Hold Party At Avalon

Young Peoples Fellowship of Calvary Church Has House Gathering at Shore Resort

Fifteen members of the recently formed Young Peoples Fellowship of Calvary P. E. Church, augmented by several guests, held a delightful house party over the weekend at Avalon N. J., where they occupied a large cottage. Seven young women of the group went to the resort Friday, and other members of the party arrived Saturday. The entire party returned Sunday night. An enjoyable program was provided for the group, featured bathing, cards and games.

Miss Alice Williams, 921 Fayette street, a member of the faculty of Conshohocken high school and leader of the Fellowship, was general chairman of arrangements. Mrs. and Mrs. Edmund K. Williams, her parents, and Mrs. Herbert S. Barron and her son, Dr. Herbert Barron and Mrs. A. Lord acted as chaperones.

The party comprised in addition to these names, Misses Florence Adams, Catherine McCord, Eleanor Calne, Elizabeth Koch, Jennie Gerhart, Sara Buehl and Robert Buehl, Charles McCarron, McKenzie Williams, Alan East, Fred Youngblood, Samuel Webster, John Light and John Lowe. Two young women from Royersford were also included in the party.

Obituary

Thomas M. O'Brien
 Till for the past ten weeks with an affection of the heart, Thomas M. O'Brien, one of the borough's best known and most popular young men, died last evening at 8 1/2 in Myer hospital. When his condition failed to yield to treatment at home he was removed to the hospital six weeks ago where it was hoped that constant medical care would effect a cure. He, however, failed to improve and passed away last evening.

Deceased, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius J. O'Brien, of 426 East Hector street, was born here twenty-eight years ago and lived his entire life in this borough. He attended St. Matthew's school and was graduated as a member of the class of 1922. Prior to his illness he was employed as a foreman with the Ford Motor Company at the plant in Chester.

Deceased was a member of St. Matthew's Holy Name Society and of Conshohocken Council, Knights of Columbus.

Besides his parents he is survived by the following: his mother, Mrs. John of Washington, D. C.; Edward, of East Eighth avenue, and Dennis, Marie, Margaret and Rita, who reside at home.

The funeral will be held from his late home on Friday morning at 9 o'clock in the forenoon. It will be celebrated in St. Matthew's church at 10. Interment will be made at St. Matthew's cemetery.

Mrs. Genevieve Corrigan Kelly
 Operated upon last Wednesday for the removal of an abscess on the appendix. Mrs. Genevieve Corrigan Kelly, wife of Paul Kelly, of 623 Ford street, West Conshohocken, died in Monongey hospital, Norristown, Sunday morning at 6.40. She was twenty-eight years old. She was taken ill early last week and went to the home of her mother, Mrs. Helen Corrigan in Bridgeport. Her condition became worse and an operation was deemed necessary.

Deceased was the daughter of Mrs. Helene and the late James Corrigan and was born at Joliet, Ill. The family removed to this borough when she was a mere child. Since her marriage she has been a member of St. Gertrude's church and active in the B. V. M. Sodality connected with the church. She is survived by her husband and three sons, Paul, Gerald and Richard. Her mother, four sisters, Veronica, Madeline, Regina and Eleanor and two brothers, Cletus and Cyril, all of Bridgeport.

Her funeral will be held Wednesday at 9 from the McDonnell home, 140 Merion avenue, West Conshohocken. Solemn requiem mass will be celebrated at 9.30 at St. Gertrude's church and interment made at St. Matthew's cemetery.

Dolls of All Kinds Vie for Honors at Playground Show

Japanese Plaything, One Hundred Years Old, Captures Highest Honors as Oldest Entry.—Seventy-five Dolls and Fifteen Coaches Displayed.—Many Visitors

Dolls that have delighted youthful possessors for a full century, dolls that roll their china eyes and call "mamma" in staccato tones, brunette dolls and blonde dolls, big dolls and small dolls, new dolls and old dolls, were exhibited Friday afternoon at the annual Doll Show of the two community playgrounds here, held at the Third Avenue recreation center.

Seventy-five of the pet dolls were displayed and judged, together with doll-coaches, beautifully decorated for competition.

Twenty-one awards were made to the youthful contestants, after a careful survey of entries by the judges, Mrs. Myrtle Lukens, Mrs. Harvey Kautz and Mrs. John Dutil.

A dainty Japanese doll, registered as one hundred years old, was awarded first prize in the oldest doll division. Its exhibitor was Elaine Montemayor. Despite its great age, the doll is in an excellent state of preservation and still has its entire life in its manner that it did decades ago.

Jane McDade was accorded second prize in this division, offering

Marry At Valley Forge

New Jersey Couple Is Feted by Mr. and Mrs. Marston Karr at Reception

Mr. and Mrs. Marston W. Karr, of Butler pike and Kirk street, Harmanville, entertained delightfully at a reception at their home, Saturday evening, following the marriage of Mrs. Karr's cousin, Miss Lucille Shoemaker, of Repaupo, N. J., and Hulse Nipe, of Pedricktown, N. J., which took place at four o'clock in Valley Forge Memorial Chapel.

Attendees at the ceremony were Miss Grace Shoemaker, a sister of the bride, and Ralph Nipe, brother of the groom. An organ and chimes concert was presented at the wedding. Altars of the chapel were beautifully decorated in pink gladioli and lace fern.

The bride was daintily gowned in white organdy, made of old-fashioned lines, with full puffed sleeves; a picture hat of white neapolitan straw and white satin sandals. She carried bridal roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid wore shell-pink mouseline, the sole made on long lines, a hat of pink rough straw, pink satin opera slippers and carried a bouquet of Johanna Hill roses and delphinium.

Immediately after the reception at the bride's home, the couple left for a motor honeymoon to Chicago, Watkins Glen and Niagara Falls. Forty persons from this state and various parts of New Jersey attended the marriage and the reception.

Second in Manufactured Products This borough maintained its place as second in the value of manufactured articles produced in the factories of Montgomery county. Pottstown led with Norristown in third place, according to a statement issued by the Secretary of Internal Affairs.

1931 was a lean year but the value of the manufactured products totaled $12,083,100 and last year, the value dropped to $11,199,700, showing the industries here kept up a higher rate of production than the other two leading manufacturing centers. There was also a loss in the amount of capital invested in the county factories and while other places were losing in invested capital, this borough, last year showed a gain.

The average wage paid in the county amounted to $948.38, including wages and salaries. For Norristown, the average wage was $1001.94 and workers in Pottstown received an average of $859.73 for the year while in this borough, which maintained its lead for higher wages, the average wage was $1196.72.

The county was one of the most fortunate in the entire country in keeping its industries in operation and this borough was particularly fortunate in having less loss time than most places. The average wage paid here was $248.34 above the average received by other workers in the county. This was a big advantage to the local worker as his living costs were no higher than in other county centers.

Times have been hard and the depression has extended its blight over the entire nation. There has been suffering here but not to the extent experienced by most communities. More regular employment than elsewhere has enabled the home owner to save his home, there having been very few sheriff sales here during the entire depression, far less than any of the other larger places in the county.

Basically, the community is sound and is ready to go ahead with good strides in the recovery program. That this may be accomplished will need the full cooperation of every interest, capital, labor and consumer and differences should be settled by peaceful arbitration that the gains made towards economic recovery may not be lost by stoppage of work and the pay roll.

Sears Store In Norristown Business Men Give Support Recovery Act (Continued From Page One) announce this new store for Norristown," read Mr. Barker's statement. "The experts from our real estate department who made the survey of Norristown and its surrounding country on which our decision to locate a store there was based, are enthusiastic about its possibilities and are glad to have been able to obtain such a desirable location.

"The company hopes to become an integral part of the community; to do everything in its power to help promote the progress and to cooperate with every agency which has for its purpose the welfare and best interests of the county."

The new Norristown store is expected to be ready for opening about October 1.

Norristown Athlete Seriously Injured Richard Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Morgan, of 730 Noble street, Norristown, prominent Norristown high school athlete, is in the Grand View hospital, at Sellersville, in a serious condition, as the result of an automobile accident near Harleysville, at 12:30 Sunday morning.

Morgan sustained a crushed chest, fractures of several ribs and possible internal injuries. His condition at one this afternoon was somewhat improved, but still serious. Hospital officials said, Morgan was graduated from the Eisenhower high school in June, this year. He was captain of the football team last year and played basketball and was a track star, having set a school record in the hurdles.

Six weeks ago he was hit in the chest with a javelin spear at Lebanon, while participating in a track meet and only recently had he fully recovered from this wound. Whether Saturday night's mishap will end Morgan's athletic career is not yet known. He had received a scholarship to the Hill School at Pottstown, where he expects to enroll in September.

MILK CO. TO GIVE MORE EMPLOYMENT The Supply-Williams-Jones Milk Co. with approximately 2000 employees named the President's industrial employment agreement. Officials of the company said that plant men and drivers who have been working seven days a week will under the new plan work six days and that additional men will be employed. They were unable to say how many additional persons would be hired.

JACK HOLT, "When Strangers Meet" LILLIAN BOND COLUMBIA PICTURES

WHAT HAS HAPPENED When Marlin, his wife of three days, decides she wants to accompany him wherever he may go, Steve found fault with her to Sarabong, where he is to build a large garage. Steve, in desperation, leaves her to enter the jungle, where the construction work is going on. Marlin, while Steve is away, finds time to write up a letter to Steve, in which she tells him to go on with the work, in order to pass time. Marlin, meanwhile, has been doing everything in his power to hinder the work on the railroad—and has been successful to a large degree. Steve, in desperation, leaves his assistant, McGee, in charge of the work, and starts for Sarabong. On the way he is attacked, but he is unharmed. Arriving in town, Marlin discovers that Marlin has made arrangements for a party that night. He knows that she doesn't expect him to leave. While at the International Club he shows up Hinkle, and lets him know that he is not above suspicion to Rand's mind.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER FOUR Rand stopped off at T'Chien Sing's shop before he headed for his hotel. There he bought a little jade figure of Tsao Tsing, the Chinese Goddess of Fidelity. Armed with the present, he went up to his suite. He heard Marlin moving about in her dressing room. "Who's there?" she called. "Your unexpected husband, my dear." His wife emerged from the dressing room, a gown thrown about her. "Not exactly unexpected. As a matter of fact, you've been in town an hour, haven't you?" Steve took her into his arms. Marlin allowed herself to be kissed. "It was good of you to rush right over," she said, a bit coldly. Steve laughed good-humoredly.

At the party that night, Rand singled Hinkle out from the crowd. (posed by Arthur Vinton, Lillian Bond and Jack Holt.)

"I had a little business to attend to." "For quite?" "A little gift for your darling." "A little gift of husbands bearing gifts," said Marlin thoughtfully. "Even on a wedding anniversary?" Rand asked innocently. Marlin pretended surprise. "Wedding anniversary?" "Our first. Surely it hasn't slipped your mind." "I suppose I should be all but it has." "Then why," persisted Steve, "all the preparations for a party to-night?" Marlin turned away a bit. "Oh, Tsao Tsing, a farewell party." "Who's leaving?" he asked casually. "Hinkle," repeated Rand flatly. "He's sailing on the Springfield." "Yes, naturally," mused Rand. "Strategic retreat." "What are you talking about?" she asked impatiently. "Nothing that concerns you, Marlin." "Faction me. I should have known my place."

But then Steve took her in his arms once more, and the young wife who had been so long on the pretense to the winds and returned her husband's embrace and kiss fiercely and unreservedly. "I'm no good!" she cried, tearfully. "You should spank me again—no, you should beat me! I'm a pig, a liar! The party isn't for Hinkle; it's for you, it's for our anniversary. I meant it for that even if you couldn't come."

Steve soothed her. "Maybe I got your thought wrong in the jungle—maybe that's why I came." At the party that night Rand singled Hinkle out from the crowd. Steve had found on Marlin's dresser the mate to the jade statue, the figure of Tsao Tsing, the Chinese Goddess of Fidelity. "Shall we take a turn in the garden?" Rand asked Hinkle. "Sure." They descended the veranda and walked along the path in silence. When they got to a spot where love-sick eyes were not straggling, Rand took the green figure from his pocket and extended it to Hinkle.

Charged Son Fleece Father

Guardian of Norristown Man Brings Suit to Recover Property Conveyed. Claim Father Was Told He Signed Will. Aligned that Michael Engro, 76 years old, 845 Violet street, Norristown, had been swindled out of a property at 823 Violet street, by his son, a bill in equity was filed in behalf of Engro's guardian, the Montgomery Trust Company, against the son Frank Engro and Francesco Engro, his wife.

Hearing on the bill was held before Judge Knight, Friday afternoon. The respondents failed to appear in person or by counsel. Judge Knight granted a temporary injunction restraining the defendants from disposing of the real estate or in anywise encumbering the same, until final hearing. Joseph Engro, a son, testified that some time ago his brother Frank suggested that they tell their father to make a will; that instead of having a will drawn up they get a lawyer to draw up a deed for each of his two properties, giving one to witness and the other to himself. When their father went to sign they would tell him that it was his will giving a property to each son at his death, and that as the father did not write nor speak the English language no one would know the difference. Joseph said that he refused absolutely to enter into this scheme and told his brother that he would not under any consideration rob his father of his substance during his lifetime.

Subsequently he found that the property at 823 Violet street, upon which the father at the instance of his son, Frank, had constructed a four car garage, had on March 17, 1932, been conveyed to the son, Frank. The Montgomery Trust Company on June 16, 1933, had been appointed guardian for Michael Engro, the father, on a petition in which it was alleged that he was mentally weak, unable to take care of his affairs and liable to become the victim of designing persons. When the Trust Company investigated the assets of the estate placed in its care the transfer of one of the properties to the son, Frank, was discovered. The Trust Company's ward, Michael Engro, was called to the stand and through an interpreter stated that he had executed the deed at the instance of Frank, with the understanding that it was a will and that he did not intend to convey the property, that he received no consideration for the property, but that on the contrary his son Frank owed him over two years rent.

The value of the property conveyed is appraised at $4000. Milk Truck Driver Killed in Crash Corner R. Ronald Dettre issued a certificate of death due to accident on the fatal crash of an automobile truck on Gravel pike near Coltonville, early Saturday morning. The body of Marshall Patterson, 27, Rosemont avenue, Lansdale, was found among the wreckage by highway patrolmen and coroners summoned by neighbors. It is believed the automobile driven by Patterson, grazed a tree alongside the highway and that Patterson lost control and it overturned. Highway Patrolman Carfagno investigated the accident. He learned Patterson left Lansdale where he is employed by the Martin Century Dairy Farms, earlier in the morning. He was on his way to make deliveries in Collegeville and vicinity. His body was badly crushed and it required the services of mechanics to raise the truck to release Patterson's body. It is believed he was killed instantly. Michael Blosser, 66, Norristown, sustained head injuries at 2:30 a. m. Saturday, when a truck on which he was riding and a vehicle operated by Samuel Perkolich, 48, 3034 North Howard street, Philadelphia, crashed on Ridge pike near Seven Stars Hotel, Plymouth Township. State Highway Patrolman Hatter investigated the accident.

Oppose Haldeman For Prothronary

John G. Keyser, 3d, North Hills, Abington township, filed petitions for prothronary of Montgomery County, Friday afternoon, at Norristown. He will oppose Isaias T. Haldeman, Schwenksville, incumbent, who has announced himself a candidate, but has not yet filed petitions. The entrance of Keyser into the field means that the Independent Voters Clubs throughout the county are supporting his candidacy. His name has not been linked with any other ticket or slate and Andrew Drayver Willow Grove, acting campaign manager for Keyser, stated yesterday after filing papers that he was running on an independent ticket and had no affiliation with any other ticket for other county offices. Denver in announcing his candidacy issued this statement: "Mr. Keyser is well known throughout Montgomery county, in connection with his work in the organization of many Independent Voters Clubs, and has been organized for the purpose of further promoting the interests of the great majority. It is a known fact that he has severed any and all connections with what might be termed false independent leadership and his platform contains such planks as has been approved by the State Administration and decent citizenship."

Divorce Granted

In an opinion handed down by Judge W. Butler Windle, of Chester County, dismissed exception to a report by which Perry Tyson, Esq., acting as Master and Examiner in a divorce case, recommended the granting of a decree to Otto Malale, 218 Airy street, Phoenixville. The opinion orders issuance of the decree. Malale sued for a divorce from his wife, Angelina Malale, 16 Railroad street, Phoenixville, formerly Angelina Taglieri of this borough, on grounds of desertion and adultery. A former libel in which he charges grounds of desertion alone, was dismissed. Malale charged that his wife, whom he married June 9, 1912, deserted him on May 16, 1932, and went to live at the home of Lido Lauritano, who was named as co-respondent in the action. Attorney Tyson, acting as master heard the case, which was contested by Mrs. Malale, and recommended that the husband be granted the divorce. Philip J. Reilly, Esq., attorney for Mrs. Malale, filed exceptions to his report. The exceptions were dismissed in the opinion handed down. Attorney Joseph G. McKeone, of Phoenixville, represented the husband.

Prisoner Named In Divorce Suit

A divorce has been granted Arthur B. Swaveley, 31, 812 Queen street, Pottstown, by Judge Harold G. Knight from Irene B. Swaveley, now residing in Bechtelsville. The charge by Swaveley was misconduct in the marital relation as charged by Swaveley. Hallman acquiesced as respondent. Hallman according to Swaveley, now serving a sentence of 8 1/2 to 17 years in the penitentiary. The testimony shows that Swaveley says Hallman was sentenced from Chester County on a charge of burglary. Hallman declared his wife deserted him April 7, 1932, when they were living in Norristown. He told Ed F. Wismer, master, that the day his wife left their home, Hallman was shot by West Chester police while fleeing arrest. He said his wife was unaware of the shooting until after she had deserted him.

The friendship with Hallman is alleged to have begun during September 1930. Swaveley was working in Trenton at the time, Hallman was his friend, according to testimony, but Swaveley declared his wife and Hallman began an intimate relationship during this time. He was working in this borough at the time of the desertion and returned home to Norristown to find a note in which the wife said she was not going to return. The marriage took place in Pottstown April 19, 1919, by the Rev. C. H. Kohn.
