POLICE BELIEVE WOMAN KNOWS MANSO SLYER

HUSBAND DISAPPEARS

Lansdale Man Found to Have Died of Bullet Wound.—Body Exhumed

A police theory that "Big Frank" was the slayer of Lansdale, was murdered and that he did not die a natural death, was confirmed yesterday when Dr. John C. Simpson, of Norristown, performed an autopsy on the body and removed a bullet from the chest. The body had been exhumed from St. Stanislaus cemetery. County Detective Stevenson says the course of the bullet indicates that Manso had his right arm raised to ward off an attack when he was shot.

As soon as the murder theory was confirmed, Chief of Police Woffindin, swore out a warrant for Joseph Sgro, 28, who disappeared from his home on Thursday, the same day that Manso was shot.

Sgro is said to have had a quarrel with the shooting and police say he threatened to get Manso.

Manso collapsed on the sidewalk near his home early last Thursday morning and died within a few minutes.

Dr. L. Cope, of Hatfield, issued a certificate of death to the coroner. This was done by the coroner, Elmer S. Shelly, an undertaker of Lansdale, and the body was buried on Saturday.

On Monday the police quizzed Shelly, who admitted that he was a witness to the shooting, but said he thought it due to a burglar. He made no report of this to Coroner Huff, the official states.

Manso's clothes, containing holes and blood on the right shoulder, were seized and the body exhumed.

Sgro's wife, Mary, 35; her brother, Oswald Colquhoun, 19, of Brooklyn and Francesco Morosco, 41, a boarder, have been arrested and are held without bail in the Manso case.

The conference will open Tuesday evening with a devotional service and the business sessions will begin Wednesday morning.

Secures Verdict For $89.75 for Auto Accident

Verdict Against M. F. Moore, of Accident in 1925

Allegations to the effect an automobile driven by P. A. Mitchell, of Philadelphia, was struck by an automobile of Michael F. Moore, of this borough, at Collegeville, and the Mitchell car was badly damaged, were denied by Mr. Moore as a defendant in a suit before Judge Knight. The defendant, Moore, there was a mix-up in what car struck the Mitchell machine, and says it was the third car which was the chief witness for the plaintiff for $89.75.

It was 3 p. m. of the morning of July 4, 1925, the accident happened. Since then Mr. Mitchell has died. The injuries sustained in the crash were of a serious nature, death, however. The suit is brought by his widow.

The contention of the plaintiff was Mitchell with a party of friends were on their way from Philadelphia to a camp along the Delaware river when they saw two cars approaching, coming up the hill. It was claimed the Moore car attempted to pass one ahead, and took such a wide turn that the Mitchell car was struck a glancing blow. Then the other car which the Moore car was said to have passed struck the Mitchell car.

The defense claims, however, the Moore car was the first, one, and not the one which passed the other car and ran into the Mitchell machine. In denying this the defense claims that the impact of the collision Moore declared after stopping about 20 feet away from where the crash occurred, some one let the air out of two tires during an argument which was in progress.

It was disclosed that the plaintiff died recently and that shortly after the trial resumed the defense was fatally stricken.

Yesterday, with the case half completed, a sister of a juror, Bernard J. Nills, of Cheltenham, fell dead.

Commenting on the unusual series of fatalities, the Court excused the juror and the case was completed with eleven in the box.

Mr. Kowalkowski owns forty-five lots of land abutting on Eleventh avenue between Harry and Wells streets. He is anxious to improve the land as he has already gone to much expense in filling the lots and started on these houses and employment given to a number of men as soon as the avenue is made passable, contractor Ludwik Kowalkowski told a representative of the RECORDER, this morning.

Mr. Kowalkowski's plan is to build a building on Eleventh avenue between Harry and Wells streets. He is anxious to improve the land as he has already gone to much expense in filling the lots and started on these houses and employment given to a number of men as soon as the avenue is made passable, contractor Ludwik Kowalkowski told a representative of the RECORDER, this morning.

Mr. Kowalkowski also stated that he will build single houses for persons desiring to build according to their own plans and that he will divide his land for locations for such houses.

Mr. Kowalkowski believes there is a demand for houses in the new neighborhood and he plans to sell the new homes at $7500. Some of the houses will be completed about July 1 and the remainder later in the summer.

POLICE RIDDING TOWN OF STRAY DOGS; SLAY EIGHT

Day Officer Has Busy Time Carrying Out Burgess' Mandate

PEOPLE APPROVE

Bosco Takes Them Dead or Alive.—Dog Which Bit Four-Hug Rabbits

Mike "The Exterminator" is the cognomen earned by Michael Bosco, the newest member of the police force, by his activities in carrying out the orders of the Burgess to rid the town of stray and unlicensed dogs. The Burgess declared an open season for dogs beginning last Wednesday and continuing until all the public alleys, lanes and highways are cleared of stray and unlicensed dogs.

Orders were given to the chief of police on Tuesday to enforce the "dog laws" and on that day the Burgess issued a proclamation claiming that all unlicensed dogs found in the public highways would be shot on sight. At the same time owners of licensed dogs were notified to keep their animals off the streets unless under the control of a competent person.

A dog run out provided by the police and a requisition was made upon the borough manager for an supply of shells. When Bosco came on duty Wednesday morning, every dog was ready for the hunting campaign. He started out early in the morning and by noon had bagged four dogs, all of which were killed and buried. Calling that a day's work, "The Exterminator" set out to regular police duty and yesterday resumed the hunting campaign. He quickly bagged two dogs and to prove that he could take them dead or alive, walked into the police station, riding the back of the stray dog, and in conference, with a live dog. The dog was later shot.

Bosco opened the campaign against the dogs, he being the day officer. The campaign will continue until the day until the streets are free from stray dogs, which have been a nuisance and a menace in the residential sections of the town. Officer Johnson will be on duty next week and strive to equal or better Bosco's record.

Bosco was asked if he was meeting with much opposition from the people by killing the dogs. He said there are only two kinds of people: one who likes dogs and the other kind don't like. Nearly all the persons who have talked with him about the dogs say they are glad the Burgess and police are ridding the town of the stray dogs and the work should be kept up until all are removed.

After shooting a dog in front of the borough hall this afternoon, Officer Bosco said it was learned the time being and let his second of two days' shooting stand for the day officer next week to equal or better.

Installed Water System James March, of Mechanicsville, has about completed an electric pumping system for furnishing water at his home at Mechanicsville. The source of the supply is well on his property. Several residents of the Gulf Mills district have had electric systems installed for supplying water in their dwellings, these dwellers being located in districts where a supply from either the West Conshohocken or Springfield systems is not available. Many of those in the eastern part of Mechanicsville have access to the West Conshohocken water system, while all of the other villages forming the supply for the population, still depend on wells and cisterns for their supply. The civic association in Upper Merion, the Gulf Mills-Mechanicsville Community Center, ever since it was organized, has been endeavoring to secure a better water service for the district. Even though the main of the Springfield Water Company extends along the Ballingomero road, some of the dwellings there are still resorting to the antiquated, but often good source, wells and cisterns. On the completion of the installation of the new electric water system in his dwelling, James March will install a hot water heating system.

The commissioners told them to call on the constable or State police. If police for the township were engaged the taxes would be raised from 7 1/2 mills to 13 mills. At the present time our county tax is one of the lowest, likewise our township taxes are very low, of which fifty per cent is paid by the industries in the township. The bus question was also taken up, both for and against the busses. Invitation was given by Miss Gertrude Ely to attend the meeting of Herks, Bucks, Chester, Delaware and Montgomery county League of Women Voters to be held at Bryn Mawr college, April 10th, when political institute, State rights and Federal commissions will be discussed at a dinner in the evening when the men are invited. The Comparison Interesting Lodge Slump in General But Grange an Exception

While nearly all fraternal societies are reporting a slump in attendance at their meetings during the past few years, the Grange seems to be a noteworthy exception in finding that during the same period its attendance at meetings has run higher than at any previous point in its 60 years history. The slump mentioned is generally ascribed to the automobile, but on the other hand the motor car increases Grange attendance inasmuch as the latter organization opens its doors to all members of a family, who thereby get their recreation attending Grange meetings, oftentimes many miles from home.

Borough Aids Firemen.

Town council has agreed to go along with the firemen and establish the first unit of an electric fire alarm system. Council has agreed to make an appropriation this year not to exceed $2000 to erect two wire circuits and to install several alarm boxes to protect the business and industrial sections. This progressive move is due to the firemen. The Washington Company has spent $5000 in installing the most important unit of the alarm system, the receiving apparatus and the No. 2 Company agrees to install a receiving apparatus at a cost of about $1000 to be operated from the apparatus in the Washington house. The borough is asked to erect the wire lines at a cost of approximately $2000. The finance and public safety committees of town council recommended the expenditure and council approved. There was some debate before the item was authorized to be placed in the budget.

It was contended that the cost for maintenance would be excessive. However, this was only conjecture and as no definite information was presented to substantiate the claim, council was guided by the information submitted to the committees by the firemen, who have gone into the subject thoroughly. Another objection was: there are unopened and unfinished streets in the borough and these should be built and maintained in order to permit and encourage development.

Council recognizes that the borough is not fully developed and will not be for a number of years. They wisely sustained the firemen, who are standing by far the greater part of the expense in order to give the people the best of protection.

It is the first duty of council to protect existing property instead of halting protective improvements to make improvements for future development. The destruction of an industry would be a severe blow to many families and to the borough and the preservation of an industry means more than to open a street with just prospects for development. The destruction of a large industry would delay town development for a long period so council has acted wisely in following the lead of the firemen in preparing to protect what we have instead of spending money for the uncertainties of the future.

Unemployment.

Unemployment is recognized as an economic waste and the question is being studied from different angles than it has been in the past. It is recognized as a necessity that every person willing to work should have employment. Economists, industrialists and publicists are seeking a solution for the unemployment problem by providing work for all workers during a slack period in industry. The Litz Express suggests the Government provide work during slack periods. Giving employment at wages somewhat lower than those prevailing in industry. This thought is becoming widespread and were public opinion sufficiently aroused, congress, State legislators and county commissioners would be induced to adopt a plan to greatly aid in eliminating unemployment.

With the great resources of this country and the progress that has been made, there should be no poverty. Every person willing to work should be provided with employment and every child should be assured of proper food and clothing. Many of the States have adopted compulsory education laws but few provisions have been made to provide food and clothing for the children, other than through charitable organizations.

A local industrialist, interested in public welfare, believes a plan could be adopted which would work satisfactorily and while aiding in eliminating unemployment would at the same time stimulate business. He suggests that the National, State and County governments withhold all public work until there is a slackening in industry when the workers would be employed on the public works at a wage of twenty-five per cent. lower than is paid for similar work in private industry. This would remove government competition against private business, would guarantee the workers a regular income on which they could support their families, preserve their savings and would provide public works at a minimum cost thus preventing increased taxes. It would also maintain the buying power of the nation and would lessen the seriousness and length of business depressions. When industry recovered, the most skilled workers would return to private employment, thus maintaining high efficiency in industry. The plan seems logical and practical but it will be difficult to gain the support of statesmen to adopt such a plan as few would like to champion the cause of lower wages. It has been the practice to have the Government pay higher wages and maintain shorter hours than does private industry. Statesmen have championed the high wage, short hours cause and might hesitate to champion the cause of a life sustaining wage, the elimination of poverty and unemployment.

It will take a courageous politician to advocate a plan that would have a wage reduction even were poverty the alternative, and if any progress is to be made in the elimination of unemployment and consequently, poverty, the initiative must come from the people themselves.

Burke's glance took in the silent motionless mass of man on the hatch with prideful ownership. Then he broke again into his odd, unadorned mirth. "Look at him now, he cried. "Look at him. Mad clear through."

"They turned their smiling eyes upon the trown man. "Mad clear through," repeated his master. "Since Miss Tree pointed to him we all have been laughing a lot. And he thinks it's at him."

"Speaking of the brute, Burke began indicating Olive; "he don't do nothing now but ask questions about you."

"I'm only windjamming, of course," Thurston laughed. "I don't doubt our stowaway's a little mad, sufficiently mad to his moral perceptions, but quite harmless, making himself the hero of every gory story he picks up, eager as a deep sea bad man. But still—"

"The palm tree's the most important thing it got. Couldn't live without it a day."

"She was again annoyed, but decided to laugh. Burke was silent for an interval, his oddly undeveloped features rather absurd in their maturity of thought."

"I suppose," he began at last, "you haven't an idea how a Mary like you hits us islanders, kanaka or white?"

"But my dear, my dear," Palm Tree's mother was protesting, "how right when Palm spends most of her time listening to that, that miserable stowaway; that—human jack who sits in beside himself with anxiety."

"Events," said the hostess impressively, "have only too well shown that, that we, intervened just in time. Your daughter, John Thurston."

"The father uttered a protest. "But where are your eyes?" demanded the hostess. "As I said in California, Van with his refined personality, fits into the yacht's cabin like 'The Young King Charles' into a gilded frame. Thurston on the contrary, is a great, robust being. He looks well enough ashore, but here, in these little compartments, on this narrow deck, his hands and feet seem in the way."

"She paused to smile at them reassuringly. "Surely, with John at his worst, Van at his best—need we fear?"

Meanwhile, Constance Crawford was forward at the Rainbow's bow, sailing through the tropic night upon enchanted waters.

When John Thurston presently joined Constance, she looked up with a frown. "I was just thinking," she explained, "that Palm Tree doesn't at all realize what Burke may be getting into his mind. I believe the little fraud's quite puffed up over the idea he's made something of a conquest."

Thurston answered rather absently. "A n'yhow," he said. "Burke's over the side at Honolulu and gone forever."

John was silent for some time. Then: "I'd like to go, too," he burst out. "I've been trying to tell you I've taken your advice, asked her to become my wife."

"No, you did," he exclaimed. "She told you?" he exclaimed. "No, you did." He was chagrined. "Suppose I do look like that," he said. "On the contrary. You've been splendid!" She glanced up friendly.

"But I still think it was the right thing to do. A week or two hence, absolutely no hope. Oh, why didn't you say so in California? She originally liked you best. I'm sure of it. Does still, if she only knew. Or," Constance added ruefully, "would if they'd let her alone."

"He laughed with some bitterness. "Oh, I know what you mean." He fell into a sudden petulance. When Thurston spoke again it was apparently in an effort to get into a more cheerful vein.

"Seemingly," he said, "I have another well-wisher aboard."

"With a pocket flashlight he made visible for her a small object of woven fibre: a dark cord wound round a packet perhaps two inches square."

"When I came on deck this morning," he explained, "Olive incarnated herself before me. Looking over her shoulder, jerked my coat-tails up, fastened this round my waist. Then he gave me a friendly grin and vanished."

"But," she puzzled, "what is it?" "Inside there's a bit of fine mat, seven hairs and a tooth—a good deal of harm."

"How should I know?" "She was thoughtful. "At any rate," she said finally, "he seems to be wishing you good luck."

"She examined the amulet again with an absent attention. Then, the smile from her lips: "John, promise me you will not leave the Rainbow at Honolulu."

"The yacht was pushing on at her best pace, setting up such a lively stir at her prow as to achieve the small, private rainbow for which she had been named."

"Burke and Palm Tree were on deck—Burke was quizzically regarding the pensive Palm Tree. As though defining her very thoughts, he spoke."

TOWN COUNCIL JOINS WITH FIREMEN FOR ALARM SYSTEM

(Continued from Page One) Elevenhundred was submitted to council asking for completion of the grading of the avenue from Fayette street to a point about 150 feet west from Wells street. It is understood all the owners will release the borough from all damages.

Ludwik Kowalkowski, owner of much of the land abutting the street, said that he is anxious to improve the street by building stores and dwellings and that it is impossible to carry on an operation with the street in its present condition. He told of the difficulties experienced in building two dwellings last year when materials had to be left at a distance from the buildings and transported in wheel barrows.

Manager Herbert was asked the cost of moving the street. He estimated the grading and building a stone base would cost about $1500 and with the necessary work in connecting streets would bring the cost to about $2300. If the street is to be oiled and chipped there would be an additional cost to about $400.

Mr. Coyne made a motion that the street be finished and this was amended providing releases from damages were secured. The amendment and motion carried.

Vote of Thanks On motion of Mr. Dewan, a vote of thanks was extended to the officials and borough engineers of Phoenixville for the splendid reception given to members of town council upon their recent visit of inspection and the clerk was instructed to write a letter to Phoenixville Town Council, expressing the thanks of the local community.

Reports The Burgess reported having had 13 hearings, 7 being for drunk and disorderly conduct; 4 for malicious mischief and 2 for violation of traffic laws. 8 were fined, 1 committed to jail and 1 discharged. The fines amounted to $23.

Chief of police Head reported 24 arrests, 24 lodgers, 13 automobiles reported stolen and 12 were recovered.

The treasurer reported a balance of $65.57. The public safety committee reported all departments are functioning efficiently.

After the receipt of $228 in taxes, the finance committee reported a deficit to pay bills of $1,344.10 and recommended an increase of the floating debt by $1500, making a total of $45,900. The recommendation was approved.

The ordinance committee made no report on the request to increase the salary of the Burgess from $400 to $600 per year as the solicitor had submitted an opinion stating that council cannot increase the salary during the term of office. Permission was given to Carmine Crisci to install a gasoline pump and tank in the sidewalk at 554 W. 22nd street.

claimed they had increased the cost and have less light. On motion of Mr. Lobb, the manager was instructed to have the light company place a plain globe on one of the street lamps to make a comparison with the frosted globes in use. Mr. Dewan said he had been investigating the matter of improved lighting for Fayette street and that the company would install 400 c. p. lamps at the street intersections and 250 c. p. lamps in the blocks from lower Fayette street to Third avenue. He said, this would take the place of a white way. Mr. Herbert stated the company informed him they would not place 400 c. p. lamps except in a white way installation. Messrs. Fisher and Robinson were the absentees.

NEW YORK - PARIS FASHIONS

IT'S getting so, these days, that it's difficult to tell a negligee from an evening coat and an evening coat from a negligee, so much are they alike, often in both design and fabric. This, of course, is only true of the more formal type of negligee, the sort one wears for dinner alone at home or for quiet communion with the Sunday morning newspapers.

The one shown in the sketch, for instance, if put against a background of sea and stars and palm trees, say, would be a stunning example of what a simple evening wrap for resort wear should be. Or, displayed with an open fire and a chaise longue for that hour between tea and dinner, you would have a negligee. In any event, for whichever purpose you prefer it, it is made of gold color transparent rayon tulle and leaves nothing to be desired in the way of smart detail. The long scarf collar, fastening at one side in a soft bow, the double edged sleeves, the slight flare to the cut of the hem, the train, with its perfect choice of the perfect material for such a costume, make it unusually effective.

ADVERTISING TALKS
By DONALD W. GAPP
Advertising Manager of the Recorder

"The foolish man argues to combat: the wise man to learn."

Jack Lane, advertising and merchandising expert of fifteen years experience, says that the purposes of good retail advertising are threefold: First—to bring customers to your store, making it a busy, interesting place to shop, and to add to the store's volume.

Second—to make people think of your store first, think of it often, and think of it favorably. This is often known as the institutional function of advertising.

Third—to build background for your store and its printed message, to make people want to read your advertising because it can be depended upon invariably for truth, accuracy, dependability and authority. It can be believed.

Advertising that sells only goods described costs too much. Surveys show that such advertising costs from 15 to 20 per cent. on the volume directly obtained from it. Also it usually advertises only goods which have been reduced in price. How can it make a profit? Many merchants fail to plan ahead for holidays or seasons and when the time comes they are caught napping. Planning helps get more news for the ads and news is what makes people read and buy.

Carl P. Johnson, of Henson, Gamble, Johnson and Reed advertising agency gives ten commandments of good advertising.

1. Thou shalt not use the power of advertising to exploit an unworthy product or service.

2. Thou shalt not expect advertising to work miracles. Remember that advertising is education and its basis is repetition.

3. Thou shalt not advertise unimportant reason but these are the reasons given by the customers. These figures show the relative importance of the appeals that making up an ad. Making appeals match buying impulses is good business sense.

Country-Bred Maid—But, sir, why do you write so much? Small Boy—I am an author. Maid—Pardon taking all that trouble when you can buy a novel for a quarter.

MARK'S DEFEATED St. Mark's Lutharans of the Church League traveled to Germantown last night and there met defeat at the hands of the Trinity Lutheran team of that place, by the score of 32 to 25. The locals led the final winners most of the game but in the last five minutes Straub, Germantown High School center, who was imported for the game, ran wild and sunk five straight twin pointers to send the locals home a defeated team. The clever foul shooting of the locals, beat them in the running, as they caged 15 out of 18 foul tries and only scored five field goals. The locals could not score any more field goals as they were playing Eastern League rules and the little fellows like Tinker Town and Matt Griffiths could not get set to shoot for the basket before one of the rival players would hit them so hard they would drive them from one end of the floor to the other. Cy Carroll and Dave Treall, two of the big boys on the local team, played good ball for the locals, as the little players were not much good with such rules. MIDGET LEAGUE SCHEDULE The following is the schedule in the Community Center Midget League for next week: Monday—Eleventh Avenue vs Sixth Avenue Musketeers. Tuesday—Elm Street vs Sixth Avenue Pioneers. Wednesday—St. Matthew's vs Third Avenue Hoosiers.

Beauty at the Bar

Benedetto Brothers, who are charged with murder. Miss Hennock is an accomplished linguist, a musician, and a student of medicine, and though she is strictly female—as emphasized by her long hair—she says she gets more thrills from her court experience than she could from love.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

On his return from the general office of the P. R. Wise Men Drive Their Dollars

No one is born money wise. Young men—and young women too, have to learn, quite often through hard experience, that the way to achievement is to drive the dollars—instead of letting the dollars drive them—to despair.

Derelicts on the sea of finance have only themselves to blame.

'Tis human to have an alibi—and blame conditions over which we think we have no control. But in the last analysis this is not true. Every man can be master of his own financial fate. It takes only a systematic plan of saving to safely take care of the future.

Perpetual Motion

In the August 90's we had a barber in Conshohocken named Eugenio Weiffer, who claimed that he had perfected perpetual motion. Gus was a good barber, but alas, his perpetual motion machine was a failure and several Conshohockenites who had visions of great wealth, lost a tidy sum that they had invested in the proposition.

And even today there are many people who invest in get-rich-quick schemes, when they would get rich more quickly and surely by putting their money in this bank.

Victory Over Pennsburg Tonight Will Give C. H. S. County High Title

Blue And Gold Warriors Will Invade Perkiomen District Full of Confidence.—Coach Grimmert Will Start His Strongest Team And if Victorious Will Stage Demonstration in Visiting Town.—Girls to Oppose Pennsburg Lassies.—Last Game for Number of Local Boys and Girls.

Conshohocken high will bring to a close their 1928 basketball season tonight when they journey to Pennsburg for their return game with the Perkiomen Valley high team. The game is one of the most important of the whole season to the wearers of the blue and gold for if they win it will give them the championship title of the Montgomery County High School League; should they be forced to drink the dregs of defeat they will close their season in a tie for the consolation with Lower Moreland and an extra game, as a play-off, will be necessary and this would no doubt be staged on a neutral floor. The local team is in the pink of condition for the final game and in an effort to bring the long and strenuous season to a close with the final game of the regular season Coach Grimmert will use his best players in the points of condition for the final game and in an effort to bring the long and strenuous season to a close with the final game of the regular season Coach Grimmert will use his best players in the points of condition for the final game...

However, Conshohocken is not giving that phase of the situation any consideration. They are going to the Perkiomen Valley with that confidence that spells victory. So certain are they of defeating Pennsburg and coping the pennant, they have planned a demonstration to be staged in the old German settlement that can be heard as far away as East Greenville, another town represented in the league. A large number of the student body from this borough will accompany the team and lend encouragement to the players. If the local team wins it will mark the last game for the blue and gold for at least three of the regulars, Captain Miksch, Pettins and "Jawn" Steltz, as they are all seniors and will graduate in June, leaving Webster and Lentz as a nucleus for next year's team. Several capable second string players will be available and the team should be a strong combination. The local girls are sure of playing their last game tonight as there is no possibility of a tie for the league leadership for either of the contesting teams. Conshohocken has won its last two games and are out tonight to make it three straight but in order to do this they will be obliged to extend themselves to the limit. Their opponents are runners-up to the title-winners, East Greenville, and are capable of playing a nifty game and will have their strongest team on the floor. Three of the local team will play their last game for the blue and gold as Betty Yost, Clara Fulmer and Catherine Coulson are members of the Senior class and will complete the course this year. Captain Yost, the star forward, will do her best to boost her total of field goals in her last game.

C. H. S. ENDS HOME SEASON IN VICTORY

Schwenksville High's Two Teams Defeated in Fast Game on Local Court.—Girls' Game Brimful of Thrills.

The Conshohocken High School basketball team wound up its home season on Tuesday evening when they entertained the quintet representing Schwenksville High School. The lads from the Perkiomen Valley showed little resistance against the Grimmert first-string team and were easily defeated by the score of 43 to 19. At the beginning of the game a team composed entirely of second-string players was used by Coach Grimmert and before the half was over all the reserve players had seen action. These boys displayed little ability against the tail-end visitors and at the end of the half Schwenksville was blazing the trail to the tune of 10 to 7. While it was not much to the game from a scientific point of view the contest furnished plenty of amusement for the spectators, for the boys pranced around after the ball in the same fashion as a pack of hungry wolves chasing after a piece of raw meat and referee Barfoot was kept on the move in order to save himself from being run down. During the entire first quarter the local team did not score while their opponents amassed a total of six points. In the second quarter Conshohocken fared a little better. In fact, they out scored Schwenksville 7 to 4, but the early lead gained by the visitors in the first ten minutes carried them through to the end of the first half when the score board showed the Perkiomen lads leading 10 to 7. This is the second time this season on the home court that Conshohocken has been outscored during the first half. Lower Moreland pulling the trick on the occasion of their visit here a few weeks back. Incidentally it might be mentioned here that

Lower Moreland is the team that is pressing the locals for the league title. At the opening of the second half a different Conshohocken team appeared on the floor. Coach Grimmert sent in his first-string team and from the tap-off it was apparent that Schwenksville was either going down to defeat or else playing a much improved game from that displayed during the first twenty minutes. The team work shown by Captain Harry Miksch and his mates completely baffled the visitors and the locals began dropping the ball through the net with a degree of regularity that soon cut down the lead acquired by the visitors during the first half and left them far in the rear. Every man on the local team broke into the score column with the exception of "Jawn" Steltz, who changed his jersey from No. 11 to No. 12 for the sole purpose of fooling the referee in calling personal fouls. Steltz, tired of hearing the referee call No. 11 and he changed his jersey. Barfoot has called so many on Steltz that he remembered the No. and the first time he detected the West Side lads he called out No. 11 and the scorekeeper did not know who to credit with the infraction. The offense was charged to the right person but John felt a certain measure of satisfaction, in pulling one over on Harry, who is the best official that has ever worked in the league. Poole, forward of Schwenksville, played the best game for the losers, caging two field goals on pretty shots and making two goals from fouls, accounting for six of his team's points. In addition to his scoring he played a nice floor game. By reason of their victory Conshohocken cannot be beaten out of the championship of the league except in a play-off. The best that Lower Moreland can now do is to tie up the count. The locals have one more chance, their game with Pennsburg to-night. If they win this contest they will be crowned champions of the county school teams. If the boys game lacked thrills this deficiency was more than made up in the game between the girls' team of Conshohocken and Schwenksville high schools, which was won by the locals by the score of 15-15. There were two contributing factors that made this contest so exciting. One was the fact that Miss Lena Carl, coach of the local team, was unable to be present on account of being confined to her home suffering from an attack of the grippe. The other was the fact that Harry Barfoot, who officiated at the boys' game, was pressed into service to handle the girls' game when the regular female official failed to put in her appearance. To ask Barfoot to referee a girls' game is like asking Lindbergh to drive a horse and cart. It is entirely too silly and as a result there was a noticeable absence of the sound of the whistle, which served to add to the general excitement that attends an otherwise close, fast game. In absence of the regular coach, Randolph Grimmert, skipper of the boys' team, was in charge of the local girls and by reason of their victory Grimmert is out in front with 1000 per cent. To get back to the contest. The local girls started off in a listless manner with the result that Schwenksville was out in the lead at the end of the first quarter by the score of 8 to 5. This, however, did not bother captain Betty Yost and her team because in the majority of their games they have not only been on the tail-end of the score when the first quarter ends but in the same position when the last quarter ends. In the second quarter Betty and her belles settled down and giving a pretty exhibition soon stepped out in front and at half-time were leading 10 to 8. The thrills of the game came in the final period. As the contest was passing into the final minutes, Schwenksville had overtaken the local team and forged ahead 14 to 12. Miss Stone, of the visitors, was fouled and she immediately increased her team's lead by another point. There were but three minutes of the game left to be played and things did not look so bright for Conshohocken. However, the local lassies, not possessing of the ball when there were but two minutes left. The ball was passed to Captain Yost. She ducked her opponent and shot for the basket. It was a beautiful attempt and the ball arched through the basket and the difference between the two teams were reduced to a single point. With but thirty seconds of the game remaining, Polly Faust

Diamond Practice for West Side School Candidates Had First Workout Yesterday.—Paul Adams Manager

Base ball practice, in preparation for the coming season, began yesterday in West Conshohocken public schools when twenty candidates appeared on the athletic field and indulged in their first workout under the watchful eye of supervising principal A. S. Richards. The practice consisted of tossing the ball around and limbering up the muscles that have grown rusty during the long lay-off. Paul Adams has been made manager and he is now busy completing a schedule that will keep the team busy until the middle of June. Several names have been scheduled but there are still a number of open dates. The opening date has not been definitely decided upon but it will be early next month.

Third Straight Win For Hoosier Team

The Third Avenue Hoosiers chalked up their third straight win in the Community Center Midget League "Tuesday" afternoon when they defeated the Elm Street Tigers by the score of 25 to 17. Jim Morrison, star forward of the winning team, was largely responsible for the downfall of the Tigers. He caged six field goals which was one short of the entire number garnered by the losing team. The entire Third Avenue team played with their heads up and deserved to win. The guards of the winning team were so good that the Elm Street team could not break through their defense. "John the Baptist" Nell especially played well at guard and besides holding his opponent scoreless managed to score three points himself. The Third Avenue team is steadily climbing up in the league standing after a poor start and are now threatening the first place Sixth Avenue team.

JOEY BLAKE TROUNCES WILLIE JOYCE

Given Ovation for Fine Boxing Exhibition. In the main preliminary bout, scheduled for six rounds last evening at Jimmie Second Broadway A. C., in South Philadelphia, Joey Blake, local star lightweight, scoring 133 points, decisively defeated Willie Joyce, K. O. artist of Philadelphia. Joey forgot his slugging ability for one night and he showed the crowd as pretty a boxing exhibition as it has been during the present indoor season. He started out as a boxer in the first round by cautiously sizing up his opponent throughout the entire contest. But starting with the second round, Joey displayed a pretty right jab to the consternation of Joyce, and he soon had the Philadelphia boys face a gory sight. Right jab after right jab landed on Joyce's face until he was utterly bewildered. Often as many as eight jabs straight without a return plastered Willie's face. Joey used his left but a few times last evening, but when he did use it, he used it to advantage. Joyce never knew when to expect it. Ringside experts gave the first round an even break, but the other five rounds were justly given to Joey. There was no question as to the decision. Joey received a big ovation when he left the ring and he was immediately signed up for more bouts at the same club. Soldiers Surrender to Moose Bowers. ATKINS DISSAPPOINTED IN PROFESSIONAL DEBUT. Gord Atkins, local sports official, expected to fight his first professional fight at the Manayunk A. C. last night but his opponent, Tom Hodkins, of East Falls, outwitted the local boy to too many pounds and the boxing commission would not let the local boy fight. So Gord immediately signed a contract to fight Ted Mixey, of Philadelphia, at the same place next Thursday night. Luther Young, the colored comedian, then went on with Hodkins and took the decision from the East Falls battler.

All objections relative to the games were brought before the meeting and very reasonably and satisfactorily settled. There was a record attendance present at the meeting which lasted until nearly midnight. Ten gold watch charms in the form of basketballs will be awarded to the players on the champion Baptist team in addition to the handsome trophy awarded by John P. DeHaven Post, American Legion. The players on St. Matthew's team, runners-up in the league race, will each receive a solid silver basketball watch charm. Pettine, of St. Matthew's, will be presented with a trophy for high individual scorer in the league and a solid silver medal will be awarded to Gordon Atkins, of the Methodist team as the second prize for high individual score. These presentations will be made at the first annual banquet to be held on Tuesday evening, April 24th. With the second week of the February term of civil court under way, jurors have already been drawn for service at the two weeks of the April term of civil court, which will begin Monday May 7.

Junior Methodists Clinch League Title

Baptist Overwhelmed Lutherans by Score of 65 to 7

Coch Bill Martin's Methodist Junior League team clinched the title in the Junior Church League last night when they defeated the Presbyterians by the score of 44 to 35 in a fast game. In the only other game of the night the Baptists overwhelmed the small Lutheran team by the score of 65 to 7.

The third game which was scheduled between St. Matthew's and the Episcopalists, was won by the Saints when the Episcopalists for "sixed."

The "Shouters," who needed only one more victory to clinch the title were pressed by the Presbyterians most of the time, but the clever shooting of Roy Todd and Harry Kriebel saved the day for the Shouters.

There were only three Presbyterians who scored from the field, and each of these boys, Johnstone, Foster, and Lambert, each scored five field goals. Those three had a good night and it was their field goals that kept the Presbyterians in the running.

Junie Vandegrift, captain of the Methodist team and high scorer of the league, encountered an off night and only scored three points, one field goal and a foul.

The other game of the night was a run away for the Baptist and it was only a question of how many points Murray and company would score. The small Lutheran team was helpless to stop the Baptist team but they never let up and were fighting just as hard when the whistle blew ending the game.

As when it started, As one of their rewards for winning the title the Methodists will play the preliminary game to the Irwin family-pick of the league game March 31 when they will play the pick of the league. The boys want a chance to show their stuff before the folks on a big floor and they hope to show the fans more team play than their older brothers do.

GRANGE RUNS CONTEST

A Pomona Grange in Pennsylvania has just concluded an essay contest among its young people, with cash prizes running as high as $20. Keen interest was aroused and the merit of the essays ran high.

"Ten years ago I arrived in the town with only one quarter, but that quarter began my fortune at once." "You must have invested it very profitably." "I did. I telegraphed home for money."
