

Nine 'Pen' Rioters Given Extra Time

Court Imposes Sentences to Begin at End of Minimum Term Being Served

CONVICTS TESTIFY

All Deny Participation in Riots.—Prisoner Tells of Beating

Nine of the "playful boys" were sent to "solitary" for terms ranging from 5 to 10 years down to 2 to 4 years for their part in wrecking the Craterford penitentiary Saturday morning, August 25.

Judge George C. Corson provided the extra "vacation" for the mob of rioters, who helped cost the taxpayers of Pennsylvania between $30,000 and $40,000 in damage wrought at the model institution along the Perkiomen.

The verdicts finding the nine men guilty, was returned at 2:30 after two hours deliberation by a jury of eight men and four women. One of the defendants, Joseph J. McLaughlin, serving three to six years for felonious larceny dating from April 28, 1933, from Philadelphia received the longest "stretch" from Judge Corson.

McLaughlin was indicted on four bills charging rioting and setting fire to property. He received sentences of 2 to 4 and 3 to 6 years on two bills, on a total of 5 to 10 years. His additional term begins at the expiration of his present sentence, which has up to 1939 to run, depending on the action of the parole board of the penitentiary.

McLaughlin had a record of prior convictions and this record and those of the other convicts were read by Stewart Nasse and corroborated by Thomas Collins, custodian of records at the penitentiary.

Judge Corson in imposing the sentences explained that any action on the maximum sentence in which the accused men are to serve at the present time depends entirely with penitentiary officials but he made it clear that all sentences imposed Wednesday are to begin at the expiration of the terms the men were serving on August 25.

The other sentences imposed by Judge Corson and the sentences they must serve before beginning their additional terms follow:

Dominick Palo, Philadelphia, 2 1/2 to 5 years. He was sentenced from Philadelphia March 6, 1930 for 1 to 5 years for burglary.

Rudolph Letz, Delaware, 3 to 6 years. Sentenced from Delaware county March 4, 1932 to serve 4 to 10 years for larceny of automobile.

Joseph Corriean, Philadelphia, 2 to 5 years. Sentenced from Philadelphia October 18, 1932 to serve 10 to 20 years for felonious entry and larceny.

Charles Quirple, Philadelphia, 2 to 4 sentenced from Philadelphia on February 5, 1930 to serve 5 to 10 for robbery while armed.

Thomas Kiley, Philadelphia, 2 to 4 sentenced from Philadelphia February 6, 1930 to serve 5 to 10 for robbery while armed.

Stanley Ruzanski, Philadelphia, 2 to 4 sentenced from Philadelphia June 29, 1930 to serve 5 to 10 for felonious entry and larceny.

Board Sets Status of New Pupils

West Side Board Receives Pupils From St. Gertrude's School on Their Credits

TEST FOR STUDENTS

Two-Year Course at St. Gertrude's Differs From Regular High School Courses

A meeting to determine the scholastic standing of seven graduates of St. Gertrude's parochial school in the West Conshohocken high school was held last evening in the library of the public high school. The entire membership of the school board, County Superintendent of Schools A. M. Kulp and parents of a number of St. Gertrude's graduates were present at the meeting.

St. Gertrude's school is conducted as a two-year high school, offering commercial course. The course does not include all of the subjects that are taught in the first two of the four-year course in the public school. In view of this fact, the question first arose at the regular meeting of the board when the Supervising Principal Richards asked the members of the board what he should do about graduating the pupils from St. Gertrude's School after they had completed two years of study in the public school, explaining that on account of the difference in the course during the first two years of the respective schools the pupils would not have the number of credits required by the State Department of Instruction. After some discussion on the subject it was decided to ask the county superintendent to determine the exact status of St. Gertrude's pupils in the public school system.

Mr. Kulp explained he had taken the matter up with the State Department of Education and also the office of the superintendent of the parochial schools in Philadelphia and vicinity and was informed that St. Gertrude's school is not listed with the accrediting agency of either. He further stated that any graduation of St. Gertrude's school going into Catholic high school in Philadelphia would be given a test and placed in the grade based on the result of the test. Mr. Kulp made a comparison of the studies of St. Gertrude's high school and the first two years of study in the public high school, pointing out the subjects that are taught in the public school and not in the parochial school.

Mr. Longacre, chairman of the committee, reported at the September meeting that his committee held two meetings with Mr. Swanson, who had company engineers make a survey of the borough, and draw a plan showing changes in location of lights that would improve the service. The work was shown at a meeting with the council committee. The committee suggested that council meet in a body and go over the entire borough tomorrow afternoon at which time the suggestions offered by the company can be noted.

Council will meet at the borough hall at 1 and inspect the locations and heights in all five wards, when any changes to be made will be decided upon.

Survivor of Moro Castle Disaster Tells of Her Rescue

Miss Alma Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hill, of Glenside, who was aboard the Merro Castle, she planned her money in the life boat but the belt worked loose and the money was lost in the ocean. The clothes she wore home were provided by the woman, to whose home she was taken from the fire house. Escort was assigned to accompany her from Asbury Park to Jenkintown, where she was met by her parents and taken to her home in Glenside.

While she suffered little effects from exposure, every inch of her body was braced black and blue by the angry waves.

Eleanor Brennan, of New York City, a girl she became acquainted with on the boat and chummed with during the entire trip, was one of those lost.

Miss Hill, an attractive girl weighing no more than 100 pounds, has been besieged with telephone calls and messages of congratulations. Already she has been approached by a number of men to deliver addresses on her experiences. While she has fully recovered her composure she has expressed an offer to appear before any public gathering to recount the terrible happenings. The whole thing, she says, is too harrowing to keep re-freshed in her mind and she wants to forget as much of it as is possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill, parents of the young woman, natives of this borough and are well known here. Mr. Hill is a brother of Clarence Hill, of Fayette street, an executive of the W. A. Case Manufacturing Company. Mrs. Hill is a daughter of Raymond Egan, assistant pastor of St. Mary's R. Church, 3651 White Plains avenue, New York City, who remained on the boat, finding what assistance he could, until he was almost overcome by smoke. His eyes were sore and his hair was singed, and his sight affected by the intense heat before he jumped into the sea.

Miss Hill floated about for seven hours. She never gave up hope until after she had been rescued by a long time and a boat came within three feet of another and man out of the water and pulled away. She then gave herself up for lost. She floated around with no one in sight to rescue her when suddenly another boat came to her rescue and lifted her out of the water. She was taken to the fire house at Asbury park where she was revived quickly, however, and shortly after she reached the fire house she was wrapped in a man's overcoat and taken to a private home. Her recovery was rapid and late in the afternoon she was able to come to her home.

She said she was forced to pay half of the rent for a two room apartment and when she got $15 from him for clothing he demanded $15 on her payday for "principal and interest."

Charges Other Woman

Pearl Emily Smith, Norristown, charged Richard Smith with desertion February 2, 1928. They were married June 2, 1924. She blamed "another woman" for their difficulties. Married July 30, 1906, Bessie G. Thompson, 48, of 441 York street, Pottstown, has been granted a divorce from James S. Thompson, of the ground of desertion.

The decree was one of three handed down by Judge William F. Dannehower, who signed the Thompson decree on recommendation of the master, Guy S. Claire.

Mrs. Thompson said she was married at Grace Episcopal Church, New York, and for nine years lived with her parents. The couple later lived at various places and on July 9, 1932, were living at 1 Fifth street, Pottstown. The desertion occurred on that date.

The wife blamed her troubles between herself and husband on another woman. She said five years ago she became infatuated with her rival, "whose name I do not care to divulge." She said the husband is now living with the other woman in Lower Pottsgrove.

Two "public enemies of the front rank" were given penitentiary sentences by Judge Harold G. Knight for their part in the robbery of freight cars in Pottstown last month of $800 in cigarettes and tobacco.

The "public enemies" are: Stanley Zallinsky, and Joseph Konowal, both of Philadelphia. They each received 18 months to 3 years in the penitentiary. A similar sentence was imposed on George Zelienik, Pottstown, who had a record of a prior conviction in Montgomery county.

Zallinsky and Konowal had been arrested in Philadelphia, Norristown and portions of Berks county. Konowal had 20 arrests charged to him, while Zallinsky had been arrested five times before.

Geyer Changed His Plea

When the final case of the week was called before Judge Corson late Thursday afternoon, and which was listed as plea of guilty, the defendant, after nearly all the testimony was completed, changed his plea and will stand trial at the next session of court.

The defendant was Robert K. Geyer, of Worcester. It was alleged he assaulted Edwin H. Rosenberry. After Rosenberry testified, the defendant denied the incident was the way described by Rosenberry.

Therefore the court directed the plea be withdrawn and the case go before a jury.

School Girl Killed by Car

Students' Cars in Collision in Lancaster Pike.—Four Companions of Dead Girl Hurt.—College Student Held in Jail.

Albert A. Garthwaite, Jr., 18, son of A. A. Garthwaite, "Kincraigle," North Lane, vice president and general manager of the Lee Tire and Rubber Company, was the driver of an automobile that figured in a three-car accident early Wednesday evening in which a Lower Merion high school girl was instantly killed and her sister and three other girls were injured. The accident occurred on Lancaster pike at the entrance to Haverford school, Haverford, where young Garthwaite was a student.

The dead girl is Rita Dawe, 18, 158 St. Paul's road, Ardmore, a senior student in the Lower Merion high school. Her father, Patrick Dawe, was chairman of the board of Mather, Valley road, Ardmore, a Philadelphia insurance broker.

Madeline Dawe, 16, the sister, a pupil at West Catholic High School, escaped with cuts and bruises as did Margaret Brennan, 18, 132 East Sprague avenue, Ardmore, a classmate of Rita's, and co-captain of the girl's basketball team of Lower Merion high school. The driver of the car in which all three were riding, Cecilia Kelly, 17, 168 St. Paul's road, Ardmore, suffered concussion of the brain and a possible fracture of the skull. She is a former student of St. Katharine's High School, Wayne. The victims were taken to Bryn Mawr Hospital in a police ambulance.

Madeline Dawe, unaware her sister was killed, kept asking for her in the hospital, but physicians were withholding the news.

The girls were on their way to mail a package. Brucker, although his car overturned, received only a few small cuts. Garthwaite was ordered, Magistrate Franklin Kromer, Ardmore, held Garthwaite in $2,500 bail to await an inquest and the outcome of the other girl's injuries.

Would Hold Six Witnesses For Perjury

Jury in Case of Willow Grove Woman Recommends Witnesses Be Held

WOMAN NOT GUILTY

Charge Case Frame Up to Eliminate Competitor in Liquor Business

A jury before Judge Dannehower recommended that six witnesses for the commonwealth, in the case of Alice Reeves, negro, of Willow Grove Heights be held for perjury, yesterday afternoon.

The jury at the same time found the woman not guilty of assault with intent to kill and not guilty of violating the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Act.

The witnesses that committed perjury, according to the jury are: Hattie Mason, negro, Willow Grove, a frequent visitor before the courts; and two colored boys, Jack Stevens, 18, and George Herder, 18; John Roberts, Lila Lee and Estelle Christopher, all of Willow Grove.

Hattie Mason was prosecutrix in the assault action against the defendant and the costs were imposed on her. The two youth, Stevens and Herder, prosecutors in the other charge, one half the costs placed on them and the other half was placed on Alice Reeves.

The commonwealth charged Alice Reeves had gone to the home of Hattie Mason, negro, and had threatened her with a butcher knife. This was on August 6.

On August 11, the two boys said they went to the Reeves home and bought a liquor. They were charged with carrying liquor, they claimed, and so they bought another half-pint of liquor and took it to a magistrate and started proceedings against the defendant.

The defense, through Attorney Thurman P. Pitt, claimed the charges against the Reeves woman were all malicious lies and a frameup by Hattie Mason who desired to eliminate a competitor in the liquor business.

John Brogna, of Germantown, pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated at Wyndmor on August 25. Sentenced at 15 days was imposed.

Bernard Jones, of Philadelphia, pleaded guilty before Judge Knight to driving while intoxicated on Lancaster Pike in Ardmore, August 25. Sentenced of 15 days was imposed.

Fishman and Shore were ordered to pay the costs, a fine of $300 and serve 6 months in jail. Kratchman, 17, was given a break because of his youth. He was ordered to pay the costs and $300 for the default of this serve 6 months in jail.

Many Unemployed Apply For Jobs

The Pennsylvania State Employment Service on September 1 had the applications of 535,823 persons for jobs. This number set a new-time record. A. W. Motley, director said today when he pointed out that the applications represented 57.3 per cent of the total number estimated unemployed in mid-July by the Bureau of Accounts and Statistics, Department of Labor and Industry.

The number of applications for work on file at the beginning of this month was 41,825 higher than at the beginning of August, when the active registrations totaled 494,010. Motley said the increase was due partly to the fact that all employable members of families receiving relief are required to register. This same factor is expected to send the number still higher during September, he said.

While placement of persons in private employment increased in August over July, placements in LWD and PWA projects decreased during the month of August. Since December 1, 1933, the inception of the Federal made-work programs, the service has placed 290,095 persons in jobs. This means that in the nine-month period the offices have placed an average number of 32,325 persons in jobs each month.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our little stomachs can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements are hard and constipated and 1/2 of our food decays in our 23 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over your body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (that we don't) and we don't know what to do, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gradually start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is advertised, it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, grime and sends the return to many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for—25¢, ©1934, C.M.C.

in St. Gertrude's. He pointed out how certain credits given in the parochial school could be recognized in the public school in order to give the pupils all possible benefit. He expressed the belief that some of the brightest pupils might make up the subjects required and not taught in the parochial school and complete the course in two years.

seemly to change their courses from an or eleven grades to eight grades or four-year high schools. West Conshohocken was one of those districts which was urged to advance from the three to a four-year high course.

Mr. Kulp stated he would be perfectly satisfied for the pupils from St. Gertrude's school be given a set in the subjects in which they have passed and be placed in the high school classes according to the results of the tests and if they can make the credits to be graduated within two years.

Supervising principal Richards agreed to give the pupils special instructions after school in an effort to help them make up credits in the subjects they thus far lack.

Following the meeting the visitors were escorted through the school and shown the equipment of the building.

Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, wife of Governor Pinchot, has withdrawn as a candidate for Governor to succeed her husband.

Residents in various sections of town have been greatly annoyed by petty thefts. Porches, kitchens and buildings have been entered and thefts committed.

Pennsylvania has made provisions for supplying funds for relief of the needy for the remainder of this year. The special session was one of the shortest on record and the legislature did its work efficiently.

Pigs Must Go

Town Council has placed a ban upon pigs. No more may pigs be kept within the borough limits. For years complaints have been made to council of obnoxious pig sties.

A compactly built town, as is this place, is not a proper place in which to raise pigs. Council, after many years, has met the question and solved it by prohibiting the keeping of pigs within the borough under a penalty of $10 to $100 at the discretion of the burghess or justice of the peace.

Thinking of the Budget

At each meeting of town council some member brings up a proposition that would involve the expenditure of money and suggests that council consider the matter with the purpose of including the item in next year's budget.

In considering a police reporting system, council will have to consider further than raising $840 additional revenue. Such a system would mean an increase in the police force, which has been advocated for some time by the burghess.

In considering the budget for next year, council will do well should it provide for current expenses and reduction of the floating debt, which has been constantly increasing.

For the next few years, council will have its hands full in providing for current expenses and rebuilding streets which have not been given the regular attention necessary for their upkeep.

Lottery for Relief

The proposal to conduct a lottery (under another name to circumvent the law) to raise funds for relief purposes in New York City is meeting with much criticism throughout the country.

The Board of Aldermen propose to organize a society with membership open to every one who buys a ticket. The officers to be chosen by lot and paid high salaries. This is camouflage for a lottery.

Under the plan, the city would be exempt from any financial obligation in the lottery as it would be conducted by twelve trustees appointed by the mayor and it is presumed they would be responsible for any prizes that might be paid.

Forces opposing crime will make no headway for public safety in a city where public officials would set up a great organization to conduct a lottery and evade the law by flimsy camouflage.

Such an organization would take millions of dollars from the public and would provide little in return for relief as it estimated the operating expenses would be almost sixty per cent. It would encourage gambling among all the people. Crime will increase when public officials publicly sponsor evasion of the laws.

Jim told his story quickly as they wandered through the trees, and Ben Gunn, in turn, told how he had been a member of Flint's ship when Flint had buried his treasure on the island.

THE GLORY OF THE GLEN

Crowds come to ogle Glenair, to see the glories of the glen. And hear the warbling waterfalls, and caunter through the fen;

How they felt the pang of hunger and the scarcity of food. In the lovely loveliness loiter greet the natives in the dell.

There's splendor to the valley, when the sun sinks in the west; And a glory in the gloaming when all nature seems at rest.

There's enchantment in the chasm, when the moonlight gently falls; And the soft spray shines like silver, o'er the wondrous waterfalls.

There's a grandeur to the golden gorse, that grows along the way. SHANE O'SHEPPARD.

Conshohocken Primed For Opening Game With Saratoga

Players Have Drilled Nightly Under Guidance of Coach Redmond and Are in Condition For Grueling Game.

— Players Selected to Start Opening Game

SARATOGA WILL PRESENT A TEAM OF STARS

Philadelphians Composed of Former College and High School Stars.—Game Will Start at 2:45.—Burgess Hampton Will Place Ball to Start Game

The field has been lined, a new gate put on, the officials selected and everything is in readiness for the first football game of the season in Conshohocken on Sunday when the newly formed and formidable Conshohocken Athletic Club goes to the post with Saratoga A. A. of Philadelphia, one of the best teams in the quarter city.

All arrangements have been completed, Manager James "Pat" Mellon, stated last night, for the first game of the campaign. He also stated that information was obtained from a talk with Bill Dallas, Philadelphia sports writer, yesterday, indicated that the Saratoga outfit is plenty tough. In fact, Dallas wanted to know why the local eleven is opening up with such a team as Saratoga.

Final Practice Tought

Practices have been held by the Conshohocken team on Tuesday and last night, and the final practice in preparation for the game with Saratoga will be held tonight at 6:30 on the athletic field, under the direction of Coach Leo "Peaches" Redmond, who has developed the boys for the past two weeks. On Tuesday night more than 100 spectators were on the sidelines to get a glimpse of the new team presented by Conshohocken for 1934, of the "old guard" of the town.

In the practices thus far, which have been held almost nightly except for the weekends, when drills were held on Saturday and Sunday afternoon, several local lads have given much promise of developing into great players. The out-of-town talent has shown up splendidly and should provide customers with plenty of thrills during the season.

To be sure, it will be one tough day for the Ironworkers Sunday playing such a team as the culture of Saratoga.

The line which will start the fray on Sunday in brand new Orange team jerseys and new equipment averages only 177 pounds. This is quite a light line compared with local teams of past years, but the 177 average on the line will inch. Wallace is a broad-shouldered boy who has seen and knows plenty of football. He played on the championship Barringer team seven years ago when it took the city, state and N. J. H. A. A. titles. He weighs in at 170 pounds also and is 5 feet nine inches tall.

At the tackle posts, Redmond has selected Billy Wells and Jack Mullen the former St. Matthew's High school line man, later with several independent eleven.

George York, a comparative new comer to football, and Grant Fullerton, of Norristown, are the guards who will start on Sunday. York is well built and has the beam at 187 pounds and stands 6 feet tall has never played with a big semi-pro club. He has played with amateur organizations but this year was induced to try out for the Conshohocken eleven. His showing has been so good and his desire to make good so intense that Coach Redmond decided to start him at one of the guard positions. Fullerton is a six-footer and weighs 190 pounds.

Bobby Neil, former Conshohocken High school star and later with various local teams, has been selected for the snapper-back position. Bobby was to have played with Lansdale this season but on second thought chose his old home town in which to play. He is one of the very best centers in this section and despite his light weight, can give any of the visiting teams plenty of battle. He weighs 155 pounds and stands about 5 feet seven.

Geogre Widener Continues Horse Tradition at Erdenheim Stables

Famed race horses like famed people usually have a noteworthy background. George D. Widener, a devotee to the turf, for the past twenty years has followed the tradition of the best traditions of Aristoteles Welch, who started a long line of famed thoroughbreds at Erdenheim as early as 1861.

Mr. Widener has maintained an extensive estate for horse-breeding and developing purposes and his strings of fine racers are known throughout the eastern track circuit almost as well as those of Joseph Widener, of Elkins Park, both of whom maintain breeding stables on extensive farms in the celebrated blue grass region of Kentucky.

The Erdenheim stables are famous as a stock farm when the stables owned by Mr. Welch, who bought the property during the Civil War, and since that time some of the most famous American horses were bred there.

On the land Mr. Welch purchased, he erected three large stables, one of them having more than one hundred box stalls.

In 1894, Welch purchased Flora Temple for $5000 and for many years this queen of the trotting world had her home there. She occupied a special "cottage" built especially for her on the lawn, and at her death she was buried nearby. Her place of internment was marked with a marble memorial.

Lady Thon was the property of Welch from 1863 to 1870. He paid $17,000 for the mare and sold her for $31,000 which was then a record-breaking price. Leanington, twice the winner of the Chester Cup, in England, came to Erdenheim in 1869. Most of this horse's progeny was born in Erdenheim, and at his death in 1878, he, too, was buried on the lawn.

Another noted horse-grave at the Chestnut Hill stable is that of Magpie B. B., the dam of Iroquois, whose sire was Leanington. Iroquois was the first American bred and probably only one to win the English Derby. The speed king of his day was purchased by Pierre Lorillard and entered in the Derby of 1861, and won the contest.

Many prominent horsemen visited Chestnut Hill while Welch owned the place, included among the notables were President U. S. Grant, August Belmont, William Astor and Pierre Lorillard.

Erdenheim was sold by Welch in 1924 to Commodore Norman W. Kittson, of St. Paul, Minn., for $125,000. Kittson greatly improved the farm and added several additional stables. He erected three tracks for racing, one a mile in length, another a half-mile, and the third being one-eighth of a mile around.

Kittson went in for experimenting in attempts to produce a superior breed of horse for the United States Cavalry service. His plan was to combine the blood of the wild horse of the American prairies with that of the Arabian horse descended from one which the Sultan of Turkey had presented to President Grant. The result was a handsome, hardy breed of animal, but they proved to be too expensive for army availability.

Kittson died in 1888, and for some years thereafter there was much litigation among his heirs as to the ownership of the noted farm. In 1893 Robert N. Carson bought the place from the Kittson estate for $165,000. He maintained the stock farm and spent more than $100,000 on improvements. After his death in 1907 his will disclosed his desire to have a portion of the land placed in trust for the education of boys at Girard College-Carson College has since been established there on the section of the estate closest to Flourtown.

It was shortly afterward that George Widener took control of the remaining stables and since then has been producing fine racers.

Bowling

The new Conshohocken Bowling League which will play its matches at Paul Delaney's Conshohocken Recreation Alley in the K. of C. building will open the season on Thursday of next week.

After a successful season last year, the league this year will have some of the best bowlers in this borough and other towns on the various teams.

The alleys this season, should be excellent for the bowlers. They have been thoroughly reconditioned during the summer and are primed for the barrage of balls that will speed down the alleys, ushering in the ten-pin season.

Four teams have entered the league so far. They are Conshohocken Council, Knights of Columbus, John Wood Manufacturing Company, Lee Tire and Rubber Company and Ted Balderston's Pure Oil outfit. All these teams had their rosters some of the cleverest and most proficient of the maple tappers in this section. In all probability it will be a six-team league and maybe eight. The other teams are expected to sign up within the next few days.

The season will extend over a period of thirty-nine weeks. Awards will be made to the team finishing first and to individuals at the end of the season, at a banquet to be held then.

The John Wood company are making plans for an inter-department league. This competition is expected to start sometime the latter part of this month.

A meeting of the bowling league will be held the early part of next week to discuss the details of the week. Manager Delaney announced.

Backfield Fast

The backfield will have two of the fastest men in this section. At the quarterback post will be Ray "Binky" Fairlie, recently of Conshohocken High School and later with East End. "Binky" was a flash in high school and with the independent club and so far has shown up great in practice sessions. He has put on considerable weight since he left high school and now weighs 160 pounds.

The halfback posts will be taken care of by Frank Zagroza, another former C. H. S. backfield star and "Buck" Jones, last year with the East Falls team. Jones is extremely fast for his size, weighs 180 but is like a streak out on the open field. Zagroza is a fine line plunger and brilliant on offense.

Joe Barron, six foot, two hundred pounder from the Conshohocken Catholic school at Tulhatch, is probably the most experienced of Barron is a type of fellow who can play sixty minutes of football. He demonstrated his line plugging ability while playing with C. C. C.

The kickoff Sunday is scheduled for 2:45 P. M. daylight saving time.

Wilsontown A. C. to Have Strong Team

Wilsontown A. C. is ready for another campaign on the gridiron. For the past two or three weeks Coaches Kelly and McCabe have had their charges out on the home field put through long workouts, and the boys are rapidly rounding into shape.

The squad this year is the largest ever to represent Wilsontown on the football field. In fact, more than 26 players all out hustling to make the grade. All of last season's players are out with the exception of Charley Cooper, who is now serving an enlistment in the U. S. Marine Corps. Several new men have also been added to the list of candidates.

Arthur Cox, who was injured in the Thanksgiving Day game last year, is back in the lineup. He is captain of this year's team.

When Wilsontown takes the field for their opening game, which will be in a week or two, they will be dressed in navy blue and white jerseys with blue and white stockings and white helmets. This is the only Wilsontown team that all of the players were attire alike.

The annual battle with the Green Dragons for the West Side title will be waged as usual on Thanksgiving Day on the uptown grid. The last two holiday games have resulted in victory for the Kellys by close scores. From all indications this year's battle will be the best yet.

Johnny Hannon to Race at Reading

Johnny Hannon will be put to another acid test in defending his margin as leader in the field of Eastern drivers Sunday afternoon when he will again compete with the best in the country on the track of the Reading Fair grounds. Hannon still leads all the racers and while his lead has been pared down considerably he is confident of being able to finish the season at the top of the list.

No one relies better than Hannon himself that he will have to drive at his best in order to win. Not only does the field of competitors include all the speed demons of the East but they will be there from the West and South as well. The entry list is one of the largest and leads that has been scheduled in this section of the country during the season.

Substitutions for the Saratoga team include Choan and Du Lisse.

Tattling on Topics-- Sports and Otherwise

BY Fred E. Rick

Vince Bonkoski, former C. H. S. and Newton Academy star, and Lachman Rinehart, former Lower Merion High ace, are practicing daily with the Ursinus Bears. Rinehart is the regular center. Bonkoski, playing his first year with the Varsity team, is trying for the quarterback position. Both boys are sure of seeing plenty of action, barring accidents. The Bears meet Villanova and University of Pennsylvania, respectively, in their first two games of the season. Two tough assignments for any Eastern Pennsylvania Conference team.

Gordon Atkins, a former resident of the borough and last year coach at Brown Prep, will not be the tutor at the Philadelphia preparatory school this season. He has accepted a position in a boy's school in New York and has already taken up his new duties.

The World's Series baseball classic will open in the home city of the team winning the American League title on Wednesday October 3. There is little doubt at this stage of the race but that the opening game will be played at Navin Field, Detroit. With Mickey Cochrane's Tigers on the threshold of coping the title and only nine games remaining to be played, four at St. Louis and five at home with Chicago it looks as though the issue should be settled before the end of the week.

Local fandom will wait with interest until the opening game and then gather around the loud speakers to hear Graham McNamee, dean of sport announcers, in his regular salutation: "Good afternoon ladies and gentlemen! Well, here we are all set at Navin Field for the opening of the baseball classic."

From those close to the school it has been learned that St. Matthew's High will not have a football team this season. With no money set aside to finance sports at the Hector street institution, the players usually provide their own money. The cost of equipping a football team is too great for the boys and it is understood they will lay off the game and begin early preparations for the basketball season.

Coach Redmond has at least one backfield candidate, who has had plenty of limbering up exercise in preparation for the opening game. Said player, in company with another local athlete, walked all the way to Asbury Park, N. J., to see the bulk of the burned Moose Castle and back again. The trip consumed two and one-half days. During the entire trip the boys received only one "lift," a five-mile ride that ended in Trenton.

Conshohocken High has only one game scheduled for home during the entire football season. This is the opening clash with Upper Merion High on Saturday of next week. It is understood this game will be played on the Center athletic field.

The high school athletic field is not enclosed and while the games are always witnessed by large crowds there is no way of collecting admissions and the result is that very few pay to see the games. The team receives a guarantee for playing away from home and it is figured that the guarantee will far exceed the receipts taken in at the home games.

Manager Pat Mellon and Coach Leo Redmond will introduce the 1934 edition of the Conshohocken football team to the local public on Sunday afternoon with the Saratoga A. A. of Philadelphia, as the opening attraction.

Coach Redmond has been sending his squad through practice stunts for the past few weeks and has the boys in pretty good condition. Naturally the team will improve more rapidly after the season gets under way the boys have real competition. The local team has a wealth of excellent material. The names of several of the most outstanding players have not been seen in print up to the present time.

When the machine gets to clicking smoothly it is sure to go places and do things before the season ends.

The management is in position to provide whatever kind of attractions the support warrants. Here's hoping the attendance will warrant the scheduling of the best teams in the Philadelphia area.

Villanova, with another powerful team, will open the 1934 season at the Main Line stadium on Saturday of next week with the Ursinus Bears as the opposition. Followers of the game here will remember the surprise pulled last season by the Collegeville Collegians when they played the Wildcats to a 7-7 tie. Coach Stuhldreher's men underrated Coach McAvoy's team and the result was heralded as one of the season's upsets. This year the Main Lineers will be primed to avenge the dead loss of last season and even if they are held to a tie score it will not be because the Bears will have been underrated. Bonkoski and Rinehart will both see action in the game.

Wes Slater, of this borough, right fielder on the Nicetown team, champions of the second half race in the Philadelphia League, is one player who believes in omelets to give luck while batting. Some players rub their gloves in a certain position while their side is at bat, others will make a certain move in the batter's box, others will do one thing or another to bring them luck but Slater will look around to see if there is a colored boy anywhere in sight. If so he will rub his hands over the boy's head. This is a wrinkle hit on by the local player a few weeks ago. Up to beyond the middle of the season Wes led the league in hitting by a wide margin. He had a streak of some 18 or 20 consecutive games in which he hit safely, suddenly he fell into a slump and was off form for some weeks. While on his way to the park one evening after having gone hitless for several games, a colored boy, a boot black, strolled up alongside of him and wanted to know if he wanted a shine. Wes replied in the negative and caught hold of the youth and rubbed his head. The bootblack laughed and remarked: "Fellah, dat will gib you good luck to-night." And sure enough it did. When Wes came to bat for the first time he lambasted the second pitch for a home run. Two men were on base at the time. After he crossed the home plate it dawned on Slater what the bootblack told him. Wednesday evening while on his way for the game with Wentz-Olney he sped another bootblack. He paid the boy a nickel to let him rub his hands through his hair and his batting record for the evening was a triple and single.

Next week the play-off series starts and the management of the Nicetown team is considering hiring a colored boy for the entire series just in order that the team's right fielder can rub his hands through his hair before the games start.

TREASURE ISLAND (From the Motion Picture with Wallace Bery and Jackie Cooper at Loew's)

Below on a desert island, with pirates holding their ship! That's the situation of Captain Smollett and his friends after they flee the mutiny aboard the Hispaniola. Their row boat is sunk by cannon fire from the ship as they near the shore and the last remaining loyal sailor is killed. However, they escape. Find Jackie, and race to a stockade the pirate Flint built on the island years ago.

Safely in the stockade our party awaits the attack of the pirates, when under a flag of truce "Long John" Silver comes to try and make terms. He offers safe passage back to England for the Captain, Doctor Livesey, the Squire and Jackie providing they give him the map showing where the treasure is hidden. The Captain refuses to deal with him on any terms and denounces him as a pirate. Even Jackie denounces "Long John".

"Long John" Silver and his pirates are in a quandary when Captain Smollett refuses to give them the treasure. They attack and capture the stockade in full force. Many pirates are killed, but with "Long John" cursing them from the ship, they come back to attack and finally reach the blockhouse. Captain Smollett leads a sally into the open against the pirates with cutlasses and forces them to retreat.

The day is saved. The pirate crew has retreated, and our five friends hold the stockade. But what of tomorrow? Doctor Livesey, on a scouting expedition learns that "Long John" plans to bombard the stockade with cannon from the ship. Captain Smollett prepares to leave, saying he fears this will be the end. Jackie hears him, and resolves to get to the ship somehow and get her adrift. He quietly slips out of the stockade.

2 to 4. Sentenced from Lancaster January 19, 1933 for 15 to 30 years for robbery while armed.
Frank Sands, Berks, 2 to 4. Sentenced from Berks county on June 14, 1933 for 5 to 10 years for felonious entry and larceny.
In each sentence Judge Corson directed that the defendants pay $5 fine and the costs of prosecution.
Attorneys John Flynn and Wellington J. Rosenberry counsel appeared for the courts for the defendants, were complimented by Judge Corson for "the conscientious manner in which you devoted your efforts in behalf of your clients."
During the testimony of the other eight men, 2 developed the case of the riot during the riot. All had either been in their cells or at some location, which placed them some distance from the scene of the riot.
Charles Quirle, 23, nearing the end of five years of a five to ten year sentence, did some arguing to the jury on his own behalf, when he told the court and jury "that I am doing 5 to 10 and have spent 4 years and 4 months there. Now is it reasonable that I would do anything like that, with only four months to go. I have been behaving myself for two and one-half years, hoping to get out at the end of five years."
Quirle was not near the scene, but in his cell. He denied everything charged, as did the others.
Joseph Corrigan, 23, serving 10 to 20 years, was taking a bath when the trouble started. Thomas Kiley, 26, was in the office building and called Charles Day, an engineer at the penitentiary, to testify in his behalf. Day saw Kiley during the rioting, but not for the entire period.
William Schaeffner, 23, was in his cell block, and stayed in his cell the greater part of the time. He claimed he was not charged with being a rioter until September 5. Frank Sands, 29, claimed there was a delay of 10 days in his being charged. He was in his cell during the disturbance. Rudolph Leitz, 24, was in his cell, and later sat down in front of the cell block. Stanley Joseph McLaughlin, 23, was in his cell block, although he had spent much time in his cell during the rioting. Joseph McLaughlin "rescued" two older men from the gas-filled cell block and "led" them to safety up in the hill, where the rioters were later captured by state police.
Charges Beating
The combined efforts of five burly guards at the Eastern Penitentiary at Graierford were required to "beat up" a foot four inch prisoner, according to the convict's story Tuesday afternoon.
Dominick Palo, 29, half-pint defendant, weighing 122 pounds, made the charge that "five guys beat me up, one of them hit me with a rubber hose over the eye and my eye is still sore."
Palo was the final defense witness at the trial of nine of the 32 convicts charged with rioting, arson, conspiracy and a number of other charges involved in the wild scenes at the penitentiary on August 25, when damage variously estimated at "up to $40,000" was caused by a group of rioting convicts.
Palo's story did not cause any great sensation in the court room. He declared that he had taken no part in the rioting. He insisted he had been in his cell in "C Block" sleeping. He had awakened and then started to shave. He had completed shaving, when one of the guards came in. He said that he was taken to "Klondike" where they beat me up. He named Sergeant Shawmers as one of the men

Expect Rush to Have Autos Inspected

Owners of half a million cars have only until the end of this month to obtain official inspection stickers for their machines.
The Bureau of Highway Patrol and Safety today estimated that some 500,000 motor vehicles have, not been inspected despite the recent increase in the number of reports received.
The campaign ends September 30. On and after October 1, State Highway Patrolmen will begin arresting all owners and operators of cars which do not carry red and blue stickers.
The inspection phase of the campaign will be conducted in accordance with the warning that "Pennsylvania has no place for unsafe cars." This ultimatum issued when the campaign was begun on July 1, has been followed by an extensive weeding out of inspection stations whose repair work was found to be careless or inefficient. The Patrol's enforcement drive will convert the warning into action against owners who ignore the decree that all cars on the roads must be in safe running condition.

THE TRUTH ABOUT HAIR AND HAIR TREATMENTS
You may be one of millions who has wasted time, hope, money on "tonics" and treatments... Now Charles Nessler, inventor of the permanent wave, leading hair scientist, author of "Story of Hair", makes a simple but revolutionary discovery that ends BALDNESS • DANDRUFF • OILINESS • THINNING HAIR
In the past, tonics and treatments tried to stop hair from falling. That is as useless as trying to stop an animal from shedding! What you must do is make your scalp replace the hair that falls—in short, complete the hair growing cycle. It is on that scientific principle

Comments on Happenings by Molly Matson

The annual Flower Show, the all absorbing topic of the hour. Everyone is talking flowers and oh, but the gardens do look lovely. Even now, as Molly glances, yes, only glances out her window, she sees her neighbors' gardens—rather than her own—that is, they are more in her vision—and the peonies and the dahlias so many and so beautiful, that she herself wishing that one of them will help grace the exhibition.

Just here, Molly begins to turn pages of her "traditional" book and she rather thinks it holds the coincidental note as she comes at once upon the article "Sun Dials Mark the Marching Hours," and so she proceeds accordingly.

Sun dials that for centuries were so important in old world gardens are enjoying a new popularity in the gardens of the present. We are told that medieval ladies and gentlemen who loitered in the "pleasance," the tiny garden within the castle walls, were reminded of the fleeting hours by the gnomons shadow of the dial. Today the antique dial adds romance to the picturesque setting by its unique inscriptions and reminders of time's passing.

The time-worn surface stirs thoughts and imaginings of the centuries it has recorded. Figures have never had so popular a form of support for the sun-dial. In the eighteenth century, the kneeling figure of "The Moor" with a sundial upon his head, was a favorite design or a grouping of the Masses or the Seasons holding the dial aloft, fulfilled the requirements. And, too, Father Time was often represented.

Molly wishes she had that "same old time and space" to say more about sun-dials but it is a very extensive subject and she will only add an inscription or two. "I am a shadow, so art Thou, I mark Time—dost Thou? A moment, mark how small a space The dial shows upon the face; Yet waste one, and you will see Of how great moment it can be."

Golden wedding anniversaries holding a big important note in communities, Molly is very pleased to add congratulations to the many already received. To Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Eddleman, who were guests of honor at a very beautiful anniversary dinner at the Conshohocken club, many messages from friends and many flowers in honor of the event. Just think, a half century of years—and it is nice to know that Mr. and Mrs. Eddleman have been residents of the Conshohocken all during that time. Congratulations.

days in jail was imposed. Pending nolle contendere to the charge of driving an automobile while his license was suspended, William S. Ivans, Delphia, was told by Judge Knight his case was to be held under advisement. Ivans was arrested July 12 by a state highway patrolman after a complaint was made he was operating an automobile despite the fact his license had been suspended May 23, 1931. Ivans had been issued a new license on the day of his arrest but did not have it in his possession at the time.

Youth Not Guilty

Charles C. Boyles, Lansdale, was acquitted before Judge William F. Dannehower of a charge of involuntary manslaughter in the death of Charles White, Lansdale, the youth's grandfather. The accident occurred on a Lansdale street, as White left a bus, on June 16. The Boyles car ran down White, killing him instantly. Attorney T. Lane Bean represented Boyles. The jury directed the youth pay the costs. Edwin S. Morley, Paoli, was found not guilty of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor before Judge Knight Thursday afternoon. He drove his automobile into a milk wagon near Haverford July 4. He was ordered to pay the costs.

Motorist Acquitted

A jury before Judge Knight, Wednesday afternoon, found William R. Fessler, Reading, not guilty of drunken driving but imposed the costs on him.

Fessler was arrested at Sanatoga, April 5, by a state highway patrolman after his automobile was observed to be zig-zagging along the road. Dr. Sherborn, Pottstown, pronounced him under the influence of alcoholic liquor.

The defendant, a salesman for a beer distributor of Reading, said he had gone to Philadelphia on a business trip. He said on his return he stopped in Norristown and had three or four glasses of beer. His car swerved because of a defective steering gear, he contended.

10 Days Sentence

Samuel DeTrent, Willow Grove, is serving 10 days in the county prison on a sentence imposed by Judge Dannehower after he was found guilty of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

State Highway Patrolman Flemming, Doylestown, arrested DeTrent on August 2 on Bethlehem pike between Colmar and Montgomeryville. At the time DeTrent's automobile, according to the patrolman, was off the highway which was under construction and he was endeavoring to back it on again. DeTrent said he had gone to get his pay. He admitted going to a hotel and drinking but said he drove his car down the highway, found himself becoming dizzy and pulled to the side and parked. What he was doing when he pleaded guilty, told a different story. He said that before he stabbed Gus, he tried to push him onto harder ground. The offer then arrived and was choking him. He had stabbed in self defense, he claimed.

Plas Changed

Casper Puche of Norristown, entered a plea of guilty to aggravated assault and battery.

Gus Vecio testified that on July 1 they were coming home together when Casper started an argument and said, "I want to fight." Gus replied, "All right, but wait until I get my coat off." Casper did not wait but while Gus was taking off his coat Casper stabbed him three times. It took eleven stitches to close the wounds. "We had had no trouble. It was just a friendly fight," Gus said.

Casper, who through an interpreter, said that he had misunderstood what he was doing when he pleaded guilty, told a different story. He said that before he stabbed Gus, he tried to push him onto harder ground. The offer then arrived and was choking him. He had stabbed in self defense, he claimed.
