

Town and Township

The Straw Hat Circuit has booked many of the local little theater's actors and actresses. Among these has been Joseph Reynolds of Willow Grove, who was last seen with the White-marsch Valley Players in "The Willow and I." Joe, who's many fine performances have earned him high praise, is achieving similar success at the Ivoryton Playhouse in Connecticut. He has been appearing on stage and in radio shows, with such stars as Iona Massey, Vincent Price, a Veronica Lake and Zazu Pittz.

Also a member of the White-marsch Valley Players, Ann Whitehead, Lafayette Hill, is currently appearing with Players, Inc. in Vermont. Ann is gaining experience in every phase of the theater from her acting. She played a lead in "Life With Father," also had done production work and stage management. Ann has been seen recently on the "Stars in Your Eyes" television show.

Members of White-marsch Valley Players remaining at home have been enjoying their summer gatherings every other Thursday night. Thursday they read a script scheduled for production this season.

The reading was directed by Thomas Phelan, of Chestnut Hill, who scored two tremendous successes, last season, in the production of "Born Yesterday," and winning Oswald (the White-marsch group's Oscar) for his performance in "Jeany Kissed Me."

The meetings are open to all. Should you like to participate you may obtain information from Miss Jo Roma, Summer meetings chairman, by telephoning Wissahickon 7-3364.

Third Child In Family Has Polio

Two Bujak Sisters And Brother Are Bedfast at Home

The third child of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bujak, 422 E. Eleventh Ave., Conshohocken, is bedfast due to polio.

Kathy, four and a half years old, developed a fever Thursday afternoon. A physician ordered her removal to Montgomery Hospital, Norristown, where an examination disclosed she was suffering the malady.

She was admitted at 7 P. M. and she was brought home three hours later.

The other two children, Caroline, three and Joseph, one, were admitted to the hospital one day apart. Caroline was taken ill on Monday and was removed to the hospital on Tuesday. Joseph was admitted Wednesday.

All three children are bedfast. The physician and nurse make daily visits to keep a careful check on the condition of the children. The mother is using the Sister Kenny treatment on the two girls. The children have shown no paralysis of legs or arms, but they are suffering a stiffness in the back.

Freight Car Thieves Jailed

Overloading Truck Was Their Undoing

Burglarizing a Pennsylvania freight car on the Ernest Stanton siding at Plymouth Twp., June 28 resulted in two Philadelphia men being given jail sentences by Judge William Dannheuser on Friday.

They are Irvin Hartung, 20, N. Union St., near 34th, and Charles M. Ellis, 34, of 1400 block Conestoga St., Philadelphia. Both entered pleas of guilty.

Hartung, listed as a first offender, was sentenced to serve from five to 23 months in prison. Ellis, who had a record of five previous convictions, was imprisoned from 1 1/2 to 3 years. Both terms are to date from June 28.

The prisoners were arrested by alert Philadelphia police on the night of June 28 at 10th and Thompson Sts., when they observed that Hartung's truck appeared overloaded.

He checked the vehicle and found it contained over 1200 pounds of merchandise valued at $11,500, including rugs and underwear. It developed that the men had taken the heavy cartons from the box-car on the isolated siding.

Chief of Police Harry Sear of Plymouth Twp. contacted by Philadelphia police, aided in solving the burglary.

Hartung was a P. R. Co. workman employed as an extra switch tender.

Ellis, a steel worker was unemployed because of the steel strike. He said he took part in the burglary because he needed money to help pay for his wife's recent confinement.

Attorney Milton Jacobson and Alan Smith represented the defendants.

Pagliari to Conduct Concert Wednesday

The last in a series of three public band concerts presented by the Conshohocken Chamber of Commerce will be held at 3 Wednesday night in the Mary Wood Park House.

Joseph Pagliari will direct the Band of Conshohocken in varied selections including a group of instrumental solos. All residents of the community and vicinity may attend.

After spending my first day getting located in Brooklyn, I entered the Chamber of Commerce the next morning to begin the study of the Linotype. Had I remained until the present time I would still be learning something new!

An entire floor of the huge building was devoted exclusively to working on new patents designed to increase the efficiency of the machine. No one except those employed in that department were allowed on the floor.

The school was nothing more than a room that had been set aside to teach learners the mechanism and operation of the machine. The school was open to employees of a firm that intended to purchase a machine or firms that already were using them. Since that time schools have been established all over the country, where the operation of the Linotype is being taught. These schools, I am certain, do not teach all that was taught at the factory while I was there.

There were only about twenty in our school but they came from all parts of the country, one having come all the way from New Mexico. One man who appeared to be in his late

Sgt. Earle On Duty in Iran

A Conshohocken Army man is on duty at the American Embassy in Iran, his family revealed today.

He is Sgt. Robert Earle, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Earle of 320 E. Sixth.

A veteran of World War 2, Sgt. Earle was reportedly the first Conshohocken prisoner of war to return to his home following liberation.

Taken prisoner by the Germans at Anzio, Italy on February 18, 1944, he was liberated the ensuing April by the Russians at German Stalag (Prison) 2B, near Munich.

The local Army sergeant's recent assignment to the seething little country in the Far East, scene of bitter international contention over its extensive oil wells, came some months ago, the family disclosed.

First called into service in March 1943, he served 17 months as a machine-gunner in the European theater before falling into enemy hands. Prior to entering service, he was employed by the John Wood Co.

After honorable discharge from service, he re-enlisted in 1948, and served more than three years in Hawaii, before being transferred to the Far East. He studied at the Signal School at Fort Monmouth prior to going to Hawaii.

He finds the life in Iran interesting, he writes, but there are many things we are used to that he finds hard to get. Recently, his family sent him a record-player in answer to his request. He has also sent directly to American stores for articles of clothing, impossible to procure there.

The men were arrested by Sergeant Blake and Patrolman Bland, Friday night, after Frank Perrioli, of Old Elm, Conshohocken, reported that while he was parking his car at Marble and Forrest, he was attacked by a group of Negroes. One struck him in the eye, causing disfigurement, he testified.

Conshohocken Girl Injured by Auto

Patricia Bulskewicz, aged 10 years, of 300 E. Sixth, Conshohocken, was treated at Montgomery Hospital for brush burns of the right leg Friday afternoon.

Police said the child ran from the scene at Maple and Mill Sts., Norristown, into the path of an automobile driven by Ruth Andes, 438 Depot St., Bridgeport.

REMEMBERING 56 YEARS ... Intricate Linotype Machine Awes Pupil - Operator

30's and who had served several years as a machinist on a battleship in the U.S. Navy, had completed three months in the school and arranged to stay three months longer while I was there. It was his intention to believe at Maple and Mill Sts., Norristown, into the path of an automobile driven by Ruth Andes, 438 Depot St., Bridgeport.

The Linotype is one of the most complicated and intricate machines on the market. It operates automatically and when the least thing goes wrong it stops and can not be started until the trouble is corrected. Some times it takes a long while before the trouble can be located.

The Linotype is equipped with a keyboard similar in appearance to a typewriter. The letters are cut in small pieces of brass, called matrices, with a light and black face letter on each one. These are kept in what is known as the magazine, located above the keyboard. Reeds connect the keyboard and the magazine.

When the letters on the keyboard are touched the reeds move up and down and release the letters in the magazine. One of the most intricate and interesting operations of the machine is found in the magazine. It contains a series of channels which hold the matrices. There is

Boy, 12, Darts Into Path of Car

Knocked Unconscious, He Is Recovering

Twelve-year-old Jack Lawless' desire to be kind to animals resulted in an injury that has hospitalized him since late Friday.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lawless, 875 Cherry, Norristown, the boy spent the latter part of last week as the guest of his grandmother, Mrs. Julia Mancini, Germantown Pk. and Plymouth 2d, Plymouth Center.

Finding a bird's nest while playing, Jack decided the best place to place it in a tree for protection.

Seeing a sturdy tree on Plymouth 2d, across from his grandmother's home, Jack tied the nest to a limb, jumped from the tree, then running down a bank apparently got up so much momentum that he ran across the highway with unusual speed as a car approached from the west.

The car, operated by Arthur Thompson, Jr. of 3163 Memphis, Philadelphia, struck the boy with force, hurling him to the highway. He was knocked unconscious.

Police said he was picked up and removed to the injured lad to Montgomery Hospital. He was admitted with a possible brain concussion, brush burns of the body and lacerations of the scalp. He may be discharged today.

NEPHEW OF OFFICER

A nephew of Officer Frank Mancini of Plymouth Twp. police force, who was at the scene to investigate the accident.

The motorist was released under $500 bail, at a hearing before Justice of the Peace William Tracy, Plymouth Twp., to await outcome of the boy's injury.

Irvin Fessler Funeral Tomorrow In Womelsdorf

Irvin P. Fessler, 77, father of John T. Fessler, 183 West Ridge Pk., Harmonville, died Friday night at his home in Womelsdorf, Pa.

A farmer, he was employed a number of years by his son who conducted a news agency. He was a member of the Zion Lutheran Church in Womelsdorf.

A brother, Robert V. Fessler died last week in Indianapolis, Indiana. Mr. and Mrs. Fessler were planning to observe their 50th wedding anniversary Sept. 4. She was the former N. Louella Trexler.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Fessler and children, John and Barry, left today to attend the funeral at 11 o'clock in Womelsdorf. Interment will be at Mount Joy.

Surviving also are a son, George W. Fessler, Womelsdorf, R. D. 1 and a daughter, Virginia M. wife of William Malloy, of Stony Point, N. Y., and six other grandchildren.

Oil Burner Fires Chimney

Cool Breezes Send Up Heat, Firemen Called

Clouds of black smoke billowing skyward from the chimney of the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Moyer, of 1509 Fayette, Saturday morning, while the couple was enjoying a vacation in Youngstown, Ohio, gave rise to the belief the house was on fire.

Frank Herron, a neighbor, who was watching over the Moyer home, learned that the drop in the temperature caused the oil burner to kick-off. He turned off the switch and stopped the motor.

Mr. Moyer returned home to find the chimney had caught fire. The blaze was extinguished without the use of water. No damage resulted.

Mrs. Moyer returned home to find the chimney had caught fire. The blaze was extinguished without the use of water. No damage resulted.

Members of the negotiating committee are Richard G. Boy Finds 179 Four-Leaf Clovers, Plus 5 and 6 Leaf Ones in Two Years

"Buddy" Clemens may be the luckiest boy alive.

The ten-year-old Cedar Heights lad has found 179 four-leaf clovers this summer and last.

"Buddy" also has accounted for 22 five-leaf clovers and one six-leaf clover.

"He just seems to attract them," pretty, brunette Mrs. Frances Clemens, 345 Roberts Ave., his mother, said. The rest of us spend hours and hours looking for them in our yard-where he finds 1 of them-but we never find one.

"His little brother, Ronald, five, is crazy to find one-but he could hunt all day and never catch one. Oftentimes Ronnie runs in with clover and says 'Here, Mommy, I found a four-leaf one' but it's only a three-leaf one, with a leaf split by the lawnmower."

"Buddy's" high-leaf score tallied in 1951 63 four's and 13 five's. This summer, he has gathered in 116 four's, nine five's and the six-leaf-er. He found 70 of the four and five-leafers during the last week.

"Buddy's" record for a clover catch happened when his quick eye glanced down on a clump practically one hundred percent four-leaf. There were 20 in the batch. All the lucky specimens were found in his yard.

Pay Increase Granted 2700 Steelworkers

Two-Year Contract With Alan Wood Co. Ratified by Union

A two-year contract providing a union shop and an across-the-board increase of 12 1/2 cents an hour, six paid holidays, and up to three weeks paid vacations, was ratified on Friday by 2,700 members of Local 1392, United Steelworkers of America. It is retroactive to Feb. 1 and subject to approval by the Wage Stabilization Board.

Members of the Union are believed to be the only steelworkers in the United States who did not lose time in the recent strike that lasted eight weeks.

Harry Rowland, 17 East Elm, Conshohocken, president of the Local, at the final session of three held on Friday, lauded the negotiating committee and the steelworkers upon the terms of the contract which is now to be signed by the Alan Wood Steel Co.

He said the Union was one of five in the U.S. able to successfully negotiate such an agreement and one of three in the country successful in eliminating a geographical differential. The latter represented the culmination of a 15-year effort.

The Alan Wood Co. will recognize the Union as the sole bargaining agent under terms of the agreement. Members who are not affiliated with the Union have 30 days in which to acquire membership.

One-week vacation with pay is provided for members working one year or more, two weeks for service of five years or more, and three-week vacations with pay for members employed 15 years or more.

The agreement contains a termination clause which will enable the Union to start negotiating a new contract 30 days beyond the date when basic industry will begin negotiations.

Members on the negotiating committee are Richard G. Davidson, chairman, International Representatives of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO), Harry Rowland, president of the Local; John Quarry, Norristown, recording secretary; John Keyser, Conshohocken, chairman of the grievance committee; John O'Connor, Conshohocken, vice-president of the Union; Charles Roop, West Conshohocken, chief steward of maintenance; Thomas Pancoast, Norristown, chief steward of the open hearth; William Simon, Jr., Germantown, chief steward of the Coke and chemical division; and Andrew Dipolito, Conshohocken, chief steward of the plate mill division.

Father Divine's Cult Seen in Woodmont As New Owner Soon

Neighbors Convinced Palatial Home of Late Alan Wood Is to Be Heaven for Angels

According to residents of the neighborhood in a position to observe what is taking place at "Woodmont," palatial one-time home of the late Alan Wood, at Woodmont and Spring Mill Rds., near West Conshohocken, there are overwhelming indications that Father Divine is "moving in."

"It is as much a fact that Father Divine is taking over Woodmont, as any fact I know," a spokesman said today.

"It is no rumor, and I cannot imagine why the newspapers are referring to it only as a rumor," the resident of the area said.

According to the informant, furniture already has been moved into the big castle-like house, set high on a promontory in 73 acres of rolling greenwood, last occupied by Mrs. Blanche McNeal, Belgian-born widow of the late socially-prominent J. Hector McNeal, Philadelphia attorney and horseman. The latter died last November. Mrs. McNeal died last April.

The furniture was "moved in, it is stated, before settlement, in order to save storage charges for the Negro cult-leader, whose followers known as "angels" scattered over the world look on him as divine.

Although no one is known to be living in the big, turreted dwelling—and probably won't be until settlement is made—lights are occasionally seen in its long windows at night.

A number of moving vans have been sighted although the observer quoted earlier failed to see on them the inscription, "Peace"—slogan of the cult—as reported in Philadelphia newspapers.

One resident of the area is reported to have failed to see on the van the leader at "Woodmont" through one of his "angels."

Summing up the situation, THE RECORDER informant said that "residents of this area feel there is no question whatever of Father Divine's purchase of Woodmont."

They said that they have seen indication pointing to this disposition of the big estate—a landmark in the Conshohocken area—since early in August.

"We saw evidence of his moving in 10 days to two weeks ago, and heard rumors sometime prior to that time," the Woodmont neighbor said.

Just one month old, Harry was feted at an informal buffet supper held Saturday by Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Gallagher, 4025 N. Warner, Country Acres. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dittus, long time friends of the Gallaghers, who formerly resided in Philadelphia.

Miss Mary Martinelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guido Martinelli, of Germantown Pk. and Swede, East Norriton, formerly of Conshohocken, became the bride of Mark Holland, of 118 W. Eighth, Conshohocken, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Holland, of Erie, Pa., Sunday afternoon at 4 in Old St. Mary's Catholic Church, Conshohocken, temporary location of St. Cosmas and Damian church.

Miss Sylvia Cardamone, of 324 W. Third, Conshohocken, stationed with the WAVES in New York City, attended the bride as maid of honor. The bride's sister, Miss Adelle Martinelli, was bridesmaid.

Samuel DeTuro, six years old tomorrow, will be the guest of honor at a children's party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel DeTuro, 131 W. Seventh, Conshohocken.

A family dinner party will mark the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Joseph Gaganus, Philadelphia, the former Miss Molly McDade, of 320 Fayette, Conshohocken, tomorrow night at home.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white organdy over pale blue taffeta, the model fashioned with brief sleeves and finished with panels of eyelid on the front. An organdy cap, trimmed with lilies of the valley, held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a cascade of white carnations centered with an orchid.

The attendants were gowned alike in models of shrimp tulle over taffeta, the fitted bodices fashioned with off-shoulder necklines and bouffant skirts. They carried cascade bouquets of blue and white carnations and stephanotis and wore matching floral arrangements in their hair.

The flower girl wore a gown of blue marquisette, fashioned with cap sleeves and a bouffant skirt. She carried a nosegay of blue and white carnations and wore a crown of the same flowers in her hair.

A reception was held at the P. F. W. auditorium, Hector and Harry Sts., at six o'clock, the couple leaving later for a wedding trip through the New England states. Upon their return, they will reside at Germantown Pk. and Swede St., East Norriton.

THE BRIDE WAS GRADUATED FROM CONSHOHOCKEN HIGH SCHOOL IN 1946. MR. HOLLAND WAS GRADUATED FROM ERIE TECHNICAL HIGH SCHOOL IN 1945. HE IS EMPLOYED BY ASPHALT PAVING & SUPPLY CO., NORRISTOWN.

Stemple-Frey Nuptials Held In St. Gertrude's, Saturday

Miss Mary Lou Frey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Frey, 6 Elizabeth St., West Conshohocken, became the bride of Donald J. Stemple, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stemple, 101 Front, West Conshohocken, at 2 Saturday afternoon in St. Gertrude's Catholic Church, West Conshohocken. Rev. Francis A. Fagan, rector, officiated.

Miss Rosemary O'Brien, 102 Ford, West Conshohocken, was maid of honor, Miss Lorraine Wiencek, 1662 Butler Pk., Conshohocken, the bridesmaid, and Miss Patricia Ann Frey, sister of the bride, the junior bridesmaid.

James Lare, 121 W. First, Conshohocken, was best man, Daniel McTamney, 101 Merion, West Conshohocken, and Joseph Stemple, 1108 Green, Norristown, the usher. Thomas Dunahue was the vocalist. A reception for 100 guests took place at the home of the bride. After a honeymoon in Wildwood, the couple will reside at the Frey home.

The bride attended Conshohocken High School and is employed in the office of the FBI, Philadelphia. A graduate of St. Matthew's High School, the bridegroom is employed at Continental Diamond Fibre Co., Bridgeport.

White organdy formed the bride's lovely gown, made on classic lines and worn with a fingertip veil attached to a Juliet cap. Her white prayerbook was adorned with white orchids and lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor also was gowned in white organdy over pale blue, with a pale blue picture hat. The bridesmaids wore white organdy gowns. Miss Wiencek's fashioned over peach and Miss Frey's over yellow with matching picture hats. All the attendants wore white slippers and carried Colonial bouquets of pastel-hued flowers.

A rehearsal party was held Friday night at the Frey home. Walter Shirley, Jr., of 4638 Canton St., Roxborough, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Robert Weller, of Brandywine Village, and James Lasair, of Roxborough, were ushers. Thomas LaSair was ring-bearer.

Mount Joy: Ancestral Home Dinner and Two Movies Substitute for Vacation

Dear Jim and Gayle: It was grand to receive your letter, kidz. So glad all of you, including my nephew Wayne and niece Susan, are well. Sounds like a "good time was had by all" on Gayle's vacation, what with her minding the youngsters and you overhauling the motor on your car. Not exactly a busman's holiday, but next thing to it. Almost sounds like home--that's the kind of "days off" we get with plenty of work thrown in on the side.

You know, you and Gayle deserve much commendation. You, for starting out at 23 for your college degree and taking the accelerated "three-semester-a-year" in order to complete the training in three years.

Chol Johnson, our managing editor, is off on vacation, (sorry, ha-ha) which is a stink at camp with the Penna. National Guard. Before he went away, we received a lovely card from him and his wife, Kay, congratulating us on our wedding anniversary. That's very nice of you all about our weekend at beloved Harvey Cedars.

I mentioned last week that we are vacation-less this year. But we did steal a few hours. Friday, we had a business meeting downtown. I cooked Mac afterward to take me to dinner and a show. We went down 15th St. toward Market. Suddenly there was a strange switch!

This time, I went in and bought a new ledger for the job printing department. (That's the dept. where I'm now an apprentice. . . no, not setting type, just learning costs and trying desperately to learn job estimating to help relieve Walter Hoopes, who has been doing that work 35 years at THE RECORDER.)

Mac tells me I'm getting too long-winded here. (He's got a lot of work lined up for me.) So I stop. God bless you, all four, away out there.

Love, Fran.

"We Enjoy New Recorder" Couple Write from Germany

"We receive each Monday and Thursday edition of the Recorder regularly and certainly do enjoy it a lot," writes the wife of an Army sergeant from Germany, who joined her husband at his station near Munich, Germany, earlier this year.

Munich until July 23. He is doing nicely now and weighs nine pounds. "We read in the paper how hot it is at home and would like to let you know it is very much the same here. It has been for a month or more.

Sgt. and Mrs. Edmund Kulikowski, who with their four-month-old son, Edmund, Jr., are residing in a modern apartment there while her husband is in active Army service, write how "much they enjoy reading the local news of family and friends in the columns of The New Recorder."

"I guess that is all the news for now. Until another time we will sign off still wishing you all kinds of luck on the bigger, better Conshohocken Recorder."

Mrs. John Kunyk Services for Mrs. Dorothy Kunyk, 68, who died Thursday at noon at home, 333 Summit Ave., Cedar Heights, were held this morning at the Ardell Funeral Home, 300 Fayette, with Rev. Stanley R. West, D. D., rector of Calvary Episcopal Church, officiating. Interment was in St. Peter's Cemetery, Barren Hill.

Mrs. Kunyk was a resident of Cedar Heights 20 years. She is survived by her husband, John Kunyk; two daughters, Mrs. Mary McCrenzi and Mrs. Carolyn Mokrynski, both of Cedar Heights; seven grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

IT'S BARRELS OF FUN FOR LEGION POST MASCOT

ADOPTED AS A MASCOT, 8-month-old Gary Barbato is obviously fascinated by the excitement around him as he watches members of Chicago's American Legion Post No. 893 go through maneuvers in New York's Central Park. Among top contenders for the Legion's National drill competition, they were practicing for the Heft family. The fund was sponsored by Conshohocken Methodist Church and the drive was spurred by Rev. James H. Braisher, minister. The Hefts attend the Methodist Church.

RED CROSS FEEDS QUAKE VICTIMS

Members of the Tedyuscung Sportsmen's Association held a picnic Sunday at the YMCA Camp Hilltop, Downingtown, Pa. All attending brought their lunch and supper. Facilities were available for casting on water, archery, rifle range and swimming in the camp pool.

AMONG THE HUNDREDS left homeless by the devastating Bakersfield, Calif., earthquake, these women and children are served coffee and sandwiches (top) at one of the mobile field kitchens rushed to the scene by the Red Cross. At bottom, Clara Jean Harris, 13, picks up bits of debris in the wrecked living room of her home as Jehro and Frank Harrell look on. At least two persons were killed and 52 hurt. The damage is estimated at $30,000,000. (International Soundphoto)

Whitmarsh and Upper Merion Acclaimed Models in Planning

The Montgomery County Planning Commission held a monthly meeting Wednesday at the court house, it was revealed that the unit has received a total of eight requests for its service from various of the commission.

The most recent appeal came from Plymouth Twp., according to Robert Little, professional director of the commission. The meeting was presided over by William H. Shelton, chairman. Little said that rapid strides are being made in studying Whitmarsh Twp., which, along with Upper Merion Twp., is to be set up as a planning model for other subdivisions in the county.

He said that maps showing land use, building areas and population distribution have been completed and will be exhibited $6.00 at a meeting to be held with the Township Planning Commission.

Approval was granted 22 subdivisions, comprising 1,000 lots in various sections of the county.

Heft Daughter Writes Thanks For New Home

A letter written by Patricia Heft, 17-year-old daughter of Lester and Bertha Hill Heft, 346 Roberts Ave., Cedar Heights, to Augustus Butera, president of the June 1952 graduating class of Conshohocken High School, was released today.

The Hefts and their five children were made homeless June 9 when their home at 1591 Butler Pk., Harmonville, was virtually demolished by an explosion of a kerosene fired water heater in the basement.

Patricia, eldest of the five, a member of the June graduating class from Conshohocken High, recently wrote to Butera expressing her thanks for the gift made by the class to a fund conducted for the Heft family. The fund was sponsored by Conshohocken Methodist Church and the drive was spurred by Rev. James H. Braisher, minister. The Hefts attend the Methodist Church.

The letter: "Dear Gussie: As you were the president of our class of '52, I thought you would be the right person to write to.

I would like to express my thanks to you and my classmates for the generous donation you made to the Heft Fund. Had it not been for the fund we may not have been able to purchase the home we now have.

My family and I are very grateful to you and everyone else who contributed to the fund.

Thanks for being such swell classmates. Sincerely yours, Patricia Heft"

Shower Fetes Ohio Bride-to-Be

Miss Elsie Krehel, Cleveland, Ohio, was guest of honor at a surprise bridal shower at the home of Fire Lt. and Mrs. George A. Kern, 8719 Sagamore Rd., Andorra Homes, Saturday.

Miss Krehel will wed George F. Kern, of Cleveland, oldest son of the Roxborough couple, Oct. 11 at the Church of the Holy Family.

Guests included Mrs. John Sohn, Mrs. Ernest Honeywell, Mrs. Alfred Baffa, Mrs. Bernard Bryson, Mrs. Aloysius Zurawski, Mrs. Alfred Carlin, and Mrs. Matthew Kallinski. Lt. and Mrs. Kern are grandparents for the first time, following the recent birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kern, of 2851 N. Bailey.

County Citizens Forming Committee for Eisenhower

D. Rae Boyd, Norristown civic leader, today was appointed chairman of the Montgomery County Citizens Committee for Eisenhower and Nixon.

The appointment was announced by Robert Dechert, of Gulph Mills, vice chairman of the Pennsylvania Citizens Committee in charge of Eastern Pennsylvania.

Boyd was Norristown chairman of the Citizens-for-Eisenhower during the pre-national convention activities. His new campaign assignment will widen his field considerably, Dechert said.

The committee, he said, will work for the election of General Eisenhower and Senator Richard M. Nixon, Republican Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates, in the general election in November.

Boyd's first official act was to immediately appoint Vincent Godshall, of 1012 W. Marshall, Norristown, as secretary of the County Citizens Committee. Godshall held a similar post for the Eisenhower forces in Norristown before the convention.

With the election little more than two months away and the campaign starting at fever pitch, Boyd is planning to plunge into the thick of things at once. A County headquarters will be opened in Norristown within the next few days, he said.

He intends to appoint sub-committees in virtually every borough, township and community in the county. He appealed for volunteers to join in "this last chance for the people to assure themselves of good, sound government without graft."

Boyd said the Citizens Committee will work independently of any political party.

Health Board Gives 10 Rules in Polio Fight

The Board of Health of Conshohocken today urged parents to obey ten rules in the fight against polio.

Parents were asked to keep watch over their children so that they do not indulge in strenuous exercise and so they would not become suddenly chilled.

Avoidance of crowds to obviate contact infections and the frequent washing of hands was also urged by the board. Non-use of raw, unpeeled fruits and vegetables and adequate screening and control of flies was also suggested by the Health Board.

Proper disposal of garbage in a metal container with a covered lid was recommended by the board along with the adequate sewer disposal of waste.

Avoidance of tonsillectomies during polio season and the closing of swimming pools and beaches known to be contaminated was also recommended by the board members.

Although the number of polio cases reported so far this year is about the total for the same period last year, an epidemic of the disease in Philadelphia is not expected this summer, Dr. James P. Dixon, Health Commissioner, said today.

The latest victims bring the Philadelphia total to 14. Last year at this time there were three cases reported to the Department of Public Health.

"An epidemic of poliomyelitis in Philadelphia is defined as approximately 600 cases," Dr. Dixon said. "The last epidemic, in 1952, resulted in 728 cases with 84 deaths. The normal case load during Philadelphia's polio season is between three and five cases per 100,000 population.

"The case load this year will probably exceed that of last year, when 52 cases were reported. There are two facts which lead us to look for an increase. First, an earlier start in the occurrence of cases locally and, secondly, a distinct increase in cases being reported generally throughout the nation," Dr. Dixon explained.

He said the anticipated increase in polio this summer makes it imperative that citizens alert themselves to some preventive measures. He offered the following "Do's and Don'ts."

DO allow children to play with friends they have been with right along. Keep them away from new people.

DON'T get overtired by hard play, exercises, work or travel. This means men, women or children.

DO wash hands carefully before eating and always after using the toilet. Also keep food clean and covered.

DON'T get chilled. Don't bathe or swim in cold water, or sit around in wet clothes.

Ticket Sale Heavy for Bouts Starring DeCerio and Ubaldi

Boxing will return to Conshohocken Wednesday night after a lull of more than two decades and devotees of the manly art of self defense will see some of the best boxing in this area in action.

The program, sponsored by the Police Athletic League, will be staged at the Center Stadium, Eleventh and Harry, beginning at 8:30. The card will comprise an eight-round windup, six-round semi-windup and four four-round bouts.

Featuring the windup will be Jimmy DeCerio, of Conshohocken, and Bruce Ubaldo, of Philadelphia. Holmesburg, has matched three times with Gil Turner, Philadelphia's bid for the title and he managed to go the distance each time, although he failed to gain the decision.

Ritchie DeCerio, a brother of Jimmy, will be pitted against Babe Robinson, of Philadelphia, in the six-round semi-windup.

The four-round bouts will bring together Al Ferguson and Leonard Ingram, both of Philadelphia; Johnnie Iocavetti, Northtown, and Robert Mills, Holmesburg; Tony Grambone, Conshohocken, and Billy Clark, Philadelphia, and Buddy Barrett, Holmesburg, and James Washington, Philadelphia.

An added attraction, Johnny Jaddick, of Philadelphia, former featherweight and junior lightweight champion of the world will be at Rafferty's Drug store from 6:30 until 8 Wednesday night to sign autographs for boys. He will also display his championship belt.

Advance sale of tickets has been heavy, but there are plenty of the sheets still available.

Tickets are on sale at the following places:

Bridgeport Golfer Awarded Trophy

Antonio Ottaviano, of Bridgeport, captured top honors in the third annual hole-in-one contest Friday night at John Kelly's Driving Range, North Lane and Ridge Pike. He came within four inches of dropping the ball into the pocket.

Charis Frick registered 14 inches with Al Piclari, third, 13 inches from the pocket. Others finished from 20 to 38 inches away.

Ottaviano won a handsome matched set of nine irons. The other awards were a dozen golf balls and a golf umbrella. A bronze trophy automatically went with the first prize.

A set of four matched woods was awarded Frick, who finished second. A nylon golf bag was presented Al Piclari.

of Exton, near West Chester, one of the three heirs to the estate, on August 18, she would make no comment on the reported sale to Father Divine, but showed no surprise at the query.

Mrs. Harper is the former Miss Celeste McNeal, a daughter of the late J. Hector McNeals, and formerly married to Frederick Van Lennep. The other heirs are her brother, Joseph H. McNeal of Bryn Mawr and a nephew Frederick Clark McCormack, Jr.

Mrs. McNeal, in her will, provided for the disposal of funds held in trust for his daughter, Joanne McNeal Young.

Charles L. Harper was quoted by a Philadelphia newspaper recently as stating that "Father Divine's bid is $50,000 more than the next highest received so far."

COURT APPROVAL NEEDED

Court approval of the sale would be necessary because of the trust funds, Harper said.

Harper said that the sale is being handled by Theodore Griffith, a West Chester attorney. Griffith is in Honolulu and the sale won't be completed until he returns about the end of September, Harper said.

Harper said he did not know what other offers have been made for "Woodmont." The Philadelphia Country Club made one offer, he said.

Harper is quoted by the same metropolitan paper as saying that "the Country Club deal apparently has fallen through because neighbors didn't cooperate, when another piece of land was required in the transaction."

Quaker-Flexton Series Start At 6 Tonight

Quaker Chemical and Flexton Corporation will meet at 6 tonight in the first in a series of contests to determine the championship in the Conshohocken Industrial Soft-ball league.

The game will be played at Community Center Athletic field, Eleventh and Harry.

Quaker gained the right to enter the finals by eliminating Alan Wood and Flexton, after completing the regular schedule without sustaining a defeat. They won two in succession from Walker A. A. in the semi-final series.

A four-run uprising in the fifth frame enabled Quaker Chemical to defeat Alan Wood 5-3 in the second game of the semi-final series Thursday night to eliminate the Iron Workers from further competition in the championship race.

Alan Wood took a 2-0 lead in the opening inning. Quaker Chemical scored one in the third and then came through with a four-run spurge in fifth to clinch the decision. Alan Wood tallied one in the sixth but fell two short of tying their opponents.

Bozarth was on the mound for Quaker and helped his own cause with a home run in the big fifth. Roman had a two-base blow for Alan Wood. Bozarth went the distance for the Quakers and limited his opponents to four hits. Krier and Roop divided the hurrying for Alan Wood and gave up a total of six hits.

a channel for each small and capital letter, each figure and each of several other characters. These pieces of brass are cut at the top. They pass through what is known as the distributor box into spiral rods and carried over a distributor bar which extends the full width of the magazine. As the matrices pass along this bar they drop into their respective channels.

When the letters leave the magazine they drop onto a leather belt which carries them into the assembly box. This can be set at any length line from one-half to five inches. This is probably what established the name of the machine. When the line is assembled, it lifted to a point on the level with the first elevator. Here it is automatically released and carried to the first elevator where it is dropped to a certain position. At the same time a pot of molten metal is gradually tilted forward against the line of matrices. An iron plunger forced the metal against the letters.

The pot gradually recedes to its original position.

The line of brass letters is raised automatically and transferred to the second elevator, which carries them to the distributor, box and thence to their respective channels. The line of type which is cast is trimmed type high and pushed out of the casting mold onto a galley.

If there is a mistake the whole line must be reset.

To the average person who walks into the mechanical department of our office and looks at the Linotype—we have five—It is just another machine. An examination of its operation must be made to appreciate what a marvelous invention it really is!

School children frequently visit the plant on a tour of inspection and it has been a question in my mind as to how many realize just what they see. I am sure my superiors would welcome a visit from interested readers as a means of creating a closer fellowship between our staff and the public.

Next week I shall dwell more on the Linotype with the hope of adding a little humor which was impossible to inject in this week's installment.

Blasts Called Annoying, But Not Damaging

Expressway Work Shakes One House; TV Sets Shaken

Explosions on the Schuylkill Expressway, where tons and tons of dirt are being removed for the new highway, plagued many residents of Conshohocken, West Conshohocken, Spring Mill, Miquon, and other riverfront communities last Winter and Spring.

Now residents of Manayunk, south of the other towns, are feeling the impact of the blasts, but not to the extent that they were felt in this area.

Residents of Nixon St., across the river from the latest blasting site, report that the explosions are sometimes nerve-wracking, but have not hurt their homes to any extent.

Mrs. Peter Ferguson, 7824 Nixon, said the blasts usually shake her house and that the noise is "awful." "But we can't do anything about it, so we just have to get used to it," Mrs. Ferguson comments.

Mrs. Albert Ottinger, 7822 Nixon, reports that shortly after some heavy blasting the family had to have their TV set repaired and that several tubes were replaced.

"We don't know if the blasting was responsible though," Mrs. Ottinger said. She knows of no specific damage to her home, or any of her neighbors' homes.

Mrs. Anna O'Neill, 7840 Nixon, who works during the day, says the explosions are annoying, but has no other complaint. "It doesn't bother us very much," Mrs. O'Neill reports.

A resident of Miquon whose home was damaged last Winter said that he believed his house was on the same strata of rock on which blasting was being done on the other side of the river and that this might account for the damage.

"I don't believe the concussion alone would cause any great degree of damage," he said. His extended-coverage insurance reimbursed him for the cost of new ceilings, he said.

Claiming that blasting for a new roadway caused damage to their home, Abalaro and Isaura Montemayor, Rebel Hill, Upper Merion, have filed suit against S. J. Groves and Sons Co., Minneapolis, Minn., for $2,425.

The Montemayors charge that the firm held the contract for road work relating to the Expressway near their home and that from June to Sept. 1950, charges of dynamite were set off. The blasts cracked portions of the wall of their 2½ story stone home.

Playground Events

17 Art and 20 Olympics Awards Given Youngsters

Awards have been made for two special events conducted by local playgrounds, for all paintings completed by the boys and girls and given in Junior Olympics activities.

More than three hundred oil paintings have been completed.

A committee of three judges, Mr. James A. Talone, 108 14th; Mrs. Albert Dubroff, 516 Fayette, and Mrs. William Collins, 2nd and Forrest, selected six paintings as the best in various age groups and eleven paintings to be given honorable mention in different age groups.

Plaque awards will be presented the following young artists: James McGrath, 16; Rita Perone, 10; Sandy Robinson, 11; Sandy Cox, seven; Jack Duff, 14, and Jacqueline Russell, nine.

Blue ribbon awards will be given to Debbie Willis, five; Mary Lee Speaker, six; Susan Carroll, eight; Donna Wilkinson, nine; Joseph Wodanski, nine; John Heffentreyer, 9; Carol Spina, 11; James Wisniewski, 12; Kathryn Hammill, 13; Ruthann Jenkins, 14, and Phillip Goddeck, 16.

Miss Mariann Wood has been the art instructor for the playground activity.

Conshohocken's own Olympic contests were conducted Aug. 7 on the Community Center Field.

One of the features of the summer recreational program, the special event was conducted under the direction of the playground staff. The various play centers were represented by teams of boys and girls who competed in a series of field sports. The events were scheduled in two age groups for boys and two groups for girls. Attractive plaque awards were presented to the winner of each event.

The winners:
Boys, football throw for accuracy, senior, Bruce Kelly; football throw for distance, senior, John Wilson; softball throw for distance, junior, Pat Di Donato and senior, Dan Wilson; softball throw for ac-
