Invitation.

Friends, and enemies too, if we have them, passing through Philadelphia, are invited to make a convenience of the Big Store. It is between the Broadstreet station of the Pennsylvania R. R. and everywhere else, and is on the way from almost every station.

It would be old news to tell you what the store is here for. We'll skip that. For our present purpose it is here to be walked through. looked at, get rested in, and to hold your baggage while you run about town. As you enter the door, any door almost, you see a place to leave your bag. Leave a dozen parcels there, if you like; no charge. Go all over the store, up-stairs and down; ask for a guide, if you need one; go alone, if you like that better. After you have walked a few miles and climbed a pyramid or two, it may be lunch-time. In the basement is a place to get a bite: and that's the only part of the entertainment you pay for. We'd like to have that free, too, if we could. We fear the wrong people would come.

In a sense we do not pay much attention to visitors. We do not invite them in so often as we would, if the newspapers didn't make us pay for every hospitable word. When they come, one or ten-thousand at a time, we simply let them alone, unless they ask for help. We have our hands full any way; besides, we don't want people to think that we ask them here to drawthem into buying things. What we really do want is that everybody everywhere should have a pretty accurate notion of what is going on here; and that's the whole of it.

"How long did you say?"

"Twenty years, I said. Up to the time I mentioned I had suffered from diseased liver for twenty years," said Mr. S. T. Hancock, of Richmond, Va., half sadly, as though thinking of that diappdated section of his life. "At times I almost wished it had pleased Providence to omit the liver from the human anatomy."

"Had enough—twenty years of that sort of thing," responded a listener, "What was the upshot of it?"

"The upshot was that some time age I went down to Scott's drug store in this city, and bought one of BENSON'S CAPCINE PORUS PLASTERS, applied it and was relieved in a few hours, and am now as sound as though my liver were made of Indianrubber."

To KEEP TOMATOES FOR WINTER

—A correspondent sends the Rural New Yorker the following: "As the tomato season is approaching I can who knew the man knew a circus was about to begin. They were not disappointed. He said he always spoke in words that all could understand, and yelled "You have disgraced yourselves to-day!" This caused a big commotion, but Caleb's defective hearing stood him in good stead and above the clamor rose his stentonian voice. But when he began to view the congressional relations of the two counties contribute one way of keeping them for winter use that they may be new to some of your readers. I ate them in February, sliced and seasoned with sugar and a little vinegar, that seem-ed every way as nice as tomatoes fresh from the vines. They were prepared thus: "Dissolve a teacupful of salt in a gallon of water. Pick ripe tomatoes, but not over ripe, leaving a little of the stem on. The tomatoes must be kept well covered with the brine, and they will keep to spring or longer."

Town MEETING .- Another meeting was held at the Council Chamber on Monday evening to see if a representa-tion from Conshohocken could not be made in the county centennial parade next month. But it was no use, and the recess hurtthem more than it did good. There was a rush for seats at two o'clock and a vote quickly taken gave Evans, 64\frac{1}{2}; Ely, 41; Bean, 16\frac{1}{2}; Corson, 1. On Wednesday the insane son was brought be-fore Judge Boyer on a writ of habeas mer floral festival in the church on Sunday corpus issued at the instance of the Board of Public Charities. An inves-tigation showed that the symptoms of their tool house from Spring Mill to Harry insanity began eighteen or nineteen years ago when the boy was sixteen years old. Since then he has been kept in two rooms in the upper part of the house, Judge Boyer continued the proceedings until the 20th of September, and remanded the lunatic to the care of his father, saying that there was no evidence to sustain the charges of ill treatment but that it would have been better had more decided steps been taken with a view to affecting a cure.

M. M. "Well, for several reasons; our expenses are not one rices:
Prime Timothy Hay per 100 pounds. 80 a 20 tenth of yours, and next, we buy, our goods for CASH, and sell them cheap for cash."

> N. C. "Well, it don't matter your people will come to us anyway, and it dosen't matter how

M. M. "But we are teaching a good many people that we have the same goods for less money."

N. C. "But my dear Morris let us tell you this, that we have large stores with fine looking clerks, and plenty of electric lights, with lots of expensive advertising, which you have not."

M. M. "Well, we must admit all that, but we have the goods and cannot afford to make our customers pay for dancing when they do not indulge in it. Such people will learn after while that whenever they buy a suit in Norristown they must help pay for all your LUXURIES."

If you hear a song that thrills you Sung by any child of song, Praise 1. Do not let the singer Wait deserved praises long. Why should one who thrills your heart Lack the joy gou may impart? If you hear a prayer that moves you

By its humble, pleading tone, Join it. Do not let the seeker Bow before his God alone. Why should not your brother share The strength of "two or three" in prayer

If you see the hot tears falling From a sorrowing brother's eyes, Share them. And, by sharing Own your kinship with the skies. Why should arey one be glad When a brother's heart is sad ?

If a silvery laugh is riprling Through the sun shine on his face, Share it. 'Tis the wise man's saying : ' For both joy and grief a place." There's health and goodness in the mirth In which an honest laugh has birth,

If your work is made more easy By a friendly, helping hand, Say so. Speak out brave and truly Ere the darkness veil the land. Should a brother workman dear Falter for a word of cheer?

Scatter thus your seeds of kindness, All enriching as you go.

Leave them. Trust the Harvest Giver, He will make each seed to grow. So until its happy end, Your life shall never lack a friend.

J.F. ROGERS & CO. 42 NORTH 6th STREET Philadelphia.

DIOLE SELLING AGENTS FOR PENNA. This bonier is the Safest, most Economical, Durable and Edicient Steam Generator made, evaporating on an average SEVENTY-FIVE PER CENT, more water for every pound of coal used than the common cubicar coner. The first cost of a boiler is comparitively of small account when compared with the annual cost of the coal burned under it; therefore, in the selection of a steam boiler, the main point to be kept in view, should be the EFFICIENCY of the boiler when put in service. We invite correspondence regarding the remarkable efficiency of our Compound Tubular Boilers and solicit an examination of its merits by those interested. Send for catalogue and report of tests made.
