Valley Forge May be Second Stockbridge — Molly Tells of Reunion in Maryland

The Berkshire Symphonic Festival, opening last night at Tanglewood, near Stockbridge, Massachusetts, is echoed in the delightful, nearby concerts at Valley Forge.

With seven years of background, the New England gala music-festival, with a world-famous orchestra as its feature, is of far-flung interest, while Valley Forge has begun only this year and in a modest manner.

But Molly feels that some day Valley Forge Music Center, sponsoring the highly satisfying weekly concerts in the Woodlawn Cathedral, in a grove of hallowed ground close by the memorial chapel, will receive far-flung attention and its audiences, already grown to upwards of a thousand on clear nights, may some time number countless thousands.

Consecrated by America's first defenders, to patriotism, it should not be hard to extend that consecration to cultural arts as well and make this magnificent shrine to freedom and liberty, a center—a gathering-place for those aesthetic interests that make more prosaic life much richer living.

This week's concert, Wednesday night, brought two "arrived" operatic artists, Pina La Corte, petite, raven-haired soprano and Francisco Naya, Spanish tenor. Maestro Angelo Canarutto, conductor of New York and Chicago opera companies in the role of accompanist. An intensive electrical storm decreased the audience, but still permitted one large enough to overflow the library under the gothic memorial chapel, where the concert was moved when the rains came. Corridors of the library held the overhead lights, as if by the spell of their own light, when they were out.

Molly found it difficult to realize as she sat in the memorial chapel, scattered dim lights bathing it in an eerie, mysterious light, that this was the spot that not so many years ago, America's greatest soldier knelt in the snow in supplicant prayer for the continuance of the nation. DuAenzo's glorious crimson and blue window at the rear of the chapel, glittered like a thousand jewels as a background for the "heaven-born" music.

Getting back to more earthy reactions, Molly hears from Mrs. Walter Kneier, president of the Philadelphia La Scala Opera Company, instrumental in securing the brilliant performers, that their appearance was possible only because of the concert served as an actual audition for them with the La Scala Company, prior to expected performances this winter. Naya, Mrs. Kneier tells Molly, has already made a musical conquest in South America, where he sang on the same stage with Lily Pons.

Dr. Donath, director of the Valley Forge concerts, announcing a Gala Concert for the closing night, August 27, in which the "stars of the season" will be heard, A. Conshohockenite will be included among them, Molly hears—but more of that later.

Molly hears it was an especially happy and successful reunion of the Pierson Family Association, a few weeks ago on a lovely old farm along the Elk River near Elkton, the original "slipping around" of this branch of a representative, early American family, founded by Eli and Elizabeth Foster Pierson.

The importance of the Conshohocken branch in the family association is indicated in the choice of three Conshohocken residents as officers of the association this year: William S. Pierson; East Ninth avenue was elected president; his cousin, William E. Pierson of East Fifth avenue was the choice for vice president; Mrs. Helen Robinson of East Tenth avenue was renamed secretary.

Richard E. Pierson of Richardson Park, Delaware, is honorary president of the group; John Beers of Elkton was made treasurer; and Mrs. Elizabeth Dressner, also of Richardson Park, will continue as historian.

Mrs. Roy Shade, another Conshohocken member of the family group, led the singing, hearty and accomplished. Excellent work was done with the hundred or more present. They came from this borough, Philadelphia, Oakmont, Harrisburg, Wilmington and Richardson Park, Delaware, Rising Sun, Maryland, and Woodbury, N. J.

Mrs. Ida Pierson of Chestland, former Conshohockenite, was accorded honors as the senior member present. From Conshohocken, Molly hears that some twenty representatives were present. They included Mr. and Mrs. William S. Pierson, Sara Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Pierson, Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon H. Pierson, Mrs. Helen Robinson, Howard Robinson, Mrs. James Cornog, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Shade and family, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Pettine and family, The Williams C. Piersons and their sons, William and David of Oakmont, also attended.

Over in Williston, L. I.—near Flushing—tomorrow night, a former Conshohocken resident and her husband will mark their silver wedding anniversary. The celebrants are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schwab, whose marriage took place in New York in 1916. Mrs. Schwab is the former

"He looks like a nice young man, a regular guy, not a bit up-stage," a third-row spectator put it. It's a good description of him, to which you might add "and mighty good looking, just as much of the screen as on, and with plenty of something."

The Wolfs and the lovely blonde Joan Fontaine, were in the audience as Brian Aherne recalled to 6009 people, the eternal beauty of the Bard of Avon's utterances. Black-haired "Connie" Wolf almost stole the show from "Hollywood" when she met the challenge of a quickly-arrived, violent storm with a flowered bathing suit, which - with a superb sense of emergency - she wore under her evening gown.

Today, the Ahernes are settling down just like any nice young married couple to a quiet day at home, at Wingover. Your guess is as good as mine about how long it will be quiet. But that's the price of world popularity!

"We knew someone would ask sooner or later—Joan wore a pink bubble bath!"

A New Commission.

Town Council has named a civil service commission, whose duties will be to hold examinations for applicants to the police force and to hold hearings on charges against the members of the police force.

In the appointment of Joseph A. Ruth, Matthew A. Tracy and Dr. Sherod M. Cooper, council has appointed three outstanding citizens, who by their records, may be depended upon to give efficient, impartial service.

The present members of the police force came under the protection of civil service July 1. There can be no change in their position without the consent of the civil service commission. There can be no suspension, no discharge, no change in rank and no new appointments until sanctioned by the commission. The law requires all hearings shall be public.

The police are now out of politics. Political activity makes them subject to charges, which if proved may mean suspension or discharge. The police are also out of politics in that a councilman cannot have a policeman's reelection threatened because of a personal offense, real or imaginary.

Hereafter new members of the police force will be named after competitive examination to ascertain the applicant's qualifications for police work.

The law requires the creation of a civil service commission in all boroughs and first class townships which maintain a police force of three or more members.

Heretofore members of the police force were elected and immediately went into service without any training in police work. The new law changes this condition. It not only provides for competitive examination but after receiving an appointment, the new man must undergo a probationary period before receiving a permanent job.

The creation of the civil service commission is the borough's first experience with civil service protection. It may be the forerunner of legislation to assure workers in other departments their jobs will be permanent and not subject to the law is discriminatory in that it would raise the pay of responsibilities and the hours are irregular.

War or Peace Stocks?

Babson Urges Diversification—American Industries in Better Condition Than in World War I—Speculating Today Is by Federal Government.

By Roger W. Babson

BABSON PARK, Mass., Aug. 1.—Investors of the United States and Canada are beginning to wonder whether they should begin to hedge by buying stocks. Obviously, the answer largely depends upon the duration of the war and the kind of "peace" which comes. If it is an armed truce, then the present war industries will continue prosperous for some time; but if it is a real peace, then look out for terrific industrial changes!

Probably the first to be hit would be the aircraft manufacturers. The largest steel companies, such as U. S. Steel and Bethlehem, and large textile manufacturers, such as American Woolen and Pacific Mills, may also suffer. Manufacturers of munitions, and especially the big machine-tool people and the synthetic rubber producers, expect to get a bump. As to what will happen to retail trade is very debatable. Priorities and price fixing will not prevent a shortage of goods; but they may not such a shortage make people then scramble to buy them or something else?

Personally, I am very bearish on almost all railroads following the War, especially after the reconstruction period. This must apply to such companies as are now prospering from war orders. If the rails are to suffer, then one should expect declines in the rail-equipment industry companies such as Pullman, Baldwin and American Car and Foundry. The same may apply to shipbuilding. Reading the newspapers, one would think that 50% of United States industrial energy is given to war work. Yet, statistics show that only about 10% so engaged. What the Canadian figure is I do not know.

Peace Industries
On the other hand, it seems as if it would keep all the window-glass manufacturers of the world busy for years to re-glass Europe and Great Britain. The movies should also do a great business after the war. Air-transportation lines should do better than ever, while the chemicals, such as DuPont, Eastman, Union Carbide, Monsanto, American Cyanamid, etc., should do well. Some bankers are also recommending the electrical equipment and food industries as good peace stocks; but I am not too sure.

As to what will happen to the automobile industry, this is anyone's guess. After the war, the industry will lose war business and increase pleasure-car sales; but labor and other factors may interfere. There is also much disagreement as to how peace will affect our export business in the long run. It may hurt it. There, however, is sure to be a great boom in exports during the reconstruction period. Our government is now storing food to offer starving Europe at the psychological

Consumers Should Know

(6) Who Is the Big Boss of Business?

This is the sixth in a series of six articles prepared by the Bureau of Research and Education of the Advertising Federation of America, in response to the increasing interest of consumers in questions affecting advertising and business.

Everybody has a boss. In fact, the higher your position the more bosses you have. In business the biggest bosses of all are the customers. With every purchase they cast a vote, and from their decision there is no appeal. When customers no longer favor a business its doors must close. There is a continuous parade of companies going out of business because the customer has decided against their products or their methods. During the past thirty years, an average of more than 1,000 companies every month have had to go out of business. New entrants take their places and the competitive battle goes on.

A thousand a month is a tremendous rate of commercial failures. This figure may not be anything to brag about, but it does demonstrate the power of consumer verdicts. The business that has gone wrong certainly knows who its boss is. The successful business continues only so long as it is able to hold the approval of its customers. When public taste changes, those who make and sell goods have to step lively to keep in tune with the times. If they don't, they are left by the wayside. It is impossible to buck the tide of public preference.

There is an interesting story about stiff collars and ex-soldiers. Our doughboys came home from the World War, they didn't like starched collars any more, although every civilian gentleman was supposed to wear them. So they bought soft shirts with collars attached. Their friends who had never worn army shirts took up the idea too and pretty soon there was a terrible drop in the sales of stiff collars. Alarmed collar makers started a big campaign. They tried to stem the tide of the light. He realized that there was no use trying to fight the customers' verdict. Being a wise merchant, he decided to heed the dictates of his consumer bosses. He designed a soft collar: one that was a revolutionary idea, but it took hold immediately. With great advertising campaigns, this company persuaded the men that with the new soft collar they could be comfortable and look smart at the same time. As everybody knows, the whole thing was a tremendous success. It was a triumph for the consumer and for the wise manufacturer who worked with the public taste rather than against it.

Recently someone made the mistake of trying to persuade women not to buy silk stockings. There was quite a nation-wide agitation about it although no one came out flatfootedly against it. The whole thing was a complete failure. Women know that they look better in silk hose than in cotton stockings and you can't get them to change unless you have a substitute that is better. But with dresses there is a different story. Some years ago a smart merchandiser in a metropolitan department store saw an opportunity. Everybody was wearing dresses of silk, linen, and other expensive materials. These smart girls were at other schools, and afternoon visiting. Why not a smart, good-looking cotton dress? This department store had some made and advertised them attractively.

In the short-sleeved era of the early Twenties, these smart women had refused to heed the pleas of textile manufacturers who wanted longer dresses. The women knew what they wanted and refused to wear longer skirts at that time. Some years later, the trend changed but only as a natural swing in feminine tastes. Sometimes we hear about tyranny of fashion dictators. But this is mostly a mistaken notion. Whenever the rank and file of American women don't want a new fashion note, they don't take it. There are more fops than success as no one knows this better than apparel makers. Hair dressers were responsible for making bobbed hair popular, but it was only because women really liked it that they were able to introduce the mode. Since then they have introduced one style of hair-do after another. Some proved popular and some fell flat. One of the failures was the style called "upweep," which was given a lot of promotion and was supported by movie stars and style setters. But the women didn't want it, and this particular style didn't pass first base.

Retired Workers May Take Defense Jobs

Retired workers drawing Federal old-age insurance benefits who take jobs available to older people as a result of the national defense program will be entitled to their Social Security benefits for any month in which he is so employed, and that if he fails to notify the Social Security Board he may lose more than that month's benefit. However, when he stops work or loses his job he should notify the Social Security Board if he should at any time work for wages of $15 or more in a month in employment covered by the law. Mr. Hoover said. He added that the worker is not entitled to an insurance payment for any month in which he is so employed, and that if he fails to notify the Social Security Board he may lose more than that month's benefit. However, when he stops work or loses his job he should notify the Social Security Board if he should at any time work for wages of $15 or more in a month in employment covered by the law. Mr. Hoover said.

Local Students in Summer Courses

Howard McCarnay, son of Rev. and Mrs. G. E. McCarnay, of St. Mark's Lutheran parsonage, is enrolled in a six-week course at the President's School of Columbia University, New York City, in philosophy of religion and religious education. Mr. McCarnay plans to enter the Gettysburg Theological Seminary to study for the Lutheran ministry after he completes his academic studies at Gettysburg College in 1942. The local student will serve as president of the Student Christian Association at Gettysburg College next year. He is living in the dormitory of the Union Theological Seminary, New York, during his Columbia course, which continues until August 16. Another Gettysburg College student from this borough, Miss Virginia Nagels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Nagels of West Third avenue, is devoting her vacation time to social service work at the Philadelphia General Hospital. Miss Nagels will be a senior student next year. Her sister, Miss Margaret Nagels, who was graduated from Gettysburg College in 1940, has completed a course at the University of Pennsylvania Summer School, Miss Nagels is also a member of the staff of the Conshohocken High School.

PERFUMED HANKIES

Something new in sweetness are perfumed hankies, treated with flower scents in such a way that the fragrance lingers even after several trips to the laundry.

HATS GO STRAIGHT

Small felts with upturned brims that sit straight on the head are among the smart new shapes for fall. The hats are softly draped with a fluff of maline to soften their severe contours.

Democracy Is A Family Product

Most drugstores sell toothbrush holders with places for four toothbrushes. Many stores sell soap and other goods in a "Family" size. "Clothes For The Entire Family" is a frequent heading in newspaper advertisements. Most young married people look forward to the day when they will become parents. For the Family is the backbone of America.

Presses may rumble, trains may shuttle back and forth across the country, steel mills may glow red day and night, coal may be dug from the earth as fast as men and machines can move—all of this activity would be utterly useless, wasted, were it not for the American family.

On Sundays the nation's roads are crowded with families on weekend outings. It's an indication of the desire of an individual to be with his family. Americans celebrate Mothers' Day and Fathers' Day, and wedding anniversaries are causes of family celebrations. People will travel hundreds of miles for family reunions, and proud is the patriarch whose descendants are with him on his last birthdays. The spirit of the Family lives strongly in America.

Families are our customers. We have to know families, know their likes and dislikes, their fears and hopes, their ambitions in order to properly serve them. We know that by keeping the cost of our service and products as low as possible we can reach more families, extending the benefits of our service to more people, making them happier people, better Americans.

WE ARE PROUD TO BE THE KIND OF FIRMS THAT HELP MAINTAIN AND SUPPLY THE RIGHT KIND OF MERCHANDISE TO OUR LOCAL PEOPLE AND INDUSTRIES.

County Federation Provides for British Airman's Daughters

BARBARA JOAN CLARK

BEVERLY ANN CLARK

A British airman will fly his bomber with a more relieved mind, because of the Montgomery County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Edward Clark, former British accountant, recently called to the air force in the war there, experienced deep concern recently about the welfare of his charming, small daughters, Barbara Joan, six and Beverly Ann, 3.

A year ago, they were placed in a British sanctuary, removed from the hazards of German air raids, through the generosity of the Montgomery County Federation of Women's Clubs. The latter sent the sum of $240, sufficient to maintain the two girls in the sanctuary for a year.

But the year was almost up when Clark was called into air service, and his chief concern was whether or not his small girls could be continued in the haven of safety and comfort.

The county federation, learned through the letters sent to Mrs. C. B. Burke, Plymouth Meeting, chairman of war relief work in the federation, by the Foster Parents Plan, Inc., Great Britain, of the father's wantment.

It was not long, working intensively under Mrs. Burke's direction, before the sum of $380 was raised, and the Clark tots assured of another year of same childhood, as far as it is possible to insure it in present-day Britain.

The cost of maintenance of each youngster in the sanctuaries has just been increased from $120 to $180 per year, because of the constantly soaring living prices in England.

The following radiogram, just received by Mrs. Burke from Anna Freund of the Hampstead Nursery, where the Clark children are harbored, is alone deemed sufficient satisfaction to the club women for their efforts:

"Very grateful for promise to Clarks. Great relief to father in air force. Children charming and developing excellently."

Miss Freund, sender of the trans-ocean message, is the daughter and co-worker of the famous Sigmund Freud, psycho-analyst. A refugee from Austria she is in charge of Hampstead Nursery. Mrs. Dorothy Tiffany Burlington, of the prominent New York Tiffany family, is assisting her.

Renewal of the Clark children's enrollment at Hampstead, begins today, for a period of one year. They are the first among the six children, "adopted" by the county clubwomen, to be renewed.

The following description of the Clark children and their background has been received by Mrs. Burke from the Foster Parents Plan: "BARBARA JOAN CLARK—Age 6. She is very timid and shy and likes to feel she is much older than she is. BEVERLY ANN CLARK—Age 3. She is very mischievous, affectionate and UG, and has definite predilections for certain aprons.

The girls are blondes and beautiful.

Their home was bombed a year ago and only a few pieces of furniture were salvaged from what had been a cozy home. The children had no place to live except the subways and both were ill. The Montgomery County Federation of Women's Clubs "adopted" them through the Foster Parents Plan For War Children by sending $20 a month for their support.

The mother is frail, worried and has been working during the past year trying to support herself but is unable to continue and is now going to the Foster Parents' Nursery at Hampstead to assist with the hundred or more tots.

The father was an accountant before he was called up for military service.

The $380 raised by the county federation to continue the little girls at Hampstead House was deposited with the Chase National Bank, New York City, which forwards the money monthly to England.

The clubwomen are now concentrating their efforts toward renewal of the other four "adoptees" as their current enrollment expires.

Coal Dealers Fined In Lower Merion

Two independent coal dealers were fined $50 each on short-weight charges Tuesday night by Justice of the Peace Franklin P. Kromer, of Lower Merion township, after a customer testified to getting five tons of coal in an eight-ton order.

The men, Michael Slegleski, 27, of Shamokin, and Orville Long, 26, of Kulpport, were committed to jail in default of their fines, while Slegleski was held additionally in bail of $300 for further hearing August 12 on a charge of having improper weight slips.

The two were arrested on complaint of Alfred Wood, 41, of Church street, King Manor, who said he paid them $50 for eight tons of coal on July 7, but on checking up found he had received slightly less than five tons.

WILLOW GROVE PARK
The popular Las Vegas Orchestra will play at Willow Grove Park in the cool, delightfully modern Dance Casino on Friday and Saturday nights, with lovely Dorothy Heston doing the vocals.

On Sunday, at 3, 7 and 9 p. m., Frankie Schluth will present another of his all-star stage shows in the Music Pavilion, featuring top-ranking vaudeville acts.

Gorgeous fireworks will be set off Wednesday evening. The time of this display has been changed to immediately after dark in order that more children may see the fireworks without having to stay up too late.

This Thursday, July 31, the Penn Players present "Shadow and Substance," as the 8th play in the park's little theatre season. Next Thursday evening August 7, at 8:30, the curtain rises on "We Beg to Differ," by the New Theatre group.

Conshohocken Has a Future!

Education for National Defense

Total defense means more than enlisting soldiers and building ships, planes and tanks. It demands the building of attitudes and appreciations and character and courage in the youth in our schools. Truly, education is a prerequisite for national defense. It is vital for us to arouse the emotions to self-sacrifice and service for national solidarity. Every citizen is called upon in this great plan to defend, protect and preserve those freedoms and institutions that have made America what it is today.

In building for this national solidarity our schools are placing special emphasis upon those phases of our educational program that will fit the child for a full and complete living.

In recent years we have placed increased emphasis upon the inspiring historical background of our nation.

We have made provisions for the democratic way of life to be embodied in the daily activities of our children.

Our curricula have been revised constantly to provide offerings that youth will be prepared to meet the new and pressing problems of the present and the future.

We constantly study the child in order to adapt the program to meet his individual needs.

The school is conscious of character and character traits and those disciplines which everyone recognizes as objective evidence of character.

Our schools have been alert to capitalize upon the values in radio—, visual—, and audio—educational aids and devices.

We constantly provide opportunity for our children to have first hand contacts and experiences with institutions and responsible personalities in our community and nearby locations.

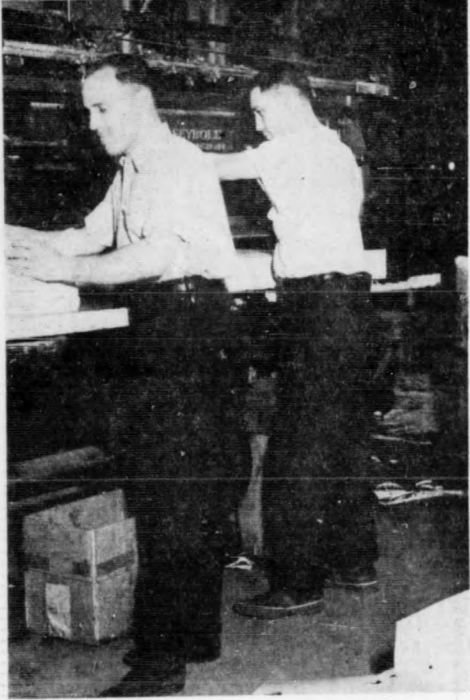

The problem of racial differences and prejudices has been reduced to a minimum.

We endeavor to make our flag and flag ceremonies meaningful to all children.

It is of vital importance to learn how to detect propaganda and to weigh carefully all we read and see and hear so that our participation in the defense program will be a positive contribution to the American Way of Life.

This is the opportunity as well as the responsibility of our educational institution.

(This advertisement is contributed by the local manufacturers as a share of their interest for a united community)

CHARLES W. MOORE and HENRY McCORMICK
Charles W. Moore, 126 East Ninth avenue, employed with William C. Hamilton & Sons, Mifflon, for the past 23 years, is a descendant of real American stock.

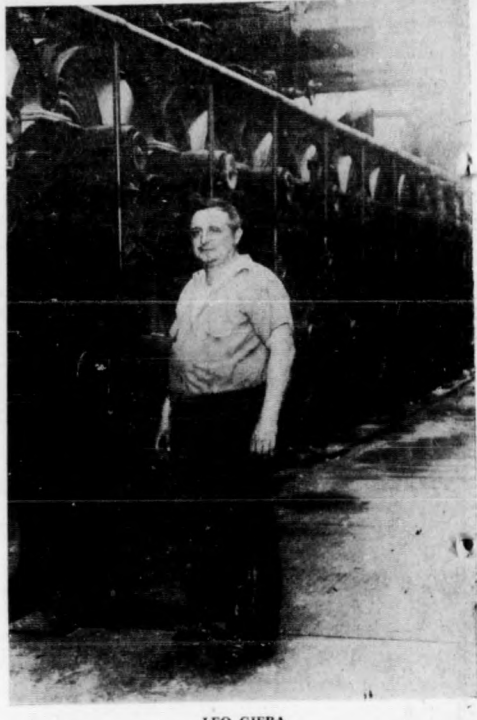

His father is Charles Moore who gained fame for both himself and the borough as a basketball player. He introduced the game here in the middle 90's along with Howard Cox. He was one of the greatest forwards of his day, and it was from this beginning that Conshohocken gained the top heights in 1905-06 and became known as the "Conshohocken Champions" by taking a tour to the middle East and defeating all of the strongest teams. His mother was the former Miss Clara Murray, daughter of the late Thomas Murray, a member of a pioneer Conshohocken family and a former Burgess.

Charles W. Moore was born here 42 years ago and attended the local schools but relinquished his studies before graduation to seek employment. He gained his present position the hard way. Starting in the labor gang he was later advanced to the cutter room where he worked a hand cutter and from there was promoted to the finishing department. For the past several years he has been a finisher.

He married Katharine Lightkep, a member of an old and respected Plymouth township family. He resided in Norristown from 1923 to 1937 when he removed to this borough. They have one daughter, Lois, a ninth-grade pupil in the local school.

Mr. Moore is quite active in fire circles both here and in Norristown. As a member of Conshohocken Fire Company No. 2, he is assistant drillmaster of the team that has won so many prizes during the past few years. He is also a member of the Hancock and Fairmount Fire Companies of Norristown. He served four years as a director and two years as vice president of the Hancock Company and served the same company for 12 years as foreman. He is a member of Conshohocken Council No. 241, Order of Independent Americans, in which he is a past counselor. He played basketball when younger but never reached the stardom of his father. He is a bowler and a member of the finishing department team, winner of the championship in the Interdepartmental League the past season.

He was called for examination at the same time as his father in the First World War but did not report because of the signing of the Armistice.

LEO GIERA
Tending a Fourdriner machine, making "Hamilton Bond"—A bond paper used extensively by Montgomery County Business and Manufacturing Concerns.

Notwithstanding his father was a successful building contractor and he, himself, had steady employment, Henry McCormick of 131 Cedar avenue, West Conshohocken, employed as a finisher at the William C. Hamilton paper mills, Mifflon, forsook his native country, Canada, and came to the States because there were more opportunities and more money.

Mr. McCormick, at an early age, visualized the possibilities that were offered in the country just to the south of his native land. He was born in Cornwall, Canada, and attended the schools there. His first employment was at the age of 15 in a paper mill. At the age of 19 he decided to leave the parental home and "go on his own." He went to Newton Falls, in the heart of the New England paper industry where he soon obtained work in one of the paper mills. He came to the Hamilton plant in 1923 and has remained there since that time. He resided at North Lane and Hector street until 1929 when he purchased the property in West Conshohocken and took immediate possession. It was his intention to remain in the land of his adoption from the time of his arrival and in 1935 became a full-fledged American citizen. His parents are still living and he returns to visit them at intervals. He has a brother who is a mechanic in the Air Corps of the Canadian Army and a brother-in-law who is a member of the mounted police. A sister, Mrs. Lawrence LeCote resides in this borough.

Mr. McCormick has three children, Henry, Jr., Ernest and John, all pupils in St. Gertrude's school. In regards to hobbies, he has two, one is working around machinery. In this he has a lot of natural ability and is more adept than many who follow it for a livelihood. His other hobby is bowling. He is a member of the team representing the Finishing Department which won the championship in the Interdepartmental League during the past season.

A&P Aids in Moving Surplus Peach Crop

Plans have been completed for an intensive national merchandising campaign to help Pennsylvania peach growers move a bumper crop rapidly into consumption throughout the balance of the marketing period for this fruit, the A & P Tea Company announced today.

H. A. Baum, general manager of A & P's produce-buying affiliate, the Atlantic Commission Company, said the campaign was snapped in response to requests made by growers, who point out that Pennsylvania's peach crop this season will probably total 2,112,000 bushels compared to an annual average output of 1,789,000 bushels.

With the early harvest in Pennsylvania already well under way, indications are that the main harvest will begin about August 15. It is brought out.

Total U. S. production this season is expected to reach 66,102,000 bushels, 30 per cent. over last year and one of the most abundant crops in recent years, Baum pointed out.

"The availability of such abundant supplies of top quality peaches presents housewives with an unusual opportunity to build fall and winter reserves of the fruit now through home canning programs and this fact will be stressed in our special advertising," Baum said.

The company's peach advertising fund of $15,000 represents an appropriation over and above the amount spent to promote fruits and vegetables of all kinds in A&P's summer "Nutrition-for-Defense" campaign, which has boosted movement of these foods through A & P stores more than 23 per cent in the first four weeks, follows recommendations by federal nutrition experts who say people generally should double their consumption of fruits and vegetables to maintain health.

Agree on Custody of 8-Year-old Girl

An agreement was entered into by attorneys representing the father, and the uncle and aunt of eight-year-old Jean Bertoff, now residing at Prospectville, whereby the father will take her on a three weeks vacation trip, and return her to the uncle and aunt, with whom she has resided since infancy.

Arthur Judson Bertoff, "M" and Bristol streets, Philadelphia, brought the habeas corpus proceedings, alleging that Paul and Lucy Fuchs, the latter a sister of Jean's mother, now deceased, had refused to permit him to see the child.

Bertoff has since married, and his wife joined in asking Judge Corson to have the child awarded to them.

Bertoff said Paul Fuchs had agreed to return the child to him, when he was in a position to provide care for her. This occurred after Bertoff's first wife had died. Bertoff had four other minor children to care for at the time, he testified.

Bertoff charged Fuchs refused him permission to see his daughter, and would put signs in the window notifying him to "Keep Out."

Hot Weather Affects Milk Production

The main reasons for Milk decline during the hot summer months are high humidity, hot weather, and lack of feed. If a cow is uncomfortable because of not weathering conditions, she is not inclined to bustle around for feed even though it is available in pasture form.

Here are suggestions for cow comfort and more milk production during August:

1. Cows like a cool shady place to lie down and rest. If none is available bring them into the barn during the heat of the day. A fan to circulate the air while cows are in the barn is a great help. Darkening of the windows will make the barn more comfortable.
2. Have plenty of fresh water available at all times.
3. Supplement short pastures with hay, silage, or green feed.
4. Feed grain to the higher producing cows.

Cow comfort is just as important during the hot summer months as during the cold winter months.

Claim Signatures on Petition Illegal

No testimony was heard Wednesday by Judge George C. Corson in an equity action in which Everett A. Hort, Republican candidate for School Director of Upper Dublin Township, alleges illegal signatures on petitions of two rivals for the office.

Hort claimed that 13 signatures on the petitions filed by John Burton and Edwin E. Baynon are identical. Counsel argued before the court that this invalidates both petitions, as it is illegal for an elector to sign petitions of candidates for the same office.

Counsel for Burton and Baynon, admitted the signatures were identical, but said that there are two directors to be nominated, but added one is for a full six year term, and the other for a two year office. Judge Knight admitted his clients had not specified the length of the term, but had filed for "School Director."

Judge Corson withheld decision.

Exonerate Soldier in Death by Motor

Private Cooper S. Wise, 34 Alentown, was exonerated of criminal responsibility in the death of Willie Eubanks, 32, negro, Philadelphia, at an inquest held by Coroner W. J. Rushong at Norristown, Wednesday.

Wise was the driver of an automobile which struck Eubanks, according to testimony, on the Lancaster pike, Villanova, at 1:50 a. m. on May 23. Eubanks died the next day at Bryn Mawr Hospital.

Wise is a member of the 21st Engineering Aviation Corps, Langley Field, Virginia. He was inducted into the Army in March.

Wise said he did not see Eubanks, who was walking along the highway, and the first he knew of it was the "bump," as the car struck the man.
