Senator Adams Salutes Washington Fire Co. On 87th Anniversary

Conshohocken's firemen marked the 87th anniversary of Washington Fire Co. No. 1 Saturday night with a banquet in the company auditorium.

The more than 230 persons who attended heard former State Senator Howard Adams, president of the Berks County Firemen's Association, salute the company for its years of service to the community.

He told the volunteer firemen that a bill to establish a Fire Safety Commission and Fire Commissioner has been introduced in the state legislature.

He said that such a state organization would insure the safety of the school children of the Commonwealth.

"We will not have to fear a Chicago in Pennsylvania," the former senator said. He was referring to the fire which swept a school in the midwestern city two years ago, killing teachers and pupils alike.

He said the bill will need the support of residents of the state and told guests that fire officials will tell citizens in their respective communities to write to their state representatives when the measure comes up for a vote.

The proposal, he said, would do more for the people of Pennsylvania than any other resolution

Safety Record Dips, Alan Wood's Is Better Than National Average

Safety performances at Alan Wood Steel Co. must be improved in 1961, according to Harleston R. Wood, president, in his talk before more than 300 members of the company's safety committee and supervisory personnel, at an annual safety banquet at the David J. McDonald Labor Lyceum, Monday night.

Wood said the low frequency rate of 1.00 in 1958 had slumped to 2.33 in 1960. This was better than the national average for the steel industry of 3.51, he said, but reflected a downward trend which should be corrected. He urged the entire group to stress safety, by pitching in as a team, so the record does not go downhill another year.

Wood presented President's Awards to the departments with the top safety records in 1960. In Group "A" operating departments, Charles E. Pritchard, general superintendent of Mills, accepted the award for the Rolling and Finishing department. In the Service departments, the award was presented to John L. Clemens, assistant chief, Plant Protection.

William E. Boger, vice president, Operations, presented these awards to other departments and individuals with outstanding safety performances: A nine-year plaque to the Blooming Mill, with Samuel Warburton, safety committeeman accepting; seven-year award to Metallurgical department, Joseph Rogers, accepting; three-year plaque to the Coke and Chemicals department, William Johnson, accepting; a gold watch to Francis Murphy, Steel Works truck driver, for 20 years of safe driving; a $25 Savings Bond to Joseph Washington, Steel Works truck driver, for 15 years of safe driving and wallets to Leroy Myers and J. B. Satterwhite, Steel Works truck drivers, for 10 years of safe driving.

Additional "departmental awards" were presented by Robert F. Grooves, director of personnel, and went to A. D. Dennis, for Service departments, two years without an accident; Robert Ford, Cold Strip Mill, two years; Thomas J. Jern, Iron Powder, one year, and Nicholas (Continued on Page Seven)

Pharmacist Says Many Places Safe

A previously confidential report of the State Health department concerning sanitation violations in the Borough of Conshohocken was read at an adjourned meeting of borough council Tuesday night by Dr. Henry J. Olsta, health officer.

The report, published in the Feb. 9 edition of The Conshohocken Recorder, concerned two surveys of the borough's restaurants and taprooms made last October by inspectors of the State Board of Health.

The surveys were completed at the request of Dr. Olsta, who wanted to find out if the borough's establishments were up to the regulations of Pennsylvania's Act 369, passed in 1945.

Among the violations listed are: Rat harborage, an open trash dump, loose-lidded garbage cans and illegal burning of trash and garbage in metal containers.

(Since the October survey, the Borough Board of Health has used 300 pounds of rat poison to kill the pests.)

Also included were sewage violations. (Continued on Page Five)

THE FIRING LINE

THE URGENT NEED for more judges in Montgomery county, as advocated by President Judge William F. Dannhefer, was never more evident than it is right now.

Proof positive that the local courts are sorely understaffed is there for everyone to see during the current two-week term of Criminal Court which began Monday at the Court House.

Altogether, over 100 cases are scheduled to be processed in nine days, the term being cut short by virtue of the closing of the Court House on Washington's birthday.

The list includes two murder trials. Each of these will tie up a judge for at least one week since it usually takes a day or two before a jury can be selected.

This week 61 cases are listed by the District Attorney before four judges Judge Groshens will not preside over any of the trials, devoting his time to handling miscellaneous matters.

Many of the trials involve three, four and even five defendants charged with multiple crimes that will require days to complete.

One of the judges on the bench this week was sent here by the State Supreme Court to help out at the request of Judge Dannhefer. Another visiting judge will assist next week.

As a matter of fact, Judge Dannhefer has asked that outside help be sent in for every term of Criminal and Civil Court throughout the year.

"Why then," it is being asked, "are some of Judge Dannhefer's colleagues insisting that Montgomery County has a sufficient number of judges?"

No one can supply the answer except the objectors themselves, and the stock reply has been twofold:

1. "The backlog of cases has been cut down substantially and we are fast catching up."

2. "There is no room in the overcrowded Court House for another judge."

Teen-Ager Finds Mother Suffocated

Life Snuffed Out In Plastic Bag In Lonely Room

Nancy Smith, 16, a junior at Plymouth — Whitmarsh High school, found her mother dead by suffocation, in a plastic bag over her head, in a room on the third floor of her home at 4 E. Germantown Ave., Plymouth Meeting at 4 P. M. Friday.

Her mother, Mrs. Nancy Neuberger Smith, a widow at 39 was a registered nurse who received her training at Chestnut Hill hospital. The high school student, an only child, discovered her mother's lifeless body when she arrived at home after receiving care at the office of a physician in Chestnut Hill for injury sustained in an automobile accident two months ago. The teenager's neck is in a brace.

Mrs. Smith was a member of Grace Lutheran Church, Wyndmoor. A brother, Nathaniel G. Wells, lives at 22 Windsor Rd., Erdelheim.

The Rev. W. Chester Hill, pastor of the church, officiated at services at 1 P. M. Monday at the Ardell Funeral Home, 300 Fayette St., Conshohocken.

Dr. John C. Simpson, Montgomery County coroner, pronounced death due to suffocation, self-inflicted.

Miss Smith found her mother lying face down on a bedspread in the bedroom of the third floor apartment in a large dwelling directly opposite the Plymouth Meeting Post Office. She went to the room after calls for "Mother" went unanswered.

Men To Visit Penitentiary

The Men's Association of Conshohocken United Presbyterian Church will visit the Pennsylvania State Penitentiary at Graterford at 6:15 Friday Feb. 24.

The transparent bag, similar to the kind used in covering many commercial products, covered Mrs. Smith's head.

The girl telephoned Edward L. Edelstein, of 109 Shasta Rd., Plymouth Meeting her mother's attorney, who had just dropped her off at the house. He had taken her to and from the appointment with her physician.

The attorney notified Sgt. John W. Lebold and Patrolmen Robert Hupp and John Schimpf of the Whitmarsh Township Police, who went to the apartment.

They summoned Dr. Joseph L. Bard, of Plymouth Meeting and also the Whitmarsh Township community ambulance. Dr. Bard pronounced Mrs. Smith dead. The body was removed to the Ardell Funeral Home.

Mrs. Smith was a patient at Coatesville Veterans Hospital, for a year, officials said, but was discharged about a year ago.

On the nursing staff at Bryn Mawr hospital for some months, an official there said she resigned about a month ago to care for a member of her family. She told them she later planned to engage in private duty, because the hospital work was too demanding for her.

A graduate of Chestnut Hill Hospital School of Nursing in 1942, she had been on a case in private nursing capacity at the hospital about a month ago, a spokesman said.

A native of Lawrence, Mass., Mrs. Smith was a daughter of Susie Lewis and Everett Wells.

During World War 2 she served as an Army nurse at Kirkland Air Force Base, Albuquerque, N. M. Surviving also are two sisters, Mrs. Pauline Hornberger, of Ardmore, and Mrs. John N. Brev, of North Lane, near Cedar Heights and two brothers, William Wells, in the U. S. Air Force at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., and James Wells, of Pittsburgh.

Elmo Sentence Next Thursday

Lawyers for convicted rapist-murderer Elmo Smith, turned down by President Judge W. C. Sheely, of Adams County Court, will go to the State Supreme Court in their attempt to gain a new trial for their client.

Smith, a 40-year-old Bridgeport handyman, was found guilty by a jury last September 2 of the rape-slaying of Maryann Mitchell, 16-year-old Manayunk schoolgirl. The jury fixed the penalty at death in the electric chair.

Smith's lawyers, Gilbert P. High Jr. and Joseph P. Phelps Jr., both appointed by the court, said they will file their appeal for a new trial after Judge Sheely formally passes sentence and sets the death date on Feb. 23.

The judge handed down a 14-page explanation on Feb. 8 for his rejection of a new trial. He said, in part: "We conclude that we have no power to interfere with the exercise by the jury of its discretion in fixing the penalty."

"The defendant was found guilty of a brutal, inhuman and atrocious murder which was clearcut first degree."

"If the death penalty is to be imposed in any case, the facts and circumstances of this case bitterly cry for the imposition of that penalty because there were no extenuating or mitigating circumstances."

"The associate judges and the presiding judge who sat through the trial are in complete agreement with the jury's verdict. We can find no abuse of discretion on the part of the jury."

The motion for a new trial was argued before Judge Sheely by Smith's lawyers.

High told the court the defense didn't contend the verdict was correct.

trary to the law or the evidence, but that the jurors had overstepped their bounds when they sought assurance that Smith would never be paroled if sentenced to life imprisonment.

While the jury was deliberating the penalty to impose on Smith, the court was asked if the jurors could be assured Smith would never be paroled.

Uncertainties Mount In the United Nations To Disadvantage of U.S.

by Ellen Jarden Nolde

The complexion of the United Nations is changing. And by complexion is meant, although that is the most obvious. Fifteen years ago, almost all who roamed the halls were white, with the exception of the Liberians, a few Asians and the swarthy Latinos. Today, white faces may still be in the majority, but those of darker skins really exceed them in number, if each delegation were counted.

In 1945, when the United Nations Charter was written at San Francisco, the majority of delegations held a point of view that corresponded with the American type of thought. There were the North and Latin Americans, the Western Europeans, Australia, New Zealand and the Arab countries. Even the Russians, although in frequent opposition to many provisions, had the common legal and moral background, going back to ancient Greece and Rome. Therefore the charter was Western in its nature and interpretation.

During the first ten years, this dominance prevailed. The largest single block was the Latinos, 21 countries, and their vote as a solid group was often responsible for the majority decision. During these years the membership was increased by only two nations, Indonesia and Israel. But as time went on, a list of 20 applicants grew, sitting on the side lines and waiting for admission. Some of these were definitely communist dominated, other, such as Japan and Ireland, leaned more towards the West. For that lengthy period of time none was admitted. The United States vetoed the Soviet countries, and the Soviet Union, feeling itself underrepresented anyway, vetoed the others. A particular stumbling block was Outer Mongolia.

At San Francisco the United States had reluctantly agreed to the Soviet Union claim for independent membership for its two territories, Byelorussia and the Ukraine. But Outer Mongolia was rejected firmly. In the first place it did not have a government, and in the second, there was a strong question as to whether it was not really part of China.

In the early years the Soviet Union proposed a "package deal." "You admit our four and we'll admit your ten. The United States indignantly refused. Membership in the United Nations was on individual worthiness, not on deals. But as time went on the number of applicants increased, and the doctrine the United Nations should not be a private club, but open to all nations, became increasingly favored. So in 1952 the United States reversed its stand and proposed a "package deal" by which they would vote for the Soviet sponsored states, exclusive of Outer Mongolia, while in return the Soviet Union would drop its demand for inclusion of the divided countries, such as Germany and Korea. As a result 20 new states were admitted to membership. In the next five years still another five came in, but the full impact of the new and different membership was not felt until this year's Assembly when 15 newly independent African states and Cyprus suddenly joined the community.

The membership had now increased from 50 to 99. During the first 10 years, familiar faces kept re-appearing and there was a sense of friendliness and relaxation. The voting could often be predicted ahead of time with the question, "How are the Latinos going to vote?" being the key factor.

Now the Lounge is so full it is almost impossible to locate a friend, or to struggle to the back room for a cup of coffee. The dining room tables are apportioned to delegations and the Assembly Hall looks like something out of the wrong end of a telescope.

Senator Adams Salutes Washington Fire Co. On 87th Anniversary

Conshohocken's firemen marked the 87th anniversary of Washington Fire Co. No. 1 Saturday night with a banquet in the company auditorium.

The more than 230 persons who attended heard former State Senator Howard Adams, president of the Berks County Firemen's Association, salute the company for its years of service to the community.

He told the volunteer firemen that a bill to establish a Fire Safety Commission and Fire Commissioner has been introduced in the state legislature.

He said that such a state organization would insure the safety of the school children of the Commonwealth.

"We will not have to fear a Chicago in Pennsylvania," the former senator said. He was referring to the fire which swept a school in the midwestern city two years ago, killing teachers and pupils alike.

He said the bill will need the support of residents of the state and told guests that fire officials will tell them in their respective communities to write to their state representatives when the measure comes up for a vote.

The proposal, he said, would move for the people of Pennsylvania

Safety Record Dips, Alan Wood's Is Better Than National Average

Safety performances at Alan Wood Steel Co. must be improved to 233 in 1960. This was better than the national average for the steel industry of 351, he said, but reflected a downward trend which should be corrected. He urged the entire group to stress safety, by picking in as a team, so the record does not go downhill another year.

Wood presented President's Awards to the departments with the top safety records in 1960. In Group "A," operating departments, Charles E. Pritchard, general superintendent of Mills, accepted the award for the Rolling and Finishing department. In the Service departments, the award was presented to John L. Clemens, assistant chief, Plant Protection.

William E. Boger, vice president, Operations, presented these awards to other departments and individuals with outstanding safety performances: A nine-year plaque to the Blooming Mill, with Samuel Warburton, safety committeeman accepting; seven-year award to Metallurgical department, Joseph Rogers, accepting; three-year plaque to the Coke and Chemicals department, William Johnson, accepting; a gold watch to Francis Murphy, Steel Works truck driver, for 20 years of safe driving; a $25 Savings Bond to Joseph Mashinton, Steel Works truck driver, for 15 years of safe driving and wallets to Leroy Myers and J. B. Satterwhite, Steel Works truck drivers, for 10 years of safe driving.

Additional "departmental awards were presented by Robert P. Grooves, director of personnel, and went to A. D. Dennis, for Service departments, two years without an accident; Robert Ford, Cold Strip Mill, two years; Thomas Jorna, Iron Powder, one year, and Nicholas

Pharmacist Says Many Places Safe

A recently confidential report of the State Health department concerning sanitation violations in the Borough of Conshohocken was read at an adjourned meeting of borough council Tuesday night by Dr. Henry J. Olsta, health officer.

The report, published in the Feb. 9 edition of The Conshohocken Recorder, concerned two surveys of the borough's restaurants and taprooms made last October by inspectors of the State Board of Health.

The surveys were completed at the request of Dr. Olsta, who wanted to find out if the borough's establishments were up to the regulations of Pennsylvania's Act 369, passed in 1945.

Among the violations listed are: Rat harborage, an open trash dump, loose-lidded garbage cans and illegal burning of trash and garbage in metal containers.

(Since the October survey, the Borough Board of Health has used 300 pounds of rat poison to kill the pests.)

Also included were sewage viola-

THE FIRING LINE

THE URGENT NEED for more judges in Montgomery county, as advocated by President Judge William F. Dannehower, was never more evident than it is right now.

Proof positive that the local courts are sorely understaffed is there for everyone to see during the current two-week term of Criminal Court which began Monday at the County House.

Altogether, over 100 cases are scheduled to be processed in nine days, the term being cut short by virtue of the closing of the Court House on Washington's birthday.

The list includes two murder trials. Each of these will tie up a judge for at least one week since it usually takes a day or two before a jury can be selected.

This week, 61 cases are laid by the District Attorney before four judges. Judge Groshens will not preside over any of the trials, devoting his time to handling miscellaneous matters.

Many of the trials involve three, four and even five defendants charged with multiple crimes that will require days to complete.

One of the judges on the bench this week was sent here by the State Supreme Court to help out at the request of Judge Dannehower. Another visiting judge will assist next week.

As a matter of fact, Judge Dannehower has asked that outside help be sent in for every term of Criminal and Civil Court throughout the year.

"Why then," it is being asked, "are some of Judge Dannehower's colleagues insisting that Montgomery County has a sufficient number of judges?"

No one can supply the answer except the objectors themselves, and the stock reply has been twofold:

1. "The backlog of cases has been cut down substantially and we are fast catching up."

2. "There is no room in the overcrowded Court House for another judge."

Apparently, Judge Dannehower

Borough Tax Rate Retained

Conshohocken's tentative budget for 1961 calls for expenditures of $246,609.67, an increase of $5,395.01 over 1960.

The budget is based on retention of a 24-mill tax rate. Last year's budget totaled $241,214.66.

The additional money will be spent as follows:

Recreation, $2,000 increase; the borough's two fire companies, $1,000 more each; six paid holidays for the borough's police department; and a $300 raise for the borough solicitor.

The 24 mills are cut three ways. Twenty mills goes to the general fund, two mills for debt service and two mills for lighting service.

The budget must be advertised for 30 days before it becomes law. Councilman Elmer Munro is chairman of the budget committee.

On motion of Councilman Dominic Ruggiero, the borough employed Francis J. Mullen of Norristown

Fashion Show Will Provide Hint of Spring

At the February meeting last Thursday of the White Marsh Women's Club at the Barren Hill Fire Dr. P. Fossil, of Swarthmore, talked on "The U. S. and the World Situation."

The interesting patchwork arrangement of how some countries have been divided by the Communists was explored—one part of a country is free, then, just a short distance away, an Iron Curtain is on everything.

Mrs. Ralph Bloomsburg presided.

The card party and fashion show to be held Monday, March 13, at the Barren Hill Fire Dr. will provide more than just a hint of Spring. Bert's Village Shop will show lovely spring and summer fashions with emphasis on sports-wear and bathing suits. Fashions will be modeled by club members.

Mrs. Edwin Allison and Mrs. Earl Morris are co-chairmen. They are aided by Mrs. Philip DiPietro, ticket chairman; Mrs. Philip McLean, door prizes; Mrs. W. Seeburger, table prizes; Mrs. John Lavin, Mrs. James McDermott, Mrs. John Thompson, Mrs. Emil Schurr, Mrs. Frank Williams, Mrs. John Cronin, Mrs. M. Hunter, Mrs. Joseph Uhl, Mrs. Sante Alleva, Mrs. John Sovering, Mrs. George Hutchinson and Mrs. James McElwee.

The garden department held its February meeting and had as their speaker, A. Vick of Vick's Wild Garden in Gladwyn. He brought beautiful color slides of wild flowers in their natural habitat.

The winner of the Little Flower show at the meeting was Mrs. Joseph Roebuck.

Mrs. Iva Storck was welcomed as a new member. The garden department has arranged for a bus to transport members and friends to the Phila. Flower Show on March 9. Reservations should be telephoned to Mrs. J. John McLaughlin at TA 8-4414 before Feb. 28. The bus will leave the shopping center at 9:15 A. M.

There will be a book review breakfast given by the garden department at the home of Mrs. John McLaughlin, 4012 N. Warner Rd., Lafayette Hill, tomorrow at 10:30 A. M.

Brenda Lee seems to have the happiest place of all in that number one slot with her "Emotions." And it looks as though she may stay there awhile.

We may qualify that to say "I Shop Around" and "Pony Time" will give up trying to overcome her lead. But then we think Chubby Checker is just too much of a gentleman to do a thing like that!

Buzz Clifford has a cute hit with "Baby Sitter Boogie."

And the Everly Brothers will be gaining momentum with their sad "Ebony Eyes."

Thomas Road Inundated by Flood Waters

Thomas Rd. was flooded Sunday by flood water flowing from new developments of homes in the vicinity of Whitemarsh Valley Country Club into Wissahickon Creek.

A wide area of the golf links also was under water, the creek itself overflowing its banks early Sunday night.

Northwestern Ave. in Springfield township was under two feet of water.

Thomas J. White Sr., president of the board of supervisors of Whitemarsh township, who lives at 850 Thomas Rd., said he inspected flood conditions in the afternoon and evening and that flow of water in the creek subsided about 9 o'clock.

He said it apparently will be necessary to raise the level of Thomas Rd. and to install additional drainage pipes. White, a member of the country club, explained it was felt by engineers that recent installation of a sewerage system in the section would have alleviated flooding of the thoroughfare and golf course.

Deep water slowed traffic to a snail's pace as thick snow melted under the warm rays of the sun.

The road is maintained by the township. An appropriation in the 1961 budget has only a remote chance, a great deal of pruning already having been done.

Thomas Road Inundated by Flood Waters

Thomas Rd. was flooded Sunday by flood water flowing from new developments of homes in the vicinity of Whitemarsh Valley Country Club into Wissahickon Creek.

A wide area of the golf links also was under water, the creek itself overflowing its banks early Sunday night.

Northeastern Ave. in Springfield township was under two feet of water.

Thomas J. White Sr., president of the board of supervisors of Whitemarsh township, who lives at 850 Thomas Rd., said he inspected flood conditions in the afternoon and evening and that flow of water in the creek subsided about 9 o'clock.

He said it apparently will be necessary to raise the level of Thomas Rd. and to install additional drainage pipes. White, a member of the country club, explained it was felt by engineers that recent installation of a sewerage system in the section would have alleviated flooding of the thoroughfare and golf course.

Deep water slowed traffic to a snail's pace as thick snow melted under the warm rays of the sun. The road is maintained by the township. An appropriation in the 1961 budget has only a remote chance, a great deal of pruning already having been done.

Meet Your Neighbor Night

Pitch to Minorities Wins Elections But Majority Of Citizens Is Resentful

Elkins Wetherill, of Plymouth Meeting, chairman of the Montgomery County Commissioners, told 150 persons Tuesday night "the Republican Party must appeal to all Americans as individuals to win their support." He was the speaker at the Whitemarsh Elementary School on a "Meet Your Neighbor Night" program.

Wetherill was introduced by William S. Savage, chairman. Recorder of Deeds John S. Magill, was present.

Wetherill cited the "appeal to the individual" as "the great advantage the Republican Party has and must employ over our opposition."

Wetherill, GOP state director of President Organization said the Democrats' favorite pitch is to groups such as labor and the minorities.

"I believe that most people resent being labeled and dumped into categories to promote the vote-getting propaganda of the Democratic Party."

"The Republican Party stands for the rights and welfare of the individual. It always has. I hope it always will. For what the Republican Party advocates does work for the best interests of Americans whether they wear white collars or dungarees."

"Government giveaways may look good in the short run, but the truth is that it is the most expensive way of running government. We must convince the individuals their pocketbooks are robbed over the long run, because once such practices start they are tough to stop."

Wetherill answered many questions.

Savage referred to world events that are bringing "continents closer together and therefore the problems of each are of more concern than they were 20 years ago."

Savage said the meaning to the Republican Party and Whitemarsh township was that "if we are to be an informed community we must be aware of national and international problems. Politics work not only from the bottom up, but also from the top down."

Referring to the Republican Party in the county, he declared "we can no longer convince our neighbors that the Republican Party is best solely with fine words. We must show that we have got something better to offer than the Democratic Party and the best and only way, in my opinion, is to do so by appealing to their common sense and personalities."

Thomas Road Inundated by Flood Waters

Thomas Rd. was flooded Sunday by flood water flowing from new developments of homes in the vicinity of Whittemarsh Valley Country Club into Wissahickon Creek.

A wide area of the golf links also was under water, the creek itself overflowing its banks early Sunday night.

Northwestern Ave. in Springfield township was under two feet of water.

Thomas J. White Sr., president of the board of supervisors of Whittemarsh township, who lives at 850 Thomas Rd., said he inspected flood conditions in the afternoon and evening and that flow of water in the creek subsided about 9 o'clock.

He said it apparently will be necessary to raise the level of Thomas Rd. and to install additional drainage pipes. White, a member of the country club, explained it was felt by engineers that recent installation of a sewerage system in the section would have alleviated flooding of the thoroughfare and golf course.

Deep water slowed traffic to a snail's pace as thick snow melted under the warm rays of the sun.

The road is maintained by the township. An appropriation in the 1961 budget has only a remote chance, a great deal of pruning already having been done.

A year later when the firm was planning to establish its own photographic department, Dave, who never had shown an inclination for taking pictures even with a small box camera, expressed a wish to try out as a photographer. He helped set up a dark room and he mastered the operation of the Scan-A-Graver which transmits images from a print to plastic plates without coming into contact with the photo. ## Pitch to Minorities Wins Elections But Majority Of Citizens Is Resentful

Elkins Wetherill, of Plymouth Meeting, chairman of the Montgomery County Commissioners, told 150 persons Tuesday night "the Republican Party must appeal to all Americans as individuals to win their support." He was the speaker at the Whittemarsh Elementary School on a "Meet Your Neighbor Night" program.

Wetherill was introduced by William S. Savage, chairman. Recorder of Deeds John S. Magill, was present.

Wetherill cited the "appeal to the individual" as "the great advantage the Republican Party has and must employ over our opposition."

Wetherill, GOP state director of Precinct Organization said the Democrats' "favorite pitch is to groups such as labor and the minorities."

"I believe that most people resent being labeled and dumped into categories to promote the voting propaganda of the Democratic Party."

"The Republican Party stands for the rights and welfare of the individual. It always has. I hope it always will. For what the Republican Party advocates does work for the best interests of Americans whether they wear white collars or dungarees."

"Government giveaways may look good in the short run, but the truth is that it is the most expensive way of running government. We must convince the individuals their pocketbooks are accomplishing that goal. In addition, he sets every opportunity to re-write copy at the Daily News."

McCuen received honorable mention in the features category. He's 26. He and his wife and three sons, Robin, 7; Patrick, 6 and Timothy, 3, live at 9 McCloskey Rd., Flourtown. A new photographic subject — a girl? — will arrive in April.

Scene of the photo adjudged first in news pictures was the Schuylkill in Conshohocken while the rescue squad of Washington Fire Co. No. 1 was attempting to rescue a drowning man. First in news features was a picture of blind men framed in a white cane. This photo was "best of show."

does not agree, even a little bit, with these excuses, for he has not back-tracked one iota from his demand for not one, but two new judges.

And at long last his campaign seems to be bearing fruit.

Reports filtering through the Court House in recent weeks indicate the politicians are beginning to stir and are inclined toward putting the machinery in motion that would result in fulfilling Judge Dannenhoefer's request.

Before any new judges could be added to the County Court, vacancies would have to be created by the State Legislature. Appointments would then be made by the Governor.

WHO-IF ANYBODY—is advising freshman Congressman Richard Schweiker on publicity matters? The question is becoming more than academic with the passing of each day.

Since his term began in Washington, Schweiker has been sending a barrage of newspaper pictures to his publicity people, looking to do more harm than good. Almost daily, Schweiker's face can be seen peering from various newspaper columns in company with officials, "the folks back home," cuddly little kids and anyone willing to pose with him.

So apparent is the grab for publicity that the Schweiker image is beginning to suffer. Some persons believe the high-priced but low-rated PR man he hired for his election campaign is the cause. However, it's reported that Schweiker and the PR wheel have not been joyous companions since the loveless over the remains of Jack Lafore's ill-fated campaign venture.

Schweiker is providing the extreme of what Lafore was.

THE CRASH OF A SABENA AIRLINES jet near Brussels, Belgium last week, killing 73 persons, sent shivers running through the spine of Attorney Malcolm Campbell, one of Montgomery county's legal advisors.

Campbell remembered that just about a year ago he had taken the same flight out of New York to the Belgian capital enroute to England to visit his wife and children.

Although life insurance for air flights may be purchased by inserting a coin in an automatic dispenser at the airport, Campbell said he did not take advantage of the low cost coverage.

"I don't like to bet against myself," he decried.

The service is comparable and in some cases, precedes medical care. It has been proven that from domestic and emotional problems stem the physical and mental difficulties which exist in many cases. This is not a service which can be administered intermittently. Satisfactory results can be obtained only by working a situation until it has been resolved.

It is the hope of the V.N.A. members that through this appeal, some financial assistance will come forth in order to continue Family Counseling until the end of the year.

Particular note was made of the need for drivers to transport to the hospital those patients who require routine clinical care. Rev. Mr. Hartman suggested that special appeal be made to members of fire company auxiliaries and church groups. Response to this appeal by calling TA 8-0106 would be appreciated.

After sentencing, Smith was to be driven to the Graterford penitentiary for maximum security until the day of execution.

The jury which convicted Smith found him guilty of first degree murder and recommended the death penalty. His victim was a resident of Manayunk.

In the order, Judge Dannenhoefer directed Sheriff Reilly to transport Smith to Gettysburg.

"You are hereby authorized and commanded to take the body of Elmo Smith now confined in the Montgomery County Prison and safely convey him to the warden and jail in Adams County, in the Fifty-first Judicial District of Pennsylvania, at Gettysburg, Pa., so that he may appear before the Hon. W. Clarence Sheely, president Judge of said Judicial District, on Thursday, Feb. 23, 1967, for sentence in accordance with the finding of a jury of Adams County, after a change of venue was granted according to the order and decree of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania dated June 23, 1966."

tions and improper swamp cleanup procedures.

Present at the meeting were Harry G. Frey, supervising sanitarian of the Montgomery County Department of the State Board of Health, and L. M. Jones, sanitarian of the county department.

Jones said "leading citizens of the community simply do not eat" in the Conshohocken restaurants he surveyed because of alleged violations.

Frey said that more than half of the restaurants and taprooms were operating without health licenses and that 49 percent of all these establishments were violating the health laws.

He said he was "shocked to find such a widespread margin of public health violations in the borough."

"Unless a program is developed showing good faith in putting the borough on a proper public health level," he said, "we will ask Conshohocken to surrender its public health responsibilities."

George J. Rafferty, president of the Borough Board of Health, was at the council meeting when Dr. Olstad read the report.

Today, he issued a statement which read:

"In spite of the fact that the reading of the State Health Survey report did not present a good overall picture, things in general in the borough are not as bad as they might seem."

"There are many fine restaurants, luncheonettes and eating and drinking places in the borough which are conducting their businesses properly."

"The former are patronized by many of our leading citizens, executives and business people during the working and luncheon hours. It is true that many of our people may dine out of town."

The club occupies the former Green Lane Grammar school, which Ferguson left when he was a pupil in eighth grade to accept employment as an order boy in Mary Fella's meat market on Main St. in Manayunk. The market is now occupied by Penn Beef.

Proceeds are to be utilized for erection of an addition which will feature the Captain Ferguson gymnasium. A scale model in color is to be unveiled by Congressman Herman Toll of the Sixth District and Dr. L. Boguslaw, president of North Light, as a highlight of the festivities.

Music for dancing will be by Tom Darlington and his orchestra. Several well-known singers also are expected to give renditions while dinner is being served.

The dinner is sponsored by Friends of North Light in cooperation with Harold and Fran McCuen, co-editors of this newspaper. Reservations have been completed by 400 persons and a waiting list for tickets has been lengthening since Wednesday last week, according to John A. DiPullo, Roxborough custom tailor, who is chairman of the general committee in charge of arrangements.

Present to commend Capt. Ferguson and his wife, Rose, who live in upper Roxborough, will be Col. Frank G. McCartney, commissioner of the Pennsylvania State Police; Lt. Gov. and Mrs. John Morgan Davis, of Mt. Airy; Police Commissioner Albert N. Brown of Philadelphia; Congressman Toll and Councilman Alfred L. Luongo of the Sixth district. Also in attendance will be a large number of prominent jurists, Philadelphia's magistrates and other dignitaries.

Primarily, the dinner is to be given as a token of esteem by Captain Ferguson's hometown. He was born in Manayunk, he held his first position as a patrolman in the 12th Police district, he went into the armed forces in World War One from Manayunk and since his discharge he has lived in the 21st Ward, building, meanwhile, a nationwide reputation for his knack in bringing criminals to justice.

Two of the more recent cases solved by Capt. Ferguson and his 49 men are in headlines this week. One is the sentencing of Elmo L. Smith, Bridgeport handyman who brutally clubbed Maryann Mitchell to death a year and a month ago in Whitmarsh township. The other is that of the $478,000 Pottsville heist on Aug. 7, 1959, with its aftermath of intrigue and murder that rivals the famous Brinks robbery in Boston a number of years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Matthews, 226 E. 12th Ave., 23 years. Mr. Matthews also celebrated a Feb. 20 birthday.

State School Plan Aired

Spring Mill PTA welcomed members of the board of education to their meeting on Feb. 13. Mrs. B. Mitchell Simpson, Carl D. Buchholz Jr., C. Rush Barr, Edward Humphrey, and Veri DeCamp.

Cardin D. Brown, supervising principal of Plymouth-Whitmarsh schools; members of the Lafayette Consolidated PTA who were guests and George W. Byrne, principal of Spring Mill Elementary were also introduced by Ralph V. McKelvey, president.

Speaker was Dr. Gerald Hottenstein, superintendent of Montgomery County schools, spoke on "School District Reorganization."

He told of a Governor's committee which is now working on a plan to reduce the number of school districts in the Commonwealth for better efficiency and also of utmost advantage to students. This plan, which will soon be announced in its entirety, is a controversial subject and presents many problems.

He was introduced by program chairman, Mrs. Charles Oerkvitz. Refreshments were served by the hospitality unit of both schools, headed by Mrs. Francis Rudnicki and Mrs. William K. Lombard.

Axel H. Swanson Jr., chairman of a postponed ham supper, announces new date is March 18 and requested all members of the PTA to be present at the school March 17 to prepare for the event.

Plymouth GOP

Group Backs John H. Todd

Republicans of Third District Favor Him For Commissioner

The Regular Republican Organization of the third district of Plymouth township and a group of interested citizens have announced support of John H. Todd, of White's Rd., for commissioner.

Announcement of the endorsement came from Republican Committeewoman Harriet Wetherill. Mrs. Wetherill said Republican workers and citizens met with Todd before declaring their support.

Todd, a trust officer for Girard Trust Corn Exchange Bank for two years, was employed 13 years by the Continental Life Insurance Co.

He will oppose Lee M. Whetstone, Republican incumbent, in the primary.

Mrs. Wetherill said, "The decision to support Mr. Todd came after a careful assessment of what our district needs in a commissioner. We believe that Mr. Todd will offer the enlightened, vital leadership that will both strengthen the Republican Party and will work for the best interest of our citizens."

A native of Norristown, Todd attended Norristown Public schools and later received early training for sea duty on the Schoolship Annapolis for two years. Subsequently, he was employed by the American Export Lines as a junior officer and also was connected, for a time, with Alan Wood Steel Co. Todd also served in the U.S. Naval Inspection Service.

Todd is married to the former Louise Stauffer, of Norristown. They are the parents of three children, Peter, 21, a senior at Bowling Green State University, O.; John Jr., 18, a student at Chestnut Hill Academy and Anne, 14, a pupil in the ninth grade at Plymouth-Whitmarsh school.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

Your neighbors enlarging your world through service and science

In the business world, the reward for good performance is adequate earnings. The telephone company is no exception.

The reward for good business performance is also shared with others. Adequate earnings benefit everyone because they enable business to grow and make continually greater contributions to the public good. This, too, is as true of the telephone business as any other.

Adequate earnings . . . stimulate the vast—and vastly productive—telephone research program

But reward for good performance is a necessary incentive for us just as it is for other businesses. Adequate earnings are at the core of business growth and improvement—and a rising standard of living for us all. Because adequate earnings are so obviously in the public interest, they deserve public encouragement.

Companies are very human about incentives, too—for companies are only groups of people with their own hopes and goals. Incentives can work wonders for any business.

which has already done so much to improve your service and hold down its cost.

... encourage people to invest the money that helps pay for continued expansion and improvement. To meet Pennsylvania's communications needs over the next five years, we will have to spend over a half-billion dollars.

... provide stability—so that our employees can count on the job security essential to their planning for the future. Their steady purchases—and our own—make an important contribution to the economic stability of the community.

... generate tax revenues and jobs for employees whose earnings are also taxed. These taxes help government provide military, civil and social services.

We shall never forget our basic responsibility to provide you with the best possible telephone service at the lowest possible cost.

Colonials Move Up Springfield Game

Plymouth - Whitmarsh High school, who will meet Marple-Newtown tomorrow night in a Suburban Section Two contest, has rescheduled its game with Springfield High school (also) from Tuesday to Monday, according to James I. Graham, athletic director.

The change is made in an effort to unsmear the jam-up in the loop and to determine a berth in the upcoming district One PIAA playoffs.

Raiders Find Hotel 'Clean'

Among the 21 taprooms, hotels and fire houses raided for gambling devices by Montgomery County detectives and state troopers yesterday were the Conshohocken Hotel, 43 Fayette, and Finney's Central Inn in Flourtown.

The Conshohocken Hotel was on a special list of 10 places to be raided without arrests being made. But when investigators entered the building, to confiscate the multiple coin machine supposed to be there they found nothing.

Things were a bit different at Finney's Inn in Flourtown, where the owner, William J. Finney, 57, of Bethlehem Pike, was arrested with his bartender, William V. Jackson, 56, of Haws Lane, Flourtown. The machines in the Inn were confiscated and taken to the basement of the county courthouse in Norristown.

Finney and Jackson were released in $500 bail each after a hearing before Justice of the Peace Charles Gorman, together with eight other bartenders and owners who were arrested.

The raids, made after a three-month investigation by county detectives, were based on State Attorney-General Anne X. Alperin's ruling that the machines are illegal.

Alert Citizenship... Salute Our Flag

Comment has been heard frequently that the custodian at the Hervey S. Walker Elementary school should have been concerned sufficiently about the operation of the heating plant while the temperature was dipping below zero to have personally inspected the system on Jan. 21-22, his days off duty.

This is no criticism of what may have been left undone or what was done. But life in these United States has its humorous side and Frank M. Sutcliffe, the custodian and Mrs. Sutcliffe, since the freeze up at the elementary school, have demonstrated their alertness as citizens.

Granted the floor at a monthly meeting of Borough Council Feb. 8 to air a feud he said exists between Burgess James J. "Pat" Mellon and one or more persons in the vicinity of the Sutcliffe residence over the legality of location of trash containers, Citizen Sutcliffe didn't yield the floor without directing attention of all 15 councilmen to the fact their coats hanging on a wall rack were hiding the Stars and Stripes, and that the flag itself was in rather poor condition.

"You ought to get a new flag," he advised. Council took his suggestion under consideration.

Mrs. Sutcliffe is one of the handful of faithful taxpayers who regularly attends meetings of the School Board. This is citizenship of high calibre — few home owners ever go to the trouble of putting in appearances before the School Board or Borough Council and the number attending meetings of the various Authorities is even smaller!

Mrs. Sutcliffe offered a suggestion to the directors at their meeting Feb. 13. Each session, she said, should be opened by reciting the Allegiance to the Flag!

Mrs. Sutcliffe's observation was ejected into the meeting after a weary evening devoted in vain to finding out who is responsible for the severe damage by freezing at the Walker school and whether the School District can absorb an anticipated loss of $25,000 in addition to meeting an expenditure of $31,000 for minimum safety from fire at the Conshohocken High school without increasing the rate of taxation in 1961.

That's life in these United States. . .

Bears Cool It, Lose 65-56

"Wishing the basketball through the cords with radar-like precision, Conshohocken High school rolled to a 25-12 first quarter lead over West Chester Tuesday night. But someone shut off the radar and the Golden Bears went off course to a 65-56 loss in the Ches-Mont League contest.

Archib Graham netted a big 11 points in the first period, added 10 more the rest of the game for a total, Jim Sanders chipped in with 10 points, but coach Vince Miraglia's forces just couldn't cope with the resurgent West Chester quintet.

Joe Bruno and Don Smith turned in good defensive efforts but were unable to stem the tide.

And West Chester jayvees downed the local jayvees 52-44.

Kenny Nets 16 As Saints Win

St. Matthews High school romped to a 51-27 win over St. Katherine's High Tuesday night. Ben Kenny scored 16 points and Jimmy Cowman 14 for the Saints 5th win against 2 losses in the second half. Ed Givinish's charges thus kept of Suburban Catholic League competition.

Ed hopes for the second half title and a shot at the league championship.

Gilinger, proprietor of an automobile repair shop for three decades, was cited for outstanding community service to Whitmarsh township. He was chief of Barren Hill Fire Co. for 20 years. When this country was at war, and materials and parts were unavailable, Gilinger, on numerous occasions, rebuilt worn fire fighting equipment, to perform at top efficiency, at his own expense. Chadwick mentioned the numerous times Gilinger used his private buses to transport groups of children for picnic outings, without remuneration. He said the former chief is an inspiration to others and a citizen worthy of the respect of people everywhere. Gilinger, a resident of the area 50 years, previously was cited by the township for 20 years of safe driving and maintenance of school buses and the township ambulance. Harry B. Light of Abington, immediate past president of the Pennsylvania Junior Chamber of Commerce, extended congratulations from state officers and chapters representing 10,000 young men. He commented that Mr. Gilinger has lived a life conforming with a phrase of the Jaycee creed: "Service to Humanity is the Best Work of Life."

Light also presented the Junior Chamber of International Senatorship award to Paul Calhoun, of 615 Fields Drive, Barren Hill, founder and first president of the Whitmarsh-Plymouth chapter.
