Patient in Ambulance Dies After Accident At Busy Intersection

Harmonville — A 64-year-old woman of Richland, near Reading, injured Monday morning in the crash of the ambulance in which she was being transported to Philadelphia for treatment of a heart ailment, died less than 24 hours later in Montgomery Hospital, Norristown.

Mrs. Anna Parsons, the patient, suffered a fracture of the left leg when the Newmansville Fire Co. ambulance and a sedan collided at the intersection of Ridge and Butler Pikes, Harmonville. Mrs. Parsons was enroute from her home to the Graduate Hospital.

Driving the ambulance was Hayden M. Hippert, 38, of Newmansville. Driving the sedan was Samuel Williams, 19, of 6 North St., Ambler.

Both were placed under $1000 bond at a hearing Tuesday before Magistrate Louis Hoffman, to await the coroner's inquest.

Hippert suffered a lacerated lip and Paul Moyer, 42, of Newmansville, assistant driver of the ambulance, minor leg injury. Both were treated at Montgomery Hospital, where the injured woman was taken in the George Clay Fire Co. ambulance. Both vehicles were towed to Gilling's garage, Barren Hill.

Whitemarsh Twp. police said Hippert, headed east on Ridge Pike, ran through a red light. Williams, coming south on Butler, had the green light. He said he failed to

The Rev. James M. Niblo, of St. John's Episcopal Church, Norristown, will give the invocation.

Guests will include Edward Chew, fire marshal of the Fourth District Firemen's Assn.; Fred Leopold, architect for the company's building program; Anthony Zinni, president of 27-28 South Fire Co.; J. G. McKelvey, president of Barren Hill Fire Co.

West Conshohocken — Rev. Stephen E. Krizin, assistant pastor at St. Gertrude's Church, 209 Merion Ave. for two years, has been transferred to the Church of Nativity, B. V. M. Media, as assistant pastor.

Paint for House Is Big Bonus

Conshohocken — A local funeral director is more than pleased with the many gifts he has already received by using the Big Bonus Coupon Book, and expects to take advantage of enough free paint to do the exterior of a new property he will buy from Samuel W. DeMedio, local realtor.

DeMedio offered the paint as his bonus in the big give-away program.

William T. Ardell, 300 Fayette St., who has always advocated buying in your own home town, already has received a beach chair, case of coca cola, and a paint roller, as three gift items from National Paint Center, and plans to obtain other gifts by paint at Kehoe's and Galin's. The paint will be used for extensive re-decorating of both the exterior and interior of the funeral home, Ardell said.

Ardell is only one of about 500 persons in the community who have already obtained several hundred of the bonus coupon items which are given away entirely free with purchases of merchandise.

The Bonus Books will be valid until July 3, and with the splendid interest of the public, especially in the past week, in securing the books from the 30 participating merchants, every indication points to thousands of other gifts being given away before the deadline.

Sainte and Anna Madonna, 804 Fayette St., who own a dress shop at the same location, are boasting of a new electric roaster, the gift of E. F. Moore, for the purchase of a new 1954 Chevrolet. The couple received the roaster from Phillips Furniture. The dress shop also is participating in the coupon book program.

Merchants are enthusiastic about the Bonus Book program which has converted many local residents into local shoppers. Many others are expected to take advantage of the fine gifts offered in this community-wide "shop-at-home" plan.

The books are still available in most stores and for the small sum of $2.50, gifts valued at $1,000 can be obtained by using the entire book.

Party Choices Easy Winners In Primary

Organization Slate Triumphs in Third District Fight

Norristown — Candidates on both Republican and Democratic tickets, backed by an organization support, had little trouble in winning nomination Tuesday in the primary election on the State, County and District level, as Lloyd H. Wood, D.A. Governor, and Republican nominee, and George M. Leader, Democratic nominee for Governor, paced their respective slates.

Lacking party opposition, Thomas H. Jones, seeking re-election for a new term in the State Legislature from the Second District, polled 6,331 votes, while his Democratic counterpart, William E. Siebel, tallied only 827 votes throughout the district.

West Conshohocken, a part of the Third Legislative District, favored the four organization-supported candidates, giving Col. Raymond C. Kratz 125 votes; Floyd K. Brenninger, 124; Herman B. Willard, 115 and Mrs. Evelyn G. Hensel, 109. William C. Bolton, running as an independent for a new term, polled only 40 votes on the West Side.

In Conshohocken, organization candidates turned back a challenge for leadership as incumbents topped independently for committee posts in the borough and in several districts in neighboring townships.

Dominic Ruggiero, First Ward Republican committeeman, faced with stern opposition from Bruno (Dick) Tanciel, was the victor with a 192 total to 136 for the loser. A similar fight in the Fifth Ward saw Walter Stittler, member of Town Council, rout his opponent, Samuel Hiltner, 280 to 22.

The two ward battles were apparent efforts on the part of independent Republicans and the leading railroads to Flourtown Rd. It is bounded on the southeast by other land owned by the Corsons.

Part of this property was acquired many years ago by William Diston, grandfather of the present grantor, and part by William D. Diston, son of the original William Diston.

Some of the southern acreage is underlain by limestone and will support one of the present extensive limestone deposits owned by the Corson Company, world's largest producer of magnesium limestone.

An spokesman said the remainder of the tract will be offered for sale.

Richard J. Seltzer represented the Diston interest and Emlen & Co. represented G. & W. H. Corson, Inc.

John D. Barr Street Supervisor

West Conshohocken — John D. Barr, 221 Crawford Ave., former all-around athlete and member of the 1938 graduating class of West Conshohocken High School, was appointed street supervisor by borough council at a special meeting Friday night.

Barr, who began his new job Monday, replaces John Farrell, who was dismissed by council at a meeting Apr. 21 after a three-month leave of absence because of illness.

Action was prompted by councilmen when Milton R. White, magistrate, who was acting supervisor, quit May 15, after a dispute over a $2 item on the expense sheet for having the borough truck washed at a garage.

Three other applicants who sought the job at $3,300 a year were Herbert LeRoy, of Williams St.; John Smith, borough fire chief, Josephine Ave., and Edward Campbell, of Fort St.

Barr, who is a brother of councilman Allan Barr, was employed for 13 years at the Schuykill Iron Works, of Alan Wood Steel Co., which closed last fall.

Bank Acquires Jones Land for New Building

Drive-In Service, Parking Facilities to Be Provided At Proposed Retail Center

Conshohocken's first modern shopping center will occupy an entire block on Fayette St. between Fourth and Fifth Aves.

It will be developed by the Philadelphia National Bank on the property of the late Horace C. Jones, former president of the First National Bank of Conshohocken, according to an announcement today by Donald P. Horsey, vice president in charge of the Conshohocken office of the Philadelphia National Bank.

Known as "The Terraces" for many years, the tract has a frontage of 300 feet on Fayette St. and a depth of 400 feet. It was acquired recently by the bank for $75,000.

In all likelihood the handsome Victorian style mansion at Fifth and Fayette will be razed. The mansion was built about 1880 by Squire John Wood, first burgess of Conshohocken.

Headquarters of the bank will be established on the tract, with facilities for making deposits while parked in automobiles. In addition, ample parking is to be provided for every type business located in the new shopping center.

The present bank at Fayette and W. Hector St. probably will become a focal point for residents of the community, it was indicated, with the opening of the new, larger offices. However, future use of the building is indefinite.

Establishing the shopping center is expected to spur local business and to encourage homebuilders in neighboring communities to shop more frequently in Conshohocken, the bank executive said.

A showplace from its earliest days, "The Terraces" gained its name through the beautifully landscaped gardens that stretched almost a block on the borough's main street and half a block on Fourth and Fifth Aves.

Squire Wood was the son of James Wood, "father of Conshohocken." He was, at one time, a United States Congressman. A brother, David, occupied the premises many years after Squire Wood's death.

Earlier generations remember that the mecca of many Sunday afternoon strolls in the pre-motorized days was "Perot's." Then usually known as "Protes," the gardens still hold in many terraces, rare trees, pergolas, trellised effects and flower beds.

Annie Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wood, married William Perot, and the couple lived in a Fifth and Fayette most of their married life. They sold the property to Horace C. Jones.

Mrs. William Crump Scheetz, of Spring Hill Rd., Lower Merion Twp., is the former Miss Katherine Jones, a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace C. Jones. Her husband is a direct descendant of David Wood. Both their grandfolds lived in the spacious dwelling at various times. Perot remodeled it and Jones completed minor alterations.

At the time of his death, on Aug. 29, 1918, Horace C. Jones was president and chairman of the board of directors of The First National Bank of Conshohocken.

Two Highways Are Surveyed By Engineers

Surveys of the route for Henry Ave., from Walnut Lane to Ridge Ave., and for widening of Ridge Ave. from Cathedral Ave. to the Montgomery County Line, are being conducted this week by City Engineers, with a public hearing on the revisions scheduled at 2 Monday, May 24, at Room 3104, City Hall Annex.

This was made known today by Frederick T. Thorpe, Jr., chief engineer and surveyor, as the city continued its plans to begin work on the Henry Ave. extension and widening of Ridge Ave. to accommodate anticipated increases in truck and car traffic.

According to Henry D. Harrel, City Commissioner of Streets, the present confirmed width of Ridge Ave. is 120 feet, to be divided into two roadways, each 38 feet wide, with a 16-foot wide center divider and 14-foot sidewalks.

Present city planning calls for widening of the Ridge on the west side of Spring Lane, and on the east side from Spring Lane to the County Line. This, according to Harrel, refers to city plan widenings and not to actual takings of Ridge Ave. properties.

Revised plans for the work on Henry Ave., from Ridge Ave. to Walnut Lane have already received approval of State Highway officials and the City Planning Commission, Harrel added. Requests for construction money for Henry Ave. and the section of Ridge Ave. also have been made.

Officers Robert Hipp and William Spears, of the Whitmarsh Twp. police, check loot recently stolen from homes in the area. The bicycle was stolen from a Whitmarsh Twp. home. Raymond Organski, of Upper Dublin, and Joseph Newsome, Germantown, were held under bail by Magistrate Hofman.

Marbles Tournament Finals June 15

Barre. Hill-Boys and girls of Whitmarsh Twp., who have not reached their 15th birthday by June 15, will be eligible for the annual marbles tournament, according to Don Koozits, recreational director.

School champions will be determined this week, and the finals are scheduled for May 14. The two winners will compete in Philadelphia city-playoffs, May 27.

Book Traces Early Days Of Autos

Chestnut Hill — "Careers on Wheels," a new book by William Sheppard, Millita Hill Rd., Plymouth Meeting, traces the early days of the automobile a "includes several well-known local families." The three-generation business history of Philadelphia's Wolfington family as it progressed from carriage-making to custom automobile production and now to dealership for cars and buses also is told.

The book, describing the early days of the automobile, tells of the Chestnut Hill Van Seivers as follows: "Not only was the chauffeur likely to be the only member of the family who could drive, he had to be able to fix the frequent flats and tinkler constantly with the engine."

"When Wolfington customer J. B. Van Seiver decided to get his first car, he sent his coachman, Dennis Kieley, to the Pierce-Arrow plant in Buffalo for four months of instruction in driving, cleaning spark plugs, changing tires and making minor repairs. This did not delay Van Seiver's first auto trip; cars took about six months to be delivered after the order was placed."

Another area resident, according to the book, "E. T. Stotesbury placed a fine batch of orders as the company ever got for custom work. Mrs. Stotesbury received a limousine; his daughter and her new husband, Douglas MacArthur, were given a Victoria, just the kind of fair-weather car needed in the Philippines where it went, and stepson James H. R. Cronwell's wishes were fulfilled with a dashing convertible coupe."

Accident Victim 24 Hours Before Her Death

Patient in Ambulance Dies After Accident At Busy Intersection

Harmonville — A 64-year-old woman of Richland, near Reading, injured Monday morning in the crash of the ambulance in which she was being transported to Philadelphia for treatment of a heart ailment, died less than 24 hours later in Montgomery Hospital, Norristown.

Mrs. Anna Parsons, the patient, suffered a fracture of the left leg when the Newmansville Fire Co. ambulance and a sedan collided at the intersection of Ridge and Butler Pikes, Harmonville. Mrs. Parsons was enroute from her home to the Graduate Hospital.

Driving the ambulance was Hayden M. Hippert, 38, of Newmansville. Driving the sedan was Samuel Williams, 19, of 6 North St., Ambler.

Both were placed under $1500 bond at a hearing Tuesday before Magistrate Louis Hofman, to await the coroner's inquest.

Hippert suffered a lacerated lip and Paul Moyer, 42, of Newmansville, assistant driver of the ambulance, minor leg injury. Both were treated at Montgomery Hospital, where the injured woman was taken in the George Clay Fire Co. ambulance. Both vehicles were towed to Gillingers garage, Barren Hill.

Whitemarsh Twp. police said Hippert, headed east on Ridge Pike, ran through a red light. Williams, coming south on Butler, had the green light. He said he failed to hear the siren which Hippert said was blaring at the time.

Police said the ambulance trip was not rated emergency, as no physician or nurse accompanied the patient. Ambulances are permitted to go through a red light, when the trip is not an emergency, one, only if they do so "with caution."

Officers William Ebers and William Swan investigated with Plymouth Twp. police assisting with traffic.

Organization Slate Triumphs in Third District Fight

Norristown — Candidates on both Republican and Democratic tickets, backed by an organization support, had little trouble in winning nomination Tuesday in the primary election on the State, County and District level, as Lloyd H. Wood, Lt. Governor, and Republican nominee, and George M. Leader, Democratic nominee for Governor, paced their respective slates.

Lacking party opposition, Thomas H. W. Jones, seeking re-election for a new term in the State Legislature from the Second District, polled 6,331 votes, while his Democratic counterpart, William E. Sibel, tallied only 827 votes throughout the district.

West Conshohocken, a part of the Third Legislative District, favored the four organization-supported candidates, giving Col. Raymond C. Kratz 125 votes; Floyd K. Brenninger, 124; Herman B. Willard, 115 and Mrs. Evelyn G. Hensel, 109. William C. Bolton, running as an independent for a new term, polled only 40 votes on the West Side.

In Conshohocken, organization candidates turned back a challenge for leadership as incumbents topped independent for committee posts in the borough and in several districts in neighboring townships.

Dominic Ruggiero, First Ward Republican committeeman, faced with stern opposition from Bruno (Dick) Tancini, was the victor with a 192 total to 136 for the loser. A similar fight in the Fifth Ward saw Walter Sittler, member of Town Council, rout his opponent, Samuel Biltner, 280 to 22.

The two ward battles were apparent efforts on the part of independent Republicans to battle retirees to Flourtown Rd. It is bounded on the southeast by other land owned by the Corsons. Part of this property was acquired many years ago by William D. Diston, son of the original William Diston.

Some of the southern acreage is underlain with limestone and will supply one of the recent extensive limestone deposits owned by the Corson Company, world's largest producer of magnesium limestone.

A spokesman said the remainder of the tract will be offered for sale. Richard J. Seitzer represented the Diston interest and Emlen & Co. represented G. & W. H. Corson, Inc.

DeMedio offered the point as his bonus in the big give-away program.

William T. Ardell, 300 Fayette St., who has always advocated buying in your own home town, already has received a beach chair, case of coca cola, and a paint roller, as three gift items from National Paint Center, and plans to obtain other gifts by paint at Knoch and Gains. The paint will be used for extensive re-decorating of both the exterior and interior of the funeral home, Ardell said.

Ardell is only one of about 50 persons in the community who have already obtained several hundred of the bonus coupon items which are given away entirely free with purchases of merchandise.

The Bonus Books will be valid until July 3, and with the splendid interest of the public, especially in the past week, in securing the books from the participating merchants, every indication points to thousands of other gifts being given away before the deadline.

Samuel and Anna Madonna, 804 Fayette St., who own a dress shop at the same location, are boasting of a new electric roaster, the gift of E. F. Moore, for the purchase of a new 1954 Chevrolet. The couple received the roaster from Phillips Furniture. The dress shop also is participating in the coupon book program.

Merchants are enthusiastic about the Bonus Book program which has converted many local residents into local shoppers. Many others are expected to take advantage of the fine gifts offered in this community-wide "shop-at-home" plan.

The books are available in most stores and for the small sum of $2.50, gifts valued at $1,000 can be obtained by using the entire book.

Margaret Collins, local pianist and member of the faculty of the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music, will appear as piano soloist at the Flourtown concert. Miss Collins will also fill her usual role of accompanist for the local choral.

Emmond Juhn, Flourtown, former local resident, will be a vocal soloist.

Donald M. Straka, director of the choral, will be on the podium for the Conshohocken concert, and Nancy Sload, director of the Flourtown choral and a member of the faculty of Carson School, will direct the combined voices in Flourtown.

The eleven choral numbers by the combined chorals include a wide variety of musical appeal from the Negro spiritual "Ezekiel Saw de Wheel" to Bach's "Jesu, Priceless Treasure."

Incidental soloists in the choral numbers will be Marie Wagner, soprano, and Walter Soly, baritone.

Bank Acquires Jones Land for New Building

Drive-In Service, Parking Facilities to Be Provided At Proposed Retail Center

Conshohocken's first modern shopping center will occupy an entire block on Fayette St. between Fourth and Fifth Aves.

It will be developed by the Philadelphia National Bank on the property of the late Horace C. Jones, former president of the First National Bank of Conshohocken, according to an announcement today by Donald P. Horsey, vice president in charge of the Conshohocken office of the Philadelphia National Bank.

Known as "The Terraces" for many years, the tract has a frontage of 200 feet on Fayette St. and a depth of 300 feet. It was acquired recently by the bank for $75,000.

In all likelihood the handsome Victorian style mansion at Fifth and Fayette will be razed. The mansion was built about 1880 by Squire John Wood, first burgess of Conshohocken.

Headquarters of the Conshohocken office of the bank will be established on the tract, with facilities for making deposits while parked in automobiles. In addition, ample parking is to be provided for every type business located in the new shopping center.

The present bank at Fayette and W. Hector St. probably will become a focal point for residents of the community, it was indicated, with the opening of the new, larger offices. However, future use of the building is indefinite.

Establishing the shopping center is expected to spur local business and to encourage homemakers in neighboring communities to shop more frequently in Conshohocken, the bank executive said.

A showplace from its earliest days, "The Terraces" gained its name through the beautifully landscaped gardens the streeted, almost a block on the borough's main street and half a block on Fourth and Fifth Aves.

Squire Wood was the son of James Wood, "father of Conshohocken," and the couple lived at Fifth and Fayette most of their married life. They sold the property to Horace C. Jones.

Mrs. William Cramp Scheetz, of Spring Mill Rd., Lower Merion Twp., is the former Miss Katherine Jones, a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace C. Jones. Her husband is a direct descendant of David Wood. Both their grandfathers still lived in the spacious dwelling at various times. Perot remodeled it and Jones completed minor alterations.

At the time of his death on Aug. 29, 1901, he was a senior at president and chairman of the board of directors of The First National Bank of Conshohocken.

John D. Barr
Street Supervisor

West Conshohocken — John D. Barr, 221 Crawford Ave., former all-around athlete and member of the 1938 graduating class of West Conshohocken High School, was appointed street supervisor by borough council at a special meeting Friday night.

Barr, who began his new job Monday, replaces John Farrell, who was dismissed by council at a meeting Apr. 21 after a three-month leave of absence because of illness.

Action was prompted by councilmen when Milton E. White, magistrate, who was acting supervisor, quit May 15, after a dispute over a $2 item on the expense sheet for having the borough truck washed at a garage.

Three other applicants who sought the job at $3,200 a year were Herbert LeRoy, of Williams St.; John Smith, borough fire chief, Josephine Ave., and Edward Campbell, of Ford St.

Barr, who is a brother of councilman Allan Barr, was employed for 13 years at the Schuykill Iron Works, of Alan Wood Steel Co., which closed last fall.

Two Highways Are Surveyed By Engineers

Surveys of the route for Henry Ave., from Walnut Lane to Ridge Ave., and for widening of Ridge Ave. from Cathedral Ave. to the Montgomery County Line, are being conducted this week by City Engineers, with a public hearing on the revisions scheduled at 2 Monday, May 24, at Room 1104, City Hall Annex.

This was made known today by Frederick T. Thorpe, Jr., chief engineer and surveyor, as the city continued its plans to begin work on the Henry Ave. extension and widening of Ridge Ave. to accommodate anticipated increases in truck and car traffic.

According to Henry D. Harrel, City Commissioner of Streets, the present confirmed width of Ridge Ave. is 120 feet, to be divided into two roadways, each 38 feet wide, with a 16-foot wide center divider and 14-foot sidewalks.

Present city planning calls for widening of the Ridge on the west side of Spring Lane, and on the east side from Spring Lane to the County Line. This, according to Harrel, refers to city plan widenings and not to actual takings of Ridge Ave. properties.

Revised plans for the work on Henry Ave. from Ridge Ave. to Walnut Lane have already received approval of State Highway officials and the City Planning Commission, Harrel added. Requests for construction money for Henry Ave. and the section of Ridge Ave. also have been made.

Officers Robert Hipp and William Spears, of the Whitmarsh Twp. police, check loot recently stolen from homes in the area. The bicycle was stolen from a Whitmarsh Twp. home. Raymond Organski, of Upper Dublin, and Joseph Newsome, Germantown, were held under bail by Magistrate Hofman.

Marbles Tournament Finals June 15

Barre, Hill-Boys and girls of Whitmarsh Twp. who have not reached their 15th birthday by June 15, will be eligible for the annual marbles tournament, according to Don Kowitz, recreational director.

School champions will be determined this week, and the finals are scheduled for May 14. The two winners will compete in Philadelphia city-playoffs, May 27.

Book Traces Early Days Of Autos

Chestnut Hill — "Careers on Wheels," a new book by William Sheppard, Millitia Hill Rd., Plymouth Meeting, traces the early days of the automobile which includes several well-known local families.

The three-generation business history of Philadelphia's Wolfington family as it progressed from carriage-making to custom automobile production and now to dealership for cars and buses also is told.

The book, describing the early days of the automobile, tells of the Chestnut Hill Van Scivers as follows: "Not only was the chauffeur likely to be the only member of the family who could drive, he had to be able to fix the frequent flats and tinkers constantly with the engine."

"When Wolfington customer J. B. Van Sciver decided to get his first car, he sent his coachman, Dennis Kieley, to the Pierce-Arrow plant in Buffalo for four months of instruction in driving, cleaning spark plugs, changing tires and making minor repairs. This did not delay Van Sciver's first auto trip; cars took about six months to be delivered after the order was placed."

Another area resident, according to the book, "E. T. Stotesbury placed a fine batch of orders as the company ever got for custom work. Mrs. Stotesbury received a limousine; his daughter and her new husband, Douglas MacArthur, were given a Victoria, just the kind of fair-weather car needed in the Philippines where it went, and stepson James H. R. Cromwell's wishes were fulfilled with a dashing convertible coupe."

Patient in Ambulance Dies After Accident At Busy Intersection

Harmonville — A 64-year-old woman of Richland, near Reading, injured Monday morning in the crash of the ambulance in which she was being transported to Philadelphia for treatment of a heart ailment, died less than 24 hours later in Montgomery Hospital, Norristown.

Mrs. Anna Parsons, the patient, suffered a fracture of the left leg when the Newmansville Fire Co. ambulance and a sedan collided at the intersection of Ridge and Butler Pikes, Harmonville. Mrs. Parsons was enroute from her home to the Graduate Hospital.

Driving the ambulance was Hayden M. Hippert, 38, of Newmansville. Driving the sedan was Samuel Williams, 19, of 6 North St., Ambler.

Both were placed under $1500 bond at a hearing Tuesday before Magistrate Louis Hoffman, to await the coroner's inquest.

Hippert suffered a lacerated lip and Paul Moyer, 42, of Newmansville, assistant driver of the ambulance, minor leg injury. Both were treated at Montgomery Hospital, where the injured woman was taken in the George Clay Fire Co. ambulance. Both vehicles were towed to Gilling's garage, Barren Hill.

Whitemarsh Twp. police said Hippert, headed east on Ridge Pike, ran through a red light, Williams, coming south on Butler, had the green light. He said he failed to hear the siren which Hippert said was blaring at the time.

Police said the ambulance trip was not raised emergency, as no physician or nurse accompanied the patient. Ambulances are permitted to go through a red light, when the trip is not an emergency, one, only if they do so with caution.

Officers William Spers and William Swan investigated, with Plymouth Twp. police assisting with traffic.

Known as "The Terrace" for many years, the tract has a frontage of 200 feet on Fayette St. and a depth of 300 feet. It was acquired recently by the bank for $75,000.

In all likelihood the handsome Victorian style mansion at Fifth and Fayette will be razed. The mansion was built about 1880 by Squire John Wood, first Burgess of Conshohocken.

Headquarters of the Conshohocken office of the bank will be established on the tract, with facilities for making deposits while parked in automobiles. In addition, ample parking is to be provided for every type business located in the new shopping center.

The present bank at Fayette and W. Hector St. probably will become a focal point for residents of the community, it was indicated, with the opening of the new, larger offices. However, future use of the building is indefinite.

Establishing the shopping center is expected to spur local business and to encourage homebuilders in neighboring communities to shop more frequently in Conshohocken, the bank executive said.

A showplace from its earliest days, "The Terrace" gained its name through the beautifully landscaped gardens that stretched almost a block on the borough's main street and half a block on Fourth and Fifth Aves.

Squire Wood was the son of James Wood, "father of Conshohocken." He was, at one time, a United States Congressman. A brother, David, occupied the premises many years after Squire Wood's death.

Earlier generations remember that the mecca of many Sunday afternoon strolls in the pre-motorized days was "Perotes," then usually known as "Protes." The gardens still bore many terraces, rare trees, pergolas, trellised effects and flower beds.

Annie Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wood, married William Perry and the couple in 1855 and Fayette most of their married life. They sold the property to Horace C. Jones.

Mrs. William Cramp Scheetz, of Spring Hill Rd., Lower Merion Twp., is the former Miss Katherine Jones, a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace C. Jones. Her husband is a direct descendant of Davers Hill Rd., Lower Merion Twp., where they lived in the spacious dwelling at various times. Perot remodeled it and Jones completed minor alterations.

At the time of his death on Aug. 25, 1914, Horace C. Jones was president and chairman of the board of directors of The First National Bank of Conshohocken.

Plymouth PTA Will Install Tuesday

D'Angelo will be guest of the unit at a dinner-session at Baum Gardens and will be eligible for state competition at Pittsburgh in August. Six students from each high school participated in the contest Saturday afternoon.

Mother's Day Phone Call Filed in March Still 24 Hours Late from Great Britain

By Elizabeth G. Collins

EVERY DAY IN THE YEAR might well be called Mother's Day. . . Capitalization of the letters on May's second Sunday sets the day apart for special homage. . . Way back in March thoughts of a Conshohocken WAVE stationed across the seas turned to the important day, impelled dark-haired, dark-eyed Sylvia Cardamone to file two months in advance for an overseas call to her mother on Mother's Day. . . Alerted to be ready to receive it sometime during Mother's Day, Mrs. Ralph Cardamone and other members of the family stayed close to the West Third Ave. homestead throughout the day, were just about to give up disappointedly at midnight when the telephone rang. . . "There she is now," they said. . . But instead of Sylvia's American contralto at the other end, a crisp British accent informed them that because of the terrific traffic in Mother's Day messages from Britain to America, the call could not be completed until the next day. . . Once again members of the family gathered for another phone vigil, this time rewarded with a talk with Sylvia at 6 P. M. . .

Just back from a year's tour of duty in Korea, Rev. Robert Kenney, Army Chaplain and former assistant rector at St. Gertrude's Church, West Conshohocken, is slated to leave in a week for his new Army base, Governor's Island, N. Y. . . A native of Mahanoy City, the chaplain-priest, a former high school athlete, organized and coached baseball and basketball teams during his 3 1/2 years at the West Side church. . .

TWO-COAST TRAINING . . . Training on two coasts has sufficiently broadened the musical knowledge of Lafayette Hill's Seaman Donald Kuhn that he is now an official bugler at the Naval base at Bainbridge, Md. . . Spending his first three years of high school at Fullerton, Calif., where the family lived before coming East a few years ago, he was a member of the high school band, directed his own orchestra. . . Entering Cheltenham High School for his final year, he was a member of the band before graduation in '52. . . On 21 now, he has been studying music since he was ten. . .

The highest academic title will soon be given Rev. Pavlidis, son of the Dr. I. M. Pavlidis of West Conshohocken and pastor of the fast-growing Methodist Church of Fairless Hills, Bucks County. . . Already successfully passing the exams for doctorate he has found time in his busy pastoral life for extensive research and writing in the last six months on his sociological thesis, necessary for the new rank. . . Thesis title: "The development and the study of various churches in Fairless Hills and Levittown" . . .

FLORIDA WEDDING BELLS . . . Nuptial chimes will sound on June 3 in the deep South for a former Northerner and his southern bride-to-be. . . The Northerner: Joseph Francis McDermott, son of the Francis McDermotts of St. Petersburg, Fla., formerly of Conshohocken. . . The bride-to-be: pretty blondish Patricia Ann Thomas, also of St. Petersburg, a native of Kentucky. . . Both are graduates of St. Petersburg High School and of St. Petersburg Junior College. . . The bridegroom-to-be also now at Camp Gordon, Ga. . . His mother is Conshohocken's former Helen Kinnegan, member of a family settling early in Conshohocken, prominent for many years in high school, community, and college athletics. . .

NOT ON THE SCHEDULE . . . They were just about to leave the wonders of Philadelphia's famed Franklin Institute, Saturday. . . boys and girls of Spring Mill public school's fifth grade were taking one last look at the giant locomotive on the ground floor during a historic-educational tour conducted by their teacher, Margaret Drennan. . . Suddenly someone in the group caught sight of a once-familiar face. . . Although it had been three years since Mrs. Charles Block, the former Minnie Rose, left Spring Mill school after being its principal for a considerable time, pupils quickly recognized her and joined in a happy reunion. . . Now a teacher in her current hometown of Beach Haven, N. J., Mrs. Block was heading a group of pupils from the resort school on a historic tour which had taken them first to Valley Forge, later to Philadelphia's historic and educational buildings. . .

NUPITAL NOTES . . . It was turnabout-is-fair-play at the McFadden-Kulick wedding Saturday. . . Usher was "Bob" Ehlinger, publicist for a metropolitan dairy firm. . . At "Bob's" wedding to a Chestnut Hill girl, just two weeks before, "Jim" McFadden, member of the Philadelphia Inquirer, re-wrote maiden and bridegroom in the second ceremony served in the same capacity for "Bob". . . A touch of home in the honeymoon of Pvt. Michael Maresca and Janet Baczowski, during the last two weeks in Florida. . . Arriving at Miami Airport May 9, they were met by the bridegroom's brother, Seaman Armand Maresca and his wife, Norristown's former Theresa Basile. . . Armand, who enlisted in the Navy more than three years ago, has been stationed at Key West, Fla. for more than a year. . . The brothers and their wives shared numerous tips during the newlyweds' stay. . .

LUCKY NUMBER . . . The 13th birthday anniversary of David Malcolm Johnson, son of the Daniel Johnsons of E. Ninth Ave., proved anything but unlucky. . . Honored at a family dinner he was presented with a complete flash camera outfit. . . From Boston came a telegraphic money order from his grandparents and aunt. . . From school came a report which was the highest in the seventh grade of the Philadelphia public schools, where he is a pupil. . . Much interested in television, David also received a letter last week that added further to his happiness. . . In answer to a request from him, Radio Corp. of America advised the best high school course to embrace for a future in TV. . .

Restored Pennsbury Manor Visited by 4th Grade Pupils

Whitemarsh Twp. — The fourth grade class from Barren Hill and Spring Mill Consolidated Schools chose Pennsbury Manor, the restored country estate of William Penn, located along the banks of the Delaware, for an annual pilgrimage last Friday.

The pupils saw how simply, yet graciously, William Penn had lived. Part of Fairless Steel mills were seen farther up the river.

After luncheon along the river at Washington crossing, they visited the Methodist Church to study the painting of Washington crossing the Delaware. The oil painting, which weighs 800 pounds, has been loaned to the Washington's Crossing Park for three years by the New York Art Museum.

Bowman's Hill, now a wild flower preserve and bird sanctuary, was the next stop in Washington Crossing Park. Washington used it as the "lookout of the Revolution." From there is an excellent view of the Delaware River as it winds between Pennsylvania and New Jersey and a view of the old Delaware and Lehigh Canal, once a busy thoroughfare for mule drawn barges which supplied Bristol factories with coal.

The group crossed the Delaware at New Hope then returned to Pennsylvania and homeward by the route once traveled by Washington and his men—Old York Rd.

Mount Joy: Ancestral Home Hometown Looks Better Than Paris in Spring, Ed McConnell Writes

Thinking of You:
One of the nicest tributes to any mother anywhere on Mother's Day went to Mrs. Robert Slater, Eddie Slater's mother, from Miss Averla
L. Kist, Rose Lane, Chestnut Hill.
In addition to a gift, Miss Kist enclosed a poem by Amos R. Wells that I'd like to let you see. . . .
"Mothers and Others
Others weary of the noise
Mothers play with girls and boys.
Others work with patient will,
Mothers labor later still.
Others love is more or less,
Mothers love with steadfastness.
Others pardon, hating yet,
Mothers pardon and forget.
Others keep the ancient score,
Mothers never shut the door.
Others grow incredulous,
Mothers still believe in us.
Others throw their faith away,
Mothers pray, and pray,
and pray."

Received a beautiful photo of the Arche de Triumphe, Paris, France, from Ed and Annie McConnell of Gates St., Roxborough. They are touring over there; lucky people.
Ed is a member of the Board of Managers of Memorial Hospital, Roxborough while his wife, Annie,
is a member of the Women's Board.
Ed's note . . . "Paris in the Spring is just wonderful . . . but Manayunk and Roxborough look even better. . . ."

"Busy as my brother, Jimmy Mc-Guigan, is these days . . . getting to the end of his college span at Indianapolis, Indiana . . . received a lovely note from him that you might like. . . .
"We've all be fine . . . weather fairly mild here this past winter.
We kept tabs on your weather thru our weather telecasts. . . .
"Your new . . . larger . . . weekly Recorder is supreme! We've been reading all your papers closely . . .
when time permits . . . especially the new Recorder.

"Incidentally, Norman Greene, Jr. sent me a card and a picture of your boy thru your notice in the paper about my birthday. I must write and thank him.
"We've also been in touch with Charles Smiths.
"You guys certainly have had wonderful response to the Slater fund and wonderful remembrances from notables as well. It was a heart-rending occurrence and you certainly should be praised for carrying on such grand work in his behalf. . . .
(Thank brother for them kind words. . . .)

One can tell how modern children are these days.
When Harold gave our youngsters their school lunch money this morning, not a word was mentioned about coins or bills.
But Lenore Marie, two years old,
still in her crib, stood up, held out her hand, and said, "Gimme dol-lah."

It used to be pennies, back in the days of Richard, David, Robert and Nancy McCuen . . . graduated to nickels in the young days of Sara Ann and Kathleen McCuen . . .
then dimes in Jed and Bebe's day.
Now, the wee ones calmly ask for "dollah."
Harold and I never even knew the youngest one could say that word . . . live and learn something new every day!

Possibly more so than anyone attending the Plymouth-Whitemarsh school concert May 7, with the exception of course, of his parents,
I enjoyed Russell Abbey's clarinet solo . . . variations of America.
I recall, back in 1930, when I was a sophomore at Conshohocken
High, Russell's daddy, Lester R.
Abbey, formerly of Conshohocken,
now of Plymouth Meeting, Villare, was in the orchestra at Conshohocken High. Believe he was a junior . . . or a senior . . . anyway, ahead of me. And of course, he played . . . what else . . . the clarinet!

Also reminiscing, I had a long poem to recite for an assembly program . . . had been teased about it by the upperclassmen. Les Abbey warned me . . . he would make me laugh during my long, serious recital.
Remembering that, I stepped out from behind the huge curtain on the high school stage, saw Les Abbey grinning up at me from the orchestra pit, without blank, forgot every word.
Not content to leave the stage, without having uttered a word of that poem (title now forgotten, of course) I went to my deserted home room (everyone was in the auditorium for the assembly program) got my coat and trudged home to
E. Ninth Ave.
Tears there were plenty. But I never breathed a word of it to my family. Fortunately, I had not boasted of having a long part in the program.
I've often wondered if Mr. Edward Oermann recalls that day . . .
and if Les Abbey remembers . . .
It's so good to be able to laugh about it now. . . .

With Love

sons and five daughters, writes an open letter each week to readers of

Extra Week for Boys To Win New York Trip

In order to co-operate with Scout leaders, the date of the outing has been changed so that it will not conflict with an annual jamboree to be held June 12, the date originally scheduled for the trip.

It is a break for boys who are interested, but have not yet contacted Frank O'Connor, circulation manager, at The Recorder, 100 W. Hector St., Conshohocken. The phone number is CO 6-4600. Now is the time to get in touch with him, in order to take full advantage of the extra week.

The extension of the date also will be helpful to those boys who are anxious to join their fellow newspaperboys in the day's activities, but still need points to qualify.

Charles "Chuck" Caikoski has obtained the most new subscribers of the boys qualified for the trip to New York on June 19. To date he has a total of 31.

Chuck is in the fifth grade at St. Mary's School. One of two children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Caikoski, 106 E. 13th Ave., Conshohocken, he is interested in many activities. He played basketball with a team from school in the C. Y. A. league and now he is trying for pitcher on the Whitemarsh Recreation Center team in the Little League. This boy swims regularly at the YMCA in Norristown, where he has been a member for three years.

Chuck's interests don't stop there.

If he isn't swimming or playing baseball, you can find him fishing or working in the garden with his tomato plants or slipping roses. A new activity that has caught his interest is music. Chuck, who recently started to play the trumpet, has progressed quite well.

Tom McLaughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward McLaughlin, of 214 Mill Creek Road, Plymouth Valley, also qualified this week for the sight-seeing tour of New York. Tom takes active part in sports. He played right field on the school baseball team and second base on the Plymouth Valley team. For the last two seasons he has played on a local basketball team and recently has become interested in archery. He competes against his father and boys in the neighborhood. So that Tom could practice regularly he built his own target and has become one of the best marksmen in his group. Tom is in the fifth grade at St. Helena's School and has two sisters and a brother.

Another addition to the exciting tour group is Bill Place, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Place, of 210 U St. Swedeland. He has four sisters. His main hobby is collecting and trading pictures of baseball players with the other neighborhood boys. Bill also plays baseball on the school team. He attends Swedland Elementary School where his favorite subject is arithmetic.

James Ferst, a seventh grade student at Conshohocken High School, also is scheduled to be on the bus for New York in June. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ferst, of 236 E. Hector St. and has a brother and two sisters. Jim is interested in sports and played football on the 100 pound team at school. He also plays baseball, likes to fish, and swims regularly at the YMCA in Norristown. He celebrated his 14th birthday anniversary May 3.

The four boys join 10 newspaperboys from The Herald, another Weekly Review publication, who also have earned this deluxe outing, on the modern Anch Interborough bus especially chartered for this trip to the wonder city of the world.

Credit also is to be given Mickey Miller, 653 Old Elm St.; James News, 16 Oak St.; John Lambert, 2011 Rebel Rd., Lafayette Hill and Milton Loyce, 2043 Spring Mill Rd., Andorra Acres. They need but a few more points to qualify for the all-expense-paid trip.

Planned to delight the youths of newspaperboy age.

Look, Look - Away Law Enforcement

What is right and what is wrong about gambling? Why is a raffle banned in several communities while there is no interference from the district attorney in neighboring municipalities?

Volunteer firemen have served prison sentences in Montgomery County as the result of prosecution by the district attorney's office. But gambling goes on, here, there and everywhere.

Spring Mill Fire Co. was prevented from raffling off an automobile last year. But several automobiles since have been raffled off in nearby communities. Many of these tickets were sold to citizens who would have bought chances to help the firemen.

In recent years a leader in an historic community was spokesman for a group opposed to gambling at annual fairs conducted by volunteer fire companies. An appliance soon is to be given away at a church function to a "lucky" person in that community.

The appliance is worth several hundred dollars. An automobile represents an investment of $1,600 or more. But a raffle is a raffle, and where consideration is involved, it is illegal, supposedly.

Is the district attorney looking the other way? It is an undisputed fact that while Montgomery County's District Attorney, an ambitious, experienced farmer, seriously has handicapped the successful maintenance of fire apparatus and headquarters, chance books have not disappeared from store counters throughout the area. Nor has the district attorney of Philadelphia County, for example, taken a step toward abolishing automobile lotteries throughout the city. These latter lotteries continue to take place just over the county line. Proceeds derived from the sale of chances have become a tremendous factor in helping hospitals and other institutions meet expenses.

When a house is in flames, or a patient must be admitted to a hospital, who is going to question where the money came from to pay for fire-fighting equipment or to meet the salary of the nurse on duty? Shall a limited number of citizens be penalized by a public official while fellow citizens of the Commonwealth have the advantages of obtaining funds for health and welfare through lotteries openly conducted?

Why not close down all lotteries or permit them everywhere? Why permit an appliance to be awarded the holder of a lucky "purchased" number, but ban giving away an automobile the same way?

Let Safety Be Your Backseat Driver

This is the month vacationists begin jamming the open road. Sales of automobiles and tires pick up. Travel agencies are swamped for details of attractions offered by seaside and mountain resorts, national parks and wonders like Niagara Falls.

It is unfortunate that vacations frequently are marred by tragedies. Probably more regrettable, as the season approaches, is the iron-clad attitude that it can't happen to us. We shall go away over Memorial Day, for instance. It will be one of those long weekends - Thursday night until Tuesday morning. Time to go far, see a lot, have fun. That's fine. But the National Safety Council has figures now as to the number of us who will be in the morgue that weekend, and the thousands, injured badly, who will be in hospitals.

To what extent are we concerned about our part in preventing accidents? Do we give safety a thought? Shall we wait until the clergyman emphasizes it at the funeral or until we are able to sit up and read why we are in the hospital?

Perhaps we might help the cause by personally designating May, June, July and August as safety months. If we resolve to do our utmost in avoiding mishaps, especially on the highway, it is likely that there will be a reduction in the death toll during Spring and Summer.

The life you save may be your own, but you may wish you had not saved it if the other fellow's dead!

Town Pride, Taxes And Progress

Conshohocken Town Council is in a position to enact a $5 per capita tax for general purposes at will.

With its resolution of intention a matter of record, the councilmen finally are moving in the right direction. Well are they aware that insufficient revenue for years has handicapped seriously management of borough affairs, maintenance of streets and borough property.

Residents of Conshohocken are justly proud of their town and they prefer that costly neglect of property and highways be avoided. Also, they see no reason they cannot afford normal conveniences their neighbors enjoy in adjoining townships. Trash collection is one of the accommodations presently available in a township of the second class status, while this borough, presumably occupying an enviable position, has no facilities for collecting trash.

It is to be hoped that the trend in Town Council is away from the peculiar dilemma of want in the midst of plenty, an unfortunate policy that has plagued the borough too long. Enactment of the per capita tax in itself will be inadequate to accomplish much, but it is a good sign that perhaps the borough can keep abreast of progress achieved in the thriving area surrounding Conshohocken.

The Fountain

The Honored Dead Live

A layman's views
by Harold McCuen

The custom is that most cemeteries are epic and span for inspection on Memorial Day.

Grass is freshly cut, monuments are cleaned and flowers, all about, are placed on graves.

The list grows larger of the honored dead we remember. The added graves are not necessarily those of veterans of World War I and II, but victims of combat training and duty elsewhere, who have taken their places alongside the men of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Today on far-flung battlefields more men will fall, mortally wounded, and the fighting will go on tomorrow and tomorrow.

The prospect would be disappointing and dismal indeed if there was not hope of reunion with the heroes who have paid the supreme sacrifice. There is One who knows the identity of the Unknown Soldier, it is He who resurrected from the grave the Soldier of Peace and Eternal Light, before whom every knee shall bow, and every tongue confess.

The honored dead live. They are not where they fell, nor where their bodies were interred.

And if we want to do anything in behalf of servicemen everywhere, let us beseech God the Father that first they acquire a knowledge of the Scriptures and accept Christ as Saviour.

Charles Frost, 203 W. 11th Ave., Conshohocken, moves so rapidly with the heating device for glass, that the Recorder photographer is hardly able to snap picture. Frost is tooling glass ball bottom floats for some of the precision glass instruments, which have been made at Freas Glass Works for nearly 50 years. This is only one of many precision operations in the manufacture of a variety of glass products by Freas personnel.

Founder, Wife Can Be Proud Of Freas Glass Success

(First in a Series)
By Walter A. Wilson, Jr.

One of Conshohocken's more than 40 industries — The Francis Freas Glass Works, Inc., manufacturers of scientific glass products — once the largest producer in its field in the United States, today rates high among competitive glass makers with its varied types of products.

The story of the founding of this widely known company, which grew from a small beginning in 1905, is one of determination and pride in making the finest quality merchandise. The determination was that of retired owner, Francis L. Freas, and his wife, Nellie, who last July celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

Those early days were not ones of glamor, but of toil and sweat, as Freas Glass started operations at Carbondale, Pa., in the cellar of the home where the couple first resided. Long hours, careful study of many new problems that arose for an infant business and the continual need to meet the demands of the buyers, and to better the products of competitors, were stepping stones for the founder and his wife as they labored to firmly establish the company.

Freas started to work for the J. Ellwood Lee Co., then located at Eighth Ave. and Harry St., Conshohocken, on Decoration Day 1896, in the paper box department, under the foremanship of James Crockwell. A year later, at the suggestion of J. Carl DeLaCour, factory superintendent, Freas was advanced to the surgical glass department, where George S. Stratton was foreman.

Freas worked in this department until 1903, when the coal strike reduced operations to a three-day work week. At this time he left to work with the General Electric Co., at Pittsfield, Mass., remaining there one year until he moved to Carbondale, Pa., to secure a position with the Carbondale Instrument Co.

From this point, the founder of the Conshohocken glass industry ventured into business for himself to put into use the knowledge he had learned in the various fields he had been employed in—surgical glassware, electrical glassware and laboratory glassware. With this general knowledge a start was made to secure orders and this was a success from the very beginning. Trial orders were given and increased as the quality of the products became known.

The early operation was unique in that gas meters of those days used quarters and two or three quarters produced sufficient gas to run 14 to 16 hours for two workers.

The need for additional personnel prompted Freas to return to Conshohocken in 1907, and open a plant at the location it now occupies on East Ninth Ave.

By 1910 the Freas organization was starting to produce hydrometers for battery testing, but it was three years before the demand for automotive battery testing hydrometers actually was realized by the company. This work took on added stature in 1914, when nearly 8,000 units were produced daily, or nearly 2,000,000 annually for major battery producers in the United States. By 1918 the total had grown to 22,000 daily, and 160 persons were employed to maintain production of Government orders.

To obtain the massive orders for World War I work, it was necessary for the Freas organization to be incorporated, and this was accomplished in 1917. In the following paragraphs are some of the pertinent facts from an earlier issue of The Recorder.

For almost 12 years the business was unincorporated, but being back into the files of The Recorder of Feb. 16, 1917, these interesting excerpts tell of the growth of Freas Glass:

"Francis L. Freas, maker of hydrometers and other scientific instruments of glass . . . has formed a company and applied for a State Charter. The new company is known as the Francis L. Freas Glass Works Inc. . . . The company is capitalized at $20,000.

"This industry is one of the town's busiest and has grown far beyond the expectations of its founder. A few years ago Mr. Freas engaged in the manufacture of thermometers. He did all of the mechanical work and conducted the business.

His goods were soon recognized as standard and dependable and the business has gradually increased until more help was needed. Each year the business has grown. New buildings were erected and today about 60 persons are employed making various scientific instruments of glass.

Mrs. Ida Lukens, who has been employed with the Freas Glass Works for 30 years, assembles an angle type hot water boiler thermometer. All of the parts, including the metal cases, are built in the Freas plant.

"One of the specialties of the factory is the hydrometer for testing batteries in small electric plants for farm and home use. This has grown into a vast business and hundreds of thousands of the instruments are used all over the country. Another specialty is the thermometer for use in automotive radiators. This instrument is also in great demand."

Originally incorporated with $20,000 capital, the industry grew so rapidly that by May 1, 1918, it was increased to $50,000, to aid in the expanding program, and to provide funds to keep ahead of the growing numbers of orders from companies throughout the country.

In succeeding articles, some of the types of glass instruments, with special uses, will be described, and more of the story of the years from 1920-40 along with the more re-

Flock of Sheep Increasing at Erdenheim Farms

Above: Sheep of the Widener flock unwittingly form scene for artist's brush as they come through pasture gate, the lambs nestled close beside them, and head for home.

At right: Two members of the "younger set" get acquainted in sheep pen at Erdenheim Farms. Stanley Gates, assistant superintendent, holds a lamb just one day old. Visitor wonders, "Is this toy alive?"

Below: When day is done, dutiful flock wends its way into the barn. Lambs walking close by their mothers' sides are new arrivals this Spring.

Hatboro game went awry as Springfield catcher threw ball into center field. Hatboro runner on second scored on miscue and runner at first slid into third before Steve Getz, Spartan third sacker could make tag. Hatboro won, 4-3.

Twin Lambs Uncommon; A Day-Old, They Gambol To Pasture in Whitemarsh

Nearest the Sheep Ever Get to 'Mary' (Who Had a Little Lamb) Is Fence Where Strangers Watch in Awe

by Julie O'Keefe Park of the Weekly Review staff
"Counting sheep" is a business at Erdenheim Farms, Stenton Ave. and Flourtown Rd., Whitemarsh Twp.

For the sheep farm on George D. Widener's 500 rolling green acres of the Whitemarsh Valley is now enjoying lambing season, most exciting time of the farm year for both the men who run the place and the visitors who drive up Mill Rd. toward evening and pause to watch the gentle flock meander home.

Widener, a prominent sportsman, is holder of the largest acreage in the township, and one of its foremost citizens.

Along the post-and-rail fence enclosing the verdant pasture, enraptured youngsters and older folks line up in the blossom-scented Spring dusk to view a pastoral scene unequalled for many miles around.

The Widener sheep farm is indeed unique in this particular part of the country. There are small flocks here and there, but few breeding farms of the stature of this one. Moreover, the sheep are all fabled Cheviots, "the sheep that came out of the sea." Through their pasture flows Wissahickon creek on its way to the Schuylkill.

The myth that hangs over these docile beasts is that they were being carried as food aboard the vessels of the Spanish Armada and when that ill-fated fleet was sunk off the British Isles, many of the animals swam to shore and climbed to new green pastures in the Cheviot Hills.

The people of the region called them "the sheep that comes out of the sea" and soon learned to cherish them for the good living they made off their precious wool.

There's still a good living to be had from the curly, thick coats of the Cheviots, and that's why "counting sheep" is big business.

Erdenheim Farms is under the management of Edward A. Stanford, a veteran sheep raiser, who has been in charge of the Widener farm more than 40 years. His right-hand man is Stanley Gates, assistant superintendent, who is a native of Maine and holds a degree in animal husbandry. Gates has been at Erdenheim Farms since 1946, with two leaves of absence for Army duty.

With the exception of some part-time help during lambing season, Stanford and Gates take full care of the entire flock of 125 to 150 head. That does not mean only putting them out to pasture and being content to "leave them alone and they'll come home, wagging their tails behind them."

It entails looking after their living quarters outdoors and indoors—the fields must be protected as far as possible against marauding dogs and the shelters must be kept warm, safe, and clean. It means maintaining an adequate diet—if weather prevents their getting sufficient food outdoors, they must be fed hay and silage (and in lambing season, a ration of grain). It also means caring for ailing animals, tending to those that may have been bitten by invading dogs, supervising the breeding, and caring for the newborn lambs.

When a lamb dies, the ewe must be kept secluded and given special attention. When a ewe can not or will not feed her offspring, the furry babies are fed from nursing bottles.

Not the least of these modern shepherds' tasks is the shearing. This is the time of the year for that gargantuan job, and even now the Widener barns are piled almost to the rafters with mountains of the rich wool. The fleece is a dingy grey on the outer surface, grim reminder of the sheep's ability to rough it in all kinds of terrain and weather. Underneath, however, the wool is, as the nursery rhyme says, "white as snow."

Each animal, incidentally, gives his quota of "three bags full," averaging from seven to 14 pounds' yield at every annual shearing. There is plenty of desk work to be done at the sheep farm, too, as complete files are kept on the sheep's registration, lineage, progeny, and the quality and amount of fleece.

Most appealing part of the whole business, of course, is the arrival of the little lambs in Spring. Even the veteran managers of the farm are charmed by the tiny, stiff-legged, frisky infants. During the past couple of weeks, there's been scarcely a day without a new arrival, often twins.

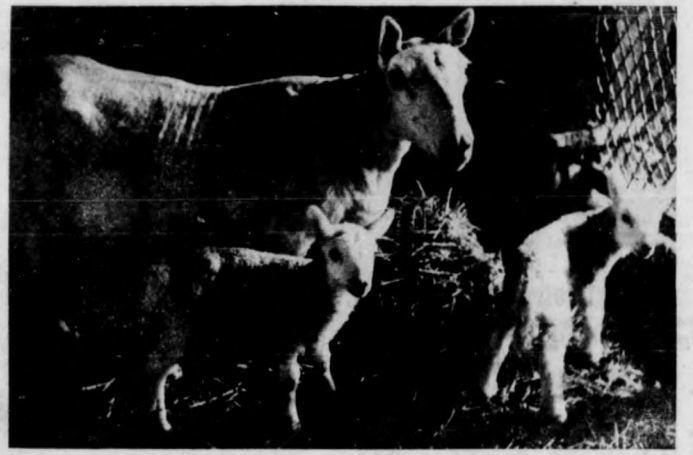

The babies are kept in pens with their mothers under a special light "until they dry off," Gates said. Then, if the weather is fair, they go out to pasture with the flock the very next day after birth. A flock numbers 100 ewes usually will produce about 140 lambs, are kept to replace the aging ewes, twins being not uncommon. Some and others are sold for brood stock. When the sheep have passed the age for producing young, they go to slaughter.

Erdenheim Farms is a business of Delta Sigma Epsilon sorority and vice president of the freshman class.

Pastor Returned
Conshohocken—Rev. James H. Brasher, Sixth Ave. and Forrest St., was returned for the sixth year as pastor of Conshohocken Methodist Church, by the Philadelphia Conference of the Methodist Church, at an annual session last week in Philadelphia.

Stanley Gates, assistant superintendent of George D. Widener's Erdenheim Farms, holds day-old lamb, one of many born this month.

Twins! This ewe looks mighty pleased with herself as she adds two more babies to the growing family at Erdenheim Farms.

Father, Daughter Hurt in Collision

Conshohocken — A father and the young daughter he was driving to school were injured in a crash of three vehicles at 8:25 A. M. Tuesday at the intersection of Fayette St. and Sixth Ave. One of the cars was driven by a public school teacher.

Driving the other vehicles were Mahlon D. Alderfer, Franconia, driving a truck on a market route he operates through this area, and Mrs. Bessie D. Nace of Ridge Pike, Whitemarsh Twp., an instructor of the second grade of the public school here.

According to Officer Samuel Cardamone, Mrs. Nace going south on Fayette St., enroute to school, was stopped for a traffic light. Back of her was Burt, also hailed for the signal Alderfer, also headed south on Fayette St. was unable to stop his truck in time, and crashed into the rear of a truck, owned by the Forrest Garage, Forrest St. near Second, and driven by Burt. The impact sent the Burt truck into the rear of the Nace car, smashing the windshield in Burt's truck on both sides as father and daughter were hurled against it.

Bears Win Twice, Trounce PSD, 16-3, Ridley Twp., 12-0

Showing again their amazing ability to hit almost at will, the Golden Bears of Conshohocken High registered two more victories in their last week as they walked off P. S. D. 16-3 and Ridley Township 12-0. The Bruins binged out 18 hits in each game, highest number of the season.

Today the Bruins travel to Prospect Park to meet the Delaware Countians in a Section III duel. On Monday they will be entertained by Ridley Park on the Delco diamond and next Thursday they host a powerful Swarthmore nine on the Center Stadium field to close the season. All games begin at 3:30.

The locals are now enjoying their most successful season in recent years and have one of the best records in the area. Their season's total now stands at 13-1 with an 8-1 Section III count which puts them in first place. Tuesday's contest gave the Bruins their 10th straight win.

Walt Thomas was on the mound for Conshohocken Thursday and again successfully twirled the fast ball pitching which has kept him in the win column all season. Walt's conquest over P. S. D. added another victory to his growing string of six with no defeats. The lanky southpaw hit seven hits but fanned eight and issued only two free passes.

The Irontown Boys, playing the role of hosts, tallied at least one run in every inning. Taking advantage of three walks and a duplicate number of singles they marked up four counters to their credit in the first stanza while a double by Bob Jones and a fielder's choice led to another marker in the second.

Singles by Walt Swing, Vic Smith, Al Scott, and Bob Jones paid off in the third as the locals pushed three runs across the plate. In the fourth and fifth innings it was again a deluge of hits which drove in a total of three runs, but it wasn't until the final stanza that the Bruins struck the merry-go-round again.

Combining five singles and a driving smash by Irv Dean to center field for a double, the Bears added five insurance runs to their total before the hard-working P. S. D. nine could stop them.

Lefty Lyle Graham, clever southpaw hurler, received the mound assignment on Tuesday as the Bruins moved back into league competition in a battle against Ridley Township on the Delco field. Lyle turned in a brilliant exhibition of trick hurling as he mixed a wide breaking curve and a quick fast ball to keep his opponents guessing.

The contest ended at 12-0 and gave Graham his fourth shutout of the campaign with a 7-1 record. He issued four charity tickets to first but easily made up as he registered eleven strikeouts and allowed only four hits.

The Bears tallied in all stanzas except the first when the locals' uprising was quelled by a determined Ridley squad. In the second stanza, however, Walt Swing with a double crossed the plate on Irv Dean's single. A tremendous drive by Vic Smith for an in-the-park home run accounted for two runs and Conshy led 3-0.

Extra-base hits were numerous as the Bears continued to shellack the Green-and-White Reese Whitley, whose power bat has been missing until recent games, hit for a home run in the third inning. Art Andrey, with two doubles, was having his best day of the season as he led local batting with five hits for five times at bat. Al Scott also knocked out a two-bagger while Tony D'Annunzio tagged an inside pitcher for a triple.

Boys 16, 17 and 18 before Aug. 1, who wish to play in the senior division, should organize teams of 13 to 18 players now, Kooniz said, and register as a group at the Township building. No more than six boys who played on the high school team will be permitted on each team.

Kin Thrilled As Eddie Slater Walks Again

Eddie Glad, Too, But Turns Talk To Tractor Chore

Eddie Slater's family saw him walk again during the weekend, and were pleased.

The 17-year-old 11A student of Roxborough High School who was robbed of both legs in a highway accident Christmas Eve walked into the quaint farmhouse in Upper Roxborough Friday afternoon on new artificial limbs.

"I was anxious to show mother how well I can move about," he said. And, changing swiftly to his next favorite subject, he exclaimed he is going to drive the tractor this week in Miquon, where a field is to be plowed.

"The new legs won't be ready for a while yet," he explained. It seems that castings and other minor adjustments are required before the staff at the rehabilitation clinic at the University of Pennsylvania is satisfied of a perfect fit.

"I can't wait," he insisted. "I am going to plow with the tractor."

Although more than $20,000 is on deposit for Eddie at the office of Roxborough-Manayunk Federal Savings and Loan Association as the result of a drive sponsored by this newspaper, the boy who loves farming and helping others has not asked for a cent. The money is to be set up as a trust administered by a committee representing the Edward Slater Fund.

"Just haven't needed anything yet," he grinned. "But I guess there will be bills soon that will have to be paid."

His wish to walk at home "so mother can see" was granted by physicians at the clinic. Aided by two canes, he stepped over the threshold of the Slater homestead, while members of the family and Edward Roth, of 666 Summit Ave., Roxborough, looked on. Roth, 25, was with Eddie the night of the accident on Ridge Pike near Manor Rd., Springfield Twp.

The youth has four brothers and four sisters.

"Eddie is so eager to walk on his new limbs, he practiced all weekend around the house. He was amazed himself when he was able to get up and down two steps in the kitchen leading to our dining room," his mother, Mrs. Robert Slater, revealed.

Eddie's keen sense of humor still prevails, his mother related. He glanced at the black shoes fitted on the new limbs and remarked, "got to paint those shoes brown... only things I don't like."

Eddie had to leave the limbs at the center Monday. "Casings and other minor adjustments have to be completed before the staff will finish the limbs to perfection."

It will require indefinite treatment and balancing programs before Eddie will be able to wear the limbs permanently. Physicians said they are delighted at the remarkable progress he has made.

The fact that Eddie is now two inches taller, the adjustment made according to his probable growth, physicians said, seems to please Eddie, too. Eddie was 5 feet, 10 inches at the time of the accident.

Roxborough-Manayunk Lions Club recently gave $100 to the Edward Slater Fund, which now has a total of $22,375.95 on deposit at the office of Roxborough-Manayunk Federal Savings and Loan Association.

William M. Propper, president of the club, contributed $10 and Propper Bros., Manayunk, $50. Wood Manufacturing Co., headed by Joseph W. Wood, gave $25.

The Springfield Youth Canteen, of Springfield Twp. High School, Erdenheim, added $139.69 to help in the rehabilitation of the 11A student of Roxborough High School who is determined to be a farmer although he lost both legs in a highway accident Dec. 24.

The third largest contribution to the fund, sponsored by Weekly Review newspapers, represented the efforts of the Walnut Lane Golf Association. A tournament earned $736.25, which was turned over May 2 to Mrs. F. A. Harold Sanders, 5512 Ridge Ave., Roxborough, treasurer of the fund.

Other contributors: Lucille H. Park, Mrs. James S. Forrester, Mrs. R. L. Perot, Mina B. Reichelt, Mrs. A. E. By, Carl C. Weaver, Jr., Mrs. Wayne Moyer, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Yardley, Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Egner.

Public Hearing June 7 on Big Shopping Center

Erdenheim — A public hearing on a petition for a change of zoning from "A" residential to Business "Z" to permit construction of a proposed $6,000,000 shopping center in Flourtown will be held Monday night, June 7.

Springfield Twp. board of commissioners set the date for the hearing at a meeting last Wednesday night after a request by Samuel H. High, Jr., solicitor for Tulp Realty Co.

The tract is located in Flourtown with a frontage of 891 feet along Bethlehem Pike. Part of the tract is in Whitmarsh Twp.

Arrangements are being made to have Whitmarsh Twp. officials sit in on the meeting to be held at the township building, 402 Bethlehem Pike, Erdenheim. Whitmarsh officials suggested a joint hearing several weeks ago.

Approval was granted for a subdivision of a tract of land owned by Jay Cooke along Stenton Ave., which will be divided into three parcels. Approval also was given the Harry Schnell Estate to divide a plot of ground on Stenton Ave., northwest of Whitmarsh Ave. into a number of lots. A sub-division plan submitted by A. B. Marter Estate, on E. Mill Rd., also was granted.

The board again imposed a real estate transfer tax of one per cent for general revenue purposes on all sales involving transfer of title on real property in the township.

Mrs. Marie E. Maust, township treasurer, was granted allowance on liens filed on the 1953 real estate duplicate amounting to $3,361.40. It was announced that 98 1/2 per cent of the 1953 duplicate had been collected by the treasurer.

Leusard Mower, director of sewer construction, informed the board that residents on a number of streets in Orland will be permitted to connect to the sewer starting Monday. The streets are: Church Rd., Haws Lane, Coursey Rd., Filbert Rd., Scott Rd., Ramsey Rd., Allens Rd., Meadow Lane, Briar Rd. and Neissen Rd. Mower stated that sewer construction had been completed on these streets and the system tested.

Members passed an ordinance establishing 900 square feet as the minimum requirements for a single family dwelling. The ordinance is an amendment to the building code.
