RESIDENTS OF SUBURBAN TOWNS ENGAGE COUNSEL TO FIGHT SPRINGFIELD MONOPOLY.

Undaunted by the court response received last week from the officers of the Springfield Consolidated Water Company, who have flatly refused to consider any readjustment of rates to the consumers in suburban towns along the Main Line, the executive committee recently appointed by the Central Water Rates Protest Committee, proceeded to appoint counsel and to lay plans for a determined legal fight. George Wharton Pepper, who has recently returned from Washington, where he represented Gifford Pinchot before the Congressional Investigation Committee, was named by the committee as general counsel, and has already consented to act. This appointment and the retention of Alexander Simpson by the Springfield Company as a special counsel is taken as contending parties will be taxed to the utmost in the fight.

A legal committee, composed of William R. Fisher, of Bryn Mawr; Frederick C. Newbourg, of Cynwyd, and Humbert B. Powell, of Wayne, was igation, under the direction of Mr. Pepper, and to engage such other counsel as they, with Mr. Pepper's advice, deem advisable. This is believed to indicate that the committee will take a part in the suits already started in different boroughs and towns, as in Darby and Clifton Heights(, where proceedings are pending for a settlement of the rate matter. It isunderstood that those interested in these suits are anxious for the committee to take them up, rather than to start additional litigation which would scatter their forces and weaken the probability of success.

Though nothing of the details of the conference between representatives of the company and a sub-committee of the protestants, was given out, it is known that the company flatly refused to restore the old rates, on the ground that they could not pay the interest on their bonds at the old charges. Counsel for the company is also said to have declared that the matter has now reached the point where nothing but litigation could setthe it, and that the company was more than willing to have its rights tesed in the Courts. The Clifton Heights suit is listed for June, and no time will be wasted by the protest committee and its counsel in preparing for the fray. Members of the committee are sanguine of the result, declaring that it is or ought to be impossible for a company to charge extortionate rates to its consumers in order to pay Interest on much-watered securities. The question will undoubtedly eventually reach the Supreme Court for decision as both sides have expressed their intention of fighting to the last ditch.

The local committee will not participate in the general fight against the company owing to the different ground for which the local cause will be fought, but will give what assistance they can to the Central Water Rates Protest Committee in the manner of data and in securing expert testimony, etc.

He was inclined to think the revolver was wilfully and delib-

"The jury has been easy with you. They have done what I would have done had I been in their places. You have heard their verdict. They recommend that I deal mercifully with you. It is a terrible thing to kill a man. I am satisfied that you did not tell the truth, as I have said. > ALIBIS FAIL TO FREE EX-GUARD LEWIS OF CONSPIRACY WITH MURDERER8.

Notwithstanding his vehement sworn denials and alibis, Taylor Lewis, the former jail guard, was Friday evening convicted on three counts of the indictment for conspiracy to asand battery on his wife Ida Owens sist in the proposed escape from jail of the three convicted Johnson murderers, Chicarine, Maringe and Ballon, fine of $50 and costs of prosecution the first of whom tried also to murder his guard.

> On the witness stand Lewis swore he did not give to either of the three murderers the revolver with which Chicarine on May 11 attempted to kill Kenderdine and get the keys to escape; that he did not give them the saw found in the cell of Chicarine; that he was not at the Chicarine home, where it was testified by Samuel Cmicarine, Louis Chicarine, Pasquale Paris and Conchetti Paris that he met them and took the revolver and saw they gave him; that he was never at the Paris home, in Philadelphia, where Mrs. Paris and two other women testified he came and deltyered a letter from her brother, Maringe.

He denied that he ever saw the revolver before Chicarine waved it in front of his and Kenderdine's faces in the jail yard. He even claimed that Chicarine attempted to shoot him. the bullet just missing his head; although he admitted that Chicarine followed Kerderdine, who ran through a door into the jail, leaving the prisoner and Lewis alone in the yard, and that Lewis fled up the yard and tried to get in the prison at the kitchen door.

The day he was alleged to have been at the Paris home in Philadelphia, on April 18, he alleged that he was sick at home, and Dr. S. S. Buyers testified that he was called to attend Lewis on that day, and diagnosed his case as bordering on grip; he did not, however, make more than one call. Lewis' wife and son also testified that he was sick that day ...

As to April 27, when he is alleged to have had another conference with the Italians, Lewis claimed he was in Valley Forge, making arrangements for starting in as a guide over the camp-ground this summer. His wife again said he was home on the evening of that day, when it was alleged by the prosecution that he was in conference with the Italians, and obtained the gun and saw.

Judge Weand announced that he would sentence Lewis next Saturday morning and at the same time he would sentence Samuel and Lewis Chicerina and Pasquale Parris who had pleaded guilty in the conspiracy case. Attorney Henry I. Fox on behalf of Lewis filed reasons for a new trial and Judge Weand announced that he would hear argument next Saturday.

> Figures quoted by State Commis sioner of Banking William H. Smith in his annual report, which was sent to Governor Edwin S. Stwart a few days ago, show that last year in institutions doing a general banking business under the supervision of the State Department of Banking held 1,669,379 deposit accounts.

These figures taken with data previously published showing the immense resources of Pennsylvania's financial institutions, in addition to national banks are indicative of the thrift of the Pennsylvanian, be he capitalist, salaried man or wage earner.

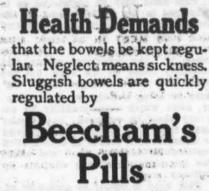

An encouraging feature of the figures referring to the number of individual deposits is that almost one-third are in savings institutions, such deposits usually being made by on the A. O. Commissioner Smith's figures show that trust companies on November 6, 1909, just three weeks before the end of the fiscal year covered by the report had 785,368 deposit accounts; savings institutions had 456,540, and banks had 427,471.

Some attention in the report is denoted to the reviewing of conditions generally, and especially to pointing out the forward strides which have been made by trust companies since the creation of the State Department of Banking in 1812. He says:

The words 'bank' and 'banking' are in common use not only by officers of the institution and their employes, bpt by their depositors and other customers, by attorneys and by some of our courts as well. The trust company and bank, national as well as State, occupy seats side by side, and, while one discounts, the other purchases. "As an evidence of increasing confidence in our State institutions, a reference may be permitted to the system of the deposit of public moneys inaugurated in the city of Philadelphia in the year 1892, just about the date of the organization of this department. At that time the public funds were all intrusted to the forty national banks and it was not considered safe to recognize the trust companies. To-day in addition to the national banks the moneys are distributed proportionately among the fifty and odd State institutions, and the largest sums are with the leading trust companies because of their capital and surplus.

"Americans may be assured that as much progress toward bird protection can be reported from this country as from any of the civilized countries of the earth," said Mr. Dutcher, before leaving this city for the Berlin Conference. "I feel sure that the other nations will look to us to take a leading part in the proposed international movement to save the valuable bird species from destruction. The people of the world are coming to realize the immediate need for preserving the birds that check crop pests and pestilence in every land. By concerted action I believe much can be accomplished toward this end, which, next to the cause of the peace movement, is now conceded to be the most important international question."

gan, died on Wednesday last at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Mary O'Hara, on the David farm in Upper Merion near Bridgeport, aged about ten years. Deceased who was a pupil at the Bird-in-Hand School, was obliged to relinquish his studies several months ago owing to being stricken with illness of a complicated form. When his condition became precarious, his schoolmates were greatly effected and much sympathy was expressed for him. The funeral took place on Saturday morning from his late home, when all that was mortal of deceased was borne to St. Augustine's Cemetery in Upper Merion. where interment was made.

In remembrance of her nineteenth birthday, a large number of the friends of Miss Ida Graham tendered her an agreeable surprise at her home in this village on Friday evening. The party was arranged by Mrs. Thornton Latch and Miss Ida March, two of Miss Graham's most intimate friends, and all those who assisted in celebrating the event met at the home of Mrs. Latch about 8 o'clock and proceeded to the Graham restdence. Games and music were the principal diversions. About 11.30 o'clock a luncheon was served con-strawberries, cake, etc. Besides receiving an abundance of post cards on her natal day, Miss Graham was the receipients of a number of handsome gifts, including a watch, wearing apparel, silk and other handkerchiefs, gold stick-pins, etc. It was announced at this event that Miss Elizabeth Dunn, of West Conshohocken, who was present, was also celebrating her birthday the twenty-first. (?) Those present were Misses Agnes and Elizabeth Dunn, West Conshohocken; Miss Mary Miller, Mechanicsville; Miss Ida March, Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Latch, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin-

We have been experiencing beastly weather recently. Is the comet responsible for the unfavorable conditions of the atmosphere or is every week Quaker week? While some kinds of vegetation thrives during the cool weather accompanied by incessant rains, others are nearly at a stand-still. Peas and strawberries are being gathered in abundance, radishes, beets and cabbage are flourishing, while different varieties of beans, tomatoes and corn are unable to thrive under such weather conditions as have recently existed.

From the present aspect indications point to the C .-- D. base ball team, which was organized at this place last month, being an aggregation of ball tossers of the past. No games have been played here for several weeks much to the disappointment of the many fans who are obliged to either go to Philadelphia to witness contests of big leagues or games in Conshohocken. The local nine was organized under auspicious circumstances and they started the season of 1910 with great vim and a determination to put up such an article of base ball that would be hard to beat. After defeating the St. Gertrude's team twice they also met and pulled a victory from the strong Ithan team of Radnor before one of the largest crowds that ever attended a game at Gulf Mills. The C .- D. afterwards played a return game at Ithan and were defeated. About three weeks ago the team went to Rockdale and since that time the organization seems to have passed into oblivion as nothing has been heard of it. Some of the players are now with the rejuvenated Pastime club, which crosses bats with different teams almost weekly in West Conshohocken. If the new club has disband-$100 Death Benefits ed, what is the cause? Was there not harmony among the members? There is no reason why Gulf Mills cannot support a first-class base ball team of the Local Lodge. like C .- D. as the material of which Charter Fee $5.00. keep trespassers off its right of way, thus saving a great number of liv annually. It is costing the railroad a great amount of money to placa and police its right of way, and owners, managers of factories and all cit zens should encourage the railroad in its humane efforts.

Conshohocken has paid its toll for railroad trespassing by at least to lives in the last decade and as it is necessary to cross the railroad reach the mills, it is safe to say that over 10,000 people cross the railroad each day. It is therefore very necessary that the residents of this town give the company every aid in enforcing the trespass law. But the railroad themselves as far as this town is concerned, by permitting their trains block the crossings, are the greatest encouragers of trespassing.

The Cherry street crossing which is used by hundreds of workmen ea day, is often blocked for many minutes in excess of the legal time, and such hours of the day when there is a great deal of travel. The railroad should give positive orders to their trainmen regarding the blocking crossings and if they will keep the crossings clear for traffic, there will no excuse for people to trespass on the right of way.

The movement inaugurated by the Pennsylvania railroad should taken up by all other roads and no doubt the people will do their part the effort to decrease the number of fatalities.

The recommendations of the Advisory Committee to Town Council to what should be done first, shows that the committee has given care consideration to the interest of the borough in carrying out the oldest ders of the Court; in providing better streets for the oldest section of t borough and in fulfilling the promises of Council. The work specified co ers a large number of streets and provides for the opening of a great bul ing section. In recommending the paving of Elm street, for that portion which Town Council has already gone on record as authorizing, the Conmittee has done well. But that part of the recommendation specifying "p viding the property owners bear the expense of re-curbing" is likely be a source of trouble in carrying outfuture improvements. It is unfair ask the property holders to replace their curbing if the present curb is accordance with the ordinance. If it is not, then it is the duty to order placed according to law.

An inspection of Elm street shows that the curb is as good as the stre and also shows that it is not good enough for a paved street. If perm nent improvements are to be made the job should be well done as it is st posed that all new permanent work will be in fact as well as name. It unfair to ask the property owners on Elm street to take up their cur and reset or replace them with new ones and it will be an injustice to whole town as the policy laid down for this work will have to be pursued other work and it is not in reason to cause a citizen the additional expen of new curbing when the old is in accordance with the ordinance. T Elm street job and all other new work sholud be done in the best mann Permanent paving if done right will last a life-time and the beauty of street should not be marred for the sake of a few dollars. A good cemcurb could be laid for the entire length of proposed pavement for about $7 The borough should do this and payfor the work. The old curbs wou become the property of the borough and could be sold to property owned who will be compelled to place curbing on the newly opened and grad streets. Where curbs are so bad on the line of new work and new ones necessary, it would be no more than justice that the property own should bear the expense of replacement.

Before the manner of disposing of the curb question on Elm street decided, it would be well for the members of Council to inspect the street the establishment of a precedent hasalready been done on Fayette str and every citizen has the right to expect exactly the same treatment that given every other citizen.

Over a century and a quarter has sped the grief over the recent death of her since the off-pictured day (133 years father, may be the cause of her disto be exact-, and the flag remains practically the same, the original 13 States being represented by the same 13 stripes. In the beginning there were also 13 stars, and from that day birthday. Always a careful dresser, the blue field has gone triumphantly her attractiveness was accentuated. on writing its glorious history in white stars. There are now 46.

Not everybody knows that the flag colors were suggested by Washington's own coat-of-arms. And not everybody knows that the white stands for purity, the red for valor and the blue for justice.

This flag was preceded by the Pine Tree flag, which the dissatisfied colonists adopted April 29, 1776. And, indeed, Washington raised the first Union flag at Cambridge, January 2. 1776. Not until September 3, 1783, was the flag designed by Betsy Ross admitted on equal terms with the recognized banners of the world. Only within the last year did we learn that it had been to the North Pole.

Philadelphia has many first things to be proud of, and far from the least of them is the fact that here in the City of Brotherly Love was originated the nation's flag.

So on June 14 let the radiant bunting float from every flagstaff as fresh proof of your devotion to the country which our forefathers served so well.

STATE AID FOR BOARDS

Important Ruling by Attorney General's Department.

Deputy Attorney General Hargest has settled the question whether counties can apply for State aid for reconstruction of roads without concurrence of township supervisors, by a ruling that they cannot do so except where roads have been taken under the provisions of the county road act of 1885. The question has been before the State Highway Department from several counties, the latest instance being where the Commissioners of Carbon County asked the Highway Comnissioner to let a contract for reconstruction of an abandomed turnpike running through unseated land. Mr. Hargest holds that the law contemplates local initiative, and that the road act of 1909 repeals the portion of the road act of 1901 relative to abandoned 'turnpikes: Abandoned turnpikes are not county roads, but township roads, and must be maintained and improved as such.

The decision will have effect on proposed road building in other counties.
