and J. Horace Landis, Conshohocken.

Six new directors were elected: Henry Francis, Spring City; Rev. N. W. Helfrich, Fogelsville; Hon. A. Witman Dambly, Skippack; A. H. Fetterolf, LL. D., Philadelphia; James M. Anders, M. D., Ph. D., of Philadelphia. Rev. D. W. Ebert, Milton, Pa., alumni director.

The board resolved to celebrate in connection with next year's commencement the quarto-centennial of the founding of the college, and appointed a general committee of twenty-five, with the Hon. Henry K. Boyer, A. M., of Philadelphia, as chairman, to raise in connection with the celebration a fund of $10,000 for the further endowment and equipment of the institution. The new equipment is to include a gymnasium building and a physical laboratory.

The commencement was largely attended and awakened general enthusiasm.

Fell to his Death

Lindo Tarry, a 10 year old boy, of Mogetown, fell from a cherry tree on Tuesday and died shortly after. He fell fifteen feet astride of a rail fence. An old Italian woman, claiming to be an herb doctor, was called in and applied several leeches to the boy's stomach. Two physicians subsequently found that he had received a rupture of the bowels, which caused death.

Against Cameron.

Henry D. Saylor, of Pottstown, one of the Republican candidates for State Senator, when asked as to his position on the subject of returning J. Donald Cameron to the United States Senate said:—

"I am willing to do that which the Republicans of Montgomery county demand and if it is their desire and they express by resolution in the convention or otherwise that I cast my vote against the re-election of Senator Cameron I shall cheerfully do so. Personally, I have never been an admirer or supporter of Mr. Cameron. The Republican party shall be my platform."

Objects to Babies.

In a civil suit brought by Miss Sarah Jane Pugh against B. E. Block, to recover a half month's rent, before Squire Urner, of Norristown, a very interesting phase of the landlord and tenant question was disclosed. Block rented the house for nearly four years, and paid his rent regularly. Last Spring an addition came to his family and Miss Pugh promptly notified him to vacate, because she did not wish to rent the house to any family with children or likely to have them. Block left and paid the rent to the 15th of May, the date of his departure. Suit was brought to recover for the remainder of the month. Decision was reserved.

Arrested on an Old Charge.

Joseph R. McFadden, aged 26 years, formerly of Roxborough, was arrested on Tuesday morning in the United States Hotel, Manayunk, by Special Policeman Peter Byrne, of West Manayunk, on a warrant sworn out more than two years ago by J. K. Andrews, Commissioner of Montgomery county, and president of the People's National Bank, of Norristown, charging him with having forged the name of Harry A. Firth, of Manayunk, to a note on February 13, 1892, on the People's Bank, for $225.

McFadden was locked up in the Manayunk Police Station till later in the morning, when he was taken to Norristown and given a hearing before Justice Wainwright, who held him in $500 bail for a further hearing on Saturday.

Blasting Cannons.

The Hagey injunction case was heard before the court last Thursday. Plymouth township filed a bill in equity to restrain the defendant, Samuel Hagey, from blasting cannon in the township on the ground that the blast-house is insufficient for the purpose and that the blasting is a constant menace to life and limb to the community.

C. R. Hallowell, Lewis K. Graver and others were called on the part of the plaintiff.

They all agreed that the blasting was exceedingly dangerous; the blast house consists of an excavation in the ground six or seven feet deep, covered with three tiers of young sapling trees, which from the great concussion have been greatly bruised and shattered by the blasts, there being large apertures in the roof, through which the smaller pieces of steel escape with enormous velocity.

The place was considered very unsafe and a number of citizens of the township are afraid to risk their horses, their servants and their families in the neighborhood.

It was said that the dynamite used by the defendant is of a higher grade and far more powerful than that used by the township in quarrying lime stone.

When there are large blasts the whole earth shakes, window panes fall out in a house four hundred and fifty yards distant, the glassware rattled on the sideboard, and the concussions are terrible.

School children must pass by and the traveling public is in constant danger of being struck by the flying pieces of steel, which escape from the roof of the log house.

The defense is that since this case was before the court some time ago every precaution has been taken to prevent any injury to the public. The log house is considered perfectly blast proof and the concussion is not any greater than that from the township quarries.

No pieces of steel can escape from the log roof which is sufficient to confine the fragments and prevent them from doing any damage. A number of citizens had no apprehension of any damage resulting from the blasts.

Mo her and Child are Doing Well.

Mrs. Brown was sick. Her friends said she would never get well. "What's the trouble?" "O, some kind of female weakness. The doctors have given up her case as hopeless. 'She may live for some time,' they say, 'but as for a cure, that is quite out of the question.'"

"I don't believe it," said a woman, who heard the sad news. "I don't believe she's any worse off than I was, five years ago, from the same trouble, and I don't look very much like a dead woman, do I?" She certainly did not, with her red, plump cheeks, bright eyes, and 150 pounds of good healthy bone, blood and flesh. "I'm going to see her and tell her how she can get well," she said so. She advised Mrs. Brown to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Mrs. Brown took the advice, also the medicine which cures all kinds of delicate diseases so common among women, and—got well. That was two years ago. Last month she presented Mr. Brown with a ten-pound son, and "mother and child are doing well."

Democratic Convention.

The Democratic State Convention at Harrisburg on Wednesday, unanimously nominated William M. Singler, of Philadelphia, for Governor. The other nominees are: Lieutenant Governor, John S. Rilling, of Erie; Auditor General, David F. Magee, of Lancaster; Secretary of Internal Affairs, Walter W. Greenland, of Clarion; Congressman at-Large, Hannibal K. Sloan, of Indiana, and Joseph C. Bucher, of Union.

Joseph C. Bucher stated on Wednesday that he would not accept the nomination.

Jesse Hall.

Jesse Hall, died on Friday afternoon at the residence of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Joanna Hall, Norristown, aged 65 years, of exhaustion, the result of gastric catarrh. Until six months ago, he was a resident of Plymouth Meeting, and for thirty years was a Justice of the Peace of that place.

Deceased was prominent among friends, being one of the founders of the First D. Y. schools.

He was one of the founders of the one at Plymouth Meeting, and for many years its Superintendent. A man of the strictest integrity, genial in manner, hospitable and kindly, he leaves behind him the record of an unspotted life, being beloved and respected by all who knew him.

In early life deceased was a teacher, being in the "fifties" principal of the Conshohocken public schools. Prior to that time he taught successfully elsewhere. He was a native of Willistown, Chester county, where still resides a brother, Clarkson Hall.

The funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon in the Plymouth Friends Meeting House; the interment was in the burying grounds adjoining.

Addresses were made by Joel Lare, Plymouth Meeting; Morgan Hall, West Chester and Mary M. Thomas, Norristown.

The pall bearers were Jonathan Jones, John Pugh, Conshohocken; Walter H. Corson, Harry S. Young, Dr. Oscar Leedom, George Corson, Plymouth.

The Valley Forge Park.

The Valley Forge jury to value the properties taken for the proposed park held a meeting on Tuesday. This was devoted to taking testimony on behalf of the commission to combat the values placed at the previous meetings.

The values allowed by Colonel N. M. Ellis, of Phoenixville, are: Harriet Mewes, one-tenth of an acre, $110; Jones estate, $1,000, for four acres; Mrs. M. J. Bean, $110, for one-tenth of an acre; Susan Johnson, $87 an acre for land taken; Mrs. Shaw, $85 per acre; Barney McMenamin, $60 an acre for seven acres; Bridget McMenamin, $550 for three and one-third acres, including a small house; J. B. Carter, $85 per acre for fifty-two acres; S. B. Jarrett, $60 per acre for two and two thirds acres; William Wetherill, same amount for a like tract; Mahlon Ambler, $75 per acre for four acres; E. B. English, three and two thirds acres sprout land, $80 per acre; Matt Walker, $80 per acre for nine acres; Vodge's estate, $75 per acre for three and one-half acres; R. T. Robinson, $80 per acre for five acres; Mary Jones, $80 per acre for land taken; Charles Johnson, $65 per acre for twenty-five and one-half acres, and $75 per acre for four acres of woodland.

This is about one-third of the amount asked for by the property holders.

As soon as the jurors have completed their labors and there is a likelihood that the Commission will acquire the land under consideration for park purposes, Colonel N. M. Ellis will begin the placing of boundary marks. These will be of granite from Port Deposit, Md. They will be four and one-half feet long and one foot square. They will be sunk three and one-half feet in the earth, leaving perfect cuts to mark the boundaries. The stones, a hundred or more, will be so placed that a person standing by one can see the next marks on either side.

AMERICA.

My country, 'tis of thee
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing;
Land where my fathers died,
Land of the pilgrim's pride,
From every mountain side
Let freedom ring.
My native country, thee—
Land of the noble free—
Thy name I love;
I love thy rocks and rills,
Thy woods and templed hills,
My heart with rapture thrills
Like that above.

Let music swell the breeze,
And ring from all the trees
Sweet freedom's song;
Let mortal tongues awake;
Let all that breathe partake;
Let rocks their silence break;
To sound prolong.
Our father's God, to thee,
Author of liberty,
To Thee we sing:
Long may our land be bright
With freedom's holy light;
Protect us by Thy might,
Great God our King.

MARCH OF THE MEN OF COLUMBIA.

From the hills, from the hollow,
Do you hear like rushing billow,
Wave on wave, that surging follow,
Till they shake the ground.
Hail this day of happy omen,
'Tis the tramp of gallant freemen,
Labor's hosts of sturdy yeomen,
Swell the exciting sound.
Lose the folds asunder,
Flare we rally under;
The placid, now bright on high,
We'll rend with shouts like thunder.

CHORUS.
Onward press, our country needs us;
Onward press, its glory leads us;
Hark! the watchword high that speeds us,
Freedom, God, and Light.

Lo, the tyrants days are numbered,
Liberty no longer slumbers,
Error dark no longer cumbers,
Risen is the sun.
North and south, fell hate defying,
East and west, with love undying,
All in friendship true are vying,
Firmly bound in one.
Loudly swell the chorus,
Till the welkin o'er us
Reflects again the joyous strain.
And discord flies before us.
CHORUS.
Address.

STAR SPANGLED BANNER.

Oh, say can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, thro' the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watch'd were so gallantly streaming?

And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.
CHORUS.
Oh, say, does that star spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

On the shore dimly seen thro' the mist of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dead silence
reposes,
What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering sleep,
As it fitfully blows, half conceals half discloses?

Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected, now shines on the stream:
CHORUS.
And where is that band who so vauntingly swore,
That the havoc of war and the battle's confusion
A home and a country should leave us no more?
Their blood has wash'd out their foul footsteps pollution.
No refuge could save the hireling and slave.
From the terror of flight or the gloom of the grave.

CHORUS.
Oh, thus be it ever when freemen shall stand
Between their loved home and wild war's desolation;
Blest with victory and peace, may the heaven-
rescued land
Praise the power that hath made and preserv'd us a nation!
Then Conquer we must, when our cause is just,
And this be our motto: "In God is our trust."
CHORUS.
Address.

COLUMBIA! THE GEM OF THE OCEAN.

O Columbia! the gem of the ocean,
The home of the brave and the free,
The shrine of each patriot's devotion,
A world offers homage to thee.
Thy mandates make heroes assemble,
When Liberty's form stands in view,
Thy banners make tyrants tremble,
When borne by the red, white and blue,
When borne by the red, white and blue,
When borne by the red, white and blue,
Thy banners make tyrants tremble,
When borne by the red, white and blue,
When war-winged its wide desolation,
And threatened the land to reform.
The ark then of freedom's foundation,
Columbia, rode safe through the storm,
With her garlands of victory around her,
When so proudly she bore her brave crew,
With her flag proudly floating before her,
The boast of the red, white and blue,
The boast of the red, white and blue,
The boast of the red, white and blue,
With her flag proudly floating before her,
The boast of the red, white and blue.

The hearing in the arbitration in the case of Charles A. Cox, of Plymouth township, vs. Mrs. Bertha Argue, of Philadelphia, has been continued until September 14. The arbitrators are H. W. Kratz, B. F. Kerper and Franklin T. Beerer.

The third annual commencement of Plymouth High School was held in Creamery Hall, Narcessa, on Saturday evening. The graduates were Josie Adelia Crater, Sarah Emily Rodebaugh, Harriet Caroline Staley, Leslie Martin Rodebaugh, John Randolph Richards. Miss Rodebaugh delivered the salutatory; Mr. Richards was orator; Miss Staley furnished the class prophecy; Mr. Rodebaugh the class letter, and Miss Crater delivered the valedictory.

S. P. Childs, O. Rex, Joe, Peters and Daniel Freas have had their cows inspected by Veterinary Surgeon Percy Corson and pronounced O. K. Thomas Hovenden, the artist of Plymouth, had his herd inspected and all pronounced infected with the disease were killed.

Thomas Hovenden has returned from Washington, where he passed the winter and spring, to Plymouth Meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Hovenden drove from the capital to Baltimore and completed the journey by rail, arriving at their charming country home on Thursday. The painter of "Bringing Home Ties" and "Bringing Home the Bride" has recently completed another large picture, "Jerusalem the Golden." The grand old hymn of the church gives the keynote of the picture. It represents a young girl seated at a piano in the back ground, singing the hymn to a gentle faced woman just recovering from sickness. Her husband sits beside her, and the whole scene is a transcription from the daily life. Mr. Hovenden is fond of depicting. The picture was exhibited at Washington for the first time in aid of a kindergarten there.

Better and Better.

"Better than grandeur, better than gold,
Better than rank a thousand fold,
Is a healthy body, a mind at ease,
And simple pleasures that always please."
To get and keep a healthy body, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a remedy designed to not only cure all diseases of the throat, lungs and chest, but keep the body in a thoroughly healthy condition. It eradicates all impurities from the blood, and overcomes indigestion and dyspepsia. Blisters, pimples and eruptions disappear under its use, and your mind can be "at ease" as to your health.

Renewed Interest.

Charged With Embezzlement.

ONE OF THE BOROUGH'S CELEBRITIES GONE WRONG. H. P. GILMORE MISSING.

Hugh P. Gilmore, who is a member of Town Council from the Fourth Ward, Treasurer of the Tradesmen's Saving Fund, Secretary of St. Matthews Beneficial Society, Treasurer of the A. O. H. of this borough, a member of the county board of the order, and who has been prominent in local politics for years as one of the leaders of the Democracy, is missing, with the charge of embezzlement hanging over him.

Six years ago when the Tradesmen's Saving Fund was organized, Hugh P. Gilmore, one of the prominent men of the borough, was elected its treasurer.

At the May meeting of the Association E. F. Britt, Dennis Bart and John Kehos were appointed an auditing committee to audit the accounts of the treasurer and secretary so that the annual report might be prepared. The committee met on Saturday evening, but Mr. Gilmore was not present. It met on Monday and as Mr. Gilmore was again absent the committee went in search of him. He could not be found.

Fearing that everything was not right they went into the Tradesmen's Bank, where the account of the association is kept, and found that only $13.00 remained on deposit, when nearly $800. should have been there.

As Mr. Gilmore could not be found, at a meeting of the association on Tuesday evening, President McDermody was instructed to have a warrant issued for Mr. his arrest. This has been done.

William F. Meyers, Esq., for the association, issued an attachment against the stock of Mr. Gilmore's store and some property owned by Mrs. Gilmore. Wm. Mallen who holds a judgment note of Gilmore's for $150.00 had the Sheriff levy upon his property. This was done on Wednesday morning; the sale will be held next Thursday.

The association is protected by a bond for $3000.00 given by T. J. Quiley for the faithful performance of Mr. Gilmore's duties.

Mr. Gilmore is treasurer of the local division of the A. O. H. and also of the County Board. He had $134.00 of their funds in his possession.

The affair has created a profound sensation in the borough. Mr. Gilmore was in the oil and tinware business. It is thought that the missing money was used in his business to tide him over the present financial depression. He has always been considered honest and upright, and apparently had no expensive habits. An effort is now being made to have the shortage made good.
