Car Swerves Into a Field, Student Killed

Warren F. Cressman
Pronounced Dead As Ambulance Arrives

A 17-year-old Roxborough High school student was killed instantly when the car he was driving went out of control Saturday night and crashed in a field on Narcissa Rd. near Hickory Rd., Plymouth township.

Warren F. Cressman, of 8601 Wissinick Ave., Andorra, Roxborough, was pronounced dead at the scene by a physician from Montgomery hospital, Norristown, where he was taken at 10:29 P. M. in the hospital ambulance.

Cressman, who was to resume classes at high school today, was driving a 1957 Buick convertible north on Narcissa Rd. when he apparently lost control. The vehicle struck two utility poles and continued off the road into a field for 175 feet before coming to a stop.

MOTHER SEWS, THIRD FLOOR IN FLAMES

Mrs. Mary Kreno was just getting comfortable at 1:30 this afternoon in the living room of her home at 330 E. Elm St., Conshohocken.

Sewing for a few moments after lunch, Mrs. Kreno was startled suddenly when a neighbor banged on her door.

Mrs. Joseph Maroski, whose home is across the street, shouted, "Fire! Fire!"

"I couldn't believe it," Mrs. Kreno said. "But the third floor of our home was aflame."

Wallpaper, portions of woodwork and a set of books of a television and radio repair course were damaged.

Washington Fire Co. and No. 2 Fire Co. responded.

Mrs. Kreno's three children started school today at St. Mary's. David, 12, was in class for the first time. His sister, Maryanne, 11 and brother, Jackie, eight, took him to school.

Her husband, John, is employed by Thrift Way Foods, King of Prussia.

Grandfather Killed, Wife Hurt in Crash

Plans for a happy holiday at the home of a son-in-law and daughter in Schenckville, north of Allentown, came to a sudden halt with the death of an Oreland electrical contractor and his wife's serious injury in a head-on collision on Bethlehem Pike a mile south of Quakertown, Sunday afternoon.

The contractor, John A. Gastauer, of 910 Edann Rd., Oreland, who would have been 61 this month, died instantly. His wife, Cecelia, 52, was removed to the Quakertown Community hospital, suffering serious injury. Her condition yesterday, however, was reported improving steadily.

Mr. and Mrs. Gastauer were on (Continued on Page Four)

'Untouchables' Are Highway Menace; Go After Them Now

Public utilities of Pennsylvania are foremost offenders in contributing to highway recklessness. They commit one abuse after another 24 hours daily, every day of the week, and they go scot free. Nobody can touch them. Anybody who tries soon becomes discouraged and gives up.

Chiefly responsible for innumerable hazards on the highways of Pennsylvania are the gas, electric, telephone and water companies. They shrink handsomely from guilt by placing the blame on contractors they employ, but that is no excuse.

These utilities tear up thoroughfares at will, leave obstructions unguarded, day and night, and take their good old time filling in excavations. Frequently they never restore the surface of the highway to its original condition. Nobody but nobody does anything about it.

Also sharing top guilt for highway recklessness are several contractors who install sewer lines. They are indeed a sorry lot. Quite a few should be in jail for contributing wilfully and deliberately to our shameful highway death toll. In some instances it could be proved their neglect is perpetrated with malice aforethought.

This newspaper ascertained recently that nearby police departments have grown weary of soliciting the aid of contractors and utilities in making our highways safer. Failing to obtain deserved cooperation, members of various police forces have themselves erected barricades at the scenes of excavations and have many times soiled their uniforms by spilling oil from red lanterns they have carried to highway locations as a warning to motorists to slow down and live, even though it is plain as day the contractor and/or utility doesn't care if you live or die.

One chief of police put it this way:

The contractor just goes in and digs a hole and says to the motorist, Go ahead and hit it!

This bit of aggravation on our part today doesn't represent a new venture in the interest of safety on the (Continued on Page Four)

Trash Cans Voted Out of Conshohocken

Trash receptacles were voted out of Conshohocken last night by Borough Council.

The receptacles, constructed of steel and topped by a pyramid-type lid with "swinging doors," have become a nuisance. One councilman said they are loaded with maggots feeding upon garbage and other waste thrown into them by apartment dwellers and roomers.

Councilman Frank Zadrozga protested the removal of the trash cans. He said the extreme heat, which "we have not had for years," bred the maggots. He said the cans should remain since they provided some place to throw trash.

Councilman Peter Bruni, never one to hesitate in expressing an opinion, said: "Let 'em throw their garbage on the street if they want to — it'll wash down to the river eventually."

A futile attempt was made by Councilman James Deamone to have wire-mesh containers purchased to replace the doomed "closed" ones. The motion was defeated.

The vote to rid the borough of the present cans, said to be breeding "things" never before seen, was 13-1, Zadrozga being the loner.

Borough Hits Township on Drainage Issue

Council Group
To Meet With Plymouth Board

Conshohocken Borough Council called for a "showdown" last night with Plymouth township.

The borough solons are up in arms about an alleged condition thought to have been "engineered" by the township. It seems debris muck wash into the borough at the juncture of Colwell Lane near the spot where a new section of W. 11th Ave. will be installed.

John W. Coyne, borough engineer, said the condition could result in heavy maintenance costs to the borough after the new roadway for W. 11th Ave. is installed.

Coyne made a survey of the section and reported to council that work is needed to correct the condition and most of the burden lies with the township.

Council passed third and final reading of an ordinance presented by John D.J. Tostia, chairman of the ordinance committee, to open W. 11th Ave., extending 300 feet from Freedley St. to Colwell Rd.

Directors Praised For Allegiance to God and Country

979 Are Enrolled in 3 Plymouth
Township Public Schools; Bus
Transportation Regulation Defined

The school directors of Plymouth township, at a monthly meeting Tuesday night at the Highfield school, received letters of commendation from residents of Miami, Fla., Phoenix, Arizona and the New England states regarding their firm position taken three months ago in answer to an ultimatum from a Plymouth Valley newcomer that he would move away if the board continued permitting the recitation of the Lord's prayer and reading the Bible daily and singing of carols at Christmas.

The board was adamant in its attitude favoring practices that prevailed in the public school district since inception. Whether the Plymouth Valley man left the community has not been ascertained but his children are not enrolled in the district.

Charges that the township schools were practicing "religious indoctrination" through daily Bible reading, recitation of the Lord's prayer and grace before meals, and singing of songs and presentations of holiday entertainment of a religious nature were leveled by Hal Roach, 3 Valley Rd., E. Plymouth Valley, on June 9.

Roach had requested two weeks earlier through Mrs. Edna M. Smith, secretary, to be placed on the agenda as a taxpayer to be heard at the monthly meeting of the board.

Informed by Daniel W. Kirkpatrick, president of the board, that daily readings from the Bible are required by state law, Roach then took issue with the recitation of the Lord's prayer.

"Our Father Who art in heaven . . ." is definitely religious indoctrination and has no place in our public schools," Roach contended.

"No child is required to mouth the prayer," Dr. Kirkpatrick reminded the complainant, "and participation in the exercise by other members of the class should in no way affect the pupil whose religious home training is adequate."

Lincoln Co. Women Pay Off Debts

When Lincoln of Cedar Heights firemen convene tonight at the fire house on Robert Ave., they'll be pleasantly surprised.

Members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the fire company will attend the session to present to the firemen receipts to show that $1,000, represented in mortgages on the fire trucks, has been paid off.

The women have worked for many months to earn the funds to pay off these fire company debts.

While there will not be any presentation of a check in the amount of $1,000, the Auxiliary members stress that a cancelled or completed mortgage is just as valuable to the firemen as a check would be.

On hand to make the presentation for the Auxiliary will be Mrs. Bertha Hef and Mrs. Ethel Keown. At their meeting Tuesday night the women planned several events:

A hat social Oct. 5; Halloween party Nov. 2; Christmas party Dec. 9.

'Secret Vote' On Judges Causes Stir

Judge Gerber
Suggests Bar
'Qualifying Plan'

A request by Judge Morris Gerber that members of the Montgomery Bar Association conduct a secret vote on his qualifications to continue on the bench for a full 10-year term prompted response from judicial rivals yesterday.

In a letter to M. Paul Smith, president of the bar association, Judge E. Arnold Forrest said:

"Although it was my impression there is no bar association judiciary plan, I wish to request my name be submitted to members of the bar association if they adopt a plan."

Robert W. Honeyman, Republican running mate of Judge Forrest for the two judgeships coming up Nov. 3, wrote Smith:

"It has come to my attention that one of the judicial candidates has requested the bar association to vote upon his qualifications. In the event the decision is to conduct such a vote, then I strongly urge and request that the names of all three judicial candidates be voted upon at one and the same time in accordance with a plan adopted by a vote of the membership of the association."

A meeting of the directors has been set for 3 P. M. tomorrow to consider Judge Gerber's request. The judiciary committee will convene a half hour earlier to discuss the matter.

Judge Gerber, serving his second year as the judge of the Court of Common Pleas, gained Democratic nomination in the May primary with 12,093 votes. He polled 27,000 votes on the Republican ticket.

Judge Forrest and Attorney Honeyman were nominated on the Republican ticket with 44,285 and 39,355 votes, respectively. Judge Forrest also obtained the second Democratic nomination with 9,533 votes.

The car damaged by Bonenberger was one commandeered by arresting officer Daniel A. Ste during the chase.

Sickness, Accident and Hospital Insurance

—to help protect you against today's rising cost of medical care
—to help replace income you lose because you're sick or hurt
—to help provide for your family if you're killed in an accident

New Selector Plan lets you choose the exact type and amount of protection that's right for your needs... and your budget.

HERE ARE A FEW OF THE WAYS ALLSTATE'S NEW PLAN COULD FIT YOUR NEEDS:

YOU MAY NOW HAVE an employer or group plan that would pay you only for a few months after accident or sickness disability.

YOU SHOULD HAVE an Allstate coverage that will pay you a monthly, tax-free income so you can provide for your family's living expenses while you are disabled. (Maximum: $5,000 per month for total disability; $3,000 for partial disability—up to $200 a month for partial disability.)

YOU MAY NOW HAVE a basic hospitalization plan which may pay you for only a few weeks.

YOU SHOULD HAVE an Allstate coverage that will begin paying hospital expenses for you as long as 2 weeks for each accident or illness for each member of your family. (Maximum payment: $5,000 per person.) Or you can strengthen your basic hospitalization plan with an Allstate coverage that will pay daily hospital expenses in addition to the protection you now have.

YOU MAY NOW HAVE relatively few benefits—that pay only a small part of the actual costs of a long, lingering disability.

YOU SHOULD HAVE an Allstate coverage that pays $15,000 cash if you are killed in practically any type of accident. Pays in addition to any other payments made by this policy, if you have one.

It's human nature to put it off... but don't. The average man is disabled 17 1/2 months during his lifetime. Facing odds like these, you owe it to yourself to call an Allstate Agent soon.

WHAT THIS NEW POLICY BRINGS YOU

Here, in one flexible policy, you will find a broad selection of top-value coverages. You can select exactly the protection you need to close the gaps in your present insurance—at surprisingly little cost. This sensible plan lets you buy only what you need, without waste or duplication—pays in addition to any insurance you may now have. Or if you have no protection, it can be used as a sound basic plan.

HOW WOULD YOU MAKE OUT? Hospital rates have gone up 97.6% in the past ten years. Have you increased your protection to match today's high cost of being sick or hurt?

Open Meeting To Discuss Airport Plan

$1,200,000 Project At Wings Field To Be Debated

The three Montgomery County commissioners and nominees at the general election in November; State Senator Henry J. Probert; Rep. Martin H. Peterhoff Jr., and the Businessmen's Committee for a Montgomery County Airport are requested by the Planning Commission of Whitpain township to attend an open meeting at Shady Grove Junior High School, Skipack Pike and Lewis Rd., at 8 P. M. next Thursday to discuss the advisability of establishing at Wings Field an airport for planes used by business and manufacturing firms.

William Reinhart, proprietor of an Atlantic Service Station at Blue Bell and spokesman for citizens opposed to the project, said more than 500 homemakers have signed petitions asking that the county commissioners, the state legislature and the federal government reject the proposition.

Earl L. Smith is chairman of the planning commission. Also urged to attend the meeting are members of the Whitpain Township School Board; Ambler Joint School Board and representatives of Wings Inc. John Story Smith is president of the corporation which acquired the field in 1929.

Plans for establishing the business airport call for purchase of about 80 acres owned by Francis Leiber and abandoning a portion of Stenton Ave. Additional land is needed in order to lengthen the runway from 2650 feet to 3500 feet. The aerial cost is estimated at $1,200,000, all of which is to come from governmental agencies: $600,000 from Washington, D. C. and $300,000 from Harrisburg and $300,000 from the state.

Reinhart indicated on Tuesday he doesn't know of anybody in favor of the project except the three members of the House of Representatives from Montgomery County who introduced the bill in mid-July favoring the appropriation and the Businessmen's Committee for a Montgomery County Airport, and Sen. Probert.

He said it is his experience that an operation relying on government financing and subsidies usually is inefficient, costly, top-heavy and a waste of taxpayers' money. He said the businessmen's committee has taken the position that the airport don't see their way clear to pay for it out of private funds, but strongly advocate Uncle Sam "foot the bill" if he has been doing at the Philadelphia International Airport and elsewhere.

WARM RECEPTION — New teachers of Whitmarsh Elementary school are welcomed by officials prior to opening today. L. to r., Mrs. Dorothy Gosenberg, kindergarten; Miss Carol Lee Fleming, fourth grade;

Peter Longmire, sixth grade; Mrs. Herbert McMaster, president, Whitmarsh Elementary Educational Association; Joseph Uhl, principal, and Miss Mary M. Hindley, third grade.

old council of his experience several years ago concerning a similar situation. He said Whitmarsh township was accused of causing the same confusion and when the borough met with that township's officials it was pointed out that surface water running into the borough "was a natural phenomenon." Best condition "if the water is running naturally, finding its own course, we can't do a thing. But, if we prove Plymouth township has diverted the water artificially into the borough, the township would be subject to the regulations of the State Department of Forests and Waters."

Joseph Burns, council president, directed the street committee headed by John O'Connor and Attorney Francis Dennis, borough solicitor, meet with Plymouth township commissioners as soon as possible.

A paid firemen's pension fund was approved on first reading of the ordinance. The paid men are Jesse Stemple Jr., chief engineer, and Samuel Januzell, assistant, Washington Fire Co., and Franklin B. Thomas, chief engineer, and Bernard Stavin, assistant, Conshohocken Fire Co. No. 2.

The plan calls for a $50 a month pension on retirement. The member may retire voluntarily at 62 or may wait until he is 65, when he would be retired compulsorily. The fund will be created by having half of the state appropriation for fire company aid go to the fund and the other half, as now in operation, to the firemen's relief association.

Chief of Police Charles Marwood was commended by the council for the "excellent job" he has done in training and directing the four school crossing guides, first in the history of the borough. The guides went on duty yesterday at four school locations.

Dr. Walter F. Ciesielski, of 318 Fayette St., wrote council and suggested a change in the pattern of traffic lights on Fayette St. He said he escaped injury on two occasions when automobiles, jammed up on the thoroughfare, almost struck him trying to "beat" the lights.

The physician suggested the lights be synchronized so as to permit a smooth flow of traffic and prevent jams.

such religious practices in public schools is a "violation of a child's conscience." Roach quoted legal opinions prepared by the American Civil Liberties Union.

Roach admitted he holds membership in the ACLU in response to a question by Ernest E. Heim, school district solicitor, as reported in The Conshohocken Recorder of Thursday, June 11, 1959.

Heim advised the board that all school activities and practices which Roach took quarrel were permissible under the school code governing Pennsylvania.

Pressing for action on the subject, "so I know what my next step is," Roach asked for a vote to change the school district policies governing religious practices.

No such motion was forthcoming. "The board obviously prefers to keep the status quo," Kirkpatrick told Roach in dismissing the subject.

"There remains nothing for me to do then, but remove my children from the school," Roach concluded.

Highfield and Black Horse schools opened today, and Plymouth Consolidated is expected to be ready for occupancy on Monday. Total enrollment is 279. Highfield total enrollment is 156; Plymouth Consolidated 156 and Black Horse, 248. Kindergarten enrollment: Highfield, 131 and Black Horse, 64.

Joseph Nagro, teacher of fourth grade at Black Horse, and Mrs. Marlene Lewis, fourth grade, Highfield, submitted their resignations at the meeting.

Senator Henry J. Probert in a communication to the board, expressed appreciation for their helpfulness in preparing data at his request for establishing an equalization tax program in the Commonwealth. He was granted permission to make use of the data in Caucus.

The board granted permission to Brownie Troop 60 to hold a sale of pastry at Plymouth Consolidated school on Sept. 26.

The Biddle Basketball league received an okay on use of the Highfield All Purpose room every Saturday from October until May.

The Mothers Club at Plymouth Consolidated was granted use of a room for meetings throughout the season.

To Plymouth Valley Woman's Club was granted permission to use the Highfield school for meetings.

The question of which children can and can't ride public school buses again received careful consideration.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel West, of 2351 Hickory Rd., Plymouth Hill, parents of two children enrolled in the Highfield Elementary school explained their position. A son, aged five, entered kindergarten. A daughter, six, entered first grade.

Both tots have to walk just a bit less than a mile and a half, a good portion of the walk along Germanstown Pike.

The school district will lose financial aid from the State if it allows the youngsters on its free buses and the special bus chartered by the P.T.A. makes no stops near the West home.

Rd., the School Board says it can't do anything about it. One hundred fifty boys and girls face the same problem.

Mr. West asked a temporary arrangement under which his children could ride the regular school bus until arrangements could be made for P.T.A. transportation. He was willing to pay by said.

The directors said their hands were tied by policy.

According to the State, any child living within 1 1/2 miles of the school he or she attends is not eligible for school bus transportation. The West family, like many others in Plymouth Hill, lives 1 1/2 miles from Highfield School, scene of last night's meeting.

The board can deviate but if it does, the district stands to lose some of the money the State provides for transporting children who do qualify under Commonwealth ruling.

Taylor Co. Occupies New Research Site

Three-Story Building Opened at Plant Site in Betzwood

Taylor Fibre Co. has more than tripled the space available for basic research in vulcanized fibre and laminated plastics, including special research in the application of these materials in aircraft, missile, nuclear energy and other fields opened up by the new technologies.

The increased space has been made available by the occupation of a new three-story research center on the company's main plant site at Betzwood.

The physical move has been accompanied by an intensification of the company's research program. This is expected to give a better insight into the fundamental chemistry and physics of vulcanized fibre and laminated plastics and of the changes which occur during their manufacture. Applied to product development, the findings, it is believed, will open up new fields of application for both materials and will bring new standards of product quality.

The intensified research program will include research contracts with outside organizations as well as company-initiated projects. Research contracts successfully completed in the past include the development of silicon-glass high pressure laminates and of high heat resistant laminates, both for the Navy's Bureau of Ships.

The new research center is located on the 84-acre site of Taylor's main plant and general offices. In addition to providing more space for research the company has "substantially increased" the budget for this purpose. The number of employees engaged in research has jumped 40 percent since the first of the year and will be increased further during the next several months, the company said.

The new research center provides space for complete physical separation of research from product development and quality control activities. Facilities and personnel have been organized to function as an integral research unit, thus assuring continuity of the basic research projects. Established groups will continue to handle other functions of the technical department, including product development and quality control.

Dr. Carlisle M. Thacker, who was recently appointed technical director, will supervise and coordinate the work of these various groups.

At part of the expansion in basic research the technical library will be enlarged and an IBM system installed for quick reference to accumulated technical data.

The various laboratories at Taylor have been fully equipped with modern research tools. For example, model equipment is available for small-scale manufacture of both vulcanized fibre and laminated plastics under conditions quite similar to factory production.

To test both laminated plastics and vulcanized fibre under various combinations of temperature and humidity and for automatic cements tests, the research group has a chamber, installed within the past year, known as a "Climate" chamber.

Another relatively new research tool is an electric furnace custom-built to Taylor's specifications to fit over its tensile testing machine. It has broadened the company's research into the physical properties of laminated plastics of temperatures up to 1000 degrees Fahrenheit.

The new research center is part of an expansion program which has included installation of a new pre-dryer for the vulcanized fibre production line and erection of a new humidity-controlled vulcanized fibre warehouse.

Suspended Sentence For Car Borrower

John E. Dignan, 20, of 3423 Cresson St., was given a suspended sentence, with costs of prosecution placed upon Montgomery County, upon his plea of guilty to a charge of taking an automobile belonging to Walter C. Neill, 258 River Rd., Gladwyn, on April 26, 1958.

Dignan told the court he had been attending a party at Neill's home and borrowed the car to take a girl home. He said he intended to return the car. He was arrested by Philadelphia police while taking the girl to her home.

He is serving a three to 23-month term in Philadelphia for violation of probation.

highway. We've gone after contractors, utilities and highway maintenance crews for two decades. We've gone all the way to the Governor of the Commonwealth. We've gone to the State Police and local officials. We've complained to the Public Utility Commission at Harrisburg. If you can see anywhere in the Commonwealth any indication of a sincere desire to give reasonable caution to motorists and to patch up holes in the road in a minimum number of hours or days at least inconvenience to the public please pass the good word to us.

Every contractor should be required to display prominently at the scene of every excavation a permit showing official sanction has been obtained, the permit number, date, time allotted to complete the project, and the names of the utility AND contractor to whom issued.

Regulations as to placing and maintaining flares and barricades should be spelled out by the Legislature as clearly as the requirements defined in the motor code for all truck drivers in connection with the placing of flares at certain distances when their vehicles become disabled along the highway.

Bear in mind the utilities, their executives and families contribute heavily to major political parties on local, state and national level for campaign expenses, and, therefore, hold the edge over the ordinary citizen who has only one vote. That one vote, however, put into organized effort, could become more important in an election than a campaign gift. Your insisting that something be done can result in greater safety on the highway and in backing up police chiefs charged with keeping the highways free of needless hazards.

The police, firemen, rescue squads and the public demand a curb on brazen abuses for which utilities and contractors are responsible. Go after this menace now. Get rid of it.

Competition? Ask Us, Mr. Mayor

Mayor Dilworth recently sounded off on the matter of "cutthroat, ungodly competition" in connection with Sunday sales by discount houses.

How many types of businesses have to contend with the sort of thing Mayor Dilworth so aptly described we don't know. The field is not limited, however, to merchandising, that's for sure.

What kind of language the Mayor might use, if he were asked, to comment on how he feels about a Chamber of Commerce being the source of "cutthroat, ungodly competition" we also don't know. We are inclined to think it would be picturesque and would leave nothing to the imagination.

This is the kind of competition we face in Conshohocken where we have been in business for 90 years. They (the Chamber of Commerce) excuse themselves by taking the stand they are "filling a void." Well, their product is ample proof they don't know what they're talking about. They prove our point that coverage of the local news by The Recorder "rivals the best and surpasses the rest."

Anybody with a buck to buy newsprint paper and pay a printer can produce a paper. It isn't a newspaper and the people behind it aren't editors or publishers.

Then there's the fellow who, holding a full-time salaried position, accumulates enough money to buy a small press, and sets himself up in business, under bidding on job work.

Cutthroat? We remember a man who was a full-time printer in a union shop by day and a part-time independent printer by night in the basement of his home. Under cut? And how! He stole the stock from his employer and had type set on his employer's time. He was way ahead of the game. Until the union shop folded because of its mounting losses!

We also are acquainted with several fellows who operate their print shops in dwellings located in residential communities. The printers are, therefore, violating zoning regulations, but, on occasion, officials themselves place orders with them, knowing the violation exists. The big supermarkets operate legally, even though the Mayor thinks they give cutthroat, ungodly competition. They pay the hired help, instead of using "volunteers" and they buy their stock instead of stealing it.

Sally the Satellite Bemoans Traffic Toll As She Eyes Home Trip

Hi Everyone

How goes it? Have a nice holiday? Hope so Sally the Satellite who wrote to you last week was shocked to hear of the number of traffic deaths. She was very unhappy so many occurred.

She said to me she was sorry she wrote so much. I thought she could have written more. Maybe she'll write to you again before she leaves. I don't know when that'll be. She's getting anxious to go because of her needing pill food.

On her planet the "Fountain of Youth" you might say, has been found. The average person lives 200-300 years. That's why their families are so much larger. She is still quite young — in her late 80's. I hope she doesn't get mad at me for telling you. She doesn't look it at all. I about add.

About her speaking ancient Egyptian, she understood the modern Egyptian who speaks Arabic fairly well. It's the first language of the Egyptians that she speaks the best. Of course, it is not called that on her planet.

Their jets are twice as fast as ours and twice as powerful. That's why our jets are like their airliners. I wonder what our airliners are like — piper cubs maybe? At the moment she is living off a ration on the ocean. She said that with the great population increase, cities had to be built on the ocean. Our scientists have 9' 8" of that. She has shown them how it's done. J. I. About her.

Do you think doing away with unions is a good idea? What do you think would be good in their place? Is there anything that could control them but still have them in effect and in action? Would something like this work out? Are the unions getting too powerful and accepting a lot of power not in their reach?

To find the answers these questions and others, tune in next week for our show over most local radio — TV — airplane stations. No, seriously. If I knew the answers, you'd have them, but only time will tell them unless someone like Sally tell us. Or perhaps someone in the know will tell all. Who knows except one? Time to close. It comes every week. Sure hope you try to take it easy. Have fun Missph.

SUMMER BOATING ACCIDENTS ARE ON THE INCREASE!

Close to eight million small craft — from row boats to yachts — are afloat this summer on inland and coastal waterways. It has been estimated that almost forty million persons — one fourth of the nation's population — are sailing, rowing, paddling, or steering a motor boat, making boating one of the fastest growing sports in the country.

As boating increases in popularity, there is a corresponding increase in boating accidents. Close to 1,500 persons will lose their lives in boating accidents this year.

These precautions can help prevent boating mishaps:

- Stay ashore in bad or threatening weather. Learn to recognize signs of storms, so that when out in a boat, you can return in time when bad weather threatens.
- Don't "overpower" your boat. Many boats carry the Outboard Boating Club of America plate telling the maximum horsepower the boat's outboard motor should have. If your boat does not have such a plate, consult a reliable marine dealer for the information BEFORE buying or renting an outboard motor.
- Don't overload your boat. One adult passenger to a seat is considered a good rule of thumb.
- Avoid sudden or excessive bursts of speed.
- When in trouble, think — don't panic.

To save your life if an accident occurs the following advice should be kept in mind:

- Know how to swim.
- Before leaving shore, tell someone where you're going, and then stick to this cruise plan.
- Provide a life preserver for every passenger. Insist that non-swimmers wear a life preserver when in your boat.
- Equip your boat with oars, an anchor line, a fire extinguisher, a first aid kit, a whistle for signaling, and, if you go out at night, flares for signaling.
- Most boats will float when swamped or capsized. Look to your boat as a safety device, and if it is floating after an accident, stay with it.

MAIL BOX

To the editor:

Montgomery County politicians and planners (egged on by "do-gooders" and Federal bureaucrats spending your tax money) are forcing you, and me, and all other taxpayers in the County and in Pennsylvania and in the nation, to chip in millions of our hard-earned tax dollars to pay 5/8ths of the cost of redeveloping tiny sections of Cheltenham and Lower Merion townships (as we've already been forced to pay 5/8ths of the cost of redeveloping parts of Philadelphia and other large cities).

The same politicians and planners have told taxpayers in Cheltenham and Lower Merion that they will have to pay for only 1/8th of redeveloping their townships, and that all of us Federal and State taxpayers will foot the bill for the other 3/8ths (plus the thousands of extra dollars already squandered to "sell" these bond-selling redeveloping schemes to those who are foolish enough to accept them).

Have the bureaucrats, the politicians and the planners no sympathy at all for (1) young parents trying to provide for their families; (2) retired folk who, in good faith, saved what they thought was enough to see them through their later years; and (3) private property owners whose high taxes often rob them of the funds they need to "redevelop" or repair their own homes? Are there no non-socialist, economy-minded politicians left in either the Republican or the Democratic Party who will give some consideration to hard-pressed taxpayers and over-burdened consumers? Are there no political office holders left who are interested in trying to reduce taxes instead of always giving in to the pressure groups, the "do-gooders" and the Federal bureaucrats who do little but dream up bigger, costlier bond-schemes on which to squander ever larger tax revenues?

Our County Commissioners have enough surplus tax funds

Roof Blaze At Dy-Dee Wash Plant

Damage Light: 10 Fire Engines Respond to Calls

Fire damaged the roof and a lint trap at Dy-Dee Service Inc., 4136 Mitchell St., Roxborough, at 11 A. M. yesterday.

Edward Ludman, maintenance supervisor at the plant, said workers are coating the roof with a roof compound and a spark from the plant's smoke stack apparently ignited the roofing material.

Ten pieces of apparatus were dispatched to the scene from two engine companies.

Ludman said he pulled alarm box in the plant garage.

Joseph Rafter, a member of the maintenance crew, pulled the alarm box on a pole on Mitchell St.

Ludman said damage could not be estimated until a thorough inspection is made. A lint screen in the roof lint trap was destroyed.

The consuming question — "When do we eat?"

Two Women Hurt in Crash

Two women were injured when the car in which they were riding collided with another at Sixth Ave. and Maple St. at 1:45 P. M. yesterday.

Mrs. Angela Piza, of 440 W. 10th Ave., and Theresa Campi, of 200 W. 10th Ave., were taken to Montgomery hospital in the Washington Fire Co. rescue truck.

Mrs. Piza was detained for x-rays for back injury and Miss Campi for possible fracture of the right arm.

Officers Samuel Cardamone and Jesse Zadroga, who investigated, reported a car driven by C. Arthur Breneman, of Allentown, was traveling west on Sixth Ave. and collided with the women's car.

Breneman told the officers he failed to see a stop sign because a truck was parked at the curb unloading beer at a tavern.

Golden Knights Win Park Title

The Golden Knights of the Plymouth Meeting Park Civic Association Softball League annexed the championship by beating the Ridge Runners last Thursday in a wild slugfest at the Plymouth Consolidated school field, Butler Pike.

Trailing 10-0 at the end of the fifth, the Knights got with it in the top of the seventh, scoring 12 runs for an exciting 14-11 triumph.

The big inning featured eight straight hits. In fading twilight, the Ridge Runners threatened in the bottom of the seventh when Frank Malcot reached first on an infield error.

Pitcher Al Stralickis bow down and retired the last two batters on strikeouts to give the heavy hitting Knights the title.

Bernard Haskin, president of the civic group, called balls and strikes.

Pretty Singapore Girl Thrilled by Selection As Springside Student

By Libby McCall

She is as dainty and charming as Myoshi Umeki, the star of Flower Drum Song. She is five feet one and wears a size 8 dress and is delighting everyone who meets her.

The young lady in question is 18-year-old Ivy Constance Chua Leng, known informally as Ivy of Singapore, who is going to spend the winter with Mr. and Mrs. W. Thacher Longstreth and their attractive and lively family — Anne, 17; Peter, 14; Ellen, 13, and Willie, 10 — and go to Springside as a senior.

Anne Longstreth, a lovely blue-eyed blonde, also is a senior. Ivy is one of 1500 young people from foreign lands who arrived in this country last month to spend a winter in the U. S. in a program sponsored by the American Field Service.

She says modestly, "I was picked out as the best student in my school and then interviewed before being chosen for A.F.S."

"I am multi-lingual! I speak Malay, Chinese in seven dialects, a little French and of course English. I can also write Chinese which has thousands of characters."

There are Malay, Chinese and English schools in Singapore and Ivy went to the English school. She also is an "Anglican," which would be an Episcopal here. She says most of the Chinese in Singapore are Christian and have come under Western influence a great deal.

She came by plane to Anchorage, Alaska, by way of Saigon, Manila and Tokyo and then to Milwaukee where she and other students went by bus to their various destinations.

Ivy said it was a most interesting flight. The plane was filled exclusively with students coming from the Far East to the U. S. all under the A.F.S. program. There were boys and girls from Cambodia, Laos, the Philippines, Japan and Indonesia.

The young man from Indonesia boasted he could say "I love you" in 47 different languages.

She first spent three weeks visiting a family in Delaware, arriving in Chestnut Hill Aug. 23.

Ivy is delighted with America. "Everyone is so friendly and I think it is wonderful to see so many people of different racial backgrounds getting on so happily."

Ivy already has met Miss Eleanor Potter, headmistress of Springside, and likes her very much. She is enjoying television. There is none in Singapore.

Ivy is looking forward to experiencing a cold winter and playing in the snow, because "it is always Summer in Singapore." Anne Longstreth suggested that she would get awfully tired of our snow and high wind.

Ivy also loves to dance and Anne is planning to take her to several parties in Chestnut Hill. Ivy went with her to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wolf's dance for their daughter Ginny Saturday night at their home at Germantown Ave. and Bells Mill Rd.

Mrs. Longstreth took her shopping and said she would have a proper American teenager's dress and Ivy found that she could fit into a size 8 evening gown. She loves to do Cha Cha and Rock and Roll which is popular in Singapore.

Ivy is determined to attend the University of Singapore after her winter in Chestnut Hill. She plans first to do two years of work at a sort of Junior college which is customary in Singapore after which she will take four years of law, specializing in international law.

Her father is associated with a big Danish export and import company in Singapore. She has a sister Dolly, who is 21, and in her final year of college where she is majoring in geography, and a brother Ronnie, 14, still in school. Their mother is deceased.

Her great grandfather came from Canton, China and her great aunt still lives there, not having been able to get away. The family often sends her money as life in Communist China is very difficult.

"We have nothing to do with China today," she says proudly "we are all loyal Singaporeans."

An additional accomplishment is writing poetry. After much teasing from Anne and Willie Longstreth who were present during our interview she finally produced a book of poetry she had written in English, the cover of which she had decorated with an attractive picture of a flower garden. She shyly read a few. "Oh sweet mortal, hold me in thy arms again."

For when I beheld the moon-beams on their temple play'd I saw my image in thy eyes 'That seemed to sparkle like starry mirrors.

"That dazzled into mine."

She has had several published in magazines in Singapore and should like her work published in America.

As we said goodbye to this charming young girl she said "I fear I have talked entirely too much and told you too much about my life." We laughed and said "Not at all" and we hope our readers will agree. Her description of Singapore, it seems to us, just as aptly describes her: "entirely modern with an Oriental touch."

Governor OKs Pulaski Expressway

Signs Proclamation Designating New Road Bear General's Name

A recent proclamation signed by Gov. David L. Lawrence, designating the proposed Conchester Road-Chester Expressway as "Pulaski Expressway" is of interest locally.

The Pulaski Expressway when completed, will parallel Route 13 from the Delaware border into the City of Philadelphia. It will be part of the federal interstate system.

The exploits of Gen. Pulaski, commander of U. S. Cavalry during the Revolutionary War, are well known in Valley Forge, Upper Merion, Whitmarsh, Worcester, Skipack, Plymouth, Towamencin and Germantown.

The Governor's Proclamation: "I, David L. Lawrence, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, recognize that the House of Representatives of the General Assembly has enacted a Resolution of the 17th day of March, 1959, recommending that the Conchester Road-Chester Expressway, when constructed, be designated as the Pulaski Expressway."

"The Resolution adopted by the House of Representatives reads as follows: 'General Casimir Pulaski, the Polish-American hero of the Revolutionary War gave his life that we in America might today be free. Roof Blaze At Dy-Dee Wash Plant

Damage Light; 10 Fire Engines Respond to Calls

Fire damaged the roof and a lint trap at Dy-Dee Service Inc., 4139 Mitchell St., Roxborough, at 11 A. M. yesterday.

Edward Ludman, maintenance supervisor at the plant, said workers are coating the roof with a fire retardant and a spark from the plant's smoke stack apparently ignited the roofing material.

Ten pieces of apparatus were dispatched to the scene from two engine companies.

Ludman said he pulled alarm box in the plant garage.

Joseph Raffier, a member of the maintenance crew, pulled the alarm box on a pole on Mitchell St.

Ludman said damage could not be estimated until a thorough inspection is made. A lint screen in the roof lint trap was destroyed.

The consuming question — "When do we eat?"

Pretty Singapore Girl Thrilled by Selection As Springside Student

By Libby McCall

She is as dainty and charming as Miyoshi Umei, the star of Flower Drum Song. She is five feet one and wears a size 8 dress and is delightfully shy who meets her.

The young lady in question is 15-year-old Ivy Constance Chua Leng, known informally as Ivy of Singapore, who is going to spend the Winter with Mr. and Mrs. W. Thacher Longstreth and their attractive and lively family — Anne, 17; Peter, 14; Ellen, 13, and Willie, 10 — and go to Springside as a senior.

Ms. Longstreth, a lovely blue-eyed blonde, also is a senior. Ivy is one of 1500 young people from foreign lands who arrived in this country last month to spend a Winter in the U. S. in a program sponsored by the American Field Service.

She says modestly, "I was picked out as the best student in my school and then interviewed before being chosen by the A.F.S."

"I am multi-lingual. I speak Malay, Chinese in seven dialects, a little French and of course English. I can also write Chinese which has thousands of characters."

There are Malay, Chinese and English schools in Singapore. She also is an "Anglican," which would be an Episcopalian here. She says most of the Chinese in Singapore are Christian and have come under Western influence a great deal.

She came by plane to Anchorage, Alaska, by way of Saigon, Manila and Tokyo and then to Milwaukee where she and other students went by bus to their various destinations.

Ivy said it was a most interesting flight. The plane was filled exclusively with students coming from the Far East to the U. S. all under the AFS program. There were boys and girls from Cambodia, Laos, the Philippines, Japan and Indonesia.

The young man from Indonesia boasted he could say "I love you" in 57 different languages.

She first spent three weeks visiting a family in Delaware, arriving in Chestnut Hill Aug. 25.

Ivy is delighted with America. "Everyone is so friendly and I think it is wonderful to see so many people of different racial backgrounds getting on so happily."

Ivy already has met Miss Dorothy Potter, headmistress of Springside, and likes her very much. She is enjoying television. There is none in Singapore.

Ivy is looking forward to experiencing a cold Winter and playing in the snow, because "it is always Summer in Singapore." Anne Longstreth suggested that she would get awfully tired of our snow and high wind.

Ivy also loves to dance and Anne is planning to take her to several parties in Chestnut Hill. Ivy went with her to Mr. W. and Mrs. Robert Wolff's dance for their daughter, Ginny Saturday night at their home at Germantown Ave. and Bells Mill Rd. Mrs. Longstreth took her shopping beforehand so she would have a proper American wardrobe. Ivy found that she could fit into a size 5 evening gown. She loves to do Cha Cha and Rock and Roll.

Ivy is popular in Singapore. She is determined to attend the University of Singapore after her Winter in Chestnut Hill. She plans first to do two years of work at a sort of Junior college which is

The exploits of Gen. Pulaski, commander of U. S. Cavalry during the Revolutionary War, are well known in Valley Forge, Upper Merion, Whitemarsh, Worcester, Skipack, Plymouth, Towamencin and Germantown.

The Governor's Proclamation: "I, David L. Lawrence, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, recognize that the House of Representatives of the General Assembly has enacted a Resolution on the 17th day of March, 1959, recommending that the Conchester Road Expressway, when constructed, be designated as the Pulaski Expressway."

The Resolution adopted by the House of Representatives reads as follows: "General Casimir Pulaski the Polish-American hero of the Revolutionary War gave his last that we in America might today be free. "So great was his desire of passing the rest of his life in a country truly free that he offered his services to the American cause for no other compensation than freedom and when he accepted his yearly pay he used the funds to equip his own soldiers."

General Casimir Pulaski, "Father of American Cavalry," highly distinguished himself as a volunteer in the American Light Horse during and immediately subsequent to the Battle of Brandywine on September 11, 1777.

"Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania request the Governor of Pennsylvania to name the Conchester Road Expressway (when constructed) as the 'Pulaski Expressway.'"

"In honor of General Casimir Pulaski, who distinguished himself as a volunteer in the American forces during the Revolutionary War, I officially designate the Conchester Road Expressway as the 'Pulaski Expressway.'"

Back-to-School

Dear Friends: I'm sorry I haven't been writing to you, but I've been away. My Aunt Gayle and my Uncle Jimmy came up from Georgia to see my sister, Nancy, get married to William A. Wolfe.

Then my uncle and aunt had to go back to Georgia. Since I was invited to motor along with them, I asked my mother and father if I could visit Georgia.

At first it was "no," then, "well, maybe." The day Dr. and Mrs. James L. McGuigan and my cousins Wayne, Susan and Nita Kay were leaving, my answer, finally, was "yes." Yippee!

Since I was already packed (in anticipation of traveling) all I had to do was to take my suitcase and put it in Aunt Gayle's air-conditioned station wagon, get something to eat, and away we did go.

My parents said, "boy, you pack fast!" And I said, "just call me Speedy." Guess that was kind of fresh, the "Speedy" part.

At about noon Tuesday, Aug. 25, we started out for Georgia. We traveled through four states in 10 minutes! Fast? Well, not exactly. You see, we traveled through Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia and Virginia, in about an hour and 10 minutes. But we had to change our watches back one hour. So actually, it did look as though we completed that tour of four states in 10 minutes.

We got to Natural Bridge in Virginia that first night and stayed at a motel. The next morning we visited Natural Bridge. It was my first time to see this oddity of nature. But my uncle, aunt and cousins visited it on their way to Pennsylvania.

DiIorio was taken to the Chestnut Hill hospital where he was treated and discharged.

Damages to the Ridgeway car, a Chevrolet sedan, were estimated at $125.

The Steel Strike Is

GOOD NEWS ABROAD

In Germany, Italy, Belgium, England, Japan and other countries, men are happily making steel to send to the United States—itsself the greatest steelmaking nation in the world.

The steel they are sending here means jobs and wages lost to American steelworkers forever.

Long before the strike began, however, imports of foreign steel were rising while exports of American steel were falling. Since December 1958 monthly steel imports have exceeded exports, for the first time in modern history.

One of the chief reasons for this is that steelworkers' wages abroad are only one-third to one-seventh as much as the American steelworker gets.

Yet the leaders of the steel Union in this country have called 500,000 steelworkers out on strike for more inflation—and an even wider wage gap between the U. S. A. and its foreign competitors.

Here from recent trade reports are a few examples which highlight the growing threat of foreign steel imports:

- A manufacturer of fencing, nails and wire for 58 years has completely closed one of his plants. The reason: foreign competition.
- A steel mill which regularly shipped 24,000 tons of barbed wire annually, sold only 220 tons in 1958.
- So far this year imports of plumbers' pipe on the West Coast have averaged 13,000 tons a month—substantially more than total American production in that area.
- At Houston, Texas, 21,600 tons of steel from Belgium and Japan were unloaded in a single day. And two other ships were waiting to unload steel.
- About 50 percent of all the steel being consumed in Dallas, Texas, is foreign-made.
- During the second quarter of this year imports of foreign steel poured into the eleven Southern states at the annual rate of 2,000,000 tons. This would provide full-time employment for 13,200 men and an annual payroll of $90,000,000.

The picture is not encouraging. If American industry cannot produce steel products more efficiently and at lower cost, the jobs of many more steelworkers will be permanently lost.

The logical solution to this problem is to hold wage costs in line here at home while we strive to improve our industrial efficiency and regain our technological advantages over foreign producers.

There are two important ways to improve efficiency. One is to continue to install the most modern facilities and equipment as rapidly as profits permit. The other is to eliminate waste and unnecessary work wherever they exist.

The Union has repeatedly denounced the profits necessary to pay for the modernization of our plants and has steadfastly opposed proposals to eliminate waste. Yet the companies still continue to hope that the Union will cooperate in meeting the problem of foreign competition.

The result could be a permanent gain for the steelworkers, the steel companies and the nation.
